Germany's greatest problems is that of supplying its populace with shoes. The requirements can never be met with the present-day production in the shoe factories which are badly in need of leather and other material necessary for shoe manufacture. When one needs shoes in Germany today, he either waits for his one-rationed pair a year or makes his own "ersatz" shoes. These photographs show what is worn by the best of the Germans today. The first photo shows the ration-ticket to buy them. They are made of cheap leather nailed to a wooden sole. In the second photo a former prisoner of war wears these sandals. He made them from an old tire and some leather straps and will probably tide him over the summer months. In the third photo the young lady took a tip from grandma and obtained these long shoes. The children in Germany don't care about shoes, especially in the summertime. They walk barefoot.

EMPLOYMENT COMMITTEE IN SESSION

That the federal government should take a more definite stand in the matter of implementing a nation-wide compulsory contributory pension plan was stressed at last night's meeting of the local employment advisory committee. Feeling was expressed that the government is only sidetracking the issue with the plea that nothing can be done until such time as the provinces all agree on the provisions of such an act. The committee is convinced tha there is a nation-wide desire to have such a scheme put into effect and that any governmen that would take the lead in such a social security movement would have the endorsation of the people generally. The local employment situation was reviewed. There are still quite a number of the older ton Swedish steamship Inger, citizens unable to get suitable off Folkestone. The Inger's work. This is, of course, the sitnation all over the country. In two feet above the water line. many cases there are jobs that could be done capably by thes men and women. They have not the strength to do heavy labor but their experience and reliability would make them profitable employees in many aspects

A study of a very comprehensive report by Mrs. Rex Eaton attered rain showers over to the Pacific Regional Committee on the employment of thes "older citizens" suggested that the compulsory contributory pension scheme was the only satisfactory colution. It was pointed out that in some cases compulsory retirement at the age of sixty-five years is not at all > desirable. The case of the very large turnover of employees in one department of the government locally indicated that there was real cause for inquiry into the conditions that caused such a large change of staff. This matter is being followed up.

An invitation will be extended to H. G. Archibald, M.P. to attend the next meeting of the committee now that Parliament has been prorogued.

J. S. Wilson was in the chair, and others present were Alderman R. McKay J.S. Black, James Nicoll, Hamilton Grant and J.

Let's Speak Bluntly

MHATEVER ELSE may be said about the Soviet VV Union at least its manners are distinctive, says

Montreal Star. What is to be made of a government which sends its foreign minister abroad to discuss a plan for European self-help, aided by American capital, and at the same times launches a violent propaganda attack upon the country sponsoring the plan?

Up to now there has been a tendency to excuse this kind of performance. We feel we must "get along with the Russians," and that it is important to maintain co-operation. But it is about time that the Russians gave some heed to getting along with

We have been saying that we must try and understand the Russians, whose ways are different from our ways. How about the Russians trying to understand us for a change? We have said that part of the trouble is that the Russians are suspicious of us, and we must allay their fears. It is perhaps time we said out loud that we are highly suspicious of the Russians, who might make an effort to prove to us that our suspicions are wrong.

General Marshall was right to strike out as he did. He declared that the Soviet propaganda was "a malicious distortion of the truth." This plain speaking, distant though it may be from the normal amenities of diplomatic procedure, was amply justified. In dealing with a boor, it is necessary to be just as blunt as that.

Visiting crew members of the American destroyer John A. Bole, were guests last night of the Chief Petty Officers and men of H.M.C.S. Chatham at a dance in the navy drill hall while officers of the ship were entertained by the officers of the reserve division in Chatham ward room. A crowd of 600 attended the dance which the visiting sailors described as one of the most enjolable gestures of hospitality that they have experienced while in port. Music was provided by Andy McNaughton's Four Dukes orchestra.

The informal ward room entertainment was arranged by the officers of H.M.C.S. Chatham with refreshments provided by the officers' wives. Guests included a number of civilians. The dancing began at 10 o'clock and lasted until after 2 a.m.

ELECTION TIME

Yes Sir, it is in the air, that Carnival Spirit is here

As intelligent Prince Rupert people it is but right that we elect the right Queen to rule the Port Day activities, a Queen that we know would represent the most progressive sea-faring men of our fair city, these sea-faring men who have made Prince Rupert famous all over the world.

Sons of Norway more than any other organization represent these toilers of the sea. Sons of Norway indirectly, through these men, make the Port Day celebration possible. It is an organization which only asks for local support for a local candidate. It is not supported by any other organization but takes pride in supporting a local cause locally.

telligent, Prince Rupert born, a regular Prince Rupert booster, is sponsored by the Sons of Norway. We are proud of our choice and you would show civic pride by electing Ruth Jerstad as your Port Day Queen.

deed supporting our own Civic Centre and, in return you may win one of these high prizes.

Sound judgment tells you to vote for RUTH JERSTAD.
