Bottle-Fed Fawn Is Barnyard Pet

LONDON, Ont.—Everybody at nearby Dochester—especially school children—is talking about "Susie," the baby deer. Tom O'Neil, found it near his farm. He almost ran over it with his tractor. Just a day old it weighed but six pounds and was a weak and frightened little fawn when carried back to the O'Neil barn. Susie now weighs 14 pounds. Mothered for a week by a young heifer and bottle-fed after that, she has grown strong and has lost her fear. Recently, Annette Sloss, teacher at Routledge School, S.S. No. 5, took her pupils down the road to see the "little deer." Susie made an instant hit. The sight of so many children and being handled so often didn't bother her a bit. Game warden Bert Smalley of Strathroy has issued a licence and a permit which gives Susie a permanent home with O'Neil.

What, Bad Weather?

PRINCE RUPERT has been having a couple of weeks of rainy weather. It has not been so bad at that, but a lot of our friends are grumbling about it. The amount of growing about the rain makes the abnormality apparent, because, after all, people do not talk about things that are not unusual. We have become so used to Prince Rupert's fine weather that a couple of weeks of rain puts some—not all—of us down. We should think of what some other places have to put up with in the way of weather—floods, tornadoes, drought, and what not. Even down in California they get tired of perpetual sunshine.

The odd part of it is that the worst kickers about the weather are the people who live here and are the bona fide residents—the very people who resent Vancouver people talking about Prince Rupert's odd bit of rain. What they should do is less grumbling themselves about it.

And what if a couple of weeks in July have been a bit damp? August and September will, no doubt, compensate for the current inclement spell which, after all, we claim hasn't really been so bad at that.

THE LOCAL PAPER

IT IS TIME to say a word on behalf of the local newspaper. There are a few, unfortunately, only a few, who seem inclined to think that the big Vancouver papers are much more important to them than their own home town sheet which serves them constantly in season and out, gives them their local news and their local advertising, fights their causes and listens to their gripes. Yet, with some of these thoughtless ones, there is a tendency to rush their favors to the Vancouver press. They seem to think it is much more important that their news and pictures should get there than at home. But, when it comes to the free publicity and the support for causes and campaigns among the folks here and hereabouts they rush to us, knowing that it is mighty little they will get from Vancouver.

If some local organizations and people lose the sympathy and co-operation of the local press, they will only have themselves to blame. After all, we are only human and resent being ignored and overlooked and being thought of only when favors are sought and everyone else has been catered to.

WALKING WITH GOD

(By REV. F. ANTROBUS, First Baptist Church)
 "Enoch Walked With God." — Gen. 5:24.

It is strange that this record should be found in a genealogical table which is not usually very interesting. Perhaps it is all the more significant of him that it is said in such a record of births and deaths. We know so little about him and yet, from the few things that are said, we feel we know him very well for these words are full of meaning as to his life, character and personality. He had this testimony that he pleased God. What does this phrase "walking with God" mean? First it means intimate companionship.

The word "walking" is used over 800 times in the Bible as a Hebrew figure of speech for a life. A man's walk in his life. The word is used negatively e.g. of a certain wicked king: "he walked in the way of Jeroboam the son of Nebat who made Israel to sin." It is used positively in Psalm 1:1. Blessed is the man who walketh not in the counsel of the angurly; and by Micah: "What doth the Lord thy God require of thee but to do justly, to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God." In the New Testament we are bidden to walk in the Spirit and we shall not fulfil the desires of the flesh.

One's walk is one's character and there is nothing higher in Christian experience than this "walking with God." It implies harmony, because sin, the great disrupting power in a man's life, has been put away. Sins are forgiven and the believer in Christ enjoys the presence of Christ in his heart and life. It implies purity and is the only real source of such a life of goodness, power and influence.

This "walking with God," living and working in the daily consciousness of the divine Presence within and about, is the secret of the radiance of the New Testament. For 400 years, between Malachi and John the Baptist, there was no fresh voice from God. Then Jesus came and, as John the apostle says, "The word became flesh and dwelt among us and we beheld His glory, glory as of the only-begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth." His followers saw God in Him. Peter affirmed with confidence,

"Thou art the Christ the Son of the living God," and, "To whom can we go but unto Thee, for Thou alone hast the words of eternal life."

Second, it also means service.

You cannot walk with God in Christ and not be a worker. This was true of those two, in John 1:35-42, who "abode with Him" that day, and then went out to tell others of Him and bring others to Him. It was also true of those disciples in Luke 5:1-11, to whom Jesus said, "Come after Me, and I will make you fishers of men . . . and they forsook their nets and followed Him."

Walking with Christ in daily conscious fellowship will mean that you will catch His Spirit; you will be filled with His passion to do the will of God and He will infuse into your life His own divine grace and compassion, to make you very conscious of the needy world you are in, and that you simply must do something about it.

The Christian man must not be one who looks upon his salvation simply as an eternal life insurance policy against the future, but as saving him from sin for a vital fellowship with the Father through Christ, and the making of him into a servant of the Master, who was Himself a worker. Christians should always be happy to be known as servants. There is plenty to do, and it can be done, and my

Legion Postpones Its Picnic Plans

Prospect of rain has resulted in postponement of the Canadian Legion picnic scheduled to be held at Digby Island Sunday afternoon. A meeting of the Legion executive and picnic committee last night decided to hold the picnic at a later date
in view of the weather forecast.
Because arrival at the picnic grounds is subject to tidal stages the committee also plans to investigate other places where the picnic might be held. Announcement of the new date will be made in the near future.

J. S. Black returned to the city

At Madison Square Garden in New York last night Steve Belose reversed the decision of his previous bout with George Abrahams when he won by a technical knockout in the fifth round in a middle weight boxing match. Abrahams was tough. He was down for counts in the first, second and fourth rounds but came back each time to show how he could absorb punishment. However the referee had no option but to award the fight to Belose. This was the twenty-first knockout by Belose in his last twenty-eight fights.

In the Vancouver Lacrosse League last evening the Indians scored something of an upset when they defeated the leading Barrards by 11-9 in a closely fought game.

A wet ground caused the postponement of regularly scheduled games in the city football league last evening.

CO-OPERATION! A MESSAGE TO THE PEOPLE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA...

Forest fires are the greatest obstacle to the management of our forest lands as a permanent source of employment for our citizens. It is not good business to spend money on forest improvements nor leave any part of a stand of trees uncut (to serve as a source of seed) unless we ensure that fire will not ravage the improvements or the uncut seed-trees. The Government needs your co-operation in limiting or eliminating the annual scourge of fire. In actual fact the "Forest Act" of British Columbia lists a number of things you, as a citizen, are required to do. These include reporting all forest fires you see; securing a permit to light any campfires near the forest during the months of May to September; and helping to fight any forest fires that you may run across or be asked to fight. Fighting a forest fire is dirty, exhausting, and sometimes dangerous work. It should, however, be regarded as a privilege by all right-thinking, able-bodied citizens because it is in the interests of every member of our population.

F. T. KENNEY, Minister of Lands and Forests.

ONE IN A MILLION—In this case two heads may not be better than one but they are certainly more unusual. The kitten with two heads was born to a cat owned by Mrs. Emily Mason, of Queens, N.Y. The two heads have four eyes, two noses, two mouths and only two ears. Experts say it happens once in a million births.

LIFE in this Prince Rupert

by BIDDEE JINKS

Less than one hundred miles southwest of Calgary, Alberta, the small dunes of the foothills begin and range by range increase their size as they reach back to touch the wide span of the Rocky Mountains.

Pushing these hills about to make its own path, there is a valley through which the soft breath of the chinook comes. And down its length races the high-walled waters of the Highwood River. Cold to the point of being icy the year round, it rains from great heights to pour through a land so lovely that some men dared to establish themselves in it long ago—facing the heavy snows of a long winter that meant complete isolation.

Today, a good road leads far into its depth, to the Ranger station and beyond. Tourists drive into it early in the day and return before nightfall marvelling at the scenery, but most of all perhaps at the herds of broad-backed, white-faced Herefords that leisurely move to either side of the road that they might pass.

Guy Weadicks' ranch is in the mouth of the valley. It is a dud, ranch; so that during summer months it is a most common, and amusing sight to see well-dressed riders leaving plenty of daylight between themselves and their mount as they jog in pursuit of their guide—and a day's pleasure.

Nearing the other end of the valley is another, the Eden Valley. Lying as if in the palm of nature's hand, it holds the home of Frazier Hunt. Here he returns to spend his summer and write. He seldom entertains or bothers with guests. One exception was the visit of Helen Keller who remained a whole summer 'felling,' as she said, the changing colors of mountain air and growth.

But between these two places is one unique in position but more so in that it bears a scar of the tragedy that strikes so often at pioneers. Usually, the years cover it with its own mantle, so that we who follow are prone to tread carelessly.

It is the Sullivan home. For generations it has nestled among poplars and balm trees at the foot of two hills. The road turns sharply at the bottom of one, passes through the yard, across Sullivan Creek and up the other hill.

It is not a high hill, just high enough to stand by itself to catch the wind and sun—and the benediction of snow-capped elegance not many miles hence. And on its peak, in a little enclosure, it bears three tiny crosses. They are inscribed rudely with the names of three children—the three Sullivan children who passed away all in the same day. None had reached the sixth year; but the dread diphtheria struck, and in 1886 there was no serum and no available doctor.

Each time I passed that lonely hill, I thought of it less as a graveyard. Imagining what place those babies held in the hearts of their parents, more significant by their very seclusion, it seemed more a place of buried dreams.

Strangely, as I visited Metlakatla on July 1 (that day of sunshine), I found myself thinking in the same strain. It was not because the churchyard held granite stones bearing similar dates, not because of a like texture of quietude and peace that surrounds Metlakatla with a beauty of its own. It was because of marks that are left of men's hopes.

Great houses that once faced the sea in live expectancy, are lifeless, their eyes turned glassy. The church looks magnificently down into and across the Metlakatla passage, but it too is silent and knee-deep in a growth that knows no discipline. Many boats were in the waters about, but they were passing by.

They did pass by, and departed as has the glory from Metlakatla. Few persons remember the old days. Mostly we catch a glimpse of it in the saddened tones of remaining members of native families. "My mother told me," they say. "My mother told me . . ."

Mr. B. T. Phillips and son Howard are building a new home in Massett. Mr. Howard Phillips was a visitor to Prince Rupert yesterday while the Cassiar was in port enroute from Queen Charlotte City to Massett.

BIBLE SCHOOL IS CONCLUDED

Two Hundred Parents View Display of Full Gospel Classes

The Bible School conducted by the Full Gospel Tabernacle in the I.O.D.E. Hall concluded last evening when some two hundred parents and children gathered for the graduation service with eighty children receiving their diplomas.

The hall was prettily decorated in pink and white streamers, bouquets of evergreens and a variety of garden flowers.

A very interesting program was enjoyed by all consisting of action choruses, memorized scripture verses and hymns.

Much interest was shown in the displayed handwork: of glass mottos, oil paintings, letter holders, notebooks and many other articles executed by the children.

The teachers assisting the supervisor, Mrs. N. Taylor were Mrs. A. Garten, Mrs. G. A. Cook, Mrs. Valderhaug, Mrs. Eytcheson, Mrs. G. W. Cook, Mrs. H. Toftager, Miss Loverna Linney, Miss Shirley Hudson and Rev. J. Linney. H. Freisen showed moving pictures.

Weather permitting, the Bible School picnic will be held this afternoon in McClymont Park.

Mr. Jack Findlay, acting Indian Agent at Massett, and Mrs. Findlay paid a visit to the city between boats yesterday while on their way from Queen Charlotte City to Massett.

ORANGE DAY CELEBRATION

July 12 Observed By Local L.O.B.A.

Following the regular lodge meeting Thursday evening, the Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association entertained friends and the members of the men's lodge at a social by way of celebrating July 12. Mrs. J. P. Moller, Worthy Mistress of the lodge, welcomed the guests and then turned the proceedings over to Mrs. Geo. Howe who kept things going in a lively manner from then on.

Much of the program was a repeat performance of numbers such as "The Beautiful Doll," "Seaside Beauties," and the "Butcher Boy," given at the annual banquet last month and which were so well received that they were requested again at this time.

Mrs. John McLeod, with her bagpipes, was the hit of the Rhythm Band. The guest artist of the evening was Joe Frankey, whose numbers were so much appreciated that the guests were reluctant to set him go. J. A. Teng was soloist for the evening, singing "Love's Old Sweet Song" and "Drihk to Me Only With Thine Eyes." He also sang in the "Beautiful Doll" number. William Hauser rendered selections on the violin and sang western songs accompanying himself on the guitar.

Mrs. J. R. Carr was pianist for the musical part of the program.

Refreshments were served after which games were played, the "Necking With An Orange" one causing much hilarity.

The committee was under the convensorship of Mrs. Frank Ellison.

Passengers for Massett arriving here on the Camosun Friday afternoon included J. Dennis, T. Douglas and Mr. and Mrs. Mercer. They sailed on the Cassiar at midnight.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Dodds and daughter Edith, left this afternoon to spend two to three weeks motoring and visiting in the interior.

Sockeye Pack Ahead This Year—
Area Three Landing Substantial

The coast canned salmon pack for the first six days of the 1947 season which opened on June 29 was substantially ahead of the 1946 pack for the same period, according to the weekly canned salmon bulletin issued by the Chief Supervisor of Fisheries at Vancouver, although this year's production is only slightly more than half that of the same period in 1945. Total pack of all types of salmon so far this season has been 24,297 cases, each weighing 48 pounds, while last year for the similar period it was 18,096 cases and in 1945, 40,968 cases. With the exception of 1945, however, this season has begun better than any since 1943.

Sockeye, of course, makes up the bulk of the pack so far, and District Two, whose headquarters are at Prince Rupert, is at present the only really active sockeye district on the coast. During the first six days of the season, District Two canneries accounted for 16,210 cases of the coast sockeye pack of 16,431 cases. Of this, the Skeena and Naas areas packed 8,436 cases and the other areas of the district, Butedale, Namu, Klentu, etc., accounted for 7,774 cases. In District One, so far, there has been only 186 cases of sockeye packed, while there have been a mere 35 in District Three.

The spring salmon pack so far this season is 510 cases, of which 432 have been packed on the Skeena. District Two also is responsible for the whole of the meagre steelhead pack of 95 cases, while the blueback pack of 2,919 cases came entirely from District One.

The coho pack so far has been 3,829 cases, of which 3,395 came from District One, with 174 being packed on the Skeena and 260 in southern areas of District Two. Of the 31 cases of pinks packed so far, 27 were packed on the Skeena, while the chum pack of 482 cases to date has been put up wholly in District Two canneries, 463 of them on the Skeena.

The salmon pack, all types, in the Skeena and Naas River areas for the first week of the season may forecast the trend for the rest of the season. In comparison with the same period of the earlier years it seems to be fairly good. 1947—9,571 cases; 1946—9,216 cases; 1945—22,513 cases; 1944—9,192 cases; 1943—6,663 cases; 1942—12,261.

Sockeye catches in the Smiths and Rivers Inlet areas were reported to be very good this week while the Naas was good and the Skeena fair. The Skeena fishermen have been averaging 20 to 30 fish daily with Wednesday setting what must be about the week's daily average of 24. On the Naas, daily averages have been a little better than 30 fish.

Sockeye purse seining in the Naas River area will open on July 20, the Fisheries Department announces. Sockeye seining in the Butedale and Grenville-Princeps areas already is open.

Friday was a busy day in the coastal trade at the C.N.R. wharf, with four boats docking during the day. Three were Union vessels and one C.P.R. The Catala, Capt. Ernest Sheppard, docked first at 7 o'clock in the morning, coming from Vancouver by way of the south Queen Charlotte Islands, followed by the Cassiar, Capt. Lorne Godfrey, which docked shortly before 10 o'clock from the cannery run from Vancouver. The Princess Norah, Capt. Peter Leslie, docked at 10 o'clock, sailing at 12:30 for Skagway and other Alaska ports carrying 107 passengers and 140 tons of freight. At 4:30 in the afternoon, the Camosun arrived, bound for Ketchikan, carrying 106 passengers, 35 of which were round trippers.

The provincial police launch P.M.L. 15 returned to port this week after spending the last few weeks in Vancouver undergoing annual overhaul. She carried her well known Skipper Reg Good and Engineer Tommy Moorehouse.

What's All This Talk of Higher Prices?

Everything Is Under Control

Though government controls have almost all been removed for some months, we are very proud to announce that our price average throughout our stores has not changed. Some prices have risen a little but, to offset these rises, other prices have gone down. AND BETTER NEWS STILL, ACTUAL QUALITY IS MUCH BETTER THAN BEFORE.
