POLICE FINES TOTAL $1,230 IN SEPTEMBER

A police drive against persons supplying liquor to Indians brought eleven convictions in city police court during September and the resulting penalties constituted a large part of the fine total of $1,230, according to the monthly report of Sgt. L. A. N. Potterton.

There were 73 cases in police court during September, 72 of which resulted in convictions and one in committal for trial, according to the report which was considered by the civic police committee at the week-end.

Theft of a gillnet boat, several bicycles and miscellaneous articles brought to the month's loss by theft to $1,163, of which $857 worth of goods was later recovered by the police.

Police fine total for the year to date is $8,367, as compared with $11,416 for the same period in 1946.

Cost of maintaining the city jail for the month was $228, of which $188 is recoverable from the provincial government for meals supplied to prisoners.

Mrs. G. L. Rorie will leave on this evening's train for a visit to Smithers where Mr. Rorie is at present on business.

Council Recommends Veterans' Group For City Bus Franchise

Override "Delaying Action" by Alderman Casey to Bring Issue Before Ratepayers

A plebiscite in which Prince Rupert property holders will be asked to approve a recommendation by city council that a five-year bus operation franchise be granted to Veterans' Stage Lines will be placed before the electorate at the civic elections next December.

Decision that the council support the franchise application of Veterans' Stage Lines, a concern which will be operated by Carl V. Smith and William Murray, was made last night after an attempt by Alderman George Casey to defer the matter until more "clarification" could be obtained on the celanese mill operation at Port Edward.

If the ratepayers approve the council's recommendation, it will mean that Veterans' Stage Lines will have exclusive right to operate within the city, assuming the internal transportation job which has been done by Arrow Bus Lines without franchise for the last seven years.

After a series of four secret elimination ballots, the aldermen voted to approve the application of Smith and Murray over applications from Arrow Bus Lines, Allan Morgan and Associates and Neil Macdonald and Charles Pustak. Council then declared itself unanimously in favor of recommending the Smith-Murray application.

In the first two ballots of the elimination vote, Veterans' Stage Lines received three votes, Arrow and Macdonald and Pustak two votes each and Morgan and Associates none. One ballot was spoiled on each of the first two ballots.

The third vote was between Arrow and Macdonald and Pustak, resulting in Arrow receiving five votes and Macdonald and Pustak two. There also was a spoiled ballot in this vote.

The final vote was between Veterans' Stage Lines and Arrow, giving Veterans five votes and Arrow three. There were no spoiled ballots this time.

Alderman T. N. Youngs was absent from the meeting. Mayor Arnold voted with the aldermen. The application offers the city three per cent of the gross receipts of the company, an offer similar to that of Arrow, and Morgan, Macdonald and Pustak offered five per cent.

The applications were entered last spring after the city had called for such tenders for the second year in succession, but were the centre of disagreement during the summer. Two months ago the aldermen decided to recommend one of the applications in time for it to be placed before the ratepayers in a plebiscite at the December elections.

The balloting followed an unsuccessful attempt by Alderman George Casey to have the decision on the bus franchise delayed indefinitely on grounds that the city's internal transportation system should be tied closely with that of transporting workers to the Watson Island plant of the Columbia Celanese Co. which may not be in operation for more than a year.

Alderman Casey's motion was defeated by a vote of 4 to 3, with Aldermen Nickerson, McKay, Black and Ham dissenting and Casey, Rudderham and Brooks-bank for it.

In opposing the motion for delaying the issue, Alderman Black declared that any bus franchise granted within the city could not have any bearing on the transportation of workers to Port Edward, since highway transport was purely a concern of the provincial government.

UNITED NATIONS DOING LITTLE

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LAKE SUCCESS (CP)—A common expression heard about United Nations corridors and public rooms is "We've been here a month and nothing has been accomplished" but talk and name-calling, or words to that effect.

But that's not quite true. The U. N. has done something that Canada has not been able to conclude in years of debate—it has adopted a flag.

This week the legal committee which has a member from each of the 57 delegations agreed on the design of a U. N. flag and left it to Secretary General Trygve Lie to decide on its dimensions and the code covering its use.

The flag is light blue with an emblem in white reproducing the organization's symbol—a projection of the globe from the North Pole.

The global symbol now forms the huge backdrop behind the tall dies in the assembly headquarters main room on Flushing Meadow.

The old League of Nations, like Canada, debated off and on for years without reaching agreement on a league flag.

The legal committee of the new organization decided the question in a few minutes—all but Russia. Its delegate was caught without advice from the Kremlin and withheld his vote temporarily pending instructions.

But, if there was agreement on the banner it will show to the world, the U. N. at the end of its fourth week in the current general assembly was showing anything but a common front.

The shadow-boxing which occupies most of the main committees went on unabated and without hope or light.

Over and over the main contestants charged and counter-charged. On the Greek-Balkan issue which has brought the main stalemate between the Slav countries and the rest, any speech by a pro-Russian delegate could be forecast accurately by any who had heard the original Soviet statements. They varied only in the extent of their bitterness and the extremes of epithets used.

There seemed not the slightest possibility of any sort of compromising toward harmony unless the main Soviet country delegates, particularly Russia's Andrei Vishinsky and the Ukraine's Dmitri Manulsky, are called home and replaced by others who have not committed William Terry returned on the Prince Rupert this morning from a holiday trip to Edmonton and Vancouver.

Miss Audrey Grimble and Miss Betty Payne returned on the Prince Rupert this morning from a holiday trip to Vancouver and other southern points.

Causeway to Avoid Snowslide at Kwinitsa Almost Completed

The Skeena Highway road diversion causeway project outside the Kwinitsa railway tunnel to get away from a big snowslide which comes down at that point each winter and blocks the road is expected to be completed in about three weeks' time, according to the public works department.

The intention of the department is not to abandon the present road under the bluff there when the diversion is completed but to continue it as the regular road. The diversion will be used when the snow makes the regular road impassable.

themselves in the debate and do not have to save face.

In smaller matters action was registered here and there and one avenue of progress led to top of any substantial items ward economy. It is a hard task from the $35,000,000 plus budget of this monumental organization.

Australia managed to start something that may pile up like a rolling snowball and save quite a lot of money.

Delegate E. J. R. Hayward got a vote of 27 to 3 for his motion to cut $7,500 off the 10-member trusteeship council's estimate for "hospitality."

DOUK PROBE CONTINUING

John Veregin Calls for More Careful Study—Another Mill Fire

SOUTH SLOAN (CP)—British Columbia police launched a full investigation today into suspected incendiary fires that razed two West Kootenay lumber plants as the special commission probe into the strife-ridden problem of British Columbia's 17,000 Doukhobors entered its second day here.

Destroyed yesterday were the modern $80,000 Taghum Lumber Co. planing mill at Taghum, 13 miles northeast of here, and the $5,000 semi-portable Lazareff sawmill in the remote Pend O'Rielle district 40 miles to the south. About $20,000 worth of lumber was also destroyed in the Taghum blaze.

John Veregin was the first witness at the hearing yesterday. He called for a more careful study of Doukhobor religion and customs by the government.

THE WEATHER

Heavy rain has fallen in the southern coastal areas during the night from an active storm which was moving into the southern interior early this morning. Port Hardy reported nearly three inches of rain in the last 24 hours while several points on the west coast of Vancouver Island reported nearly two inches. Rain is falling across the entire southern section of the province but will cease briefly in the coastal areas this afternoon. Another storm is brewing about 1,000 miles off the Washington coast which is expected to bring more rain and strong winds to the southern coastal areas tomorrow. Showery weather is general throughout northern British Columbia.

Danger In Increases

CANADA IS IN FOR very serious trouble if prices continue to climb. Our only hope for averting disaster is if Canadians will exercise some self-discipline, stop forcing wages higher.

So Gilbert Jackson, prominent consulting economist, says.

Very real danger that Canada's standard of living will be permanently reduced because of the price situation here and international trade conditions exists, he says.

The third bout in the upward wage spiral which now appears to be starting in the United States, together with the explosion of a similar kind which apparently is being set off by the latest decontrol order in Canada, has grave implications for the Canadian cost of living. (The Dominion Bureau of Statistics cost of living index is now up 36.6% from its 1938 level).

A new round of wage increases at this time will have extremely serious consequences, Jackson says. The plight of the white collar and fixed incomes generally he pointed out will be worse than ever.

The fundamental point, Mr. Jackson points out, is: "Each income payment to someone is a cost to someone else. When each income payment rises so does the cost rise somewhere in our economy."

Workers today are not facing a lower standard of living than pre-war, Mr. Jackson says but only a lowering of the higher standard of living which they became accustomed as a result of the war.

THE HERITAGE OF YOUTH

MUCH IS BEING SAID TODAY in regard to the matter of youth, a subject which will always be in the world, and one which the older and more mature people have to take into consideration in the interests of the future and of making life more attractive to the younger generation. It may be that some people regard youth as something which has to be tolerated and one of those necessary evils through which all human beings have to find their own way of life, and that by experience the younger people will eventually find the errors of their ways. Possibly the past generation did not give enough attention to the needs of younger people, and even today some believe that too little thought is given to the boys and girls who some years later will be in charge of the affairs of the world.

Whatever may be said by the older citizens, particularly those who have lived through two wars which endeavored to destroy civilization itself, and many of whom look upon the morals of our sons and daughters as being on a lower plane than those of the past generations, it must be admitted that youth itself remains the same through the ages, and that there must be a perfect understanding between the older people and those who are following them in life. "All the world's a stage," said Shakespeare, and this stage must be set so that the opening acts of the drama will be a prelude to a more pleasing middle age than some have had and that the final act, when the curtain goes down, will be what is commonly called "a happy ending." It is to be hoped, therefore, that those who came after us in the great heritage of life will be able to live up to those ideas and ideals which the present so-called civilization most desires and that all the opportunities youth can possibly have will be at its disposal to ensure the creation of a world free from "crooked thinking and inhuman actions."

JUST A FISH PORT

SAN FRANCISCO has long had a fish dock where the consumption of sea food in variety, of superlative toothsome and easy on the eyes is disposed of.

Perhaps it's one of the things that cause people to associate fish, served with style and taste, with California's great port.

Prince Rupert, in a sense, is a fish city. From the standpoint of convenience and economy in shipping catches to the chief markets, it is perfectly true. But outside of that, fish in Prince Rupert is the same as fish, anywhere else.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

Q. Is it necessary that a bride wear a hat or veil if the wedding ceremony takes place in the church?
A. Yes, either may be worn, but at the home wedding, no matter what time of day, both hat and veil may be omitted.

Q. When you have moved into a new neighborhood, isn't it all right to call on all the neighbors that you wish to associate with?
A. No. The neighbors should call first; then you should return those calls.

Q. Should one use a knife or fork to place butter on a potato?
A. The fork should be used.

Reminiscences By W.J. and Reflections

Shipbuilding brought a lot of prairie dwellers this way during the war, but it was not to be expected all would remain. One can feel at home, living on the plains. Scenery is not entirely essential to happiness although it can help.

Some folks curse the prairies and say they will go away. Yet they stay. We arrived in Saskatoon on a dull afternoon in spring, coming from down east to work on a paper.

In 1906-07, Saskatoon was not so hot although there were signs of more life. There might have been six or seven thousand population, about 99 per cent born optimists. They boosted in and out of season. Elections were warm, and friendships prevailed in between times. There was not much to boast, except a blue sky and fertile soil. Take Goose Lake, for example! The finest wheat raising area in Canada, or at any rate in the province. Yes siree! And it was unquestionable about Saskatoon being the best distribution point in Saskatchewan. But even allowing for all this, the newcomer was more than likely to stroll the dusty streets and murmur "just another town."

Even in 1906, the community could look back a long way. It was in the news at the time of the rebellion in '85. Affairs jogged along. The Barr colonists, settlers of substance but new to the west, were welcomed with more than perfunctory cheer. They founded Lloydminster. The water of the brown Saskatchewan River relieved the thirst of Saskatoon. It was delivered to your kitchen at so much per barrel.

The heat of hockey matches and winter sports helped offset the cold. How icy, how numbing it would be. The very bedclothes could be chilling. To step out on a frosty wooden sidewalk made it crack like a pistol shot in early morning when there was more bite than brace to the air.

The C.P.R. built a bridge and a railway station. A few miles out, the G.T.P. grade was under construction. Things were looking up. Little by little growth kept on. New faces were seen. From Manitoba came Jimmy Flannigan, alert and bewhiskered, who established a popular hotel.

One day, a traveller, asked if he cared for soup, mildly inquired what kind of soup.

"Darned good soup," observed the waiter.

Over in Nutano, across the river, a few more dwellings began to dot the rolling, breezy miles. A new building here! Another there! Expansion was on the way.

"Keep your eye on Prince Rupert" remarked a visitor in casual conversation, after he had viewed the C.N. grade.

"Where's that?" queried the inevitable local man, who was promptly told.
"Oh yes. Up there. Perhaps you're right."

Forty years ago Saskatoon was small and scattered, rather raw and not altogether comfortable. But verily expansion was moving. It was fated that "just another town" would blossom into a city. None could foresee a university, the stately Bessborough - developments hardly dreamed of. Yes, one can feel at home on the prairies and many do.

INTERESTED IN INDIAN SCENE

Local Man Spent Years There With British Army

The shifting scenes in India hold a direct interest for Bill Baillie, for he used to live there.

It was in 1893, serving in the 1st Battalion, King's Royal Rifles, that he landed in Karachi on the west coast. Even then, he says, what is going on now was freely predicted in India. For four years he saw plenty of fighting, mainly on the north-west frontier.

Once he was shipwrecked, losing everything he had except what he stood in. He served for sometime in Mauritius, an island in the Indian Ocean about 500 miles east of Zanzibar and a fruitful source of coffee, sugar and other products.

Bill was through the siege of Ladysmith and in due course received his discharge from the army and settled down in Canada. He ranks among Prince Rupert's best known pioneer citizens and has seen a lot of the world.

The evening was spent playing bridge and whist, following which delicious refreshments were served and numerous gifts presented to the bride-to-be.

Bridge prize winners were Mrs. William Hunter and Mrs. J. W. Moorehouse. Whist prize winners were Mrs. T. J. Gowan, Mrs. G. Krause, Mrs. M. Ganton, Mrs. Mary Murray and Mrs. L. D. Fetherolf.

Guests were Mrs. J. C. Carter, Mrs. G. Kristjanson, Mrs. Sam Currie, jr., Mrs. Angus Macdonald, Mrs. A. Gagan, Mrs. G. R. Krause, Mrs. Neil Macdonald, Mrs. S. L. Pachey, Mrs. T. J. Gowan, Mrs. William Hunter, Mrs. J. R. Murray, Mrs. A. Bell, Mrs. L. D. Fetherolf, Mrs. Mary Murray, Mrs. G. Krause, Mrs. J. W. Moorehouse, Mrs. M. Ganton, Mrs. Robert Murray.

The models for the evening were Mrs. W. C. Osborne, Mrs. Jack Kirkaldy, Miss Irene Pratt, Miss Edna Toop, Mrs. John Gordon, Miss Jean Kirkaldy, Miss Lillian Miles, Miss Kay Williscroft and Mrs. James Campbell.

Three small children, Carol Mawhinie, Judy Barr and Marlene Arsenault, were first shown in winter togs and they were loudly applauded by the audience. The longer hemline in all the suits, coats and dresses was the theme of the whole fashion show. Most outstanding of all, though, was a Renee afternoon gown of heavy jet satin with pannelled overskirt designed by Canadian designers. The chic black satin hat which matched the gown, was made by the nimble fingers of Mrs. McAdam and the complete ensemble was the epitome of sophistication and superbly modelled by Mrs. Flo Campbell. The latest styles in fur coats were the envy of all the ladies in the hall and the despair of the men.

Moose Whist and Dance Enjoyable

Enjoyable and successful as usual was Saturday night's whist party and dance of the Moose Lodge in the Moose Temple. Prize winners at whist were Mrs. Sam Haudenschild and Mrs. H. Muncey with Jack Collier and H. McDonald taking the men's prizes. Dancing to music by Stevens' Orchestra commenced at 10:30 p.m. During an intermission refreshments were served and whist prizes distributed. As acting chairman of the entertainment committee, Percy Bond supervised the proceedings.

LARGE CROWD AT HARVEST DINNER

St. Andrews Cathedral Thanksgiving Affair Draws Two Hundred Persons

There was a capacity attendance in St. Andrews Cathedral Hall Monday evening, the occasion being Thanksgiving Day harvest dinner. Six tables were bountifully laden and daintily adorned. The audience totalled at least two hundred for this banquet. The dinner commenced at 6:30 and, before nine it had about drawn to a conclusion. There were numerous young folks present.

Speaking on behalf of the dinner committee, the rector, Rev. Basil S. Prockter, extended a cordial welcome, after which there was a round of community singing led by F. E. Anfield, with piano accompanist, Mrs. Anfield.

There were violin solos by Vaughan Tattersall, with Miss Mary Adcock accompanist. The program was well enjoyed and Mr. Anfield's high good humor and "pep" contributed in no small degree to the success of the singing and other events. Also, during the program, valued assistance was given by E. T. Appelhaite.

The concluding item was a competition in Biblical knowledge, there being six contestants—three ladies and three gentlemen. These were Mayor Arnold, Mrs. Dickson and Mrs. C. C. Mills, and the latter Col. S. D. Johnston, Levi Fitzgerald and Gordon Durkin. The ladies, by substantial majorities, won out and received the prizes. The questions concerning the Scriptures were asked by Mr. Anfield.

Mrs. A. L. Holtby was general convener of the dinner and the tables were supervised by Mrs. Holtby, Mrs. Bert Bartlett, Mrs. J. T. Langridge, Mrs. W. J.

Nelson, Mrs. Robert Gilmour and Mrs. T. B. Black. Assisting with the serving were Mrs. J. Bowman and the Misses Monica Holtby, Joanne Langridge, Betty Wide, Beth and Enid Sedgewick, Jessie and Hilda Potterton, Frances Partidge, Geraldine Prockter, Iona Hardy, Melva Hanson, Beverly Nelson, Gerd Lien, Mellaine Brechin and Joan Ketchison. In charge of the kitchen were Mrs. W. M. Watts, Mrs. L. A. N. Potterton, Mrs. F. E. Anfield and Mrs. Lionel Holtby. Carvers were Judge W. E. Fisher, W. M. Watts, Maurice Bridges, Hubert Ward and Geoffrey Macdonald. George Dawes was in charge of the door.

OVER THE FENCE by W.L. MacTavish

"The existence of fair laws on conciliation, mediation and strike votes should be recognized as safeguarding labor's interests as well as those of the public."

"There's another quote for you," said the Old Timer this morning. "It makes sense to me."

"In my experience and observation, the ordinary hard-working member of a trade union needs protection against irresponsible and fiery trades union leaders just about as often as he needs it against greedy and arrogant employers. In fact in recent years it seems to me he has needed it even more."

"I'm not criticizing all labor leaders, not by any manner of means. There are labor statesmen, both in small unions and the big boys. But there are some who carry a chip on their shoulders, and holler 'Strike!' whenever a trifling dispute arises. And good labor laws, based on the interests of labor and employers and the public — and don't forget the public has rights too — help to guard the interests of the workingman who doesn't want strikes except as a last resort."

"Does the workingman, or his wife and family, want to strike? You can bet your bottom dollar he doesn't. Then it seems to me he should be solidly behind a law calling for exhausting all the possible processes of conciliation and arbitration before any strike is called. Doesn't that make sense?"

(The views of the Old Timer are presented weekly in this newspaper under the sponsorship of the British Columbia Federation of Trade and Industry.) F-13

NEW PASTOR IS INDUCTED

With an impressive charge to pastor and people, Rev. V. Graham of Terrace on Sunday night conducted the induction of Paul A. Barber as new pastor of the Full Gospel Tabernacle here. There was a good-sized congregation to welcome the new minister.

In his induction sermon, Mr. Graham stressed upon both pastor and congregation their scriptural responsibilities. The minister was to be a man of high Christian character, a student of the word and a man of prayer. To the people he was to be a shepherd and teacher. His life and leadership must always be exemplary. The people must support their minister in prayer, co-operation and attendance at the place of worship.

Mr. and Mrs. Barber both spoke in response.

A duet entitled 'Up to Date Religion,' was rendered by Mr. Barber and Mr. Graham.

The pastor dismissed the service with a prayer of dedication.

LUXURIES IN SWEDEN NOW

'There seem to be more luxuries available in Sweden than there are in the United States but prices are very high,' says Ernest Carlson who returned to the city at the end of the week, accompanied by Mrs. Carlson and their two sons, Walter and Glen, after a trip to the Old Country. Food is rationed but there are no restrictions on clothing. It was interesting to pay a visit to the homeland, says Carlson, but he is glad to be back in Canada again. He is resuming his occupation as a carpenter here.

Sees Changes in Prince Rupert

Fred Shaw, ranking among the early pioneers of this city and revisiting Prince Rupert after an absence of quite a few years, notes a lot of changes, reflecting local progress, the most important being the cellulose mill. The changes he finds of decided interest. Mr. Shaw, in the early days here, lived on McBride Street near Eighth Avenue, following the plastering trade. Since leaving Prince Rupert he has located in California.

Harry Blackburn, secretary of the Allied Hotel Company, left this afternoon by air to return to Vancouver after a business visit to the city.

Dr. Greene Is Returning Soon

Dr. L. M. Greene of Smithers, who has been spending several months in Britain taking up medical postgraduate work, is due back home about the middle of next month. Plans are being made for an executive meeting here of the Associated Boards of Trade of Central British Columbia, of which Dr. Greene was elected president at the convention here in August, soon after his return.

George Green, local manager of the Imperial Oil Co., returned to the city on the Prince Rupert this morning from a brief trip to Ocean Falls on company business.

WAS CLOSE PUCK GAME

Rest of League Defeats
Toronto 4-3—Was Surprise

TORONTO — In a special game to mark the opening of the opening of the 1947-48 season, Toronto Maple Leafs were defeated 3 to 4 by an all star team representing the rest of the National Hockey League in Maple Leaf Gardens here last night.

Misfortune attended the game through the accident to Billy Mosienko whose fractured left ankle is expected to keep him out of hockey for the entire season. The 25-year old speedball from Toronto suffered the injury when checked by Defence-man Jimmy Thomson on a clean play which brought no penalty. It is a severe blow to the Chicago club which is already short on manpower.

The all-star aggregation that represented the other five National Hockey League teams against Maple Leafs was heralded as the greatest ever assembled—on paper, the bossmen around the circuit agreed.

The consensus of managers had that "team play will triumph" in the League's first annual All-Star tilt and by "team play" they meant the Maple Leafs. However it did not turn out that way.

Boston Bruins Art Ross, in his accustomed role of individualist, started it all from Hershey, Pa., by calling the all-stars "the greatest team ever assembled"—a team that could go through the whole N.H.L. schedule unbeaten—and offering his condolences to Smythe for the whipping the Stanley Cup champions were about to take.

To the part about them being "the greatest," both Jack Adams of Detroit Red Wings and Frankie Boucher of New York Rangers ascribed. But both added the qualification that it was on paper only.

"Most all-star teams of the past found it quite difficult to get going as a team in only one game," observed Boucher in Ottawa. "If an all-star team played several games together, I have not the slightest doubt they could beat all comers easily. "But since this is not so, I shouldn't be surprised if Toronto defeated the all-star aggregation."

Adams suggested in Detroit that Ross was alternately (A) "talking through his hat" (B) "with his tongue in his cheek" or (C) "giving Conny Smythe the rib."

"Sure that all-star team packs a lot of power but for my money I'll still take Toronto," he said. It was a close game at that.

COUNCIL FAVORS UNION TAG DAY

for "Defence" Fund Bill 39 Okayed
The Municipal Council, central labor union body in the city.
He attempted to amend a motion by Alderman Casey, favoring the tag day, by adding that "council will consider the request if placed by the Trades and Labor Council." The amendment, seconded by Alderman McKay, was defeated.

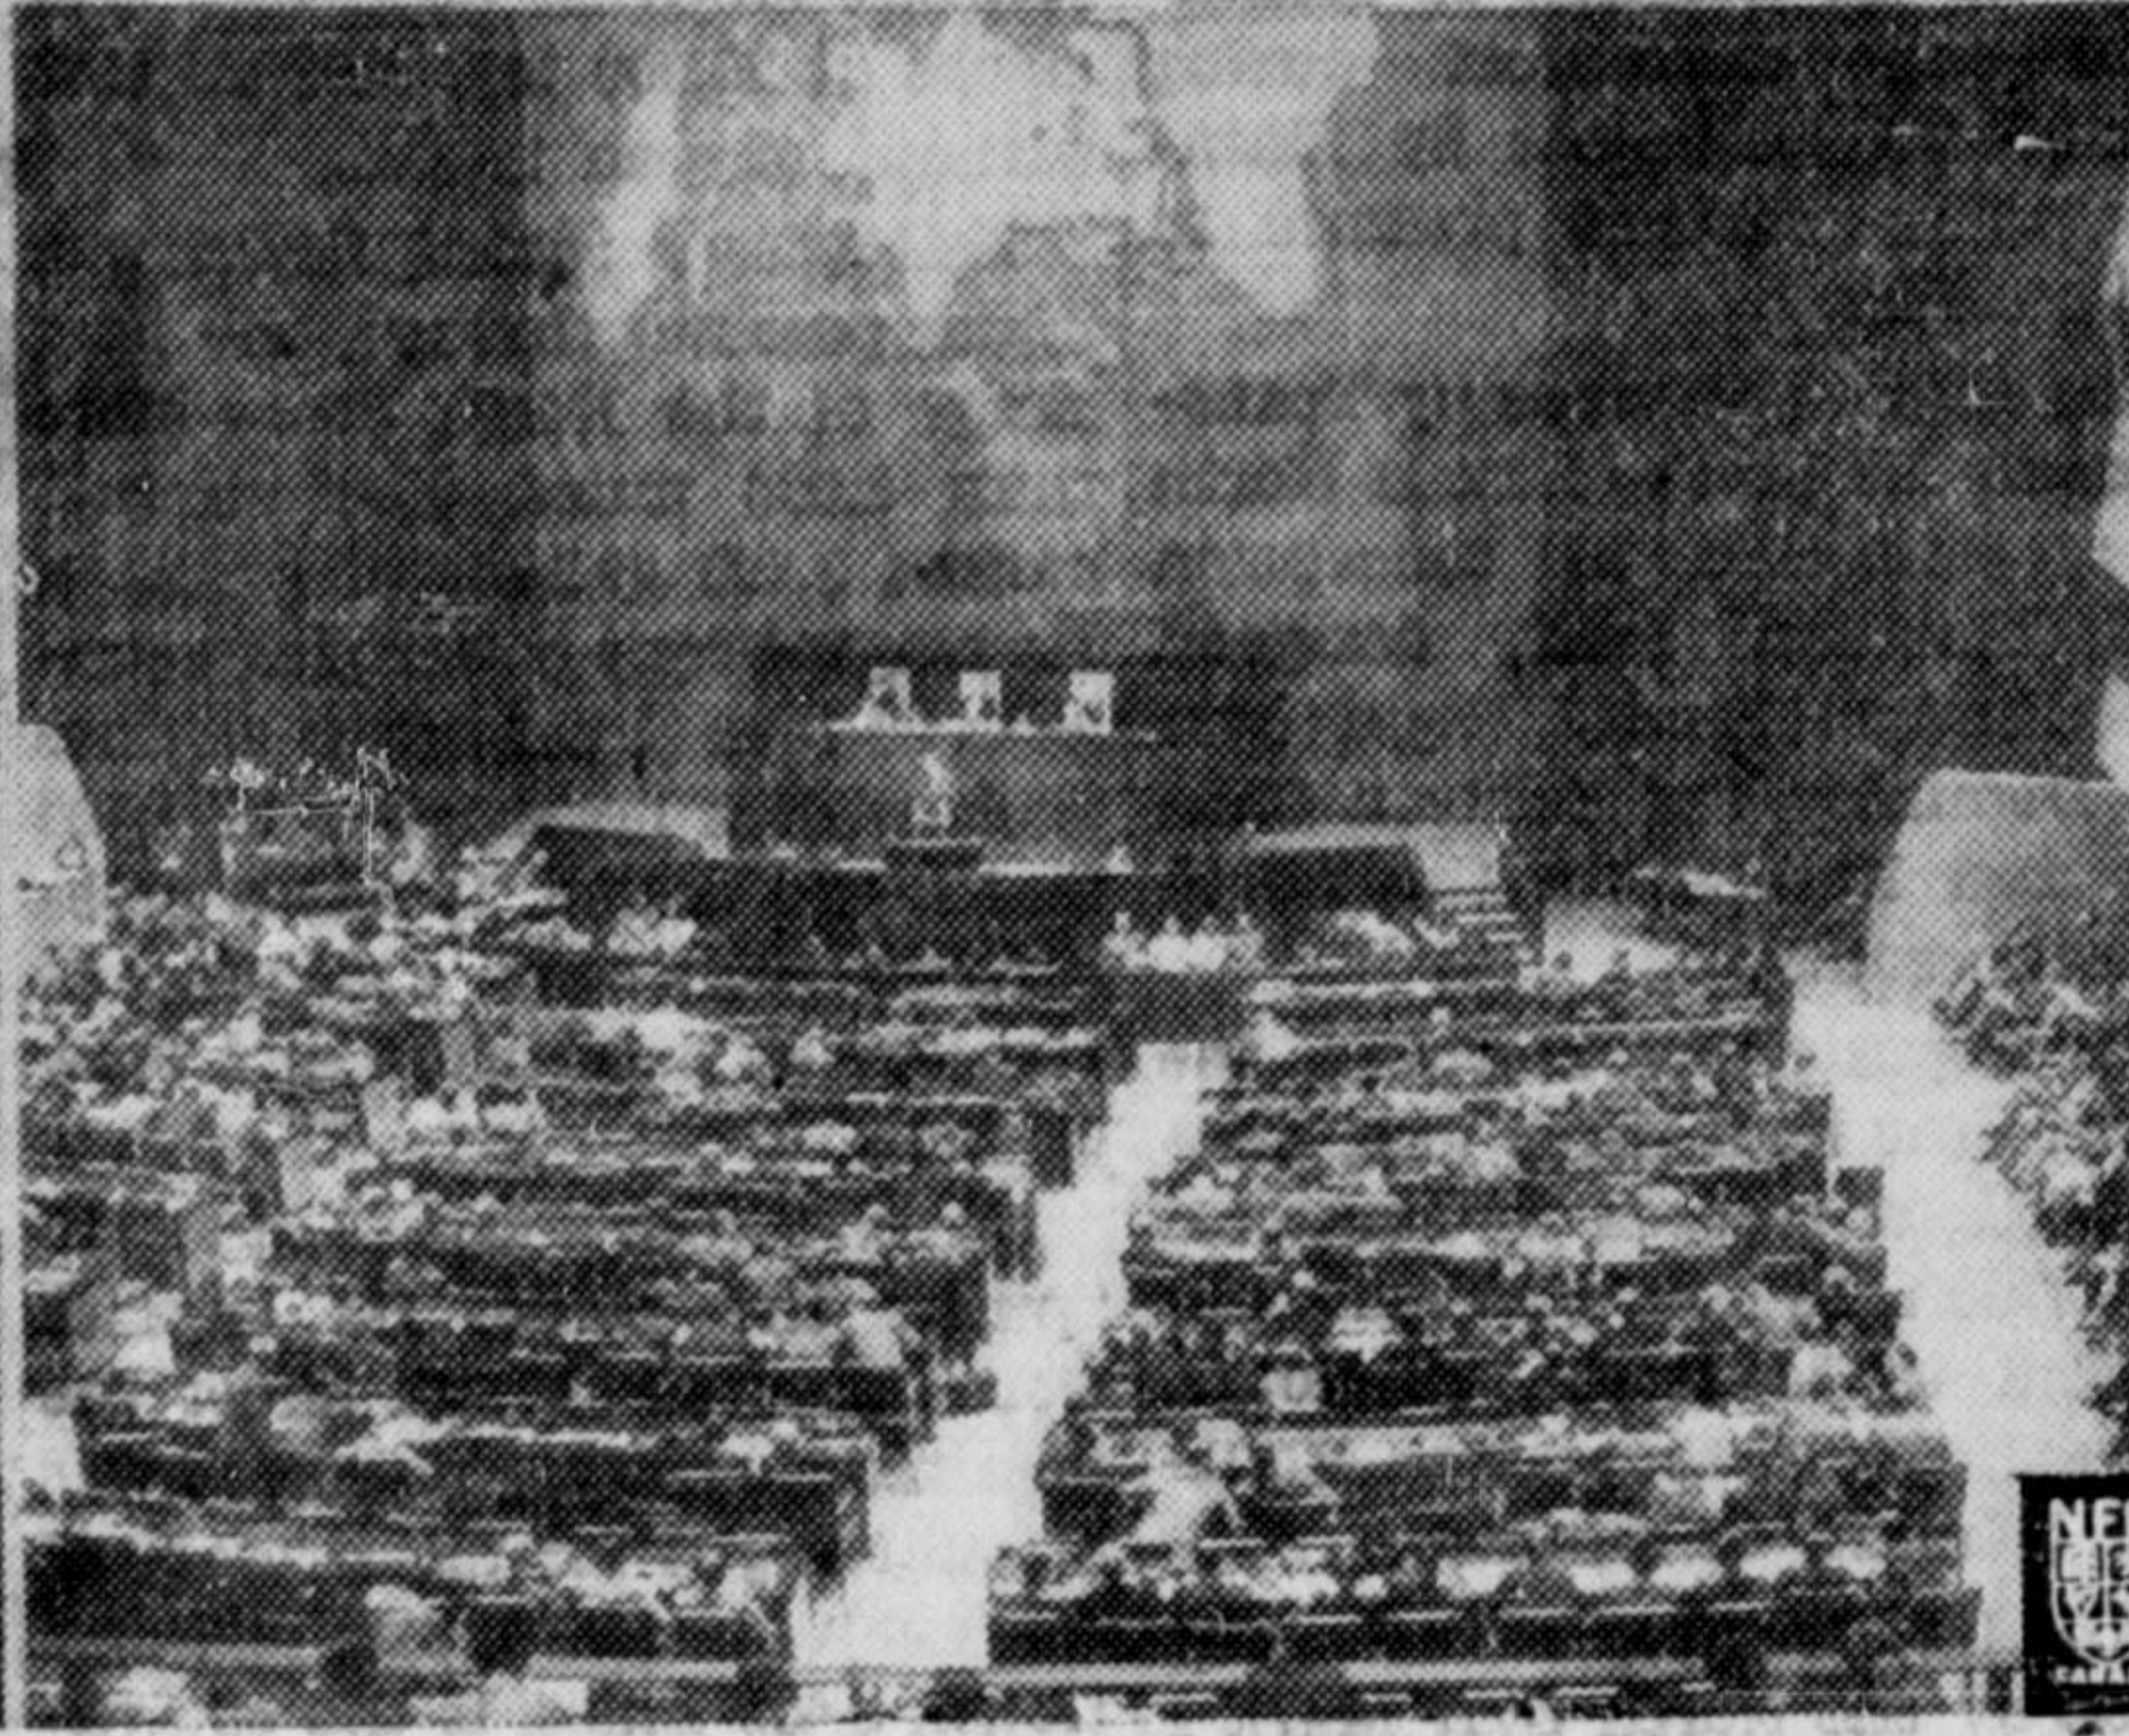

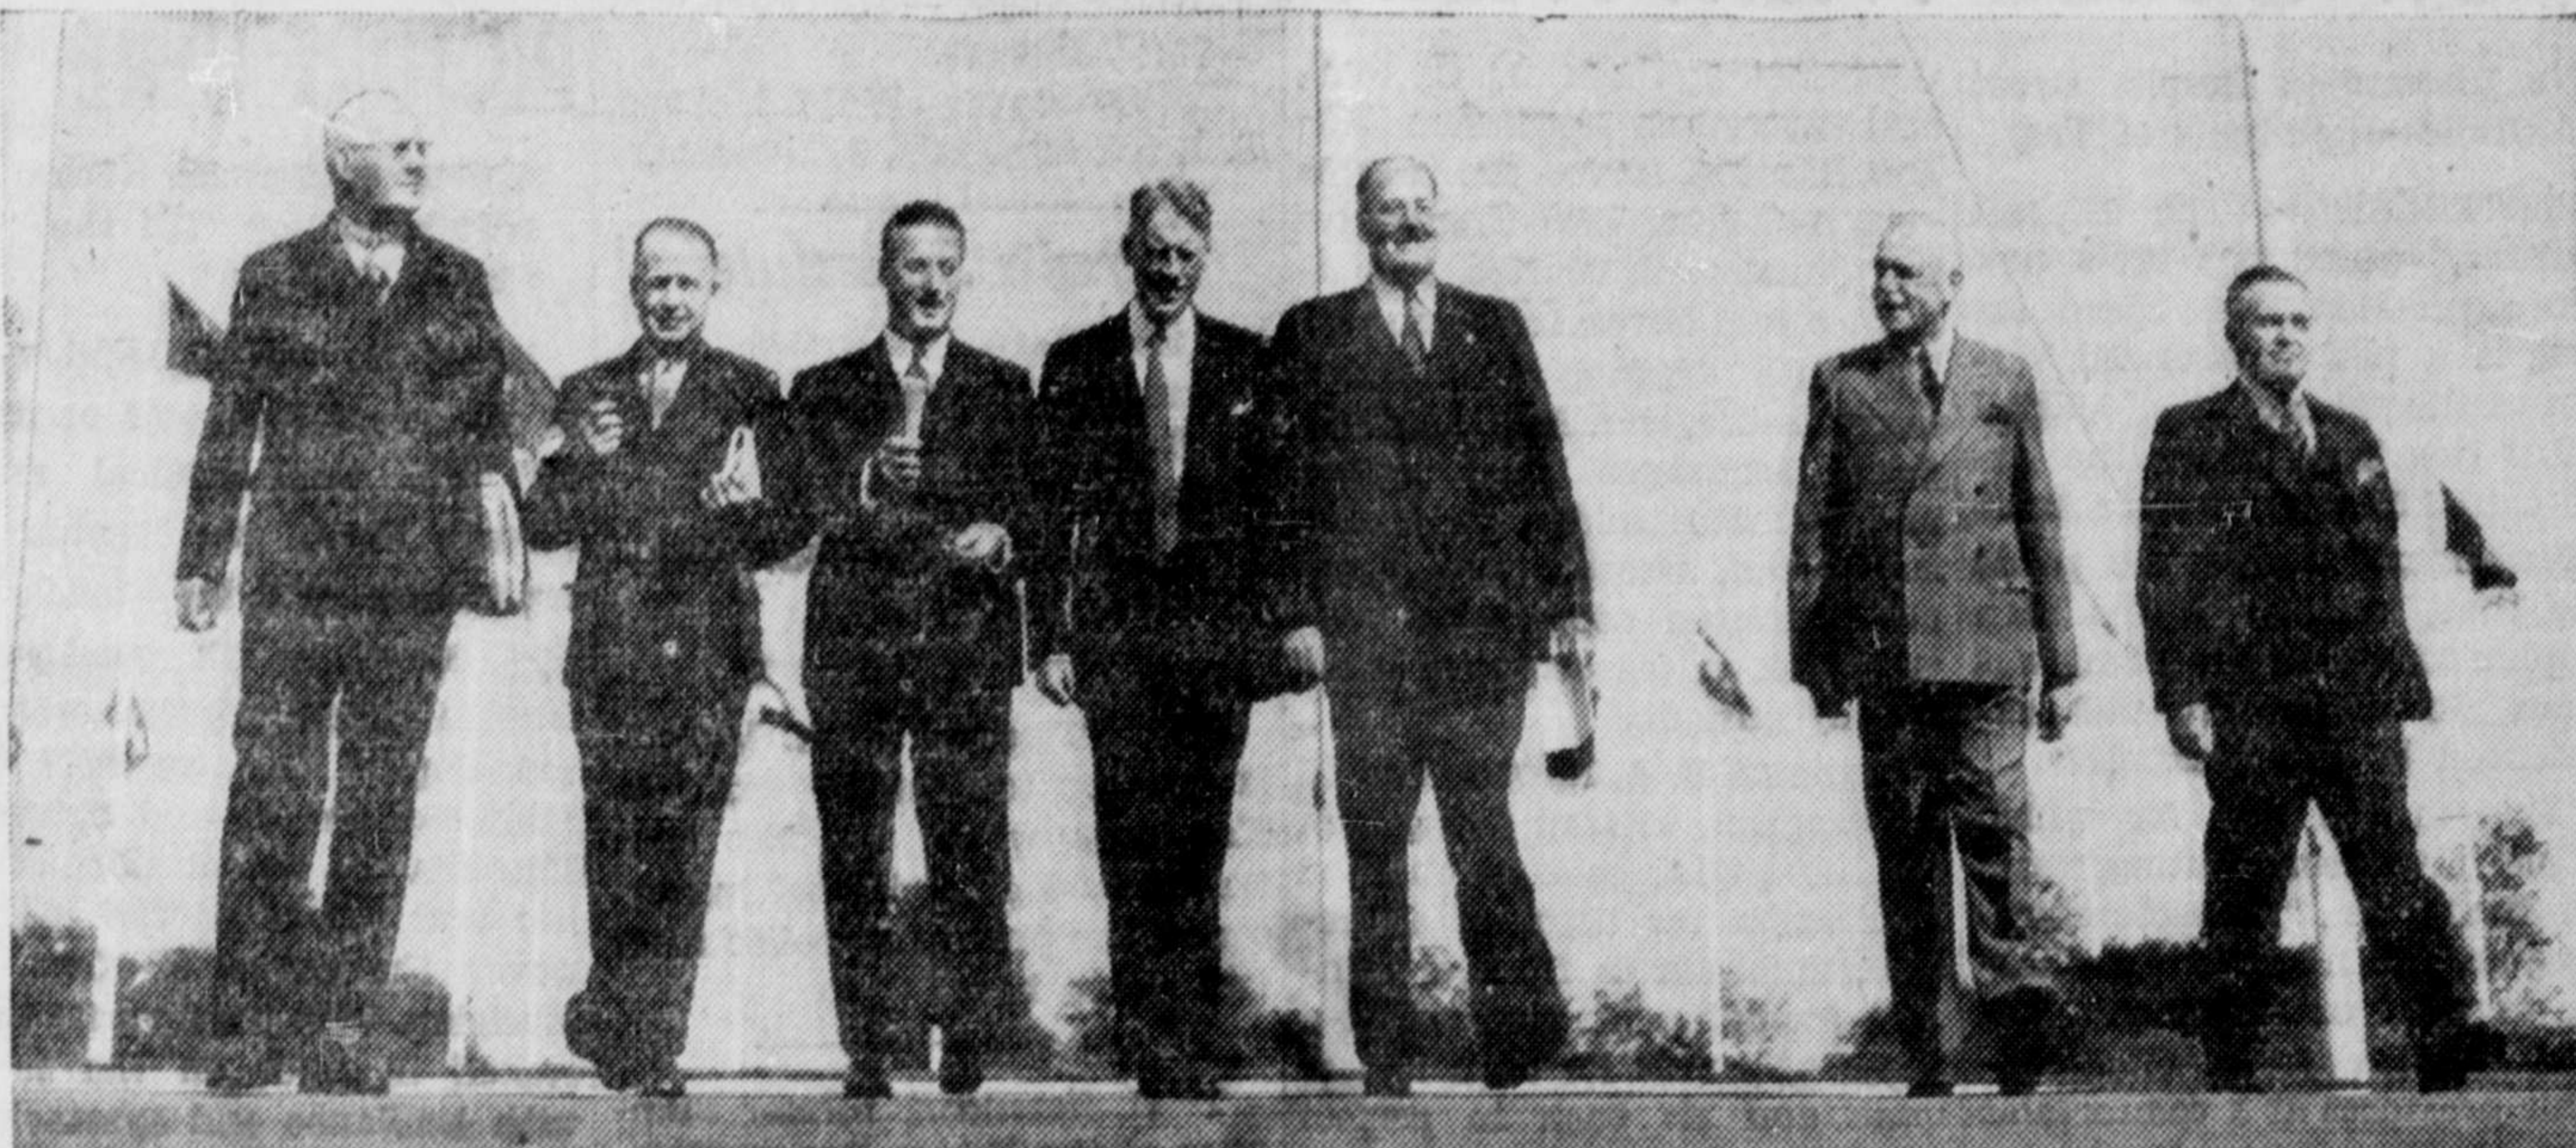

In answer to Alderman Back's amendment, Mr. Boshier declared that "it is not our understanding of the Municipal Act that it be required that a central group make application for a tag day. I cannot see that there has been any precedent set that I should have to represent more than one organization."

In seconding Alderman Casey's motion that the request be granted, Alderman George Rudderham said that the arrested workers were "not guilty merely because they have been arrested. Those people are entitled to all the support that the Prince Rupert people may care to give."

Alderman Ham said that he could not see where the request "falls within the scope of a legitimate tag day" and presented an amendment that "no children under 17 be allowed to solicit on the streets for that purpose." His amendment failed to find a second.

Canadian Delegation at U.N. Strives for Co-operation and Practical Solution to World Problems

Leading this country in as great a role in the 57-nation struggle for permanent world peace as she played in the Allied struggle for victory in war, Canada's 31-man delegation to the United Nations General Assembly at Flushing Meadow, New York, is busy extending the peoples' franchise into "the Parliament of the World." Shown above are five representatives, one alternate and one parliamentary advisor. Left to right—Senator the Hon. Norman P. Lambert, Joseph Bradette, M.P., L. R. Beau-doin, M.P. (alternate), Rt. Hon. J. L. Ilsley, M.P., Walter A. Tucker, M.P., Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, M.P. (chairman) and Solon Low, M.P. (parliamentary adviser). Mr. St. Laurent, chairman, sits with Mr. Ilsley in the General Assembly at Flushing, N.Y. Fifty-seven countries are represented in the General Assembly under the presidency of H.E. Dr. Oswaldo Aranha, chairman of the Brazil delegation.

CATHOLIC RITE UNITES COUPLE

Miss Bernice Lindquist becomes bride of Paul Letourneau

A marriage uniting Bernice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lindquist, and Paul Letourneau, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Henry Letourneau, was solemnized by Rev. J. Carroll in the rectory of Annunciation Church at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening in the presence of a few family friends.

Wearing a biege suit with matching hat and corsage of red roses, the bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attended by Mrs. Andre Letourneau, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, wearing a dress of blue crepe with corsage of pink carnations.

Groomsman was Andre Letourneau, brother of the groom. A reception, attended by 35 guests, followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andre Letourneau, 629 Sixth Avenue West, where the guests were received by Mrs. S. Simm.

Toast to the bride was proposed by Joseph Letourneau with response by the groom. James Parks proposed a toast to the matron of honor. Refreshments were served with Mrs. Thomas Yule, Mrs. Paul Devornie and Mrs. Olga Sjerson acting as servers. The bride cut a lovely wedding cake which had been made by her sister-in-law. The latter part of the evening was spent in community singing.

The newly married couple will take up residence at 623 Sixth Avenue West. The bridegroom is on the staff of War Assets Corporation here.

HOW CAN I ??? ?
By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove rust from nickelplate?
A. By covering with oil or grease, or mutton tallow. Allow it to remain for two or three days, then rub thoroughly with rottenstone, wash with ammonia, polish with whiting. Kerosene applied frequently will prevent nickel from rusting.

Q. How can I restore thin silk?
A. Dip into a weak solution of gum arabic, two level teaspoons dissolved in a quart of water, and then strain through cheesecloth.

Q. How can I get rid of fleas?
A. These pests can often be exterminated by spraying the place which is infested with them with oil of pennyroyal.

DODGE DRAFTS
While they do not always produce colds, draughts often sap the vitality, particularly of infants, the aged and sickly. Medical experts, therefore, say dodge the drafts.

OH, COME NOW!
MAGRATH, Alta. ©—How to get a cow out of a well if she's perfectly content to remain there was the problem confronting farmers here recently. They solved it neatly—the calf stood in front of the well and mooed whereupon the mother gave a mighty heave and freed herself—at least that's the story.

New Speed Mark Made

No Discomfort Despite Great Altitude—Highlights of Trip

MONTREAL — The aircraft "Cartier" which has set a new Vancouver-Montreal speed record, is a new pressurized version of the "North Star" Mark I which has been flying the Atlantic in TCA service since April.

Passengers aboard the plane said that, in spite of the high altitude at which the flight was made, no discomfort was experienced by the passengers.

"This is the day for which people have been waiting," said Mr. Symington. "No more chewing gum and no more ear-clicking because of altitudes." The pressurized system keeps cabin air pressures at a comfortable level at all heights. It eliminates any discomfort during climb and let-downs by maintaining a constant pressure in the aircraft.

The flight was made by Trans-Canada Air Lines Mark II North Star, Canadian in conception and Canadian built, designed for transcontinental flight over the Dominion and between Canada and Europe via the North Atlantic route.

As of yesterday morning, the North Star held three long distance flight records — Montreal to London, 10 hours, 26 minutes; Ireland to Montreal, 12 hours, 40 minutes; Vancouver to Montreal, 8 hours, 40 minutes.

The last named record was made by the North Star Mark I plane; then its successor, the improved pressurized version, known as the Mark II yesterday made a new Vancouver-Montreal record of six hours, 52 minutes.

On the flight yesterday was also J. T. Bain, director of engineering and maintenance, T.C.A., Montreal; Pilot B. A. Rawson, director of flight development, T.C.A., Winnipeg; Co-Pilot H. W. Seagrim, director of flight operations, T.C.A., Winnipeg.

Mr. Howe and Mr. Symington, 10 years ago, flew on the first dawn to dusk Canadian transcontinental flight, piloted by J. H. Tudhope, now general manager, operation, T.C.A., Winnipeg. The 1937 flight was made in a small 10-seater Electra. It marked, however, the operational beginnings of Trans-Canada Air Lines, which today serves six countries and some 40 cities.

Highlights of flight were: miles flown, 2,345; speed, 342 miles per hour; altitude, (average) 20,000 feet above sea level.

The North Star flew from the Pacific Coast at Vancouver to Lethbridge of the western edge of the prairies, crossing the Rockies enroute, in one hour, 31 minutes. It was over Regina in two hours, 35 minutes; Winnipeg in three hours, 35 minutes; North Bay, Ont., in six hours flat; Ottawa in six hours, 30 minutes, and landed in Montreal in six hours, 52 minutes.

From the big electrical galley,

Commissary Chief J. C. Reid, and supervisory stewardess Phillips Harding, served the passengers and crew with Thanksgiving dinner—six courses, including ice cold olives, fruit cup turkey with dressing and cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes, gravy, asparagus tips, lettuce and tomato salad, ice cream, shortbread, assorted nuts, chocolate covered peppermint wafers. Milk or tea or coffee made freshly enroute.

Captains B. A. Rawson and H. W. Seagrim, veteran flying men on the flight, said it was the realization for them of a lifetime ambition to fly over Canada, including the Rockies, at a speed of a mile for each 10 seconds and sit back in perfect comfort enjoying cigarettes and cigars at 20,000 feet and all this without oxygen masks.

Yesterday's record flight was made possible through the long range of the North Star—more than 3,000 miles. The aircraft carries 3,000 gallons of gasoline. Its magnificent power plant consists of four Rolls-Royce engines each with a horsepower of 1,725 and liquid cooled. It has a pressurized passenger accommodation for 40 passengers and crew of four.

No endeavour was made to "push" the plane. Its engines were operated at well under the maximum cruising power. It was normal flight for an aircraft of this high standard. The distance flown, 2,435 miles, is the equivalent of the flights these North Stars made each day of the week over the Atlantic and trans-Canada's service between England, Ireland and Scotland.

GREETINGS TO MOOSE JAW

When approaching Moose Jaw, the Minister of Reconstruction, Mr. Howe, sent by voice radio this message of congratulations to that city on the opening of Moose Jaw's new airport: "As we speed across the prairies at 375 miles an hour in this great Mark II North Star aircraft, I cannot help but be impressed with the great strides we have made in aviation within our Dominion in the last few years. I am sorry that time does not permit me to visit you on this occasion of the opening of your new airport.

Mr. Howe received a reply, thanking him warmly and stating that the population of Moose Jaw missed seeing the North Star plane "because it was flying too fast and too high."

Based on the life and works of the great composer of popular and semi-classical music, Jerome Kern, the technicolor production "Till the Clouds Roll By" comes as an outstanding feature offering to the screen of the Capitol Theatre here this Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Through the tender story of the life and career of the man is woven the genius of Kern, the musician, with his favorite tunes etched in color on the screen with brilliance and spectacle in both arrangement and presentation.

Robert Walker plays the part of Kern with Van Heflin as his friend and confidante. Lucille Bremer, Follies star, is the latter's daughter while a former model and Little Theatre actress Dorothy Patrick, has the part of Mrs. Kern. Other important members of the cast are Judy Garland, Kathryn Grayson, Lena Horne, Van Johnson, Angela Lansbury, Tony Martin, Virginia O'Brien, Dinah Shore, Frank Sinatra.

Twenty-three Kern numbers in all are featured in lavish and spectacular sequences. These include such as "Till the Clouds Roll By," "Ol' Man River," "I Won't Dance," "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," "Look for the Silver Lining," "They Wouldn't Believe Me" and many others.
