Russia Hit by Inflation

Money is Devaluated Ten to Twenty Times—Prices Being Controlled

LONDON.—The Russian government, admitting for the first time that postwar inflation has hit its controlled economy, said tonight that it was making a program of currency reform to combat speculation and the spiral of prices. The "reform" will include the issue of new currency Tuesday which old rubles brought in by banks for conversion will be changed at the rate of ten to one new.

In addition, rationing will be introduced on all "food and industrial" goods and consumer goods will be brought under uniform control.

Announcements by a Moscow radio station were picked up by a London monitor.

LANDSLIDES HIT RAILWAY

Trains on Vancouver Line are Held Up for Hours

Eastbound trains Friday night were delayed 12 hours in reaching Edmonton but were expected to cut the delay to eight hours at Winnipeg.

Trains reaching Vancouver on Saturday were four hours late. High winds were held responsible for the blowing of rocks, shale and mud onto the tracks.

Piracy Off Coast of China

Dutch Passenger Ship Held Up and Robbed of $500,000, Cash, Jewels

HONG KONG (CP)—Pirates boarded a 4,552-ton Dutch passenger ship, Van Huetz, robbed the passengers of cash and jewelry valued at hundreds of thousands in Hong Kong dollars and escaped in commandeered junks today after temporarily holding the captain as a hostage. The theft is estimated to have totalled $500,000.

The pirate leader spent a comfortable night in the captain's quarters while his gang—estimated to number 25—went about its wholesale robbery.

It was later reported that the pirates, who had robbed 1600 passengers, had kidnapped six passengers, presumably for later ransom. Identities of the captive prisoners are not known.

MINING FOR MACHINERY

Ingenious Claim Staking on Alaska Highway
Staking a claim does not always mean you are thinking of gold.

For, be it known, comes word of a man who believes he has something pretty good, simply by recovering what others had thrown away.

Construction of the Alaska Highway meant the spending of millions for road making machinery. The job was finally finished, but the machinery wasn't. The Americans figured it would be cheaper to ditch the property and forget it than cart everything back home.

Goods, still valuable, were taken to one side and buried, but not deeply. The man with a hunch looked over the ground, gained a rough notion of what was there and staked claims giving him certain rights. He went prospecting for machinery and is reported to be doing well. He's finding gold, but not exactly the yellow metal.

Mrs. George Black Enters Hospital
WHITE HORSE—Mrs. George Black, wife of Capt. Black M.P. and Yukon pioneer, has entered hospital here. Capt. Black had been called to Dawson to take part in a lawsuit and left for White Horse earlier than originally intended, returning there because of his wife's unexpected illness.

CURTAILMENT IS CALLED OFF

Union Steamship Co. To Retain Present Service

Late this afternoon announcement was made by Union Steamships Ltd. that the proposed curtailed schedule of sailings which was to have been put into effect between Vancouver and Prince Rupert and the Queen Charlotte Islands had been cancelled and that the schedule as at present would be maintained. This provides for two sailings a week between here and Vancouver via "Inside Passage" points. The weekly service to such points as Bella Coola, Ocean Falls, Port Simpson, Stewart and Alice Arm is maintained. The Cassiar will remain on the Queen the Queen Charlotte Island run on a fortnightly basis.

The proposed reduced service had met with vigorous protest from the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce as well as such communities as Massett and Stewart.

FIRST MINK SALE HELD AT REGINA

REGINA.—The recent live mink auction here was the first ever held on the continent. The animals offered numbered 306 and the bidding was spirited. The sales approximated about $10,000,000 worth of selected breeding mink.

AIRPORT WITH LANDING FIELD AND RANGE FINDING STATION ARE NEEDED

The building of an airport for the use of land planes is an expensive thing but it is the only ultimate answer to establishing a city as an aviation centre and the city of the importance of Prince Rupert is today unique in that it has no landing field, commented E. W. G. MacConachie, president of Canadian Pacific Airlines, who visited here at the end of the week in the course of a tour of the company's western operations. Another aviation "must" here, in the meantime, Mr. MacConachie told the Daily News, was a radio range finding station which, if and when provided, would enable air services by sea aircraft to be carried out as regularly and reliably as boat service. It would reduce delays owing to weather conditions from a matter of days to hours.

Mr. MacConachie told how the radio range finding station now being moved from Massett to near Sandspit on the Queen Charlotte Islands would make it possible to operate off Sandspit with 300-foot ceiling and one mile visibility instead of the 600 feet and two miles now required.

Mr. MacConachie admitted that recent interruptions to the Vancouver-Prince Rupert air service had most infrequently been due to adverse weather conditions here but due to conditions around Vancouver, Port Hardy and Sandspit. Nevertheless, he felt the radio range finding station should be established here in the interests of reliable, safe, economical and efficient service.

Backing Our Own Horses

PRINCE RUPERT PEOPLE have often talked about good business opportunities, large and small, which exist here, taking advantage of which would tie in with the development of port and community by way of creating new industries or establishing essential services. Usually, the idea has been that the capital and final initiative would come from somewhere without. When it comes down to individuals themselves, the idea has not clicked to any large extent as being actually applicable. There have been some small undertakings in the past in the establishment of local business along collective lines with the idea of local development primarily in mind but Prince Rupert citizens have yet to have come forward in a really major undertaking to implement and take advantage of the opportunities they claim exist here.

Of course, no one is going to, nor would be expected, throw financial resources into any undertaking unless there were full guarantees of bona fides and reasonable assurance of there at least being a chance to win. This being granted, there is much merit in the suggestion that, if anybody might be expected to invest in the good opportunities which we claim exist here, it should be the people here themselves. Surely if we do not have confidence enough to invest in our own opportunities we can hardly expect others to do it for us. Of course, we would have to be organized that efficient machinery would be set up to ensure there would be the efficient means of winning. Even the most extremely loyal and optimistic of local citizens could be expected to want some such assurance in supporting with their own money a useful and constructive project.

AIR FACILITIES NEEDED

WHILE THE ULTIMATE and only effective answer to Prince Rupert becoming a real centre of commercial and private aviation is the establishment of facilities here for the handling of land craft and there can never be fully efficient air service here until this is done, we are told in an interview by Grant MacConachie, president of Canadian Pacific Airlines, that we would do well, while continuing to press for the establishment of the full airport here, to also press for establishment of navigation aids, such as a radio range station, which are now completely non-existent here and which are hampering efficient and economical air service. Given such a radio range station, it would be possible to improve air service here greatly from the standpoints of regularity, efficiency and safety.

In the meantime, Prince Rupert has become one of the most important distributing centres in Canada, yet air navigational facilities here are deplorably lacking. We have fewer such facilities than many inconsequential towns spread over the country. We not only cannot handle land aircraft at all but we are lacking even in normal equipment for water aircraft. Here, apparently, is something we should be following up.

STANLEY BALDWIN

EARL STANLEY BALDWIN of Bewdley, whose death was announced Sunday was Prime Minister when the abdication of King Edward took place. It is necessary to go a long way back in British history to know of another premier in office when the monarch withdrew from further duties. It must be a matter of centuries. Something not far from a national crisis developed, through the presence of Mrs. Simpson, and Baldwin had difficult and exacting responsibilities, for the time being.

The general strike in 1926 was another highlight of the Prime Ministerial career of this sound and steady-going statesman who led the government of Great Britain for a considerable part of the time between two world wars.

A BOY'S HEROISM

AN ACT OF COURAGE and presence of mind in which an eleven-year-old boy, Leonard Smith, was the hero occurred on the local waterfront Saturday. When Leonard unhesitatingly plunged into the harbor water and rescued three-year-old "Rusty" Russo from drowning, it appears that one of those outstanding acts of heroism which is entitled to special recognition had occurred. Doubtless, the small boy owes his life to the older.

The Daily News joins in the admiration and commendation which has been expressed by all those knowing the circumstances of the incident. Incidentally, it is another tangible example of the value of training received at swimming and life-saving classes such as those conducted at the Kinsmen Club camps which Leonard attended last year.

LETTERBOX

Legion Appreciation
Editor, Daily News—Your Editorial in your issue of December 13, endorsing the Canadian Legion's efforts to gain pension and allowance increases for disabled veterans, and widows of men who paid the supreme sacrifice in the name of Canada, is to be highly commended. It is indeed very encouraging to know that the press recognizes the plight and the just claims of those men incapacitated by war, those war widows and their children, dependent solely upon the meagre pension and allowance now being paid them by the country for which they willingly gave all that was demanded and exacted from them.

Official statistics show that the number of pensioners for the Second World War has increased more than 50 per cent during the past year, and will continue to increase as patients come out of treatment centres. There is a total of 184,633 disability and dependent pensioners now on the pension list, and of this number 86,904 are from the First Great War and 97,729 from the Second World War. Public opinion must be aroused and educated in their responsibility towards these men and women and their children. If Parliament can afford to raise the salaries of its own members by $2,000 a year then it most certainly can afford to grant enough money to the pensioner and the war widow to live without fear for the future. It should be a privilege as well as a sacred duty to carry out this pledge. Surely no right thinking Canadian wishes that these people, who went in fear of dying in time of war, should

CARE IN MAILING LETTERS ASKED

With the Christmas mailing season now getting under way, Postmaster J. R. Morison this morning issued an appeal to mailers of Christmas greetings to so deposit their letters that they might be most easily handled by the postal workers. One suggestion he made was that letters facing up and even be dropped in bundles instead of dropped loosely into the receptacles. This would greatly speed up handling.

How Deafened People Now Hear Clearly

Science has now made it possible for the deafened to hear faint sounds. It is a hearing device so small it fits in the hand and enables thousands to enjoy sermons, music and friendly companionship. Accepted by the American Medical Association's Council on Physical Therapy. This device does not require separate battery pack, battery wire, case or garment to bulge or weigh you down. The tone is clear and powerful. So made that you can adjust it yourself to suit your hearing as your hearing changes. The makers of Beltone, Dept. 22, 1450 West 19th St., Chicago 8, Ill., are so proud of their achievement that they will gladly send free descriptive booklet and explain how you may get a full demonstration of this remarkable hearing device in your own home without risking a penny. ## ASK RETURN OF UNEMPLOYMENT ADJUDICATOR

Prince Rupert Trades and Labor Council is seeking to have an unemployment insurance claims adjudicator re-established in Prince Rupert to speed up the payment of unemployment claims which they believe have been delayed unnecessarily in some cases.

A delegation from a meeting held a week ago presented a resolution to the council at the week-end, seeking support for its resolution protesting delays in obtaining unemployment insurance payments and the withdrawal from the local unemployment insurance office of the claims adjudicator.

Claims at the present time must be referred to Vancouver, which often delays payments. Re-instatement of an adjudicator at the Prince Rupert office would speed payments, the council felt, in endorsing the resolution.

A letter from the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada notified the council that the organizational drive started last year would be continued into 1948, adding that arrangements for financing would be the same as those now in effect.

Reports of delegates showed employment holding up fairly well for this time of year, and that several unions were renewing agreements.

Minutes of the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council were received and read.

JUNIOR CHAMBER DECORATES CITY

Downtown Streets Take on Verdant Air After JJaycee's Efforts

Prince Rupert's downtown streets, notably Third Avenue and portions of McBride and Sixth Streets, assumed a verdant Christmas touch Sunday as the Junior Chamber of Commerce decorated the street lamp standards with spruce, hemlock and jackpines to lend a holiday look to the city.

The job was completed in a little more than four hours by more than a score of Junior Chamber members who wielded axes in the bush near the Army Signals camp at Westview, piling the cut trees into trucks for transportation downtown. The trees were later wired to the lamp standards.

The decorative project was one which has been done annually just before Christmas by the Junior Chamber. This year it was under the direction of Carson Wallace, civic affairs committee chairman.

The trees were brought downtown by trucks of Greer and Bridden and A. E. Smith Co., driven by James Greer and Gus Leighton. They were placed at the lamp standards through the courtesy of Northern B.C. Power Co.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

Q. When a young man is walking along the street with two girls is it all right for him to walk between them?
A. Formerly it was customary for the man always to walk on the curb side when accompanied by two women. However, now it is in perfectly good taste for him to walk between them.

Q. When giving a formal dinner, should the carving be done at the table?
A. No; it should be done in the kitchen. At an informal dinner, the carving may be done at the table.

Q. Should children be taught to rise when an older person enters the room?
A. Yes, and they should remain standing until the older person is seated.

BUTTER DRIPS ON STOVE TOP; FIREMEN CALLED

A pound of butter that slowly melted on top of the warming oven of the stove in the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. John Ware, Wallace Block, Sunday morning brought out the city fire department from across the street.

As the butter melted, it dripped onto the hot stove top, causing a continuous open flame that filled the apartment with smoke while the Wares were at church.

The flame was noticed by Frank Ellison as he walked up Fulton Street. Mr. Ellison brought it to the attention of Constable Harold Johnston as he drove up to the police station. The bright flame could be seen through a window from the street.

Constable Johnston crossed the street and told the firemen who rushed to the apartment and removed the melted butter from the stove. Then they opened the windows and let out the acrid smoke.

Except for the smoke, the apartment was undamaged.

BASKETBALL BREEZES

by A FAN

The Bo-Me-Hi Rainmakers once again played the part of the perfect hosts to the visiting Kay Hi Polar Bears by absorbing a nine point defeat in the second of their two-game series. Saturday night's game served to establish the Polar Bears superiority which was hinted at in the first game when they squeezed out a one point win on Friday night.

The visitors seemed to be in command from the outset of Saturday's contest and the nine point difference gave a pretty accurate measure of the rating of the two teams. The Rainmakers and Alex Bill deserve an accolade for the spirited battle they put up and the feeling of friendly rivalry between the two schools must have been further cemented as a result.

As in the first game, the tight refereeing of Comadina and Calderone slowed the visitors down somewhat but the efforts of Kay Hi's Anderson, Slatta and Stenford before they were retired with five personals each, gave Coach Hollister's very able substitutes enough of a lead to coast in on.

Shier of the Rainmakers went very well both ways and wound up the evening high man in the scoring column with 18 points. Lewis of Kay Hi, who made only a brief appearance in Friday's game, played practically the whole game and fell just one point short of Shier's scoring effort.

The preliminary exhibition turned out to be a rather tame affair with its low score being the most remarkable feature of (Continued on Page 7)

Ketchikan Wins Again

Kayhi Puts Up One of Finest Exhibitions of Basketball Ever Seen Here

Ketchikan High School Polar bears Saturday night presented an overcrowded Civic Centre with one of the finest exhibitions of High School basketball in some time. They shut out the Bo-Me-Hi Rainmakers 64-55 in the second game of the international High School classic.

During the first half the Rupert team failed to crack the shifting zone defence of the Alaskans. Their attempt to break zone by long sniping was dismal and, while at times they succeeded in pulling the zone to the side courts, they failed to cash in on the openings. Much credit is due the visitors for their defence and offensively they outplayed and outshot the local squad. Their accuracy from the key and control of backboards was responsible for their 9-point half-time lead. Flaten, for Bo-Me-Hi, held the opposing centre to 14 points while chalking up a big 9 points to keep the locals in the game. The score at half time was 29 to 20 for the visitors.

In the second half Coach Alex Bill shifted Lavigne to guard and solved the offensive problem with a fast breaking game. Had their own defence not collapsed the locals would have, undoubtedly, run the visitors out. In this half Shier, Scherk and Lavigne teamed to tally a big 29 points. The northerners kept pace with the local boys by baskets on Bo-Me-Hi slips. Johansen and Lewis were top men for the Polar Bears but it was impossible to single out stars. Floor Captain Shorty Markison turned on an experienced performance.

Twenty-six fouls were called on the Alaskans and 17 on the locals. Three of the visiting squad suffered the shower penalty and were obviously bewildered by the stringent refereeing of officials Calderone and Comadina.

Without referring to any book of rules I am satisfied that among the objectives of any association the promotion and development of that sport are foremost and with these the control of the game. It is because such control is lacking that there has been so much criticism of the game recently.

There are four groups concerned in this matter: the players, the officials, the executive and the spectators. The players themselves must learn control. They must know the rules and when they are penalized for infractions they must accept the official's decision. How often recently have we seen a player show his resentment of an official's decision and do so in a most objectionable way, and yet get away with it! Yet when (Continued on page 8)

Kayhi Basketball Team Returns Home

Having cleaned up the first two games of an international inter High School basketball series, Kayhi basketball team sailed yesterday morning on their return to Ketchikan where the series will be resumed later with the locals going north.

Sport Letter Box

For Clean Sport

Sports Editor Daily News

I have read with much interest the letters and articles in recent columns regarding incidents in local basketball games and references to players, officials and the association itself. But it was with a feeling of disappointment that I read the letter from Art Murray, that enthusiastic if somewhat impetuous supporter of sports. I feel too that he has missed the points raised by those who were interested enough in basketball to put their observations in writing.

Without referring to any book of rules I am satisfied that among the objectives of any association the promotion and development of that sport are foremost and with these the control of the game. It is because such control is lacking that there has been so much criticism of the game recently.

the game. None of the local seniors were particularly brilliant and the total of 25 fouls called during the game was a far cry from some of the astronomical totals usually dished out in local senior league games. Pierce of Co-op was the only player whose total reached double figures, and the usually high scoring Thompson of Brownwoods was ineffectual as he went scoreless.

SPORTS LETTER BOX

these same players are awarded a foul against an opponent they are very pleased. Of course, this childish, but it is spoiling the game. And it is mostly by the older, experienced players that this poor sportsmanship is shown. On the other hand, I can think of many players such as Mel Thompson, who when he is charged with a foul—and he does not commit many—hold up his hand to indicate that he is the guilty one, and takes the decision without question. What a happy situation it would be if all did likewise!

The second group is the referees. They have their share of responsibility. They can only call fouls as they see them and on the whole they do a good job. I sat beside two spectators at a recent game, one of whom had a son playing. They were constantly criticising the officials and often at the top of their voices but, when I suggested that the association could use them as officials, they declined view. The decision should be given and play resumed at once.

The third group is the executive and the executive should back up their officials. It was in connection with this point that I read with amazement Art Murray's statement that "definitely Ted Arney or Jim Forman will not be suspended for any period." I should think that the officials in that game would have written a report to the association, that the association would have considered it carefully and then have given their decision. But the president of the association states that it will be considered as "routine business" and has already given his decision. This certainly will not assist the officials in controlling the game. And who are con-to offer their services. We should support the officials, but the referees themselves are at fault when they stop to discuss some ruling they have given. In a game recently play was held up for some minutes while the officials entered into debate with different players. This spoils a game from everyone's point of view. The decision should be given and play resumed at once.

I am not going to refer to the point where players had to be "cragged from their firesides" or those who need a letter from your correspondent to "protect" them. If all play clean ball they will need no protection.

Yours, for clean sport
J. S. Wilson.

"ATTACKS" RESENTED
Sports Editor, Daily News:

We the undersigned solicit space in your paper to voice our strong disapproval of the type of criticism on the Arney-Forman case which appeared in the Daily News December 8, 11, 12.

In our opinion this criticism borders on a planned persecution. What the individuals (who hide behind anonymity) expect to accomplish by such unsportsmanlike tactics is hard to figure out.

We can assure the players mentioned that all fair-minded fans are 100% behind them and this goes for every player in all leagues. As for "Hoop Talk", "Spectator" and "Fan" the least said about such contemptibles the better. It however passes our comprehension how any newspaper would encourage such venomous attacks on respectable players and citizens of Prince Rupert by publishing this type of journalistic criticism. Even if the correspondents had the courage to allow their names to be published, we would still think it poor policy for any newspaper to print such tripe.

As for "Spectator" whining about paying to watch a "clean game" when for 70c per week "Spectator" can see seven games which amounts to 10c per game. What cheaper or more thrilling entertainment can one wish for? Perhaps "Spectator" cast around looking for something cheaper before deciding to "Bless?" basketball with a very questionable support. Surely every fan knows that the players give their time and service gratis, and no part of "Spectator's" miserable dime finds its way into their pockets; furthermore, all players are paid up members of the Civic Centre.

Considering the high competitive nature of basketball, we go on record as saying that on the average basketball in Prince Rupert is just as clean and as well conducted as it is anywhere else, and in our opinion the refereeing is on an equal par. The Basketball Association in their handling of the sport in Prince Rupert are to be congratulated. Incidents will happen, mistakes will be made, post mortems on games will be held. Such matters can be rectified, but who amongst us will kick and whine at a dime a game. Let all this vicious criticism stop. Let's play ball.

D. MacPHEE,
GEO. HOWE,
NEIL MacDONALD,
DICK CAMERON.

(The above correspondents can be assured that the contributions referred to were not "encouraged." Unless an official statement is forthcoming from the Association, we would suggest that the argument now be dropped. —Ed.)

TRUCK BREAKS DOWN WHILE ON WAY TO FIRE

City firemen succeeded in putting out a chimney fire late Saturday afternoon despite the fact that the big LaFrance truck broke an axle more than a block away from the blaze.

The fire occurred at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Myers, 1325 Overlook Street, at 5:30 when the chimney became ignited, sending flames and sparks skywards. The fire truck broke down at the corner of Sixth Avenue and Overlook.

Assistant Fire Chief Earl Becker ran more than a block carrying a fire extinguisher to put out the blaze. He was followed by other firemen with a hose line. The blaze was extinguished without damage to the building.

Fire Chief Lock said that he expected to get the truck back from the repair garage today or tomorrow.
