HURRICANE MOVED TO COAST

Thousands who sought safety as a tropical hurricane moved toward the Florida coast were these residents of Palm Beach. They are shown (top) seeking refuge in the county court house. At bottom is a unique photo of a weather reconnaissance crew which flew in a plane into the heart of the hurricane as it gathered off the Bahamas. Using radar instruments, it located the centre of the storm and photographed a huge eye as it was raised from the surface of the ocean.

34c More Per Hour Is Asked

CHICAGO (CP)—Railroad unions of United States and Canada yesterday unveiled demands for wage increases for over 400,000 employees. At Winnipeg delegates representing 40,000 men employed in motive power and car departments of Canadian railroads demanded an immediate 34c per hour wage increase and two weeks' holiday with pay provisions. At Chicago five operating railroad brotherhoods served notices on individual American railroads demanding thirty per cent increase for 400,000 employees effective November 1.

BROTHER MEMBERS OF U.N. ASSEMBLY—Mr. Solon Low, Canadian M.P., and delegate to the United Nations' general assembly at Flushing, N.Y., has a word with the chairman of the Saudi Arabian delegate to the assembly. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, minister of external affairs; Rt. Hon. J. L. Ilsley, minister of justice; W. A. Tucker, M.P., and Joseph Bradette, represent Canada at the meeting.

"Confession" of Indian's Father Repudiated and Reprieve Is, Therefore, Denied

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two convicted murderers paid for their crimes against society on twin scaffolds at Okalla Prison in nearby Burnaby as dawn was breaking over this west coast port today. Hangman Arthur Ellis sprang the traps on curly-haired Harry Medos, aged 22, and Davis Houston, 28-year-old Indian, simultaneously at 6:06 a.m. They were pronounced dead fifteen minutes later.

BULLETINS

MEAT FOR HOSPITALS
VANCOUVER—Officials of the United Packing House Workers of America said Tuesday night that provincial hospitals and institutions would receive regular meat supplies from Gainer's plant in Vancouver in the event of a walk-out in independent plants.

IRON PRICE INCREASE
OTTAWA—The Wartime Prices and Trade Board announced Tuesday night increases of $2.50 per ton for pig iron, $5 to $7 per ton for steel bullets, bars and rods and $7 to $10 for varying types of steel shafting, effective October 1.

CAR SHORTAGE WORSE
OTTAWA—B. S. Liberty, transport controller, said today that Canada was facing the worst car shortage ever known. He made the statement in commenting on a Montreal dispatch which said that transport shortages were slowing the entire movement of grain from the head of the lakes to Montreal.

It was the first multiple hanging in British Columbia in ten years. Houston was convicted of the brutal slaying on November 3 of Mrs. Beatrice Smith, cook at a Belize Inlet logging camp. It appeared for a time yesterday that he might be reprieved but the reprieve was denied after Houston's father repudiated a purported "confession" which he admitted he had made to save his son's life. Handsome debonair Medos was hanged for the cold-blooded slaying of Constable Charles Boyes during a flaming gun battle February 26 in the False Creek flats industrial area of Vancouver.

Murdered Dodgers With Heavy Hitting in Second World Series Game

YANKEE STADIUM—Blasting four Brooklyn pitchers for fifteen hits in a murderous display of power, New York Yankees overwhelmed Brooklyn Dodgers 10 to 3 today to take a 2-0 game lead in the World Series before a paid crowd of 69,865.

A homer by Tommy Henrich and three triples, which tied the World Series record for three-baggers by one club in a single game, and two doubles rattled off the bats of the high-flying Yankees. 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9

MERCY FLIGHT FOR CLERGYMAN

WINNIPEG, (CP)—A 1725-mile mercy flight to northern Moffatt Inlet was to begin today to bring aid to a Church of England clergyman reported to be seriously ill at his lonely outpost. Army officials announced the flight would start when approval was received from Ottawa but did not reveal the nature of the illness which struck Canon John H. Turner. His condition is reported serious.

Eckels Is Acquitted

Found Not Guilty of Murder by Assize Court Jury
William Harry Eckels, 24-year-old American soldier, was acquitted on a charge by a twelve-man jury which deliberated 40 minutes following his two-day trial in Assize Court here Tuesday afternoon.

Eckels was charged with the murder of Patrick Joseph Meehan, a logger and mine worker, in a room of the Central Hotel here on July 25.

A patter of applause fluttered through the court room spectators' gallery as jury foreman Thomas Boulter delivered the verdict of "not guilty" and His Lordship ordered Eckels freed from police custody at 5:15 p.m.

The verdict followed Mr. Justice Wilson's 90-minute charge to the jury, during which he told them that, in his opinion, "the alternatives here are manslaughter or acquittal. I do not think the evidence here shows intent to kill or a reckless intent to inflict bodily harm. The evidence does not indicate murder."

The afternoon session, which began at 2:45, opened with the address to the jury by Defence Counsel Willa M. Ray who stressed Eckels' testimony that, during a struggle in a Central Hotel room, he had struck Meehan "to put him out of action so that I could get out of the room."
Recalling that Meehan had attacked Eckels with a beer bottle, Mrs. Ray said: "I contend that Meehan intended to carry out what he later told the boy (Eckels) he intended to do—kill him."

Her emphasis on self-defence was inspired by Eckels' statements in evidence that, in striking Meehan, he had intended to do no more than render the man harmless because he feared that Meehan might still have had the jagged neck of a beer bottle in his hand when they grappled.
Eckels had quoted Meehan as repeating: "I'll kill you! I'll kill you!" as they struggled in the darkened hotel room.

Crown Counsel J. T. Harvey contended that, since analysis of the alcohol content of Meehan's blood had showed that in the opinion of Dr. R. E. Coleman he was in a state of drunkenness between "confusion and stupidity," he could not have been a dangerous opponent. Therefore Eckels went beyond the justifiable limits of self-defence in beating him so severely.
The Crown Counsel reminded the jury of statements of Jessi

Clayton, a native woman, which indicated that Meehan had grown angry when Eckels had turned his attention to the Clayton woman, whom Meehan had been with, thus provoking a quarrel.
Mr. Justice Wilson charged the jury that, whatever the cause of the fight, the jurymen must decide whether or not Eckels had gone too far when he defended himself from Meehan's attack.
"The right of self defence proceeds from and is limited to a reasonable sense of responsibility," His Lordship said.

Ukraine Rejected

United Nations Fail to Accept Russia's Nomination to Security Council

NEW YORK, (CP)—The Soviet delegation to the United Nations General Assembly today seethed in a state of near panic over the failure yesterday after seven ballots to elect the Ukraine, her candidate for one of the vacancies on the all-powerful security council.

Result of a night of intensive lobbying and trading will be revealed when the Assembly resumes voting.
On the first ballot yesterday Canada and Argentina were elected to the security council with 41 votes each, Ukraine being third with 33 which did not meet the two-thirds requirement. Successive ballots failed to produce sufficient votes. In the first ballot India received 29 votes and Czechoslovakia eight.

Columbians Rally On Horses

British Columbia riders waged over seventy days of racing. The treasury netted over $600,000 in taxes.
Miss Ellen Kinnaird of the social service department returned Monday afternoon by air from a month's holiday spent in Vancouver.

Vibrant Coalition

IN A COMPLEX SOCIETY the best form of government is one whose actions and policies are the result of composing differences to the extent that, while there is majority rule, the rights of the minority are given consideration.

In provincial affairs it has been demonstrated since the advent of a Coalition government that the composing of differences between the Liberals and Progressive-Conservatives has resulted, generally speaking, in good government and administration.

Probably today, there are just as many liberal thinking members attached to the Conservatives as there are among Liberals; and, vice versa, it can be said that there are as many stand-patting conservative minded members attached to the Liberals as there are among the Conservatives. Among all, however, there is general opposition, not to social reforms except as to their degree, but to a socialized state of society in which the state is the sole employer and distributor.

That there should be differences as to what constitutes social reform is to be expected. But these differences are not necessarily between the Conservative party and the Liberal party, but between individuals belonging to either party.

Hence follows the wisdom of good leadership which can compose such viewpoints, the result of which should be legislation that goes too far for some and not far enough for others, but which, on the whole, ensures sound, steady government and reasonable progress.

It is probable the Coalition went too far along one way in its Bill 39 last session. For there is undoubtedly a difference of opinion on that issue. Undoubtedly the peculiar action taken by Hon. G. S. Pearson in moving the second reading of the Bill and at the same time asserting he was opposed to one of its most important innovations (that of a government supervised strike vote) has been a cause of much concern to Premier Hart.

It appears that in a few days this situation will come to a head at the executive meeting of the Liberal party. Rumor has it that several changes in the Liberal portion of the cabinet may occur, among which are the resignation of the Premier and Dr. G. S. Weir, minister of education, and the transfer of Mr. Pearson from the labor portfolio.

A vigorous, vibrant leadership is essential, and a new positive program of policies to meet current and future problems of the complex economic order in British Columbia. The Liberals will have the opportunity to meet this challenge this Thursday and Friday and thereby maintain the progressive forces of the Conservatives with them in ensuring continuance of a good Coalition government.

Only a convention has the power to select a leader, but it may be the Liberal executive will be asked to name a temporary leader should Premier Hart decide to retire.

WHAT PRESS COULD DO

IF EVERY NEWSPAPER in every land on earth were to join hands in a campaign to discourage war, the result might be a lengthy stride in the direction of peace. It is conceivable that the world's press, through moral if not physical pressure, could actually achieve it. If hundreds of millions of readers, in every known language pursued every day the message directed toward the one single objective, the glory of armed conflict might feel a sudden and severe chill and nations would decide to have none of it.

The overmastering power, the weight, the influence of such propaganda (for that is what it would be) is almost beyond reckoning. The changing of a thought is stronger than a fresh army.

But, getting down to earth, this is all visionary—a fanciful, fascinating picture. Man remains a fighting animal. And who ever heard of every paper in existence publishing practically the same stuff?

THE WORLD SERIES

WE FEATURED the opening game of the World Series under a six-column heading on the front page yesterday. It was like old times and reminded us that, now the war has been over two years, we are getting back to the interests and diversions of peace even though the international scene may still present its anxieties and the economic situation is not as reassuring as it might be. Of course, we have plenty to worry about and, since there is nothing constructive to be derived just from worrying, it is well that we should have interests and diversions, as illustrated by the current World Series, to give our minds a change and refreshment for the workaday tasks and problems.

Meanwhile, it is good to be back, after the days of war when it seemed almost sacrilegious to be too absorbed in such things as these, where we can follow the Series with keen interest and enjoyment and with a particular gratification too over the action of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation in bringing it to us through Station CFPR.

Support of Civic Centre Challenge To Good Citizenship, Asserts Mayor

(By MAYOR NORA E. ARNOLD)

The Civic Centre Association is conducting its second annual drive for membership and I commend its efforts to all our citizens. The past year has proven conclusively the value of this building to our community and we are among the greatly privileged to be in possession of such a fine edifice. We acquired it very easily and the size, general layout and the facilities of it are far beyond anything that we, of the original Civic Centre Association, ever dreamed of. And now that we are fortunate possessors of such a wonderful community centre it is up to us to keep it going.

This building has, in my opinion, been a tremendous factor for good and has built up the morale of our city, engendered an interest in civic affairs and has created a spirit of responsibility of us to each other, such as has never before been experienced in Prince Rupert.

Two weeks ago, I was at the annual conference of the Union of B. C. Municipalities at Harrison Hot Springs. A Mayor of one of the southern cities greeted me thus: "Hello, Mrs. Arnold, you are the Mayor of the city that has no juvenile delinquency. I envy you!" And I replied to him that this was the result of our Civic Centre which offers so much to the youth of our city in the way of healthful recreation.

And it is not only to our youth that this building offers its services. Persons of any age can find it useful. It houses our Public Library, its fine auditorium is available for theatre groups, musical organizations, dances, exhibitions, picture shows, lectures and many other exhibitions of talent that formerly we were never privileged to observe. Those of us in earlier days who were interested in drama groups or musical entertainment look with envy on this modern set-up. We used to put on our shows in inconvenient buildings and often had to erect stages, put in lighting and scenery with great physical exertion and take a chance that everything would go right, and many fine talent organizations died because of the lack of facilities. During last winter we saw the growth of a Symphony orchestra, a band, a theatre group and a hobby exhibition all made possible by having a home to use. Our citizens thronged the building in thousands to see the various shows.

I appeal to every citizen to become a member. You may not all wish to use the facilities offered but, as responsible human beings, you dare not refuse to be a partner in this enterprise for our common good. I venture to state that every person in this city has received some enjoyment in this building but, apart from that, its usefulness in building the morale and giving guidance to our youth makes it imperative, that we support it by becoming members of the Civic Centre Association.

LETTERBOX

REPLY TO DR. LARGE

Editor, Daily News: After reading Dr. Large's letter it seems to me some one should answer it. It surely is a serious reflection on our community alright.

To pay $5 for man and wife to hear a concert and besides that, pay a girl from $1 to $1.50, to mind your children for an evening might be all right for some people—the high and mighty class of our city—but what about the poor fellow who has to work hard for a living and gets just seven or eight dollars a day to feed a family. Some of us, and I mean a lot of us, would go and really enjoy it. But that is always the way—the big guy never thinks of the little guy. Why can they not set one price—say one dollar or one dollar and a half—and give everyone the same chance for seats etc. Are we not all equal, or are we? It makes one stop and wonder.

I thought this building was put up for our younger folks? But how many younger folks get a kick out of this high brow stuff? If you ask me, you could put your $1.500 to a lot better use and give our children some real concerts that they would enjoy.

Thanking you Mr. Editor,
JUST A HOUSEWIFE.

TERRITORIAL CHIEF COMING

Commissioner Charles Baugh of Salvation Army to Visit Here at End of Month

Prince Rupert will be visited October 29 and 30 by the territorial commander of the Salvation Army, Commissioner C. Baugh, who will be here from Toronto, accompanied by Brigadier Thomas Munday, territorial young people's secretary. Special meetings of the Army will be held at the Citadel in connection with the visit of the Commissioner which will be the signal for rallying of workers from city and district.

Commissioner Baugh, while here, will also address the Gyro and Rotary Clubs. He and Brig. Munday will arrive by train on the Tuesday night and leave Thursday night by steamer for Vancouver.

sketch—and incomplete at that—of some of the highlights. There have been hundreds of others. But Prince Rupert has been spared a lot, despite the legend that all Pacific ports had to pass the fiery gauntlet before they even got out of knee pants.

Convention Will Be Held In City

Prince Rupert will be the venue for the 1948 annual convention of the British Columbia School Trustees' Association, choice of the city as the meeting place having been made at the recent convention at Harrison Hot Springs where the official delegate from Prince Rupert was Mrs. Earl Becker. The convention will be held during the month of September, it is expected.

The summer just ended saw loss of life, as well as loss of property. There was tragedy when flames swept the Home Oil place of business. Over at Second Avenue and McCord Street, the Clapp Block here since the commencement of the city and fully occupied, became an inferno. Everyone was saved. For a few minutes, the flames shooting across the wide avenue all but licked the front of the new and handsome Civic Centre—the pride of Prince Rupert.
On yes! Don't neglect the burning of SS. Prince George. The pioneer coast liner that steamed a million miles and more came to a permanent stop at Ketchikan. That fire didn't happen here, yet the gallant craft was very much a part of Prince Rupert.
This is not a compilation of times when the firemen were called on, and the wail of the siren was heard. It's just a

MORE SUPPORT IS DEMANDED

Civic Centre at Terrace Must Close Says Vice-President

TERRACE—A general meeting of the Terrace and District Civic Centre Association was held in the Oddfellows' Hall last Thursday, with President Dudley Little in the chair. There was only a fair attendance and Lloyd Johnstone, vice-president of the Association, stated emphatically that, unless more active support was accorded by the members and the community in general, the doors of the Civic Centre would have to be closed. A few loyal members could not shoulder the whole responsibility of the citizens' investment.

The president then stated that the committee would have to be re-organized as soon as possible with only members serving who would be willing to actively support the Centre and its manager.

A committee was appointed to deal with matters pertaining to the visit two weeks hence, of the Recreation Leaders Travelling Clinic.

It was decided to purchase an electric motor for the furnace adjacent to the bowling alleys which must be kept heated this winter. It was also decided to clean up the old Y.M.C.A. office of the Centre so that a committee room could be made of it and the "Teen Towners" would be given free use of this room one night a week.

As the young people were eager to get started with basketball, a "working bee" was arranged for Saturday afternoon to set up a basket back-stop and to prepare the Centre, generally, for the winter's program. A ping pong table was to be placed in the Centre for the use of the youngsters.

The bowling alleys and canteen have done remarkably well in the few weeks they have been in operation and are being fairly well supported by the youth of the town.

At the close of the general meeting, a special meeting of the board of directors was held to deal with the resignation of Alf Yoxall as manager of the Civic Centre. It was received with sincere regret and the hope was expressed that he would reconsider his decision. No other appointment will be made in the meantime.

Timely Topics from Terrace

James Wong of the Silver Tip Cafe left Terrace by car on Saturday for Prince Rupert from which point he left by plane for a week's vacation in Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Clifford left on Tuesday's train for Prince Rupert to be near their son Roy who is reported to be out of danger in hospital although he is still unable to have visitors. With them is Mrs. Kirkham, mother of Mrs. Clifford who, after spending a few days in Prince Rupert will return to her home in Duncan. Mrs. Kirkham came by plane to Prince Rupert last week on receiving word of the tragic burning of her daughter's home and the death of her grandson.

United In Quiet Terrace Wedding

TERRACE—On Saturday afternoon a quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of the Rev. J. McAllister when Mrs. Phyllis Bowman became the bride of Edward Gleason. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gordon of Prince Rupert were the only witnesses.

The bride and groom will take up residence at Lakelse Lake in a cottage built for them by Mr. Gordon. Mr. Gleason being employed in logging operations on Mr. Gordon's property.

Reversed Words

Can you form words out of each of the following sets of definitions, which are reversible pairs? In other words, the word formed from each first definition can then be spelled backwards to form a word corresponding with the second definition. For example: Rodents—Heavenly body, the answers being RATS and STAR.

1. Snare—Portion
2. To send out—Measured duration.
3. To scold—Prevaricator.
4. Cooking vessels—Cease
5. To extend over—Sleeps
6. Small tumors—Stalks of grain.

Answers
1. Trap, part. 2. Emit, time.
3. Rail, lar. 4. Pots, stop. 5. Span, naps. 6. Warts, straw.

No Increase In Prices

TERRACE—In spite of the removal of price ceilings, the Northern Interior Lumbermen's Association, at its monthly dinner meeting at Terrace on Sunday, went on record as being opposed to any price increase at present.

Establishment of an export rate, export quotas and the serious shortage of cars were among the important matters dealt with at the meeting.

The visitors were shown some of the farms in the district, where the harvesting of pears, apples, grapes and tomatoes was in progress.

On Monday the members were taken to Kitsumkalum Lake in the morning and were the guests of Little, Haugland & Kerr at their Mud Lake mill for lunch, later inspecting the mill of Carl Fohle at Five Mile. In the evening, the party was entertained to dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Little at their summer home at Lakelse Lake.

An enjoyable and instructive visit came to an end when the party left town on the late evening train.

The visitors were welcomed to Terrace by George McAdams, president of the Terrace & District Board of Trade.

President Cecil Clare expressed appreciation to the local operators for the excellent program which had been arranged and assured them that at least one meeting a year would be held in Terrace.

DEVELOPMENT IS PERMANENT

Canadian National Research Field Tells of New Enterprise in North

WINNIPEG—This is no get-rich-quick overnight onslaught to grab and get out. It is a planned development of those immense natural resources that will influence all Canada and go far to maintain our high living standards in a world that is rocking," said S. W. Fairweather, vice-president of research and development, C.N.R., yesterday in commenting on new development and enterprise in Northern Canada.

His 2,000 mile trip took the railway's engineer-economist well into the Peace River, into North Central British Columbia, along the Alaska Highway at a time when the Canol oil refinery was being trucked into Edmonton to crack the Leduc oil, to the fisheries of Slave Lake, the base metal smelter at Flin Flon and the new mining fields of Snow gram which had been arranged and assured them that at least one meeting a year would be held in Terrace.

REPORTORIAL EXPERIENCES

Way back around the turn of the century, the Earl of Dundonald came to Canada to direct the militia. There was nothing of particular or outstanding concern about that. But there surely was later on.

The government of the day, and the noble lord went to the mat on the question of an appointment in the Eastern Townships of Quebec. It started something. Platforms rang with public speaking. Dundonald himself, at a private banquet, spoke his mind.

There were sharp rejoinders. Scare-heads blazed. Hansard's stodgy columns came to life and printed diverting reading. Sam Hughes fired heavy artillery. Business was looking up.

In the course of routine duties that year, the commanding officer found himself in southern New Brunswick to make the annual inspection at Camp Sussex. The boys—several thousand of them—came from all over the Maritimes—and they returned home fly-bitten, tanned, a few pounds heavier, full of good grub and the lowdown on field strategy.

Soldiering was different then. No one ever heard the drone of planes and cars were practically unknown. Bombs awaited introduction. Poison gas had not been imagined. Tin hats would have been laughed at.

wide meadows, shade trees and abundance of elbow-room for the business at hand. Interviewing the central celebrity in a first class political dispute needed, from the newspaper point of view, delicate handling. However, there was no high tension complex. An appointment was requested and promptly granted.

His Lordship would receive the press at a certain hour on a certain forenoon. And so, on a smiling mid-summer morning, the press was met by a youthful officer with a hoity-toity air, escorted to a tent much the same as any other and into the presence of the C.I.C.

Dundonald cut a spare, fit, soldierly looking figure of a man. He sat on a camp chair in his shirt sleeves. He did not seem to know the meaning of "side."

He would be glad, he said, to tell the press all it wished to know—within restrictions. He could not discuss public matters. He was certain this would be thoroughly understood—this, not without a hint of amusement. He was a pretty fair interviewer himself. He had numerous questions. He asked about the people and their homes, the schools, the farms and the harvests, fishing, sport, and the forests.

His stay in Canada was not of undue length and when the time came to say farewell, it almost seemed as if he had been trying to foresee events. He had experienced active service and was familiar, in a general way, with international affairs. In his goodbye to the Dominion, he counselled: "Keep both hands on the Union Jack."

MEN OF VISION
Calvert 1622 Fleming 1904
In 1904 FLEMING said: "Build up Canada"
In 1622 CALVERT said: "I came to build"
THREE HUNDRED YEARS ago Calvert, Man of Vision and founder of colonies in the New World, said: "My resolution is to build... and prepare for the future."
In 1622 Calvert advised his early settlers to "Be partners. It is a good country... join in the good of it." Well may Calvert have foreseen Canada's great promise when he wrote: "Preserve unity... the land will yield us many things."
Famous 17th century English Statesman and Secretary of State to King James I, Calvert's ideals of unity have been shared by all men of vision since Calvert's time three centuries ago. Today... every Canadian can be a man of vision, and "the land will yield us many things."
The full measure of our stature as a nation depends upon unity of purpose. There is only one Canada for clear-headed Canadians.

CIVIC CENTRE CAMPAIGN RALLY IN DRIVE FOR 300 ACTIVE MEMBERS

Spurred on by the wholehearted approval and encouragement of civic, business, educational and religious leaders of the community, campaigners in the drive for Civic Centre memberships which is now getting under way met at a dinner rally last night and further discussed ways and means of accomplishing their objective of signing up 3000 members. It was agreed that the majority of people were aware of the vital function that the Civic Centre was now playing in the life of the community and, actuated by a realization of the responsibility as good citizens, would need little, if any, efforts of salesmanship or persuasion to enlist as active members. It was to be admitted on the other hand, however, that there were also those who, by indifference or straight evasion, would advance excuses, if not good reasons, for not joining up and would, therefore, have to be concentrated upon.

Campaign Chairman Neville Gerrard presided over the gathering and the speakers included Mayor Nora Arnold, Chamber of Commerce President G. A. Hunter, School Board Chairman Dr. R. G. Large, Chief of Police Lance Potterton, School Principals J. S. Wilson, T. G. Bateman and R. G. Moore and Pastor R. A. Wilson. The benefits of the Civic Centre were extolled from various angles and best wishes extended to the campaigners for the success of their efforts.

Mayor Arnold stressed the duty of good citizens to support the Civic Centre in at least becoming members. She attributed the almost entire absence of juvenile delinquency in Prince Rupert to the influence of the Civic Centre.

G. A. Hunter suggested that the Civic Centre was being taken too much for granted and wondered if there was sufficient realization of how almost every citizen would be affected if there were no civic centre. He could see excuses but no valid reasons for evasion in supporting it.

Dr. R. G. Large stressed the contribution the Civic Centre was making as far as the educational activities of the city were concerned. He also discussed some of the financial angles and how the general support of the citizens as a whole was essential to keep the Centre functioning and expanding.

Chief of Police Potterton felt that the Civic Centre was the principal factor in the disappearance of juvenile delinquency here. Its facilities were helping to keep the young people from less desirable pursuits.

J. S. Wilson found it hard to think what Prince Rupert had done without a Civic Centre. Its principal value was in its service to the young people. There were some people who still, apparently did not realize what it had to offer.

Rev. R. A. Wilson saw great value of the Civic Centre as a common community meeting place. Community spirit, the development of mutuality and brotherhood, were important factors in Christianity and it was on that basis that he was an enthusiastic Civic Centre supporter.

T. G. Bateman stressed the importance of making more fully known the benefits and facilities of the Civic Centre. There were many people who were still unfamiliar.

R. G. Moore dwelt on the value of the Civic Centre as an adjunct to the schools which were so lacking in recreational facilities. Community activities taught lessons of co-operation and sharing. The Civic Centre also presented the opportunity for parents to develop an active interest in their children.

Father Joseph Carroll was unable to be present but sent a message, assuring the Civic Centre of his church's interest and support. The important role it was playing in the development of sound minds and sound bodies warranted the co-operation of every citizen.

W. F. Stone thought that possibly Prince Rupert people themselves recognized least the fine thing they had in the Civic Centre here with which all the rest of the country was so impressed. Intelligence and good citizenship were involved in sup-

Words Often Misused: Do not say, "He carried four armfuls of kindling." Say, "He carried four armfuls of kindling." "The two boys had their four arms full of kindling" is correct. This same rule applies to handfuls, cupfuls, spoonfuls, etc.

Often Mispronounced: Prescription. Pronounce first syllable pre, not per.

Often Misspelled: Separate. Observe the ar, not separte.

Synonyms: Useful, helpful, beneficial, serviceable, profitable, advantageous.

Word Study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's word: COERCION; the act of restraining by force, especially by law or authority.

"The average person revolts against the idea of coercion."

BALL FANS HAPPY OVER BROADCAST

Loud were the expressions of gratification from the local athletic fraternity and baseball fans in particular when, to the surprise of many, the World Series second game started booming in over station CFPR from the Dominion network.

Authority for the local station to emit the series came last night.

The radio committee of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce has been working for a long time towards the end of having such special programs as the World Series and the National Hockey Broadcast channelled out of the local station as a public service.

DRAMATISTS ANNUAL MEET

Mrs. F. M. Good Elected President of Local Little Theatre Group

Mrs. F. M. Good was elected president when the Little Theatre Group met Tuesday night in the Civic Centre to reorganize for the coming season. Mrs. James S. Black was elected vice-president; Mrs. R. G. Moore secretary, and Mrs. George Brown, treasurer.

There will be another meeting next Wednesday when the group will confer with H. S. Hurn, director of community and school drama, who is coming here with a recreation leaders' travelling clinic of the Provincial Department of Physical Education and Recreation.

Then steps will be taken to draw up the program of the coming season's activities.
