(Smoky) Smith of New Westminster, who won the Victoria Cross while serving on the Savoie River in Italy in 1944. Municipal Elections

LINES are being drawn for the annual municipal election to be held about a month hence.

The year 1948 should see some major municipal undertakings initiated. There will be important decisions to be made, important business to be carried out.

Since a year ago many new people have driven their stakes in Prince Rupert. This is indicated in the notable increase in the number of municipal voters, particularly of property owners.

MOTORISTS AND PEDESTRIANS

AN APPEAL was recently made by Hon. E. C. Carson, minister of public works, to motorists to exercise more caution in driving so as to halt what he referred to as "the appalling increase in highway accidents."

It would be well if motorists generally took this appeal to heart. Although the majority of drivers, no doubt, do exercise caution, there are, unfortunately, a great many who are more reckless than they should be in the handling of the vehicles under their control.

Although pedestrians may not always take the care they might, they still have some rights and these should be respected by the motorists.

THE FARMER DOES IT ALL

THE modern farmer need not be looked down upon by his city cousin. That great equalizer—modern science—has caught up with him.

Chemist, doctor, mechanic or electrician on occasion, he must keep step with the latest advances in every aspect of farming if he is to prosper.

He is becoming adept at recognizing symptoms of an ailing heifer as a deficiency in calcium, phosphorus or vitamins and can probably find a remedy in the farm library he is fast building up.

Unalarmed by a breakdown in his mechanical equipment, his ability to fix things involves more than "tying it up with haywire."

Although he is often associated with a pitchfork, the modern farmer is and must be a specialist on many matters and master of many situations only he could meet.

Chemist, veterinary, mechanic, electrician, agronomist, meteorologist rolled up in one. That's the modern farmer.

Comradeship Is Keynote

Four Hundred Attend Canadian Legion Remembrance Day Banquet

War-inspired feelings of comradeship were revived among more than 400 Canadian Legion members and guests who attended the annual Remembrance Day smoking concert in the armory Tuesday for an evening of entertainment which featured a few appropriate speeches, refreshments and a variety mixture of stage performances by local entertainers.

Keynote of the evening was set by Legion President V. G. Houston who welcomed the guests after a brief introductory address in which he outlined the objectives and background of the organization since its formation in 1925.

The keynote of comradeship was maintained by Mayor Nora Arnold and Col. A. Hamilton Grant, veterans' rehabilitation officer, in addresses that preceded a musical program which lasted until 10:30.

The pleasant evening was opened with a moment of reverent silence for dead comrades, during which Rev. Charles Lomas recited Lawrence Binyon's lines beginning "They shall not grow old..." and then pronounced the benediction.

Mr. Houston outlined the beginnings of the Canadian Legion which, he said, was founded by returned service men "out of sheer necessity" for the improvement of the lot of disabled veterans of the first world war and their dependents.

Mayor Nora Arnold declared that the fine feeling of comradeship was one of the few fine things to come out of war. She mentioned the local youths who had given their lives and asserted that "we must never let those boys down" by failing to continue to struggle for a peaceful but prepared world.

Col. A. Hamilton Grant lauded the Legion for the work it had done in laying the groundwork for the rehabilitation of veterans of the second world war. When the war started, he said, it was the Canadian Legion which was instrumental in the immediate formation of a government rehabilitation committee which turned out to be the "finest in the world."

During the evening, luncheon plates were served to the huge gathering by a committee of Legion Women's auxiliary members consisting of Mrs. Agnes Murray, convener; Mrs. J. Connery, Mrs. A. Guyan, Mrs. W. Osborne, Mrs. Hugh Killin and Mrs. Wright Davis.

The Prince Rupert Civic Band was in attendance, playing several selections under the baton of Peter Lien, Master of ceremonies were James Nicoll and J. S. Wilson. The latter led in the community singing which was a popular part of the program.

The entertainment features included vocal solos by Mrs. Ralph Smith, J. A. Teng Corporal Larry Wallace, James Taylor, Robert James and William Morris. There also were accordion solos by George Elliott and community singing led by G. P. Tinker. Accompanists were Mrs. J. S. Black, S. C. Thomson and Andy McNaughton.

A feature of the evening was the introduction of "Smoky" Smith, V.C., of New Westminster, who acknowledged the warm greetings of the gathering.

SYMBOLS OF REMEMBRANCE

Borden Street School Observes Armistice

Taking as his topic the symbols of remembrance and their meaning, J. S. Wilson, principal gave an interesting talk to the assembled school at Borden Street on Monday forenoon in connection with the observance of Remembrance Day.

On walls of the room and on a large blackboard were displayed colored copies of the symbols, the Poppy, a soldier's grave with the wooden cross and a vase of flowers, a cenotaph with the sword pointing downward, a rising sun, indicating the dawn of peace. The meaning of each was explained, as a sign of things to be remembered, and something to be worked for.

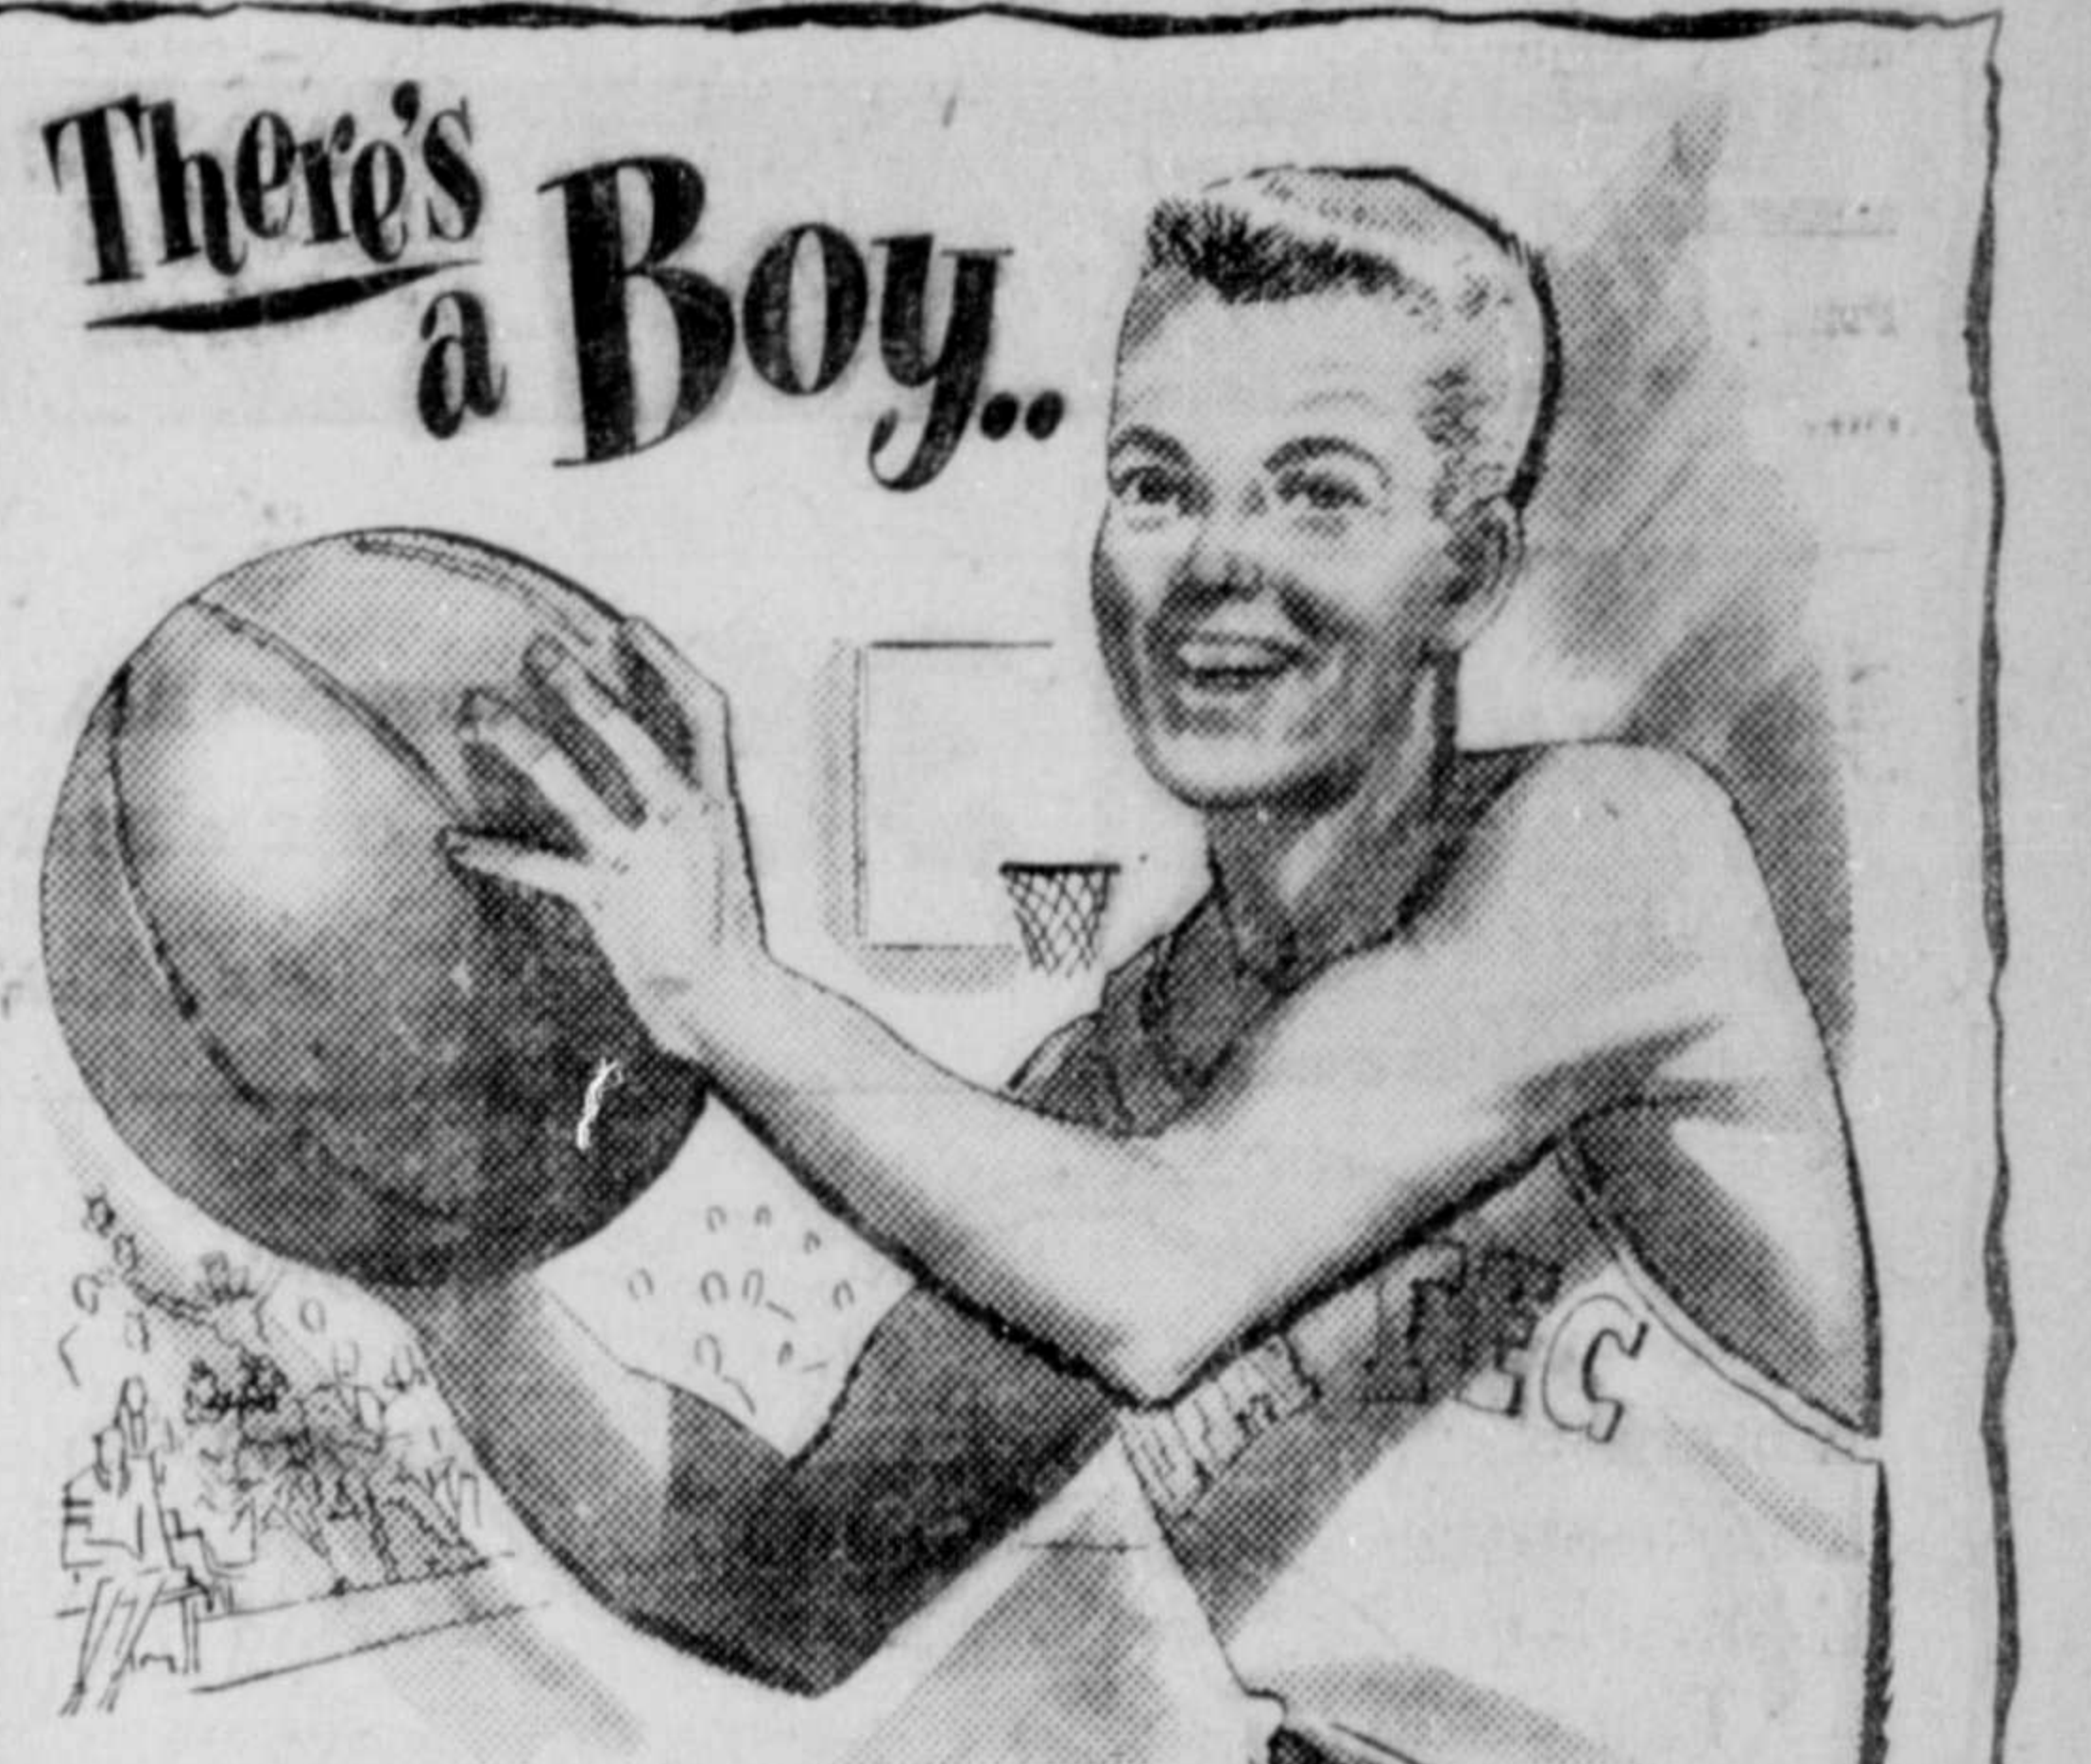

The program began with the singing of "O Canada" and then "O God, Our Help in Ages Past." Following Mr. Wilson's address came the eleven strokes of a bell. Then Bugler Wm. Rance sounded the "Last Post", signal for "The Silence" after which he sounded "Reveille."

A recording of "In Flanders Fields," made by last year's Borden Street School choir, was then played over the public address system and was critically enjoyed specially by the present school choir.

The presentation of prizes won in connection with the Poppy Tag Day was then made. Mr. Wilson congratulated the sixteen children through whose efforts the total of $10.57 was collected making them the school with the largest amount in the city. Bob Watts, with $19.98 and Dorothy Hibbard, with $19.69, had led the school and, on behalf of the Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L. Mr. Wilson presented them with a dollar bill each. To the next best taggers in the school, Olive Strand and Eddie Olsen, each of whom was able to tag for half-a-day only, went a theatre ticket each, also donated by the Auxiliary.

Following three rousing cheers for Mr. Rance, the school sang the National Anthem, and then returned to their classrooms.

NEW NANAIMO WHARF—Pictured here is an artist's sketch of the Canadian Pacific Railway's new land-sea terminal at Nanaimo, as it will look when the big job is completed. Work is already in progress on the terminal. The cost is estimated at $31,750,000. Dredging has already commenced on the site in Nanaimo harbor which is known as Cameron Island. Ships running between Vancouver and Nanaimo will dock at two piers, as shown in the sketch, and there will be direct handling of passengers, automobiles and freight. The project will completely replace the present docking facilities at Nanaimo. The concentration of three services—ship, rail and bus—at one point is a unique departure in terminal construction.

Reminiscences
By W.J. and Reflections

Among Prince Rupert's earliest barbers was a ponderous, slow moving, corpulent German with a formidable moustache and permanent good humor. He was married and liked being that way. He enjoyed good eating and could appreciate congenial company. He loved to laugh. So long ago it was, that no one today recalls his name. Now and then he would invent a joke and roar in louder mirth than anyone else.

Perhaps times were different. Anyway, it often happened. The late John Houston, here in advance of the railway, would sit working in front of his office window, like as not mailing copies of his paper, 'The Empire. Noon hour would creep on. Lunch time! It was Houston's style then to perhaps heave a sigh, stretch a bit, push a black slouch hat back over grizzled hair and see what the Premier or the Knox Hotels or perhaps a next door cafe had to offer. He would just walk out. Keeping doors or windows locked never worried him. There was usually a cigar box with loose change in it somewhere on that littered table. It was rarely if ever disturbed. The old man had a spacious way with him.

PREMIER KING GIVEN HONOR

LOUVAIN — Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King received the degree of doctor of laws from the University of Louvain in a hall dating from 1317 and said in an address of thanks that he had never been prouder to be a Canadian.

"No man ever living has received so much honor in such a short time as I have since I have been in Belgium," Mr. King said following a three-day visit.

Belgian speakers praised Canada and the Prime Minister said he realized the honorary degree as a tribute to the Canadian people "who had gladly shared in the battle for liberty."

OTTAWA—Hon. Co-operation of the provinces was essential if social legislation was to be extended and improved.

PLAQUE FOR NAVAL DEAD

Members of Old RCNVR Unit Here Honored

Honoring four former members of the pre-war Prince Rupert division, Royal Canadian Volunteer Reserve, who gave their lives in the second World War, a plaque was unveiled at a simple, impressive ceremony in the Civic Centre lobby Tuesday morning.

The unveiling ceremony followed the annual Remembrance Day rites at the Cenotaph and was attended by an audience which filled the lobby while the body of Canadian Legion and Women's Auxiliary members stood in parade formation outside.

Unveiled by Rev. Charles Lomas, the plaque bore the names of Harry Keays, Allan Davies, Harry Monkley and Harold Ponder, who lost their lives in service with the Royal Canadian Navy between 1939 and 1945.

The plaque was presented by other former R. C. N. V. R. members who organized the "Corvette Club" following their return from wartime naval service.

The Cenotaph guard of honor stood in line abreast before the unveiled plaque as the ceremony started. Immediately behind them stood officers and men of H. M. C. S. Chatham naval reserve division, many of them former "V.R." comrades of those being honored.

The simple rite was begun with a prayer by Rev. Mr. Lomas who stood before the white ensign which shrouded the plaque, wearing the white surplice of the Anglican clergy. He then removed the flag from the wall, baring the teak wood and copper tribute to the men who had given their lives for their country.

The ceremony concluded with the Lord's Prayer, after which the guard of honor and naval reservists rejoined the parade outside.

The application states that authorization will be sought to make five round trips to Port Edward daily, fare between the two points being 50 cents.

WOULD GIVE SCHOOL COSTS TO PROVINCE

One of the few municipalities in the province benefitting from changes in the basis of school taxation through recent amendments to the Municipal Act, Prince Rupert will, nevertheless, join less fortunate communities in a campaign for further adjustments which would place education costs wholly on the provincial government.

City Council Monday night authorized Mayor Arnold to take part in a delegation which will meet the provincial cabinet on November 25 with a petition presented by the Union of B. C. Municipalities asking that the provincial government assume the entire education cost. Alderman Arthur Brooksbank will be acting mayor during her absence.

The resolution, a consolidation of numerous such motions placed before the U. B. C. M. annual convention last September, bases its application on grounds that taxation of land and improvements for school purposes, has placed an excessive burden on property owners. Taxation of land has reached its "limit" and the normal operations of municipal government are being starved by the financial drain caused by school costs the resolution declares.

Large Attendance at Service Yesterday With Parade Preceding

TERRACE — The Oddfellows Hall was filled to capacity for the Remembrance Day services on Tuesday morning.

Preceding the services there was a large parade in town led by Parade Marshal Sgt. Major Moore followed by Jack Barman and Sgt. Calder, standard bearers. Behind these came Piper "Scotty" Adams, Drummer Sam Kirkaldy and Bugler Lawrence Kirkaldy. The Terrace Legion branch, in charge of Captain C. T. Norrington, was followed by men from Mix Brothers who were led by James De Boer. Winding up the parade were the Terrace Scouts and Cubs with Assistant Scoutmaster W. Chesher in charge.

The parade marched past the Canadian Legion Hall where Colonel B. W. Minard stood to take the salute after which, led by the standard bearers, they entered the Oddfellows' Hall.

The services opened with "O Canada" followed by a short address by A. Attree who conducted the service. With him on the platform were Rev. R. Hills, Rev. J. McAllister, Rev. V. G. Graham and B. Barr as pianist. Two minutes' silence was observed in memory of fallen comrades and then the "Last Post" was sounded by Bugler L. Kirkaldy and a lament played by "Scotty" Adams on the bagpipes.

The hymns "O God, Our Help in Ages Past" and "Onward, Christian Soldiers" were sung and Rev. J. McAllister read the lesson.

The Armistice Day address, delivered by Rev. V. G. Graham, stressed that the foundation of the word "righteousness" as laid down in the word of God was the foundation of "peace" Failure to obey these principles of righteousness in God resulted in strife.

Rev. R. Hills led the congregation in prayer and the services closed with the National Anthem.

Wounds LIKE POLAND'S ARE STILL UNHEALED
The people of Poland are making valiant efforts to recover from their war wounds. But food, materials, farm animals, clothing, medical supplies are pitifully inadequate... especially the nourishing foods needed by more than 3,000,000 children, over half of them orphans. These innocent war victims are in desperate need of help from more fortunate people like Canadians. That is why YOU are being asked to help in furnishing $1,500,000 for this IMMEDIATE purpose. All money will be spent in Canada for relief supplies, to be distributed in Poland under the supervision of Canadian citizens or under such other safeguards as will ensure their reaching only those in need. Won't YOU help in this compassionate task? Send your contribution TODAY to United Polish Relief Fund of Canada, 36 Adelaide Street East, Toronto, Ont., or to any branch of the Bank of Montreal. City Council Waives Priority; Should Be Offered to Public. Four government-owned business lots, which have left an unoccupied space on the "premium" section of Third Avenue, have been declared surplus and are being turned over to War Assets for sale, city council was informed in a letter from War Assets at Monday night's meeting. The lots, on the south side of Third Avenue opposite the Federal Building, have been held since early years of the city and, because of the high price asked for them, have never been bought by a private purchaser. At one time, the federal government asked $96,000 for the four lots. They are assessed by the city at a value of $3,250 each, or $13,000 for the four. The aldermen moved that since the lots are so valuable commercially and would provide taxation revenue for the city if privately owned, the city should be interested in exercising any purchasing priority it might have. Both the city and the Chamber of Commerce have sought to have the lots released for sale in order to have filled with business buildings the gap which has existed on Third Avenue for so many years.

Human "Spare Parts" Now Being Organized. By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE. NEW YORK — Bone banks preserving human bone are being used successfully to aid the crippled, the injured, and victims of some diseases. They are the latest such savings accounts of human spare parts, joining eye banks, skin banks, blood banks, and plasma banks. The bone banks use deep freeze refrigeration to keep the material fresh and ready for use. The pioneering work at two New York hospitals has been disclosed after more than 125 operations. Some of these bones preserved as long as three months. The operations were so successful that the bone bank idea now is spreading rapidly to other hospitals, and formation of community-wide banks is urged by Dr. Philip D. Wilson, surgeon-in-chief of the hospital for special surgery here. Dr. Wilson reported 60 successful transplants, and Dr. Leonard P. Bush of the New York orthopedic hospital said excellent results were obtained in 67 operations there. These two hospitals began the banks simultaneously about a year and a half ago. Pieces of healthy bone obtained in operations or from amputations are placed immediately in sealed, sterile jars, and stored in a refrigerator at temperatures of 10 to 20 degrees below zero Fahrenheit. Care is taken to avoid bone from persons who have had syphilis, malaria, or recent attacks of jaundice. The organisms causing these diseases might lodge and survive for long periods in the bones. Advantages of the bone bank the surgeons said, are that it avoids the time, pain, and shock of supplemental operations to take bone from the leg or hip of a patient for grafting elsewhere. It also avoids weakening and possible fracture of the area from which bone is borrowed. Bone from the bank has been used to fill cavities, caused by tumors or accidents, with fresh bone, to fuse or join joints of the wrist or spine, and to bridge small gaps in fractures of injuries. Vertebrae of the spine have been fused to prevent motion in low back pain cases, or to permit complete rest in tuberculosis of the spine. Bone also can be used for plastic surgery to remodel jaws or noses. So far, large grafts using bones eight to ten inches long have not been tried, but Dr. Wilson said he believed they also would succeed. If a sizeable piece of leg bone is lost, for example, a long bone from the bank could be substituted and attached by metal screws to the broken ends of the living bone. Transplanted bone does not live in its new host. Instead, it is absorbed and new bone replaces it. The grafted bone acts as a scaffold, as a source for minerals, and stimulates the growth of new bone, the surgeons explained. Tiny blood vessels grow into the transplanted bone. Bone can be transplanted from one person to another without regard to blood groups or types. Small scale bone-banks are possible and desirable in every hospital with an active bone and joint service, Dr. Wilson said, but community bone banks should be planned to provide all surgeons with material for bone transplants of every size and description. As with eye banks, persons might volunteer to will their bones to the banks, he added.

Winnipeg, Ont. — Residential construction prices have reached their peak in Canada, D. H. L. Evans, consulting architect for the Western Retail Lumberman's Association, said here. He added that a house costing $53,250 in 1940 now costs $85,800. This advertisement is not published or displayed by the Liquor Control Board of the Government of British Columbia.

SERVICE OF REMEMBRANCE

Large Parade and Impressive Rites Mark War Anniversary

Throughout vast British Empire on Remembrance Day millions turned from their workaday duties to think of the loved and lost and the great sacrifice and to again give fitting expression to it.

Here in Prince Rupert yesterday morning was marked with pleasant autumn weather. There was blue sky and welcome sunshine.

Falling in at the Canadian Legion building, the parade led by the standard bearers and Prince Rupert Civic Band marched to the cenotaph by way of Third Avenue, Sixth Street and Second Avenue. The parade, including 150 ex-service men, members of Canadian Legion Women's Auxiliary, Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire and Sea Cadets, one of the largest civilian processions ever held here, made a highly favorable impression.

Sharp at 11 o'clock sounded the cathedral bells, followed by the singing of "O Canada" led by the Civic Band. It was during these moments the flag was raised to topmast, "Cease Fire" was sounded by Bugler Rance when the flag was lowered to half mast, followed by the two minutes silence. The "Last Post" was sounded, there was prayer by Rev. R. A. Wilson of First United Church, and the hymn "O God Our Help in Ages Past" with band accompaniment.

The honorary chaplain of the forces, Rev. Charles L. Lomas, spoke briefly, emphasizing the profound significance of the day, the privilege of remembrance and the sacrifice of those who had given their all for others.

Capt. Lomas made an appeal for more reasonable life and relationships in remembrance of those who had given their lives in the cause of humanity. He prayed that the world would not be permitted to fall into misguided hands. Finding his text in Ecclesiastes, he quoted "Let us fall into the hands of the Lord and not into the hands of men."

Numerous wreaths were placed at the cenotaph and while this was taking place Piper McKay played "The Lament."

The following wreaths were placed at the base of the cenotaph: American Legion, Ketchikan Post; H.M.C.S. Chatham; City of Prince Rupert; Sea Cadets; Canadian Legion, Prince Rupert; Canadian Legion, Sandspit; Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire; Navy League of Canada; Canadian Legion Women's Auxiliary; Independent Order of Oddfellows; Girl Guides, and two privately placed wreaths in memory of Capt. A. W. Agnew and Patrick Vernon O'Brien.

J. S. Wilson was parade marshal. The different units all looked and marched well. The good services of the Civic Band and Sea Cadets bugle band contributed in no small degree to the general effectiveness and smartness of the occasion.

The cenotaph guard of honor consisted of Capt. J. A. Teng, Flt Lt. D. Deane, Keith DeWitt, Darrow Gomez, James Haddon Jr., Gordon Classen, Gordon Stokel and Miss Betty Leveque.

CEMETERY CASUALTY

CARDSTON, Alta., (P)—Four-year old Anne Williams won't play in a cemetery again. During the course of her capers she pulled over a tombstone and suffered a broken leg.

NEW WHALING FIRM FORMED

Clarke Gibson Is President of Western Whaling Corporation

The president of the recently reorganized whaling industry on the north coast is Clarke Gibson who is also active in fishing and logging. As generally known, there had been a whaling station at Rose Harbor, Queen Charlotte Islands, operated by Victoria interests but in more recent years this has not been regularly functioning. The new company will be known as the Western Whaling Corporation, and during the winter, an outfit will be making ready to use three vessels with the coming of spring. The market value of a whale is said to be anywhere between $3,000 and $4,000.

MUSSOLINI WAS NOT ALL TO BAD

At Least Left Legacy of Good Roads to Attract Tourists.

A Canadian tourist in Italy last summer writes:

"The roads in Italy are simply marvelous. What Mussolini might have accomplished had he stuck to his knitting would have been amazing. The road building which he accomplished no doubt with war aims in mind, was excellent including engineering through the mountains. Mussolini's Machiavellian policy is of value now to the people of Italy. It has stimulated the constructive ideas of the country. She is going to make the tourist trade pay and that she is doing now."

BIG PROGRAM OF FUR RESTOCKING

REGINA—What is believed to have been the largest beaver re-stocking program undertaken in Canada's history was carried out during the summer by the provincial Natural Resources Department. A total of 626 live beaver were transplanted. Raising water levels will also help in greater muskrat production.

RELICS OF EARLY DAYS

Bequeathed to Provincial Archives by Louis Lebourdais

QUESNEL—Louis Lebourdais, life-long resident of the Cariboo district, who died recently, bequeathed to the provincial archives at Victoria, a number of highly valued relics and reminders of the old Cariboo gold rush days, and pioneer times generally, covering the last half century and further back.

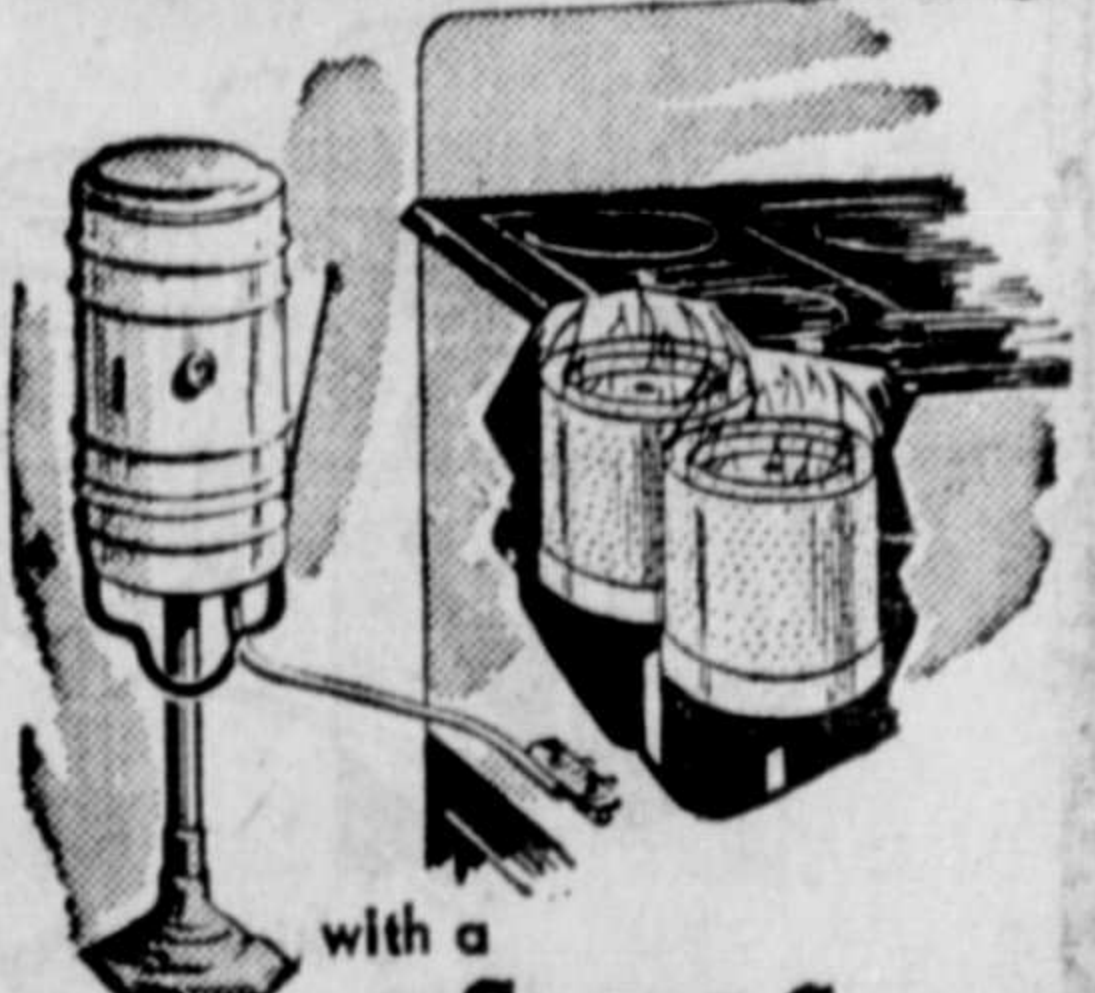

The collection includes a leather bucket fire hose and copper nozzles from the old Cariboo volunteer fire brigade near Barkerville, early "bull team" harness, set of ox shoes, and insulators from the Collins Overland Telegraph, originally intended to link the United States with Europe by means of a telegraph line across Bering Straits. This was abandoned because the Atlantic cable was laid first. The Collins party managed to come almost as far north as the Bulkley Valley. It is said some of the abandoned wire was used in making the famous Indian bridge, strung across Hagwilget Canyon between two towns of New Hazelton and Old Hazelton. Somewhere around twenty years ago it was blown down in a severe storm.

PREFABRICATED ALBERTA TOWN

CALGARY—Something new in the establishment of oil towns is going on in Alberta. It will stand, 12 miles west of Leduc on the northern edge of the Leduc oil fields. The town is being built in Calgary and will be moved piece by piece to the location. There will be prefabricated sections. Houses will stand on 60 to 68 foot side lots. Plans provide for a school, churches, skating rink, playgrounds, recreation centres, dwellings and stores.

GRAVELBOURG, Sask. (P)—A large flood-irrigation project is nearing completion here on the site of a municipality-built irrigation scheme that was filled in by dust storms in the '30's.

DEVELOPING OF CANADA MARKET

Labor M.P. Tells Parliament That Much Could Be Done

LONDON—C. L. Hale, Labor member for Oldham, told Parliament that those who spoke of an Empire customs union (suggested by Foreign Secretary Bevin in a speech last summer) did not face up to the problems caused by industrial competition between the United Kingdom and Commonwealth countries.

Canada gave the United Kingdom "our most adverse dollar balance" but British industries had failed to make a great effort to win the Canadian market.

"We make boots and shoes of the highest quality in the world but still we do not send to Winnipeg the sort of footwear needed there," Hale said.

"Instead we send the sort of shoes which are very desirable in Ottawa."

Most Canadians lived near the United States border and were familiar only with American goods.

He had mentioned his Empire consultative parliament to Canadian parliamentarians.

"It has always seemed to me regrettable that the members of the Commonwealth have taken no part in the administration of colonial affairs and, indeed, are not really previously informed about developments.

"There might be opportunities for a Pacific condominium with Australasia. The problem of relations with South Africa raise very special and rather more difficult problems."

LOCAL LINE IS PICTURED

Interesting scenes in Current Issue of Canadian National Magazine

The Prince Rupert end of the Canadian National Railways is given some prominence in the October issue of the Canadian National Magazine not in a large way, but showing interesting everyday scenes in routine work on the railway itself. One picture shows Section Foreman L. L. Woods and Sectionman P. Alex unloading track ties from a push car west of New Hazelton.

In another view, Section Foreman W. Brackenbury and Sectionman T. Harris are found doing a surfacing job east of Kitwanga, the headquarters of the crew.

The third scene shows Roadmaster Pete Hegstad on a car east of Cedarvale. Incidentally, he has the Seven Sisters range of snow capped peaks for a background.
