Settlement Made in Engineers' Dispute And Tie-Up Averted

VANCOUVER (CP)—Strike of 150 marine engineers which threatened to tie up all coastal shipping in British Columbia was averted at an eleventh-hour conference today. A basis of agreement was reached on hours and wages at a meeting of representatives of the marine engineers' union (American Federation of Labor) and G. H. Baillie, vice-president, Pacific region, Canadian Pacific Railway. Negotiations are continuing. The strike had been scheduled for noon tomorrow.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Government labor conciliators worked overtime today in a desperate attempt to halt fast-spreading strikes directly involving more than five thousand British Columbia workers. About 125 employees of two independent Vancouver packing plants joined the Dominion-wide packing workers' strike at noon. Another plant is to close on Friday. A west coast transportation tie-up, involving 2900 street railwaymen and 150 marine engineers, was threatened.

Other developments in the British Columbia strike situation were:

- George H. Baillie, Canadian Pacific Railway regional vice-president started an emergency meeting with steamship company representatives and the British Columbia Marine Engineers' Union (American Federation of Labor). The Union is scheduled to start a strike on thirty-six coastal vessels at noon tomorrow to back wage boost demands.
- Royal Canadian Navy officers at Victoria said naval vessels might be employed to transport essential foodstuffs and services between Vancouver Island and Mainland points in the event of a tie-up of all coastal shipping.

HEAR APPEALS AGAINST LIQUOR CONVICTIONS

In County Court Tuesday afternoon Judge W. O. Fulton denied one of two appeals lodged by Richard Mar of Klemtu against convictions on charges of being in possession of liquor on an Indian reserve handed down early in September by Magistrate G. H. Hill of Ocean Falls.

At that time, Mar received fines totalling $900 on liquor charges under the Indian Act. He was found guilty of a charge of possession of liquor on a reserve and fined $300. Later, he pleaded guilty to another similar charge and was fined $300 plus three months in jail.

Judge Fulton upheld the first conviction in County Court Tuesday afternoon. The second appeal will be heard next Tuesday.

A third conviction, that of supplying liquor to an Indian for which Mar was fined $300, is not being appealed.

In the second appeal, Roderick MacLeod, counsel for the appellant will seek to obtain a reduction in the jail sentence imposed along with the fine.

T. W. Brown is acting for the Crown.

Defer Bus Franchise Till

Consideration of the granting of a bus franchise by the City of Prince Rupert will be deferred until after Monday night by the City Council. Mayor George Casey who placed a notice of motion for consideration at the City Hall this morning.

The franchise problem has caused major concerns of the council and has until civic election day, following an attempt to solve it by tenders earlier this year.

Casey's request for a postponement of the council's proposal to consider before the election of a plebiscite on December 21, possibly considering the franchise too early from the point of view of the pulp mill's operation.

The full text of the motion will be presented Monday night.

The City Council is to commit itself to granting or withdrawing transportation franchises of several applications such as a concession, for the transportation of the City of Prince Rupert beyond the city limits in connection with the operation of Watson Island.

The principle for the City of Prince Rupert to have their franchise and maintain the City of Prince Rupert.

In this potential development at Watson Island must be classified as a potential development at Watson Island.

The City Council, by a majority vote, has decided to postpone consideration of the franchise until after Monday night.

Retention of Rent Control

Nation-Wide Strike Proposed to C.C.L. Should it be Removed

TORONTO, (P)—A nation-wide strike in the event of rent controls being removed was proposed today before the Canadian Congress of Labor convention. The proposal came from John Wigdor, United Electrical Workers' delegate from Toronto, as the Congress debated a resolution calling for retention of rent control and re-imposition of legislation prohibiting evictions.

Wigdor made his suggestion in discussing a statement in the resolution that a report in Ottawa hinted that rent controls were to be released. He also called for united action by workers to force back prices, this being the only language the government understood.

Gold and Economics

ERNEST BEVIN suggested recently that the United States should distribute its gold. The idea, foolish though it was, has aroused much discussion. If it had been made by anyone of less prominence no one would have given it a moment's consideration. Great is the power of a cabinet minister. When one of prominence speaks many listen, few understand.

Let's examine his suggestion. The United States has enormous stores of gold, most of it lying useless in Fort Knox. Assuming that the advice of Mr. Bevin is accepted, it is boxed, insured, shipped to New York, then to England. There it is unloaded and moved into a vault.

Great Britain, however, does not want gold. Great Britain wants food and machinery. Much of her present equipment was made obsolete by war—used up in the desperate effort to defend the world against Hitler.

What can Britain do with this gold? Ship it back to the United States to pay for goods and let the United States return it to Fort Knox from whence it came! The whole thing could be done with less cost if the American government placed the needed amount to the credit of the government of the United Kingdom in any New York bank.

Assume now that Britain sends half the American gold back to the United States for goods, a quarter to the Argentine of wheat and a quarter to Canada for bacon. What follows? The Argentine sends the wheat to Britain, turns the gold back to the United States. Canada goes through the same hocus-pocus with the bacon. Is this to be the way great statesmen play with the hunger of men?

There is a way by which the United States can retain its trade and help to restore the world to a sound and sane economy. It should cut its tariff in two, then start in earnest to reduce it, extend greatly the free list. This should be done as speedily as possible. In time much of its excess gold would move out and become a factor in steadying the shaky monetary systems of the world. Midas could not live on gold; neither can Uncle Sam.

The United States does not want to do this. There is an alternative. The United States may lead the world into a depression. It will then be doing exactly as Stalin wants it to do. He wants the American economy to go into a tail-spin. He will blame it on the capitalistic system and urge the world to go communist. But capitalism in a depression is better than communism in a boom.

It is a serious moment for the United States, and the world.

BRITISH PRESS RESTRICTED

THE president of the Institute of Journalists in Great Britain is not at all impressed by the size of the savings in dollars brought about through the cut in the total of newsprint supplies. The saving, he asserts, is trifling. The real purpose, he maintains, is the further restriction threatened the freedom of the British press. It is, he alleges, the most effective barricade possible against the unreserved expression of public opinion. Of course, this is as he sees it. Others might differ. But, for that matter there is in the British Isles today a sanctioned dictatorship.

SOLDIERS IN WHITE HOUSE

PERHAPS more frequently than any other the name of General Eisenhower is heard mentioned and seen in print when it comes to presidential possibilities in the United States. Military renown would be nothing new across the border when associated with an incumbent of the White House. George Washington was first. Jackson, Harrison, Grant, Theodore Roosevelt, were among others. Some were more successful in the field than in directing the affairs of State. General Eisenhower has declared he will not accept nomination. However, the convention season is still some distance away and things may change.

HIGHWAY CONDITION

IT SEEMS almost impossible to establish the impression that the Skeena River Highway between Prince Rupert and Terrace is in good shape and that it can be safely taken for granted the road will remain that way. Reports conflict. Opinions differ. One motorist, having travelled over the highway, says the road is all right. He's seen and felt far worse. Someone else can only talk of pot holes, more ruts, and a shaken car. Others think there is no real ground for serious criticism. And, so it goes. The net result of all this is that misleading ideas go abroad. There is no agreement here. No wonder those who dwell at a distance do not know the facts.

Reminiscences

By W.J. and Reflections

It was only a bare six years ago, but in December 1941, this city faced a menace. There was danger. It was a risk, admitted by the population, but in a somewhat light-hearted sort of way.

Oh yes! There could be a raid. Prince Rupert had nothing one could count on in the way of protection from bombs. Well then, Prince Rupert had no shield.

What's on tonight? Let's go. Today, as 1948 draws nearer, a glance at the local newspaper files gives one a new slant on the situation at Prince Rupert in the fateful days following Pearl Harbor.

Many of Washington's proudest ships lay broken and helpless. The Navy of Japan, almost without opposition, roamed the Pacific. Her airmen had already demonstrated what they were capable of doing.

Britain was busy with Germany in another part of the world. One of her newest fighting ships was fated to sink beneath the blows of Nippon's flutters not far from Singapore. Australia was deeply anxious. Yank troops in the Philippines were being driven into a corner that became a trap. The outlook was bleak.

Reading it all over, now, the dominant impression is that Prince Rupert did not really grasp the imminence of her peril. The front page in December 1941 printed the solemn warning to forget all about New Year's Eve street celebrations but instead to keep quiet and turn lights low. Manila was due to fall any hour. There were more sinkings off the coast of California.

Reading between the lines, one sensed that much more could be told, but wasn't. It is no exaggeration to say the sea and air fleets of Japan, during those few momentous weeks packed with such dire possibilities, had the priceless Pacific ports of continental America at their mercy.

What saved them? The question has been asked, ever since and not yet answered. Supercaution on the part of Japan? Maybe! Still it seems incredible that after the paralyzing stroke of Pearl Harbor, others did not follow—only this time, aimed at the cities of the mainland. It was a supreme moment—from the standpoint of the enemy. It was a challenge. It invited reckless daring and dash. In all likelihood, no Jap could have survived, but that prospect would have worried no raider.

Pearl Harbor shocked, and in some respects unnerved the coast.

Dutch Harbor, a neighbor of Prince Rupert as distance goes in modern war, did not ease the situation. Prince Rupert, trans-continental railway terminus, strategic centre and of importance in many other respects was surely a prize objective. If all the facts were known, it would no doubt be disclosed that enemy submarines and bombers were not so far from her threshold. Nothing happened, however. There were false alarms. Real ones might have been sounded. For the Jap was not so far away and he knew something about Kaien Island.

Snow dusted the peaks around Prince Rupert a few days ago and the coming of winter—in October—was hinted at, if not asserted. Then the weather man, feeling as if he had to do something in keeping with his general reputation, sent sunshine, a little soft breeze and last night a dash of rain.

This morning, the crest of Mount Morse across the harbor, was just the same old Mount Morse at this season—open spaces of brown patches and trees. There is a calm away up there, enclosing the names of people from Rupert who one fine day made the climb and then sat down to enjoy the view, along with sandwiches. But that was a long time ago. It may not be there now.

Jack McNulty returned on the Prince Rupert this morning from a holiday trip to Vancouver.

Miss Caroline Elizabeth Madgen, who has been visiting here for the past five months with her mother, Mrs. Einar Telseth, will leave on Friday evening's train for New York where she will embark on the Swedish-American liner Drottningholm for Denmark. Although born in Prince Rupert, Miss Madgen has spent most of her life in Denmark and makes her home there.

RECREATIONAL CLINIC HERE FOR TWO DAYS

Demonstrations and lectures on arts and crafts, hobbies, physical and social activities, drama and other recreational projects will come from the "fountainhead" of such knowledge tonight and Thursday evening when the Department of Education recreation leaders travelling clinic holds sessions in the Civic Centre.

The clinic, comprising Pro-Rec and University Extension leaders, arrived in the city today from the interior and will remain until Friday when it will leave for the interior where similar gatherings will be held at Terrace, Smithers and other centres.

Teachers, group leaders, church workers, P.T.A. members, hobbyists and little theatre members are being urged to attend the classes which will demonstrate the latest approaches to the broad field of recreation.

Both evening sessions will be opened by general discussion forums, followed by specific demonstrations and displays.

An arts and crafts demonstration by Miss Jean Travis, handicraft instructor, University extension department, will take up the second portion of tomorrow night's session. This will be followed by a drama class, conducted by H. S. Hurn, director of community and school drama, Department of Education.

On Thursday evening, following the general session, there will be a physical activities demonstration by Jerry Mathison, provincial supervisor of men, and later a similar demonstration for women by Mrs. Hilda Keatley, supervisor of women. This will include dancing, rhythms and games, and will be followed by a community dance featuring square dances.

TEACHERS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Prince Rupert District Teachers' Association was held in the Civic Centre last evening with over 30 teachers in attendance. The election of officers for the year resulted as follows:

President, J. S. Wilson.
Vice-President, R. D. Cleland.
Secretary, Miss Freda Hall.
Treasurer, Mrs. Kullander.
Other executive members—
Mrs. K. Stone, public relations committee chairman; J. Church, school planning committee; A. M. Hurst, A. Densmore, Miss M. Ansey, Miss House, Miss Sweeney, Miss McBeath and J. Evans.

Representative to Civic Centre, A. M. Hurst.

In welcoming the newly appointed teachers, Mr. Wilson also referred to the loss to the association of such long time supporters as W. W. C. O'Neill, the former Miss Mary D. Sim and T. L. Davies. They had served the community and the teachers well. Among the highlights of the year had been the very successful Education Week, the negotiation of a new salary schedule, the visit of Stanley Evans, assistant secretary of the B.C. Teachers' Federation, and the passage by the Legislature of the Automatic Membership Bill.

Mr. Wilson also gave a resume of the work of the B.C. Teachers' executive, a meeting of which he had attended on Saturday last in Vancouver. In session from 9:30 a.m. until midnight, a great deal of work had been covered. Reports had been given by delegates who attended the Canadian Teachers' Federation annual meeting and at which C. J. Oates of the B.C. delegation had been elected vice-president. Other delegates had attended the meeting of the Union of B. C. Municipalities when the matter of the right of teachers to hold public office had been considered. The president of the Provincial Federation had also attended the annual meeting of the School Trustees' Association. This body was very definitely in favor of the best in education for the province. The relations between it and the Teachers' Federation continued to be most cordial. In order to reduce the disparity between the salaries now being paid and the greatly increased cost of living the B. C. T. F. salary schedule had been raised at the executive meeting. Mr. Wilson hoped that close relations could be established with teachers in the district, and it is

McMEEKINS BOWL HIGH

Although losing two games to the Ambassadors, McMeekins knocked over the greatest number of pins, to mark up the highest team score in Monday night's men's "A" bowling league session. With a total handicap of only 27, the wholesalers ended with an aggregate score of 3,219 for the three games.

Dan Wick of McMeekins took top single game honors with a score of 335 for his third game, while Jack Paul of Continentals bowled the high three game score, a tidy 781.

Game scores:
Reddy Kilowatts 3, Brownwoods 0.
Ambassadors 2, McMeekins 1.

REFEREES ORGANIZE

Object Is to Improve Basketball—Don Forward President

Referees at this season's basketball operations at the Civic Centre will not be the rugged individualists who volunteered singly to assert discipline on the playing floor often in exchange for nothing more than criticism and charges that their efforts had resulted in no benefit to the game.

This year, things will be different.

This year, there will be a referees' association, a formal grouping of non-players whose inspired interest in the game has led them to organize and lay plans for co-ordinated interpretation of the rules and to offer assurance to the players that no league game will not be properly refereed.

Nucleus of the association met last night in the Civic Centre to draw up a plan of action that will put referees on the proper level of dignity and authority for the best interests of the game. They will meet again in a couple of weeks to study the 1947 rules and again just prior to the opening of the season on November 1 to explain their interpretations of the rules to team coaches and managers.

This year, they are determined there will be no good-intentioned but haphazard refereeing in which one referee is often at variance with another on rule interpretations and often in direct conflict with the players.

And since they are committing themselves to a big and sustained job, they have decided that it should be dignified by some remuneration. Last night's meeting approved a suggestion that four percent of the gross receipts from league games should be earmarked for a referees' fund and that nominal payment should be made when "outside" games are played.

For outside games, the referees will receive $5 for the main feature and $3 for refereeing the exhibitions. Payment for the refereeing of outside games will be made by the Basketball Association which receives gate receipts from such non-scheduled meets. The Civic Centre is handling receipts from league games.

"The whole purpose of the plan is that there should be a constant supply of good referees throughout the season," Alex Bill said. "Good refereeing requires consistent interpretation of the rules."

The association elected Don Forward president and Johnny Comadina secretary. Others present at last night's meeting were Alan M. Hurst, Dr. G. E. H. Montgomery, Alex Bill, Vernon Ciccone, Fred Calderoni, Boyo Gurvich, Don Hartwig and Lorne Brown.

MANSLAUGHTER PRELIMINARY AT TERRACE

Preliminary hearing of Harry Johnson, Terrace truck driver, charged with manslaughter following the traffic death of September 16 of Mrs. Martha Willie, 73-year old Terrace woman, will begin before Magistrate Will Robinson at the interior town on Thursday.

Mrs. Willie died in Prince Rupert General Hospital four days after she and her husband had been struck down by a vehicle on a darkened Terrace street corner on the night of September 12. Mr. Willie, former Terrace hotel keeper, recovered from his injuries.

A coroner's jury, which convened here on September 25, named Johnson as the driver of the truck which struck the pair and reprimanded Mix Construction Co., owners of the truck, for allowing it to operate without meeting all requirements of the Motor Vehicle Act.

The jury recommended that the company enforce more rigid control over the movement of its trucks after working hours. Johnson was held by the provincial police at Terrace on a charge of failing to return to the scene of an accident. The manslaughter charge was laid following the inquest two weeks ago.

Two Prince Rupert barristers will leave Thursday to act at the preliminary T. W. Brown will represent the crown and Rodrick MacLeod will act for the accused.

PRINCE RUPERT YEARS AGO

October 8, 1912

The hospital board had a busy session at its regular monthly meeting. The city announced it would honor a draft for $5,000 for building extensions. The Ladies' Auxiliary, through Mrs. W. E. Burritt and Mrs. N. M. McNeill, handed over a cheque for $620, the proceeds of a concert held during the visit of the Governor General.

Beautiful decorations, a good floor, excellent music, together with as representative an assemblage of Prince Rupert's citizens as has ever been gathered together at such a function, all tended to make the hospital ball held in the spacious ballroom of the Kaien Island Club one of the most successful events ever held here. The arrangements were under the direction of Mrs. Angus Stewart, Mrs. J. H. McMullin, Mrs. N. M. McNeill, Mrs. H. E. Tremayne, Mrs. R. L. McIntosh and Mrs. S. M. Newton.

October 8, 1922

The Prince Rupert Holding Co. Ltd. of Vancouver, was incorporated to take over all the outstanding debenture of the bankrupt Prince Rupert Pulp and Paper Co., the sale of whose effects was to take place in the near future under a foreclosure order.

The tailoring in these suits is really smooth...

That's why I like BOND CLOTHES

says Eddie Allen, popular Canadian vocalist and accordionist who is heard every week, Monday through Friday, by many thousands of radio listeners

"Versatility really counts when you're a radio artist. Versatility also counts when you're choosing a suit.

"My Bonsted suit not only looks smart but it feels comfortable and there's a colour and pattern to suit anyone's taste. When a Bond suit is made to your measure, it really is made to your measure. Bond stylists travel the continent to find what's new and what men like. And the men who do the actual tailoring on your suit have been practising their craft for more years than I can lay claim to.

"If you're looking for a good-looking suit that stands up well under hard wear, I'd suggest you try a Bond tailored-to-measure suit in Bonsted."
