CONVENTION RESOLUTIONS

Groundhog Coal Field Development, Northern Highway Completion Among Matters Coming Up

Groundhog coal field development, closer relationship with completion and recognition of the northern transprovincial highway, Alaska, immigration, development of export markets for Prince Rupert district and central interior, adoption of national development policy by the Canadian National Railways and decentralization of industry were cited as bases for resolutions to be brought before the forthcoming annual convention of the Associated Boards of Trade of British Columbia by the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of the executive of the local chamber yesterday afternoon. The suggestions will be considered by the resolutions committee of the local Chamber of which Arnold Flaten is the active chairman.

The executive decided that the secretary, E. T. Appewhite, should be sent to Terrace this week-end to attend a meeting of the executive of the Central Interior Timbermen's Association and expound the desirability of the central interior timbermen thinking of their future markets through development of export shipments through the port of Prince Rupert. The chairman of the Chamber's local lumber committee, George C. Mitchell, may also attend the meeting.

United States Must Put House In Order

WASHINGTON—President Truman said that, if democracy is to win over totalitarianism in war-torn countries, the United States must put its own house in order, by improving the laws on civil rights. He declared "that much that the state and local governments can do in providing safeguards for civil rights, it must be recognized the country cannot longer await the growth of the will to action in the slowest state, or the most backward country."

They explained they had been tired and did not wish to be disturbed.

Mystery In 'Anger' Case

Los Angeles Reports Missing Yachtsman of That Name

Further mystery has developed in the case of the man calling himself Gerald W. Anger, alias Andrew Young, who arrived in Prince Rupert last Friday with a story of a 1,600-mile life boat trip across the Gulf of Alaska which followed a shipwreck off the Aleutian Islands.

The stocky, deeply-tanned man, who gave his age at different times as 47, 48 and 49, called himself "Andrew Young" when he landed from his 16-foot sail boat five days ago, but later changed it to Gerald W. Anger when his effects had been seized and searched in the local Customs House.

And therein lies the mystery.

In his original story, Anger, then posing as Andrew Young, claimed that his 62-foot auxiliary schooner "Hao" foundered 150 miles off Unalaska Island in the Aleutian chain on May 21 when it struck a floating log. He said he was enroute from Norfolk Island in the South Pacific, to Kodiak at the time.

Today, however, a despatch from Los Angeles says that the 62-foot schooner "Lee," with Gerald W. Anger, as master, has been unreported since leaving Nuizak Island, Alaska, for the California-Hawaii yacht race. It arouses an interesting question of whether the man who calls himself Anger and who is in the city jail knows of the Gerald W. Anger reported missing from Los Angeles or if the Gerald W. Anger of Los Angeles may be fictitious. The "local" Anger said that he had spent the last three months in Ketchikan. He had a number of envelopes carrying the name "Dr. Gerald W. Anger, P.O. Box 373, Ketchikan, Alaska."

The Los Angeles report was not specific as to whether or not there actually was a Gerald W. Anger known at Los Angeles, or if a report had merely been received from the north telling of the disappearance of such a man.

The man held in jail here may be sent back to Ketchikan where he said, his lifeboat voyage originated.

Uninvited Guests At Buckingham Palace

LONDON—A couple of youthful student travellers, from the United States, carrying sleeping bags, could not find rooms. They saw a corrugated wall, climbed it, noted shrubbery, crawled in and went to sleep. Next morning they were awakened by a peering gardener, who looked excited. He was. The two youths had spent the night in Buckingham Palace grounds. And that, from the standpoint of the gardener would never do. The wall is to be made higher.

SAWLOG SCALE DOUBLE 1946

Sawlog scale in the Prince Rupert forestry district for the first six months of 1947 was almost twice that of the same period in 1946, a record of the monthly bulletins issued by district forester J. E. Matheson reveals. Sawlog production last month was 19,932,429 board feet. Total sawlog production for the first six months of this year was 101,903,422 board feet, as compared with 51,009,591 for the comparable period of 1946. Pole and piling production for the same period was 1,778,303 lineal feet in 1947 and 1,235,423 in 1946. In June, 1946, 15,958,883 board feet of sawlogs were cut, which was about 4,000,000 board feet less than in June of this year. Pole and piling production last June was 230,994 lineal feet, as compared with 327,158 in June 1946.

Sawlog scale in board feet by varieties last month is as follows:
Fir—487,519
Cedar—3,405,534
Spruce—9,652,787
Hemlock—4,423,307
Balsam—800,222
Jackpine—778,301
Miscellaneous—244,699
During June there were 6,762 railroad ties cut in the district, while cordwood production was 359 cords.

PORTLAND—Alaska is being over advertised, said J. P. Johnson, general manager of the Alaska Railway. "There are as many as 300 persons coming in every day, many not prepared or equipped for what they want. Some are selling their furniture to get by and I am afraid some may freeze next winter because of what seems to be a permanent shortage of houses."

IMMIGRATION

IT MAY NOT BE so often that we see eye-to-eye with our Socialist federal member, Harry Archibald; but it is a pleasure for us to agree to large extent with principles he expressed on immigration in an address last night. Mr. Archibald declared that Canada needed immigration but that it should be carefully planned so that people to be brought in could be assimilated to the advantage of themselves and the country. Care should be exercised in the placement, such areas as sugar beet growing and tobacco raising being mentioned. The immigration should be non-sectarian and the Skeena member suggested the danger of concentration of types. Wisely he counselled that experiences of the past, arising from the wholesale importation of certain classes for exploitation purposes, should be guarded against and, in that connection, he referred particularly to the recent Japanese situation in British Columbia.

There are certain agricultural areas of Mr. Archibald's own riding such as the Bulkley Valley that are directly interested in immigration of the right type. Mr. Archibald's remarks may have had a political inspiration but little exception could be taken to the substance of the comments he made on the subject of immigration. He spoke not radically but conservatively and constructively on at least this one subject.

CANADA AND UNITED STATES

MOST CANADIANS recognize Communism as perhaps the major problem of world security today. United States may be regarded as the greatest bulwark against Soviet imperialism, which, to most people here, is indistinguishable from Communism.

Canadian relations with the United States do not involve the sentimental aspects of our relations with the United Kingdom. Sentiment, in a country such as Canada, can become a dangerous source of discord in time of crisis, as history has shown. Economic and strategic considerations of self-interest are sufficiently great in the present circumstances to insure harmony in Canadian opinion without resort to grounds of sentiment as a justification for action.

The United States is no longer the static imponderable of world politics, but the dynamic determinant. The centre of gravity in international affairs has shifted from London to Washington. This circumstance in itself, without in any way derogating from our sentimental loyalties toward the United Kingdom, may enable Canada to develop her own international policies along more positive lines.

The most of Canadians would support those who are determined to govern themselves in their own way, and who honor the right of others to do likewise.

Such, in essence, is the Truman Doctrine. Such, in fact, is the basis of American foreign policy today. Wherever it may lead, no matter what the consequences, because it is a policy backed by force, Canadians are concerned not only for economic reasons but because of their commitments in terms of reciprocal defence which involves not only the St. Lawrence, the Arctic Circle, or the Pacific Coast but Hungary, or Czechoslovakia, or Poland, or wherever else trouble brews in the form of oppression.

DROWNING INQUEST

Tried Hard to Save Brother and Nephew

An elderly and ailing man's efforts to save his brother and nephew from drowning were recounted to a coroner's jury last night by Edward Leighton, 64-year-old Metlakatla resident, who was steering the gillnetter Mc W. when George Leighton, 66, and Vincent Leighton, 22, were lost over the side in Pillsbury Cove last Saturday night.

The jury, inquiring into the death of George Leighton, whose body was recovered less than half an hour after the tragedy, found that he came to his death by drowning. Commendation for Edward Leighton, who made a sustained effort to save both his brother and his nephew, was written into the record.

Testimony of Edward Leighton, only eyewitness to parts of the tragedy, could offer no explanation as to why his brother fell over the side of the gillnetter as it was leaving Pillsbury Cove on its way to Metlakatla.

Vincent, who was in the foesie when his father fell in, may either have jumped in to rescue his father or fallen in during an attempt to catch his father's body. Edward Leighton said that he believed the weight of the body may have pulled the son in.

Edward said that the three Leightons and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Parker had left Prince Rupert about 9 p.m. Saturday. They stopped at Pillsbury Cove about 9:30 en route to Metlakatla, to disembark Mr. and Mrs. Parker who lived there. After some difficulty starting the engine at the Cove, the three headed for Metlakatla.

"I took the wheel from Vincent because it seemed he was heading into shallow water, and I knew the channel. He said 'how about some coffee?' and went below. My brother George was standing on deck. I heard so much noise on deck and then a splash. I looked out and saw my brother in the water."

"I shouted to Vincent: 'Your dad is in the water!' He came out of the foesie, put the engine in neutral as he went by and went to the stern of the boat. I saw him trying to reach his father. I looked out again and saw his feet in the air just as he went into the water. I presumed that the weight of his father's body had pulled him in."

"I put the engine in reverse, but the boat drifted away. I threw a rope to them, but they did not get it. My nephew was weakening, then he sank."

"My brother was on top of the water all the time. I found it hard to maneuver the boat to get near him. Then he weakened and sank, too."

BODY BUOYED BY AIR BUBBLES

Mr. Leighton said that he cruised around in search for the bodies and after a short time, saw an object floating just below the surface. It was his brother's body, buoyed, he believed by an air bubble in his clothing. With great difficulty, Edward hauled George's body aboard, then cruised in search of his nephew, shouting loudly for help. Fred Parker, hearing the cries, came out to the boat in his dinghy with Mrs. Parker.

Edward then tried to revive his brother with artificial respiration. His efforts brought considerable water from George's lungs.

The boat then headed for Prince Rupert with Mr. Parker at the wheel and Edward Leighton still trying to revive his brother. They docked at Cow Bay floats and reported the trag-

THIS AND THAT

FIRST SHIP OF SEASON AT NOME

NOME—The arrival of the motor vessel Reef Knot into the roadstead here can be regarded as the official coming of the summer season. The Reef Knot is the first vessel of the year with a substantial quantity of supplies. As a matter of fact, there has been a shortage of food ever since last October, through storms, fires and other causes. The ship carried 5,000 tons of cargo, of which 3,300 tons were for Nome. So people are rejoicing. It's been a tough ten months.

edly to the city police who passed the report on to Constable Edward Anderson of the district detachment.

Edward Leighton, who had been in Prince Rupert with his brother on Saturday, said that George had not been drinking as far as he knew. Vincent, who operated the Nelson Bros. gillnetter, had taken them to the city in the morning, then gone to Port Edward in the boat. He returned in the evening.

Fred Parker told of hearing Edward Leighton's cries for help about 11:15, half or three quarters of an hour after he and his wife had gone ashore at Pillsbury Cove.

The body of Vincent Leighton has not been recovered, despite searching by several boats from Metlakatla.

Jurors were Mike Pustak, foreman, Malcolm McLeod, Victor Preston, James Mellor, Harold Lund and F. Gamblin.

The Old Whaler

They have towed me at last to the port of all ships,
Me and my wild roaming heart,
They have broken my cargo and lowered my sail
And taken my windlass apart.
My winches are worthless, the agreement is set.
My red line is sunken and low,
My galley is empty, my fires are dead,
Only dark desolation below.

My mast is dismantled, it stands like a ghost,
She sways to the tune of the gale,
Only the tide has been faithful to me
And the lowered razed sail,
I long for the ice floe, the wild steaming sleet
The roar of the mountainous waves in my sight,
I have bidden my time, my house now is old
The darkness of night has gone out with the tide.

HIGH SCHOOL'S FIRST DEFEAT

Students Lose to Lodge by Single Run 4-5

In a closely fought game in the Ladies' Fastball League last evening the Moose defeated the High School by 3 to 4. It was the first loss that the students have suffered this season.

Budinich, first up for the students got to first on an error. Mostad hit and both came in on Farrington's single. The Moose equalized when Kildal was given a walk. Thain hitting and both scoring when High School fielded the ball loosely.

High School went one up in the second when B. Sedgwick singled and came in on Farrington's single. High School added their fourth run in the fifth when Mostad scored on an error and Farrington's single. The fifth inning proved fatal to High School. Arletta Hamilton singled, Youngman and Sylvester were both walked and then North hit a good double and three runs crossed the plate.

From the Bleachers SAVOYS BEAT CLOTHIERS 5-1

Hamilton, struck out twelve walked none and yielded seven hits. Beth Sedgwick's control was not as good as usual. She struck out five, gave up only three hits but walked four. Both catchers played well. Fielding was good on both sides. E. Sedgwick's long fly being well taken by Laird and Skoro's hit being well caught by Sylvester. Husoy caught A. Hamilton's hard hit ball in a well judged play.

SAVOY accomplished their fourth victory over the lowly Watts and Nickerson squad Tuesday night, but failed to win a shut-out when they allowed the clothiers to score their only run in the ninth inning. The hotelmen emerged on the top end of the 5-1 score.

Watts and Nickerson put over three double plays in the game. The first, in the fourth inning, was a Smith to Dominato pitch which tagged Hartwig running to second and put out Forman running to first. The second, in the fifth inning was from Vukovich to Smith, when Vukovich caught out Ted Arney then hauled to Smith at second, who tagged Sharpe running to base.

Savoys scored in the first inning off a single by Simundson, in the third off a double by Lindsay, again in the sixth off a single by Lindsay and in the eighth off singles by Pavlikis and Lindsay. All the Savoys runs were earned off hits and brought in by progressive plays

Lindsay topped the batting with four hits in four times at bat, three of which scored.

Dick Letourneau pitched nine innings for Watts and Nickerson, as did Jack Sharpe for Savoy.

Hearty Patrolman Was Not Boastful
SEATTLE — William Hill, Seattle patrolman, at six o'clock on a recent evening, became impatient waiting for an eating competition to begin. So, to take the edge off his appetite, he consumed a snack of a couple of hamburgers, four platters of spaghetti, five cups of coffee and two dishes of ice cream. Two hours later he entered the steak eating derby and won. He wrapped himself around seven steaks and a strawberry shortcake.
"I could have eaten more," remarked Bill, "but did not wish to show off."

The Experts Say...

BERRYING SEASON—The berrying season is back again, which means canning and "jam-making" time for the housewife who's spending long hours over the kitchen stove, preserving fruits for winter use.

Strawberries, raspberries, blackberries, blueberries, logan berries, currants, and gooseberries, each is a distinctive fruit, but all are classed as berries.

And in jam-making from berries, home economists stress the importance of accurate measuring for both fruit and sugar. All berries are pre-cooked, and covered, before sugar is added. This gives the finished jam more tender texture and prevents that seediness which sometimes is most objectionable. After pre-cooking, the sugar is added and the jam cooked until the right consistency is reached. Final temperatures of jams vary considerably depending on the fruit used, so any boiling times can only be approximate. Green gooseberry jam thickens more on cooling than that made from other fruits so care must be taken not to cook it too long.

Three cups black currants; three cups rhubarb (cut in pieces); two cups water; five cups sugar.

Seasonable Ideas for Housekeepers

NOW IS TIME TO USE VEAL; IS EQUAL TO ANY OTHER MEAT

When the proper cooking methods are used for veal, you will know it at its best... tender moist and delicately flavored. Unlike beef and lamb which stand on their own flavors, veal needs extra seasoning to relieve its blandness. When seasoned "just right," veal can hold its own with any other cooked meat which comes from the kitchen.

There are certain cuts of veal which should be cooked with dry heat, as in roasting, while others require moist heat as in braising. A roast of veal, either leg, shoulder or stuffed breast should be cooked in an uncovered pan, without the addition of any liquid, in a moderately slow oven 325°F. for 35-40 minutes per pound. Since veal contains little fat, it makes for a juicier more flavorful roast if you cover it with slices of bacon, salt pork or other fat strips before roasting.

Veal chops and steaks, unlike beef steaks and lamb chops, should never be broiled or "fried". Much better that they be cooked by moist heat to soften the connective tissue. After the chops or steaks have been browned, cover and cook them slowly until tender.

During the veal season, sweetbreads are delicacies to be enjoyed. Sweetbreads are usually sold in pairs, each pair being sufficient for two servings. They should be pre-cooked as soon as purchased since they deteriorate very rapidly. Once pre-cooked the sweetbreads are then ready to broil, fry or cream as desired. They are equally good in casserole dishes or in salads.

Among the most delicious veal products are calves kidneys and calves liver. The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture recommend them both very highly. In buying kidneys make sure they are fresh. Their freshness is indicated by a full plump shape and bright color.

Spicy Veal Steaks

- 1½ lbs. veal shoulder steaks
- 2 tablespoons flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1½ teaspoon ginger
- 1½ teaspoon dry mustard
- 2 tablespoons of fat
- 2 onions, sliced
- ¾ cup hot water

Wipe meat with a damp cloth. Mix together flour, salt, ginger, mustard and pound into both sides of meat. Melt fat and brown meat on both sides in hot fat. Cover with sliced onions, add water. Cover frying pan and cook slowly until tender for 1-1½ hours. Six servings.

Calves Kidneys Braised With Tomatoes

- 3 veal kidneys
- ½ teaspoon salt
- flour
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons pork fat
- 1 cup canned tomatoes

Cut kidneys in half lengthwise. Remove white membrane. Soak in cold water 15 min. Cut into 1 inch pieces. Combine salt and flour and dredge meat. Brown onions in fat, add kidneys and cook with onions for about 5 minutes or until well browned. Add tomatoes, cover and simmer 10 minutes or until kidneys are tender and sauce is thickened.

Sweetbread Puffs

- 1 cup chopped sweetbreads
 - 3 tablespoons fat
 - ¼ cup flour
 - ½ teaspoon salt
 - 1 cup milk
 - 3 egg yolks
 - 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
 - 3 egg whites
- Wash sweetbreads and place in boiling water. Add ½ teaspoon salt and 2-3 tablespoons vinegar to each quart of water. Simmer gently for 20 minutes, drain and plunge into cold water.

er. When cold, remove membrane and tubes, chop into small pieces. Melt fat, add flour and salt. Blend well. Add milk gradually and cook stirring constantly until thickened. Add a little of the hot mixture to the beaten egg yolks, then add to first mixture and cook 1 minute longer. Add parsley and sweetbreads. Cool. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and pour into greased baking dish. Set in a pan of water and oven-coach in a moderately slow oven, 325°F. for 1 hour or until set. Garnish with bacon curls. Six servings.

TOUCH OF HUMOR ON GOLF COURSE

Viscountess Alexander "Beats" the Governor-General
JASPER—The first appearance of the Governor-General and his family on the Jasper Park Lodge golf course since their arrival last Saturday for a short vacation had its touch of humor. It came from a spontaneous remark of the Alexanders' second child, the Honourable Brian. The children were along to accompany their Excellencies who were playing together. At the first hole Viscountess Alexander, playing first, drove a long, low ball from the tee that had a good deal of roll after it landed. A little taut perhaps, the Governor-General was not so fortunate. His drive, sliced enough to bring it uncomfortably close to the rough, had too much lift and did not carry as far. Gleefully, little Brian who had been watching closely, dashed to his mother and said "You beat him mummy." Everyone laughed, and none more than the Governor-General himself.

Great Day At Stewart

Success of Celebration Reminiscent of Pre-War Days
STEWART—The Dominion Day Celebration here was reminiscent of the pre-war years with gaily decorated cars, floats, bicycles, horses and dressed pedestrians. Proceedings opened in the afternoon with the crowning of the Dominion Day Queen—Miss Violet Manojlovich—in front of the Government Building on Seventh Street.
Miss Manojlovich, the Moose candidate, was successful in gaining the honor from her rivals, Miss Betty MacAulay, Canadian Legion candidate, and Miss Jean Drysdale, Premier's Community Club candidate.
The retiring Queen, Miss Kay Thompson placed the crown on the head of the new Queen and, in a few well chosen words congratulated Miss Manojlovich on her accession to the throne.

The defeated candidates were maids of honor. Commissioner John Thompson represented Chairman of Commissioners William Newell who was unavoidably absent.
Part of the ceremony was the raising of the flag and the singing of "O Canada".
Headed by the float carrying the Queen and her attendants the procession wended its way to the ball grounds where sports for young and old were featured.
Winners in the various events were:

STEWART WINS IN SOFTBALL
The softball game between Silbak Premier and Stewart resulted in a win for the Stewart team by a score of 14 to 11. This was a well contested game and kept the fans on their toes all through the game.

In the evening 165 people attended the dance held in the Moose Hall to finish up a thoroughly enjoyable day. Music was contributed by Mrs. Jean Stewart, Mrs. Dot Thomas, Mrs.

Edith Behnson, Ray Hamilton, Gordon Dick and W. S. Orr.
The Committees headed by G. Anderson were responsible for the success of the affair and it is anticipated that the Stewart General Hospital will benefit substantially from the proceeds.
