

An independent daily newspaper devoted to the upbuilding of Prince Rupert and all communities comprising northern and central British Columbia.

A Tie-Up Obviated

IT IS GRATIFYING that good sense and compromise should have prevailed and that the tie-up of British Columbia coastal shipping over the dispute between the shipping companies and marine engineers on wages and working conditions has been averted.

MRS. HART, POETESS

MELIA HART, widow of the late F. W. Hart (who lived for many years in Prince Rupert from the very early days and who pioneered it from the first in Vancouver and was also a prominent figure in the beginnings of other British Columbia communities as well as having been in the Klondyke Gold Rush), has published a booklet entitled "Thoughts in Verse," copies of which have been received by Prince Rupert friends.

PORT OF ST. JOHN

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE of Prince Rupert and the Board of Trade of St. John, New Brunswick, have got together in the campaign to make fuller use of Canada's ports. The width of Canada extends between the two ports and, being that far apart, how much each knows of the other is largely a matter of speculation.

Proof Reading Embarrassments—"PUNK ROSES" AT WEDDING; NAVAL "TUB" IN PORT; "COCKEYE" TREATY

The perils of proof reading can lead to distressing consequences—risk of libel, plain dismay, loss of job, suffering of ridicule, and many other penalties, no less. Of course if you catch the dashed thing in time and make the correction you mutter "its Jake" and pass on to the next order of business.

LETTERBOX

URGES FISH AS FOOD FOR WORLD

BOSTON—Thomas D. Rice, manager of the Massachusetts Fisheries Association, has called on the government and food distributors to realize the huge possibilities of the New England fishing fleet in the current drive to make the most of the country's food production.

BRAIN TWISTERS

TEST YOUR METAL Can you form eight compound words or two-word expressions from the following list. The first word of each two-word expression is always a metal, as for instance: Metal inner covering, the answer to which is Silver Lining; and Metal an animal, the answer being Brass Monkey.

Better English

1. What is wrong with this sentence? "We walked a distance of four miles." 2. What is the correct pronunciation of "process?" 3. Which one of these words is misspelled? Chinchilla, vanilla, sasaparilla.

Yet, it's a painful fact that one single little letter in the wrong position, will stand out like a black bump on a white fog. We recall a wedding in Prince Rupert years ago. The report was full and written with care, along with a sprinkling of seasoned discretion.

It is always a pleasant duty to extend courtesy to government vessels. Only this week a craft was here, in connection with selecting a signals service site. She was the "naval tug."

Once a sockeye salmon treaty aroused strong differences around Prince Rupert and the late Evening Empire—quite in error—printed it "cockeye treaty" for the first few runs.

The erudite editor of a morning daily down east, once quoted the lines "sermons in stone, books in the running stream and good in everything"—and went home to bed.

So, later that day, an elderly editorial writer read, somewhat to his surprise, a quotation which sounded strangely familiar, "sermons in books, stones in the running stream and good in everything."

PRINCE RUPERT YEARS AGO

October 9, 1912
Alex Stowell, who had been on the staff of the Bank of Montreal, resigned and accepted a position with the Mack Realty Co. Mr. Stowell came to Prince Rupert from England and was a non-commissioned officer in the Earl Grey Rifles.

Warren Kissick, one of the pioneer real estate men of the city, associated with the firm of Pattullo and Radford, returned on the Prince George from an extended visit to his former home in Nova Scotia.

Miss Jessie Unwin, for some time on the staff of the City Hall in the office of Clerk Woods, after being on vacation for some weeks, returned from Vancouver on the Prince George.

October 9, 1922
The Vancouver Sun editorially attacked the appointment of Fred Dawson as a director of the Canadian National Railways. "Prince Rupert's population is 5,000 and Vancouver's is 250,000," it stated. "C.N.R. revenue is 50 times greater at Vancouver and Vancouver pays 100 times more in taxes to make good C. N. R. deficits. The chances are that any ability Mr. Dawson may have will be offset by his allegiance and obligations to Prince Rupert."

A meeting of local fishermen urged that the government impose a tax of one cent a pound on American fish entering Canada in reprisal for a tax of ten cents a pound which the American government had imposed on Canadian fish entering the U.S.

Mayor H. B. Rochester and City Treasurer W. D. Van were at Kamloops attending the annual convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities.

BUSH PILOT PROSPECTING

Alaskan bush pilot and explorer, E. B. Joiner, plans to do some prospecting in northern B. C. as well as in the Yukon, before winter closes in. He returned recently from the Yukon after delivering a new plane there. He is now returning by air to his home in Candle (Alaska) by way of Central British Columbia, and will devote part of the time to looking around and seeing what may develop. He says times continue active in the north.

Moustaches Are Popular Again

OTTAWA—Moustaches, in military circles, are returning. Soldiers, stationed in various parts of Canada, are blossoming out with hirsute adornment of various shapes sizes and colors. Moustaches were customary in Great War I. Some, it is said, are even claiming affiliation with the famous "Handlebar Club" overseas.

PUBLICIZING P.R. HIGHWAY

In its campaign for publicizing of the existence of the trans-provincial highway with its coast terminus at Prince Rupert, the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce has received assurance of full publicity from the Government Travel Bureau at Victoria and the Motor Dealers' Association of Vancouver. Writing to the Chamber, both bodies have made suggestions as to quarters which might be contacted in order to further disseminate the information that the road is open and being used.

The Government Travel Bureau says that it has from time to time advised customs offices and automobile associations and in other ways has endeavored to assist in the movement of automobile traffic in this direction. Organizations in Washington, Oregon and California which should be got in touch with are suggested.

Elame Both Sides

VANCOUVER (C)—Mess days became a certainty day for thousands of Vancouver householders and restaurateurs after two of three independent packing plants closed before the noon deadline, yet took up their posts before plants of Gainers Limited and Fletchers Limited. A third independent plant, Pacific Mea Co., will close voluntarily Friday. Meat supplies in the city may run out entirely by the middle of next week.

At Winnipeg five dependent plants were closed the strike yesterday and the tide of workers now idle throughout Canada as a result of the strike is 13,000.

In Montreal the packing companies reopened their plants today but only a trickle of employees returned jobs at a 5c per hour increase despite police protection, members of striking United Packing House Workers of America unions looked on from pick lines. The United Packers of America Union termed the opening of the plants as a breach of agreement.

Farmers organizations are protesting vigorously at the tie-up. They blame both companies and unions for failing to get together. The farmers are faced with heavy losses in stock as winter approaches.

Gyro Supper Dance Enjoyable Affair

Some 50 couples were in attendance last Saturday evening when the Prince Rupert Gyro Club held an enjoyable supper dance in the Knights of Columbus Hall. The affair was in progress from 9:30 p.m. until 1 a.m. and serving of delicious refreshments was one of the features. Andy McNaughton provided fine piano music for the dancing and Jack Lindsay was master of ceremonies and chairman of the general committee which also consisted of Robert McKay jr. and Allan Armstrong.

Better Picture For Air Lines Office

Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce is to provide the Georgia Street office of Canadian Pacific Airlines in Vancouver with a large air view of Prince Rupert to replace an ancient panorama of the city taken from Acropolis Hill which is now displayed there and to which local people visiting Vancouver have taken exception. On a recent visit to Vancouver, the president of the local Chamber of Commerce called at the Airlines office and made arrangements for the replacement of the offending picture with a more suitable and up-to-date one.

Rupert Bound to Be Peace Outlet

Despite the opposition and knocking of Vancouver and Edmonton, the Pacific Coast railway outlet for the Peace River country is bound to come to Prince Rupert and those cities know it, says D. Barr of St. Thomas, Ontario, who is a visitor in the city. Those cities do not like the prospect for they know they will lose business. Mr. Barr has long been interested in the Peace River country, having staked coal property on the Peace River in the Hudson Hope region in 1911. He arrived in the city on Tuesday by the course of a Pacific coast tour and is sailing tonight on the Prince Rupert for Vancouver. He was a caller at the office of E. T. Applewhite, secretary of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce, this morning.

Mrs. Arthur Kay has arrived in the city from Glendale, California, to visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hill. Her father, pioneer dealer, is quite ill.

The Experts Say

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ABOUT BREAD—Faced with rising bakery prices, many a Canadian housewife may be turning back to the bread-board these days. And if she is, a few words on flour may be in order.

While Canada Approved white flour may be handled in much the same way as regular bread flour, for best results attention should be paid to amounts of flour used and resulting consistency.

When combining the flour with the sponge, add only enough flour to make a dough firm enough to handle but not too stiff. Consistency of the dough is more important to keep in mind than exact volume or weight of flour used.

Little difference exists in the temperature required for the rising of the sponge made from all-purpose and Canada Approved flour. In the case of the all purpose flour, a good sponge will result at a temperature of 65 degrees Fahrenheit. To obtain a similar sponge from Canada Approved flour, a temperature of 69 to 70 degrees Fahrenheit will be found more satisfactory.

A baking temperature ranging between 375 and 400 degrees Fahrenheit is best for both Canada Approved bread and bread made from all-purpose flour. A temperature higher than 400 degrees used in baking Canada Approved bread gives a crust considerably darker than that of the all-purpose control.

If a temperature lower than 375 degrees is used, the bread requires longer baking, and a consequently drying out of the loaf will be evident, particularly in the case of Canada Approved bread.

WHITE BREAD—Canada Approved Vitamin B1 white flour is recommended for home bread-making, if available. The length of time required for rising may vary slightly from the time when all-purpose flour is used and the temperature of about 80 degrees is recommended during the rising period.

The finger test is recommended rather than the "until double in bulk" formula. The dough is pressed lightly with the finger and if risen sufficiently, the depression remains. If the dough springs back quite quickly, leaving no depression, it hasn't risen long enough. Baking time is the same for bread made with Canada Approved flour but the loaves will brown more quickly. The tapping test rather than the color test should be depended on to tell when the bread is baked. When loaves are tapped with the finger they give a hollow sound when done.

Ingredients: Two cakes compressed yeast, or one envelope of fast rising dry yeast; four cups liquid (water, milk, or potato water); three tablespoons sugar; two tablespoons salt; 12 cups sifted all-purpose flour (approximately); three tablespoons fat, melted.

Mixing: Scald liquid then cool to lukewarm. Use one-half cup of lukewarm liquid to dissolve yeast; dissolve sugar and salt in remaining liquid and add yeast mixture. Add three cups flour, beat well and add melted, but not hot fat, blending thoroughly. Gradually stir in enough of the remaining flour to make a dough that doesn't cling to the bowl and can be easily handled. Follow the usual method for kneading. This makes four loaves approximately 1½ pounds each.

Mrs. G. V. Hanley and Mrs. Arthur Holbrook were joint hostesses at a delightful shower at the Hanley residence, Alfred Street, Wednesday evening, honoring Miss Jean Krause, whose marriage to Donald Nixon will take place on October 15.

Air Lines Would Put On Display In City

If any civic celebrations or such special events are held in Prince Rupert next year, Canadian Pacific Airlines is interested in participating by way of displays, activities, etc., says a letter received by the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce from L. M. MacLean of Winnipeg, supervisor of sales promotion for the Airlines. Such events would also be given widespread publicity. It is being suggested to the company that the annual Junior Chamber of Commerce Port Day might be an event in which the airlines would be interested.

RECREATIONAL CLINIC INSTRUCTS MANY ON DRAMA AND HOBBY WORK

Leaders of the Department of Education travelling recreation clinic opened their two-day stand at Prince Rupert last night by stressing the varied recreation opportunities offered by branches of the department to an audience of eighty-five which later divided into groups to receive more detailed instructions.

Teachers, group leaders, church and P.T.A. members and hobby and little theatre enthusiasts heard Lorne Brown, assistant director of physical education and recreation, and Calvin Large, assistant director, department of university extension, outline the work of their branches.

Following the general session they divided into two groups, one of which was led by Miss Jean Travis, handicrafts instructor, department of university extension who outlined the possibilities and opportunities for developing the handicraft arts on a community basis.

H. S. Hurn, director of community and school drama, Department of Education, was the centre of attraction on the part of members of the little theatre movement, explaining problems of production, casting and other dramatic matters.

Both instructors were bombarded with questions by group members whose enthusiasm kept them at the Civic Centre until a late hour.

In the general session, Lorne Brown, who was introduced by Don Forward, described the purpose of the clinic as an attempt on the part of specialists to "bring assistance and advice to places where it is needed."

CIVIC CENTRE CONGRATULATED

He congratulated the citizens of Prince Rupert on their fine Civic Centre, and the variety and efficiency of its recreational programs.

Major address of the general session was delivered by Calvin Large, who stressed the universal nature of the services offered by the department in the fields of adult and juvenile recreation and instruction.

He attacked what he termed the popular misconception that the university extension department is merely a source of "mail-order" courses, pointing out that it has a number of field workers. He cited Miss Travis and Mr. Hurn as examples of field workers in action.

Mr. Large offered to arrange to make available at least one on-the-spot course on whatever subject the community desired. The course would last two weeks and be led by an expert in the chosen line. At least one such course would be available during the current season, he said.

Mr. Large dwelt particularly on the excellent assistance the department offers to drama groups and mentioned the special summer school courses which is held annually at Vancouver. Other services offered are adult education, discussion group work, such as citizens' forum, parents' study, music appreciation, modern art and others.

A little-known service was the extension loan library and the phonograph record loan library which are available to individuals and community groups.

Work of the department, he concluded, is not confined to supplementing school instruction, but takes a strong interest in furthering adult education.

Second session of the clinic will be held tonight when general forums and demonstrations

The New York Yankees won their sixth straight world championship, eight years ago yesterday, as they took advantage of a ninth inning collapse of the Cincinnati Reds' fielding to win their fourth straight game in the 1939 World Series by a score of 7 to 4. Larry McPhail And Durocher

Executive Speculation Attends Finale of Most Dramatic World Series

By HUGH FULLERTON

NEW YORK, (AP) — Larry McPhail, a man with keen instinct for drama, couldn't have picked a better time to announce his retirement from baseball—he had just seen the club he built, the Dodgers, lose the final game of the World Series to the club he bought, the Yankees. It was the first $2,000,000 World Series in history; it drew the biggest crowds ever and it provided about as many thrills as any series. The action of the last game was rather anti-climactic, so Larry provided a novel touch of his own. You might not like Larry (a lot of people in the game don't) but you have to admit that everything he did in baseball made news.

They've been calling the 1947 classic a "pitchers' series" because every time you looked around there was a new pitcher in the game.

Biggest thrill—Cookie Lavagetto's pinch hit to win the third game and spoil Bill Bevin's no-hitter. Best hit—Joe DiMaggio's Saturday home run. Best fielding—Gionfriddo's catch off DiMaggio Sunday. Best pitcher—Hugh Casey. Best all-around player—Joe DiMaggio. Best feature—The weather.

Two Yankee teams—baseball and football— attracted more than 154,000 spectators Sunday. The World Series game drew 74,000 here and the football club more than 80,000 at Cleveland.

The two big questions remaining in the wake of the 1947 World Series revolve about that old Damon and Pythias combination, Larry McPhail and Leo Durocher.

Will McPhail's resignation as president of the Yankees, dramatically announced by Old MacGenius himself in the clubhouse at the end of yesterday's game, stick, or will he remain with the club in an advisory capacity.

What's to become of Leonine Leo, now that his suspension as manager of Brooklyn Dodgers is supposed to be at an end?

The Durocher question continued a puzzle. It has been a

Brothers Under the Skin

The Shah of Persia visited England during the reign of Queen Victoria, and was received with great pomp and circumstance.

At a great dinner given for him at the palace of the Duke of Sutherland all guests were told to come in all the uniforms and with all the decorations to which they were entitled.

"Who is that gentleman down at the other end of the table?" asked the Shah, noting Browning's modest appearance.

"That," negligently replied the host, "is Browning, the poet." "Bring him up here and let him sit with me," requested the Shah.

When the startled Browning had been comfortably seated next to the guest of honor, the Persian monarch leaned over and remarked with great affability, "Mr. Browning, I am gratified to have you near me."

Mr. Browning discreetly asked why. "Because," replied the Shah with a proud flourish, "I too, am a poet!"

Robert Browning came attired, by virtue of the degree from Oxford in a scarlet cloak. But the glittering display of other guests with their ribbons, badges, buckles, and swords so outshone the simple poet that he was placed at the very foot of the great dinner table.

matter of widespread speculation in baseball circles ever since Commissioner A. B. Chandler suspended the fiery Dodger pilot at the beginning of the 1947 season for "conduct detrimental to baseball." This action followed name-calling back and forth between the two former Dodger pals, Durocher and MacPhail, after the famous spring training camp "rhubarb."

Some insiders insisted that Branch Rickey, who succeeded MacPhail as president of the Dodgers, would announce his decision regarding Durocher's status at the conclusion of the series.

When no word was forthcoming from Rickey, it was said the Dodger boss was waiting to hear from the commissioner's office.

It was recalled that Walter Mulbry, secretary to Chandler, had said last week that "Durocher's suspension will be lifted the minute the World Series ends."

However, Chandler, when asked about Durocher as he visited the Dodger dressing room after yesterday's game, said "No Comment."

AS ROYAL EXILES LEAVE RIO FOR LISBON—Former King Carol of Romania and his wife, the former Madame Lupescu, are shown seated in the lounge of the s.s. Juan de Garay, on which they sailed from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, for Lisbon. They had been in Brazil for three years. The royal exiles were refused permission to enter Argentina. They were married last July while Lupescu was near death from an attack of leukemia, but she subsequently staged an amazing recovery. Their baggage consisted of 65 bags, 35 trunks, 45 huge crates, five dogs and two limousines.

MARRIED IN OLD COUNTRY
Les Parkes, for years identified with the Canadian National Railways station staff here, returned this week from a visit to England where he spent most of the summer. The last time he was there was when he was serving in the First Great War. His home city is Birmingham.
Of interest to many friends in Prince Rupert is the news that Mr. Parkes married while in England. He will, for the present, remain in Prince Rupert but later return overseas, join his wife and settle down in the Old Country to remain there permanently.
Mr. Parkes noted many changes that the Second Great War and economic readjustments brought about in the British Isles, particularly in England. He was in London and Birmingham during much of his holiday. There could still be seen numerous reminders of the severity and scope of the bombing.
There has been, Mr. Parkes says, quite a good crop but it would have been larger had there been less dryness and hot weather. More rain was needed to make it suitable growing weather.
From the standpoint of general business, trade and industry, Mr. Parkes says it is evident that Great Britain still has a long way to go before resuming the position held in the financial and world-wide affairs held prior to 1939. Today, of necessity, there are many restrictions put into effect which can all be summed up in the expression "austerity" or in other words, a policy that, through hard work, avoidance of waste, thrift and general co-operation, can at least make a start on the way back. The cost of living is high. There are many who would like to move to Canada, but it is not always convenient or possible to do so. Incidentally, he remarked that a packet of cigarettes costs, in the Old Country, about eighty cents.

400 MEMBERS ALREADY SOLD
Civic Centre Campaign Is Meeting With Good Response
More than 400 membership subscriptions in the Civic Centre have been taken out during the last week since the annual campaign got under way. Civic Centre Manager Don Forward said Wednesday afternoon. Objective of the campaign is at least 3,000 memberships.
So far, few reports have been turned in by the team captains who are in charge of the drive which is being conducted on a regional basis. The teams, which completed their organizational preliminaries last week, have actually just begun their canvassing activities.
Of the 400 membership which have been taken out, 250 were purchased at the reception desk at the Civic Centre. Mr. Forward said. He looks on this as an indication of the good reception which the canvass will receive.
The city-wide canvass is being led by 12 team captains, each of whom is responsible for appointing canvassers for the region assigned to him. There is an average of 10 canvassers on each of the 12 teams.

ALWAYS READY FOR HIS MEALS
SCIENCE has proved there are certain food elements everyone needs for health. If there aren't enough of them in a child's food, serious things can happen—such as loss of appetite, stunted growth, soft bones, poor teeth, faulty nerves, defective eyesight.
Ovaltine supplements the diet with elements frequently deficient in ordinary foods. Three servings of Ovaltine furnish a significant portion of a child's daily requirements of Vitamins A, B, C, D, Riboflavin (B2), and Niacin and Minerals Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron.
In addition it provides the basic food substances—complete proteins to build muscle, nerve and body cells—high-energy foods for vitality and endurance. It thus acts as an insurance against food deficiencies that retard normal growth.
So if your child eats poorly, is thin, underper, perhaps nervous, why not try delicious Ovaltine for normal growth and better appetite.

Modern Etiquette
By ROBERTA LEE
Q. How can a person distinguish between genuine hospitality and that which is affected?
A. A person with the least intuition can quickly distinguish this. As Washington Irving said: "There is an emanation from the heart in genuine hospitality which cannot be described, but is immediately felt, and puts the stranger at once at his ease."
Q. When should the phrase "excuse me" be used?
A. This phrase is properly used only when asking to be excused from the room, or the table or, from giving our attention to a person for a moment.
Q. Is one expected to tip a waitress in a cafeteria who carries his tray to the table?
