France Now Feeling Economic Pinch

Food Imports Being Drastically Cut As Hard Winter Looms

PARIS, (CP)—France, faced with a critical dollar shortage, tonight imposed a ban on all imports from the United States other than coal, fuel oil, fats, edible oils and grains. The ministry of national defence said temporary restrictions were forced by dwindling American dollars available for French imports from the dollar area.

NEW CRISIS WITH DOUKS

Sons of Freedom Sect Are Being Banned from Trail
NELSON, (CP)—A new crisis appeared imminent today in the sect war between rival factions of British Columbia's 20,000 Doukhobors as the city of Trail issued orders barring the radical Sons of Freedom group from within the city limits.

DEFENCE TREATY BEING SIGNED

Canada Said to be Not Interested in Present Hemisphere Defence Pact
QUITANDINHA, Brazil, (CP)—Canada is "not interested" at the moment in signing a new Pan-American defence treaty, several delegates from 20 American republics said here as they signed the draft of a treaty and approved articles which left the way open for "American states not represented at the conference" to sign later. The treaty will be known as the "Treaty of Rio de Janeiro."

POOR SEASON NEARING END

Canneries Starting to Close Up and Prospects for Fall Fishing Not so Good
The salmon fishing season, which has been pretty much of a disappointment generally in this area this year, is now drawing to a close. Carlisle and Sunnyside canneries in the Skeena Slough are winding up operations, leaving Cassiar, North Pacific, Inverness, Port Edward and Seal Cove still running in the Skeena River area and Butedale, Kemtu, Namu and Goose Bay down the coast. With closures now starting to permit the escapement of fish to the spawning grounds, prospects for fall fishing are none too rosy.

Hunted Like Wild Animal

VANCOUVER, (CP)—Hunted like a wild animal in the bush-covered Surrey district, Walter Pavlukoff, 35-year-old ex-convict, sought for the slaying of Bank Manager Sydney S. Petrie on Monday afternoon, was believed today to be making a last desperate bid to reach the international border.

DAYLIGHT TIME END

VICTORIA, (CP)—Premier John Hart announced today that daylight saving in British Columbia will end September 28. Thus far time in the province ends this year on the same date that it terminates elsewhere in Canada. The action followed representations made to the government for a return to standard time in line with the remainder of Canada.

American Senators Impressed with Rupert

BELIEVE THIS PORT SHOULD BE PLAYING MORE IMPORTANT PART AS LINK WITH ALASKA

If Senator Hugh Butler, chairman, and his United States Senate committee on public lands were not fully impressed with the strategic advantages of Prince Rupert as the port of entry for Alaska from the United States, when they arrived here this morning on their way to Alaska on an investigatory tour they certainly were when they left after being shown and told of the port and its installations by the Alaska committee of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce. "We are deeply interested in Prince Rupert," confessed one of the prominent party, "and feel that it should play an important part in connection with Alaska shipping." Incidentally, it was revealed that already legislation is being considered at Washington which would enable Canadian vessels to carry American cargo in bond to Alaska, in an effort to relieve the present shipping situation to Alaska.

The committee on public lands it was explained, directly oversees territorial possessions such as Alaska and one of the functions of the present trip north is to investigate and report on Alaska's petition for statehood. Hearings will also be held at various Alaska points, starting with Ketchikan, on important items of legislation concerning the state of Alaska which are now pending.

LEARNED ABOUT PRINCE RUPERT

The party was met by George McAdams, president of the Associated Boards of Trade of Central British Columbia; G. A. Hunter, president of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce; E. T. Applewhite, secretary. Their reception in Prince Rupert was in the hands of Arnold Flaten, W. M. Watts, W. F. Stone, W. L. Armstrong and W. J. Scott. They were shown the new celanese pulp mill site at Port Edward and port installations including the huge ocean dock and terminal facilities. It was emphasized that Prince Rupert was a railway and highway terminal 500 miles closer to Alaska than Seattle with freight rates from the Middle West of United States to Prince Rupert the same as from the Middle West to Seattle, that Canadian shipping was ready to serve Alaska and that this port was anxious and ready to handle the traffic.

Tonight at Ketchikan hearings of the committee are being heard and tomorrow they will embark from there aboard the Department of Game and Wild Life vessel Brant for Wrangell and Petersburg enroute to Juneau, Sitka and Skagway will then be visited and, by plane, bus and other means of transportation, the party will be taken to central Alaska including Anchorage, Fairbanks, Mount McKinley Park and Matanuska Valley. Whitehorse in Yukon Territory will also be visited. The group is due back here again southbound on September 13.

The party consists of: Senator Hugh Butler (R-Neb-raska), Chairman, Senate Committee on public lands; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butler; Senator and Mrs. Zales N. Ecton (R-Montana); Zales Ecton, Jr.; Senator and Mrs. Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah); Senator and Mrs. Ernest W. McFarland (D-Arizona); Miss Jewell McFarland; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh R. Brown, Chief Clerk, Public Lands Committee; Miss Patty Mae Brown; Rex Lee, Acting Director, Division of Territories, Department of Interior.

Mrs. Alex Mackenzie returned by air yesterday afternoon from a trip to Vancouver.

GEN. EISENHOWER NOT SATISFIED

Something Must be Done to Bolster Up Northern Defences

SEATTLE—General Dwight Eisenhower, Chief of Staff, U. S. Army, back from a two weeks visit to Alaska, said he is far from satisfied with the present Alaskan defences. "Something," he declared, "must be done very soon to strengthen the territory's military facilities in these uncertain times. Alaska is one of the nation's major outposts and present defences were installed on an emergency basis during the second world war."

HOTEL MAN IS ROBBED

Sum of $30,000 is Snatched by Car Bandits in Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, (CP)—Two unidentified men today escaped with approximately $30,000 in cash intended for the Winnipeg Hotel when they robbed the proprietor, J. M. Kingston, of a payroll outside the premises of the Royal Bank of Canada in a downtown district.

Mr. Kingston entered his car when jumped into the back seat, pushed something into his back hat felt like a gun and demanded money, growling, "start the car and get going."

Mr. Kingston reached over his shoulder and grabbed the man, pulling him into the front seat. Another man then jumped into the front seat and smashed Mr. Kingston in the face, throwing him from the car and running to another nearby.

POST CAMERA MAN IN CITY

One of the outstanding photographers of the United States, Ray Atkeson of Portland, Oregon, arrived in the city Thursday afternoon by air to take photographs to illustrate an article on Prince Rupert written by Richard L. Neuberger for the Saturday Evening Post.

Mr. Atkeson plans to take pictures of local scenes and personalities. He is particularly eager to photograph Mayor Arnold and other outstanding local citizens, railroad and port installations, civic buildings and former American soldiers who have married local girls and who are now living here.

The photographs will be in black and white and will illustrate a story written by Mr. Neuberger following his visit here last June.

Is Found Dead in Hotel Room

Beverly Jardine, 54-year old painter, was discovered late Thursday afternoon dead in his room at the Grandview Hotel on First Avenue. Apparently he had been dead for some time. Deceased, who was employed by Fred Seaden as a sign writer, was born in Scotland, and had been a resident of Prince Rupert for several years. He is believed to have been unmarried. An inquest is being held this afternoon.

Miss Kay Nickerson sailed last night on the Prince Rupert for a trip to Vancouver.

RAIN HALTING HARVEST WORK

Yield and Grade Both Below Last Year
WINNIPEG, (CP)—Cool showery weather on the prairies has further delayed harvesting operations in practically all districts. Very little cutting or combining will be done before the beginning of next week except in southern Manitoba where only light rainfall was received during the past week, according to the weekly crop report of the Department of Agriculture of the Canadian National Railways.

Harvesting is well under way in southern Manitoba but both yield and grade are below those of last year.

All districts on the prairies which report threshing state that grades are below average. Wheat yield should average 20 bushels per acre in Manitoba. In Saskatchewan it runs from 15 to 30 and in Alberta from 5 to 30. The recent rains have aided pastures and the feed situation in all districts.

Moving Moral Forces

PRESIDENT TRUMAN of the United States and Pope Pius have agreed that moral forces of the world must consolidate their strength if there is to be peace and security on this continuously troubled earth. That is becoming more simply apparent every day. No one can deny it but, unfortunately, while we may agree, there are few who accept the fact that it is for each and every one of us to do something about it. We listen to the statements of great men, agree that there should be moral improvement in our relationships but, not applying it to ourselves, leave it to some one else to do the improving. It is all very well for us to go on concerned only with our own interests and pleasures. Most of us accept the situation complacently. If we are not disturbed, we are content to let the other fellow, if he will, make the effort that is needed to make it a safe and secure world, a peaceful and happy one, and a better world for all.

Meantime, it is well that statesmen and prelates go on telling us that the practical exercise of moral forces is necessary for the better world. But we must accept the fact ourselves and so regulate our own acts and living. Re-moralization is a slow process and, unfortunately, the forces of demoralization move with cunning, speed and treachery and their wiles are sometimes as pleasant as they are sinister.

But there is something that each and every one of us can do by thought and action to make the world a better place. And the sooner we start doing something about it, the better.

CIVIC CENTRE FACILITIES

WITH THE CIVIC CENTRE Association capital fund steadily growing and the Civic Centre itself, on a sound financial footing, paying its own current operations so far at least, there is naturally discussion as to what it may be desirable to undertake in the way of new capital improvement of civic centre facilities. Two major projects are most frequently heard mentioned—a swimming pool and an artificial ice rink.

It may not be the ideal time just now to embark upon any major project—the Civic Centre administration has learned by experience that it has paid to be not too speedy—but it is not untimely to assess public opinion, go into pros and cons and hear what the people think. Discussion of the subject at this time should be of interest and the Daily News is not unwilling to publish some views on a matter in which almost every citizen today has an interest one way or another.

LANDMARK IN LABOR LAW

DECISION OF THE British Columbia Court of Appeals that a trade union is a legal entity and can be sued constitutes a turning point in the history of Canadian labor relations.

The labor movement in Canada has consistently sought wider recognition of the rights of the worker. What labor leaders have with equal consistency overlooked is that such rights as they demand must be accompanied by certain responsibilities.

In business, the right of a group of individuals to associate in order more effectively to achieve their objectives, has been accompanied by the responsibility of the corporation for the action of its directors. The right of the corporation to sue and to be sued is a well-established principle of law.

Organized labor, whose objectives are no less clearly defined, and whose right to associate in order to achieve its objectives has also been a long-established principle of law, has hitherto not been answerable to the courts for whatever actions the individual union may have happened to adopt. Since the unions are not infrequently the holders of large sums of money collected in the form of union dues, it seems only appropriate that such resources, just as the resources of a corporation, should be a bond for their proper conduct.

The British Columbia Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act, upon the interpretation of which the decision of the Court of Appeals rests, provides for a government-conducted strike-vote before a work stoppage is technically legal. While neither the legislation nor the decision of the court are binding outside British Columbia, the precedent thus set is certain to have a sobering effect upon union policies throughout Canada.—Financial Post.

REPORTORIAL EXPERIENCES

(W. J. R.)
"Look up Mark Twain. He won't be long in town. Should be good story."
So spoke the boss on a mid-summer afternoon way down east, when the provision of live copy for the linotypes was beyond all question, the duty of the hour.

We had never met Samuel Langhorne Clemens. Yet there was a happy friendship, though more in fancy than fact, with "Huckleberry Finn," "Tom Sawyer" and other minor celebrities who rambled through the fascinating pages of his books. One suddenly recalled "Roughing It." Now there was a sprightly yarn of crossing the plains on a stage coach, and bumping right on down to Virginia City in Nevada, in mining stock until he had an armful big enough to fill a trunk.

And lo! Here was the great man himself.

Mark, we discovered, was aboard a yacht with fellow guests who had come up to the Maritimes to escape the annual scorch in the United States. The visitors had been strolling around and by this time had doubtless returned to the boat.

Trying to think up suitable questions to ask, we hot-footed it to the docks, overtaking Billy Quinton, from a rival paper, and on the same assignment as myself. A solitary officer was pacing the deck. He waved us back as we moved up the gangway.

"No one allowed. That's definite and final. Anyway, ship's sailing soon" (or words to that effect).

"Will Mr. Clemens be coming ashore?"

"Not likely . . . He went once. The hills fagged him."

"Would you mind if we loitered on the wharf for a while, inquired Quinton, with elaborate politeness.

The yacht was constructed in such a way that from shore, the interior of the saloon was clearly visible. Evening was coming on, and there were indications of approaching dinner. Soft lights heightened the luxurious effects of the appointments and furnishings. By and by, the press, on the outside looking in, noticed the coming of a small group and one was a man somewhat carelessly dressed. His movements were slow and languid. He was holding what appeared to be a well sweetened briar pipe and now and then he would use it to point with, in the conversation.

It was not unlike the screen, before the days of talking pictures, but hear nothing. The man with the pipe was Mark indeed. There was no mistaking that undisciplined head of shaggy grey hair; the drooping grizzled moustache, the keen, inquiring expression.

What were they discussing? Well, a cheery subject is always good form at dinner. Now and then, there would be a chuckle. It looked that way. Twain might have been responsible. And as they supped and chatted, the yacht cast off and slipped away through the twilight.

Entertainment at Thursday's luncheon consisted of a report on this year's district conference at Seattle by P. H. Linzey,

HERE'S A RADICAL IDEA

"Of all the countries of the world only the North American countries are staying with free enterprise," a columnist wrote the other day.

That may be a good deal of an exaggeration, but even if it were true it would be nothing new.

North America has always been a free land . . . peopled by radicals who actually believe that men can do their own planning for themselves and rise as high as they can go.

The reactionaries of the old world can't get away from the idea that people are made to be driven like sheep, to be regimented, controlled, their economies planned for them, their lives pressed into narrow ruts from which there is little chance to escape except by emigration.

North America has always been the land of opportunity for freedom-hungry people.

And the "unplanned economy" of free enterprise in North America produces the greatest abundance the world has ever known. It seems that North Americans, who cling to the radical idea of personal freedom in spite of all the Socialist theorists tell them, get along pretty well in planning their own lives under the Opportunity System.

ROTARY CLUB TO AID PEOPLE OF BRITAIN

A drive to collect useful articles of clothing and foodstuffs for the people of Britain will be undertaken by the Prince Rupert Rotary Club in the near future under a plan approved at the club's weekly luncheon at the Commodore Thursday afternoon.

Under the plan, the club will contact a city in Britain of similar size which also has a Rotary Club. Shipments of clothing and foodstuffs will be made to the British Rotary Club which will be responsible for their distribution.

The project was broached to the local club by President Lee Gordon yesterday and met with unanimous response by the members.

Entertainment at Thursday's luncheon consisted of a report on this year's district conference at Seattle by P. H. Linzey, who attended as local delegate. The report was given in an entertaining and humorous manner.

W. C. Sparks of Terrace is paying a brief visit to the city today. He arrived on last night's train and will be returning to the interior tonight.

MORE PUPILS IN SCHOOLS

Four More Teachers Added in Inspectorate—Prince Rupert, Stewart and Massett

Two additional teachers at Prince Rupert and one extra each at Stewart and Massett, making a total of 78 teachers in all in the inspectorate, reflect an increase of school population in this district as another school year commences. It is stated by E. E. Hyndman, inspector of schools here.

The increase of teaching staff in Prince Rupert includes a relieving principal for the elementary schools and one new teacher for King Edward School. Massett and Stewart will each have three teachers now. Massett, with a total school population of 57, has a full-fledged High School division now. Stewart continues as a superior school with enrolment totalling 48.

Only one school in the inspectorate is now without a teacher—this being Queen Charlotte City.

PREVENTS CLOTHES TURNING YELLOW

No 'yellow hue' thanks to Blue!

S-w-i-s-h! That's all... just a good swish of Blue in the final rinsing water on washday, and clothes come out snowy-white the way they should be! Use Blue to eliminate the yellow tinge that makes clothes look old—it's the sure, quick, and easy way to a really white wash!

P.S.—Seven colours combine to make white, one of these is blue. Blue must be added to make true white.

BING CROSBY IS JASPER VISITOR; EXCITEMENT ATTENDS HIS ARRIVAL

POPULAR SCREEN STAR CUTS UP ON GOLF COURSE

JASPER—Warming up for the eighteenth annual Totem Pole Tournament to be played here Sept. 1-7, Bing Crosby, idol of screen and radio, had a grand game of golf on the championship Jasper Park Lodge course Wednesday afternoon. He also had a lesson from Leroy Goldsworthy, the resort's golf professional, who will soon be coaching Buffalo Bison's hockey club. Partnering Mr. Crooner was burly S. Davidson Hefron, investment dealer of Sewickley, in suburban Pittsburgh, winner of the United States Amateur in 1919 and member of the U.S. Walker Cup team in 1923. Goldie, the pro, teamed up with Mrs. Herron.

A large gallery followed the foursome over the 18 holes and the lady's 175-yard first tee drive, compared with the men's 260's, received loudest applause. In winning the friendly match three-up, Goldsworthy and Mrs. Herron had to contend with Bing's 75 and lots of kidding by the crooner, particularly directed at the pro, who broke the renovated course's record for the first nine and a dazzling 32. Goldsworthy came in with a 37, Herron scored 92 and her husband's deadly putts gave him an 80.

The pay-off came in the eighteenth green where Bing put on his best act of the match. Goldie was putting a long one for a three. Crosby, standing close behind, unknown to the pro, waved an "Indian sign" in his direction. The putt was inches short. The crooner, also trying for a birdie, carelessly poked at his ball which rolled 15 feet to the cup and sank. The green was rimmed with hundreds of spectators and the antics of Jasper's current No. 1 guest delighted them.

The "gone fishing" sign was hanging on the doorway of Bing's bungalow. Accompanied by friend Bill Morrow, screen and radio writer of Los Angeles, he is in the Tonquin Valley angling for rainbow trout. There's usually plenty of excitement for vacationists at Jasper Park Lodge but there was calm and expectancy among the guests and staff just prior to arrival of the movie star. Tension broke at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday when the guest of the day arrived.

The crooner's entry was a quiet one. Accompanied by his friend William Morrow, Bing drove up to the main building entrance, registered at the front desk, returned to his car and went to his bungalow. They were ready to dine, after driving most of the day. The pair left Sand Point, Idaho, at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning, coming by way of Cranbrook, Kimberley, Radium Hot Springs and Windermere, thence over the Jasper-Banff Highway, at the Columbia Icefield Chalet, overlooking the gigantic 150 square mile icefield, they stopped to chat with Manager Jack Brewster, who met Bing last year when he was on location here for Paramount's $3,000,000 technical film "The Emperor Waltz," expected to be released early in 1948.

First to greet the celebrity were John Stark, manager of Jasper Park Lodge, and Major James A. Wood, superintendent, Jasper National Park. Both became well acquainted with him during his long stay here in 1946.

Bing's keen interest in golf led him to first enquire as to the condition of the championship course. When informed the fairways and greens were in excellent shape, he smiled and admitted he'd be out practising soon. "I've been at my Nevada ranch for some time and haven't had any golf lately. That calls for a workout," he said. He's looking forward to playing in the famed golf classic, the Totem Pole tournament, to be played here during September 1 to 7, with 200 competitors entered from all parts of the continent. "It's going to be lots of fun," said Bing. "I hear the competition is pretty stiff."

Aside from golf, he plans to do some trout fishing in Jasper's well-stocked waters. He will be doing considerable riding too, as he is due to start out September 8 on a fortnight's big game hunt in the territory north of Jasper Park. Plans for the trip have been drawn up by Stan Kitchen, veteran outfitter and guide here. Accompanying Crosby and Morrow on the trail will be Col. Newton Crumley and John Oldham, of Elko, Nevada, where Bing's ranch is located, and Dr. Arnold Stenens of Los Angeles. The trio will arrive here about September 7. "We're hoping to bag some nice trophies," commented Bing. Speaking of hunting, there will be lots of shooting around Jasper Park Lodge and the golf course from today on. Camera enthusiasts are all set to photograph Bing at every opportunity.

FASTBALL RAINED OUT
Owing to rain the regularly scheduled fastball game between Gordon and Anderson and High School in the Ladies' Fastball League series was cancelled.

FASTBALL PLAY-OFFS

Series to Begin Saturday Evening With Four Teams Competing

At a meeting of the Fastball Commission yesterday afternoon plans were drawn up for the season's play-offs. They will start tomorrow evening.

This evening's game will be the last regular league fixture and will bring Co-op and C.N.R.A. together.

The League winners for this year have been declared and the General Motors nine repeat their last year's victory. The Navy team, at the bottom of the league and unable to field a team, has been eliminated from the play-offs. Tomorrow evening's first game of the play-offs will bring Gordon and Anderson against High School. On Monday evening C.N.R.A. will meet Co-op. Wednesday's fixture brings the second game between High School and Gordon and Anderson and Friday's game will bring Co-op and C.N.R.A. together in their second play-off game. These series will be the best two out of three games, and later fixtures will depend on the results of the first two games.

Owing to the shorter evenings the games will be seven innings. The play-off schedule was arranged after it was decided that the present second and fourth teams in the league standing should play a best two-out-of-three series and the present third and fifth team should also play a best two-out-of-three series. The winners of this would meet the General Motors in a final series.

Those in attendance at the commission meeting were J. S. Wilson, chairman, W. Landon, R. G. Moore, Don Forward and Miss Margaret Slinn.

Colorful Pioneer, Aged 86, Leads Quadruple Anniversary

Few Can Beat Record of Charlie Durham,
Here Since 1892

The unique event of a quadruple birthday party within a family took place on Thursday of last week at the home in Usk of Charles Durham, dean of pioneers of the Skeena River district. The celebrants were the 86-year-old "Charlie" himself; his daughter, Mrs. Nellie Adams, also of Usk; his daughter-in-law,

Mrs. George Lurnam of Vancouver, and his grandson, Allan Durham, also of Vancouver. Relatives came from various parts of the province to join in the anniversary reunion which was a memorize event. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Durham, Usk; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Adams, Usk; Mr. and Mrs. George Durham and son, Allan, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Bowie and son, Ian, 150-Mile House; Mr. and Mrs. A. Blackhall and son, David, Prince Rupert; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Verner, Usk.

Born at Molde, Norway, in 1861, it was back in 1892 that Charlie Durham first hit the Skeena River, coming north aboard the old side-wheeler Princess Louise to work as storekeeper in Robert Cunningham's cannery. There were few canneries on the river in those days—Inverness and North Pacific in the slough and Standard and Claxton on the main river. The first Aberdeen, near the present Tyee, had just burned down and Balmoral was only starting.

Those were the days when sockeye sold for 7c apiece and springs for 25c regardless of size. There were no Japs and mighty few white men in the fishing, the industry being confined pretty well to the Indians. Fresh meat was largely venison and they paid $1 apiece for deer.

Everybody was happy. The early canners were waxing rich, the fishermen were making a good living and there were no complaints. But Charlie did not stay long at Essington, hustling back to Vancouver in a 10-day voyage of the Princess Louise on which there was such a crowd of passengers that three men had to share every bunk, taking their sleep in eight-hour shifts.

Ten years later, however, in 1902, Charlie headed north again as a telegraph lineman, homesteading at Kitselas, whence he moved, after serving overseas with the 102nd Battalion in the First World War, to Usk where he has since resided.

While the most of his life has been spent in this district, Charlie Durham has also seen a good deal else of the world. He went to sea in sailing ships and sailed out of London and Liverpool. Marrying 62 years ago, he finally decided to settle down in Montreal at which port he quit the steamer Oregon, a transatlantic vessel of the old Dominion Line. Followed employment with the Canadian Pacific Railway and, finally, transfer to Sudbury, Ontario, as dining car storekeeper. The nickel-mines were working strong in those days and Charlie went to work at the mines as accountant and paymaster. It was from there he came to British Columbia and Port Essington.

The sea called Charlie again for a couple of years after he left Port Essington to return to Vancouver and he sailed to the Orient aboard the old Empress of China. Then, as the Yukon gold rush was commencing, he became interested in the hotel business, acquiring the Grand Hotel on Cordova Street across from the old Canadian Pacific Railway business. But "Mother," a confirmed temperance woman, did not agree with the saloon angle of that enterprise and "Father" sold out and worked for a time in the Rogers sugar refinery, later becoming identified with the fishermen's union in the Fraser River.

Charlie's has been a colorful career and the years rest lightly on his shoulders. Active and frisky, too, on occasion he looks 20 years younger than the record shows. In town the last few days, he has been receiving the admulatory congratulations of numerous friends.

BRITISH TRAIN WRECK CLAIMS 17 LIVES—Here is an airview of the shattered wreckage in which 17 died in a rail disaster at Doncaster, England. The speeding London-to-Leeds express plowed into the rear of a train which was slowing down preparatory to entering Lancaster station. The upset engine of the express can be seen alongside the wrecked coaches of the local train.

GIANT ANTS — Australian scientist Miss E. A. Clarke is shown in San Francisco, Calif., with some of the 3,000 giant ants she flew across the Pacific ocean in a specially-equipped plane, for the purpose of conducting tests on adaptability, altitude and climate. The size of the ants is compared with coins (bottom). Miss Clarke plans to return the ants to Melbourne following completion of tests.

Playground Activities

Sports Day on Monday
Will Wind Up Season
Monday morning at the Gyro Ball Park will see the wind-up of the playground season. A full morning's program will keep the children of five and under up to 14 years of age very busy in a series of races. Full details are given elsewhere in the official advertisement. Entries will be accepted on the grounds.
There will be dashes for the different age groups, egg-and-spoon and skipping races. A special feature will be two bicycle races, one for girls and one for boys. The exact course to be followed is being planned by Miss Margaret Slinn, assistant recreation director, in conjunction with city police chief Sergeant Potterton. The start and finish will be at the Gyro Ball Park and will be the last event on the program.

Joseph Slaggard sailed this morning on the Princess Louise for a trip to Ketchikan.
