A Commendable Move

MOVES REPORTED to be on foot in government quarters in Victoria to clean up on salacious types of magazines are to be commended and should meet with general approval...

The most of older people may not be particularly interested in such types of literature and probably are not aware of the sordid if not the indecent nature of much of it.

The fact is that youth, the reading of many of whom, unfortunately enough, is little supervised, are attracted by such literature and can be demoralized by it.

Import regulations will exclude some of such objectionable literature which comes from the United States. But it is not to be overlooked that there are certain publications in Eastern Canada...

BRITISH BY-ELECTIONS

THREE BY-ELECTIONS within two days in Great Britain do not change the possession of seats or the standing of parties.

Gravesend re-elected a Laborite but the majority of only 1,675 compared with the 7,056 in the general election of 1945.

There is even more significance in the trend when the Opposition decreases its adverse majority or increases its own majorities against a government that is still in power.

Quite obviously the average Britisher is definitely unhappy, and wants to say so. He doesn't like the austerity program, and he is not too certain whether the policies of the present government show any promise of leading him out of his present difficulties.

That the Attlee government, whatever their private thoughts, consider there is any challenge to their existing mandate, is highly improbable.

CEYLON INDEPENDENCE

THERE IS NO LACK of significance seen in the recent introduction of what will be known as the Ceylon Independence Bill which, once passed, changes the island into a fully responsible, self-governing member of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

As time goes on, the painless process of autonomy within the Empire continues.

PRINCE RUPERT YEARS AGO

(November 28, 1922) The Daily News looked forward with enthusiasm to the disillusionment of Mayor C. F. McHardy of Nelson, who had supported a move to have the 1923 annual convention of the Union of B. C. Municipalities held at Prince Rupert because "a trip among the icebergs would be worth taking."

(November 28, 1912) The homes at Terrace occupied by A. L. Yargeau and Robert Donald were destroyed by fire. A third house, occupied by W. F. Lindsay, owed its escape to the efforts of volunteer firemen.

A shipment of 150 ornamental trees for transplanting on certain boulevards and in McClymont Park arrived in the city. The shipment came from the city of Victoria Parks nursery.

(November 28, 1912) The Scotsmen of the city had a grand time at the annual St. Andrew's ball in the McIntyre Hall. Six of the 24 dances during the evening were purely Scottish.

T. D. Pattullo, candidate for mayor, announced his platform. He stated that he would work for the common good and that he would stand for the working man.

John Anderson, a well known resident of Stewart, passed through the city on his way home after spending some time in Calgary.

Miss Agnes Clifton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Clifton, arrived in the city on the Princess Beatrice from Vancouver and Winnipeg.

CHURCH

SATURDAY SERMON

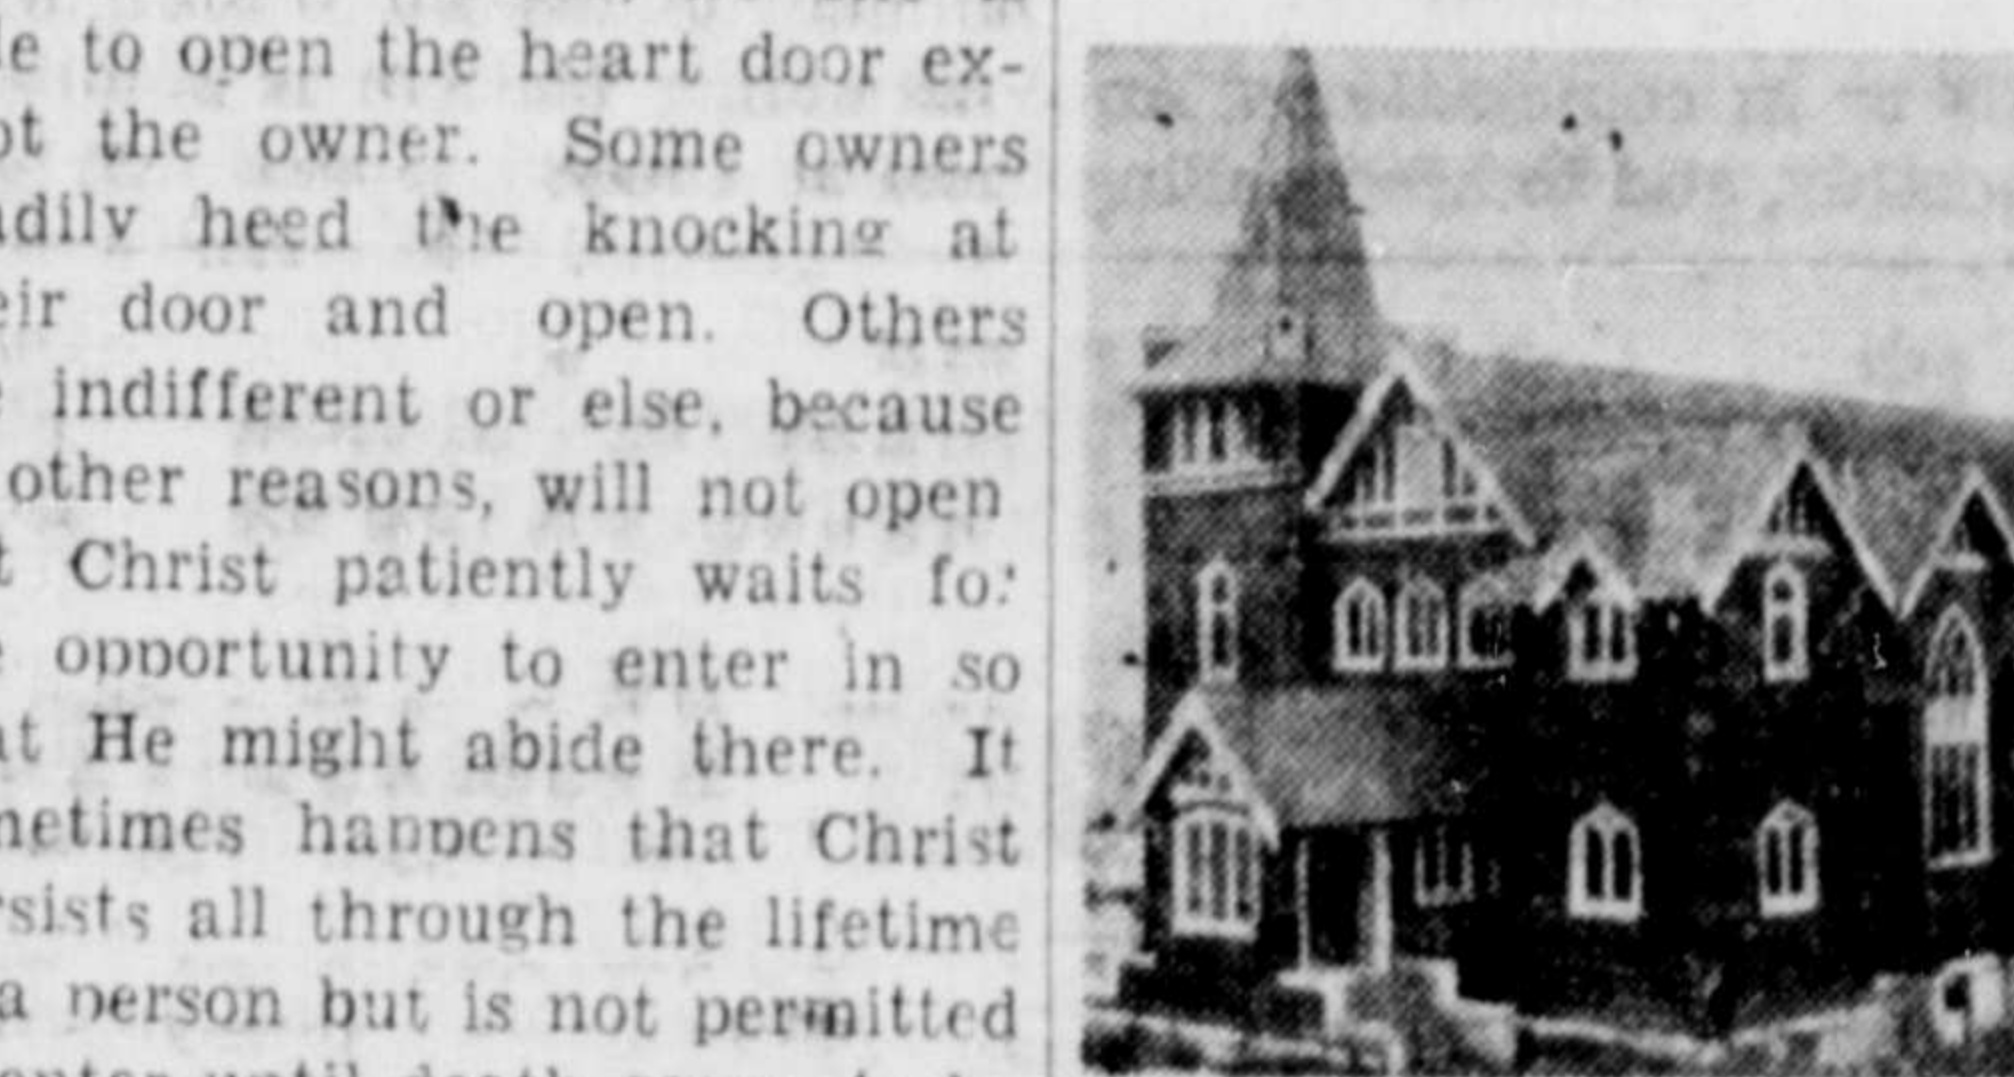

THE WAITING CHRIST

We are just about to enter the advent season of the Church Year. God's word greets us with the fact of the waiting Christ. During the many years from the time of Adam's sin, Christ waited until the fulness of time when He appeared as a little child, born of the Virgin Mary.

Human hearts are provided with the ability of keeping the Lord Jesus Christ out. They seek to have locks which only the owners can open. When Jesus Christ knocks, no one is able to open the heart door except the owner.

Among the reasons why men keep Christ waiting are lack of appreciation of Christ's purpose, indifference that results from carelessness and then the basic sin which besets us all. If all men knew that Christ wants to bestow upon them a spiritual blessing which in itself is priceless, many would readily open up their hearts to Him.

HOW CAN I ???
By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I make a filler for floor cracks?
A. Make a paste of two cups of flour, one tablespoon of alum, and three quarts of water. Soak pieces of newspaper in this solution and boil well, stirring constantly. Use a putty knife to fill in the cracks. After the paste has hardened, apply a stain, and the filled cracks will hardly be noticeable.

Q. How can I easily clean windows and mirrors?
A. Use a cloth dipped in two tablespoons of household ammonia to two quarts of water. This will also give the glass a polish.

Q. How can I test potatoes before buying a large quantity?
A. Cut a potato into halves and then press together. If juicy enough to stick together the potato is good.

the Borden Street School choir under the leadership of J. S. Wilson. Accompanied by Olive Strand at the piano, the choir sang three selections, "This Canada of Ours," "Begone Dull Care" and "Killarney." Following the choir the first age group, consisting of children 7, 8 and 9 years old, presented their talents and Gail Berg and Mardell Soljand captured the honors.

While the judges were making their selections from the first group of contestants, the Annunciation School choir, accompanied by Miss G. Merrill on the piano, sang "Ave Maria" and "Whistle, Mary, Whistle."

Three contestants were chosen by the judges to represent the 10 and 11 year old group in the finale. Edwin Vell for his performance on the piano-acordian, Eleanor Bagshaw for her solo "Danny Boy" and Annette Windle who sang "Always."

The Prince Rupert Civic Band then took the stage and, under direction of Peter Lien played three selections for the appreciative audience. Leading off with the march, "The Contemptibles," they then swung into the overture, "Electric Park." Their last number "Punjab," was a lively march.

Margaret Gibson singing "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and Bernice and Eleanor Hood, who sang a duet "Somewhere in the Night," were the winners in the 12 and 13 year old class.

The King Edward School Girl Singers, led by Miss Eleanor Moxley and accompanied by Mardell Soljand presented three numbers, "The Music Makers," "Row, Row Your Boat" and "The Slumber Song."

In the final group of contestants on the program Bob Scharff and Mollie Dixon were picked for the finals and went on to take first and second prize. Jimmy Reil entertained with selections on his accordian while the audience waited for the appearance of the finalists.

Judges were W. D. Smith M.L.A., L. M. Felsenthal and G. A. Hunter.

Armine Boas was chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the show. Harry Sheardown was stage manager and George Dibb had charge of public audition.

KNOW YOUR TREES

A coniferous tree occurring in the interior of the province, preferring land moist from springs, seepage or overflow. Of merchantable size at middle and lower elevations; stunted or depressed at timber line. Occupies plateau sites in southern interior, gradually approaching valley floors as you progress north. In dense stands, reaches height of from 80 to 135 feet and diameter from 18 to 36 inches. At high altitudes is often only 2 to 4 feet high.

Similar to White Spruce, the two may be cut together without distinguishing them. Suitable for pulp wood, cooperage, sounding boards in pianos, violins and normal lumber products.

British Columbia's Pulp and Paper Industry pays fourteen million dollars annually in wages.

LIFE in this Prince Rupert
by BIDDEE JINKS

Teaching is a profession that takes itself and its helpers nearly always into or near a firing line. In the most ordinary line of duty there is no one more eligible for criticism. Try something new and different and the squads open up with both barrels—"ma" and "pa". In spite of this irritant handicap, some daring souls have persevered until up-to-date schools laud a teacher who keeps youngsters on interested toes, whatever type of carrot they dangle from a string.

It seems to be a simple matter of using any small natural endowment, and then whatever else comes handy. One local teacher tells of using mice—nice fat, sleek, live mice—to teach his pupils arithmetic. He omitted fractions that year he says, which means that somewhere up in the Peace River district a gentle and wise old grandmother mouse may be teaching her progeny to add and subtract in the same simple language she heard in the low log shed.

"How many mice came out of that hole to your right, Nathaniel? Ten? Correct!"

After stamping his foot, making sure to hit one of the boards that aimed to cover the good clean sod—"Now... how many do you see? One? Right!" (That was Grandmother.)

Turning to another pupil the teacher smiled encouragement. "Sadie, one of those ten mice refused to run, but how many did? No, not eight. Remember 9 and 1 always makes ten."

Not all country districts, even in Peace River, are blessed with such aids to learning or so resourceful a teacher. Most of them have school boards however, men and women chosen, alack, on the basis of acreage or a fresh paint job on the farm buildings.

One such set-up comes easily to mind—the little white schoolhouse sitting a few feet off a dusty, rutted road. It was alone except for a small red barn and two yet smaller rectangular buildings strategically placed on each side of the latter. No "Boys" or "Girls" signs ever were needed for the elder always looked out for the younger. Anyway, instinct was strong.

It was cold in winter and hot in summer which no one noticed. Its one drawback had been ordained. It was built to be under the surveillance of a permanent member of the 'Board'. Several of her offspring strutted barefoot to school each morning—the girls in denim dresses, the boys in denim overalls—to tell somebody sometime during the day that "my mother is on the Board so ya'd better watch out."

Only one teacher didn't. She was a young thing, just turned nineteen, and at that age even a lady board member who never got within hailing distance of Grade 8 fails to be impressive. In her bright optimism she 'failed' Doris, a girl remarkably like her mother and little more than a moron. She carelessly gave out the reports at noon, forgetting no doubt that only one family lived near home.

In the country every drop of teaching time is extracted from a teacher. On the last day, school keeps until 3:30 p.m., and no earlier. That day was no exception so that the whole pop-eyed class-room saw the flurried entrance of an irate, influential mother, and got an indelible demonstration of woman's inhumanity to another woman. And heard their teacher, their lovely teacher, called a "dirty little chit." And saw her, finally, cry.

Every new term saw a new teacher in that district. One feature of the management remained, the Demon Death fearing also to take a hand.

The forming of the Parent-Teacher Association has brought about, by degrees, a feeling of united effort between school and home. After all, they are both working with the same tools. When it is done in full co-operation and friendliness, children are released from any NEWFOUNDLAND'S GIFT TO ELIZABETH—The second wedding gift of mink to Princess Elizabeth, which came from the people of Newfoundland, was made by the London firm of Links, whose head, Calman Links, took the patterns from Buckingham Palace for the Princess to choose the style in which the coat was fashioned. The skins, which had already been sliced up to ribbons by a knife—the correct way to start making up a mink coat—were machined into a stylish coat. The first mink gift was from Canada, this being made up in Montreal. Here two workers admire a number of skins which were used to make up the gift.

CAMERA CLUB ACCOMODATION

The Camera Club activities of which are becoming increasingly popular, has been provided with additional accomodation at the Civic Centre, the solarium room on the ground floor having been made available for combined use as a meeting place and dark room. The solarium equipment has been moved to another part of the building. The change adequately meets the requirements of the camera club. Lockers for the safe-keeping of equipment are provided.

DEPENDENT ON MAN
The moth of the silkworm completely lost its ability to survive and is dependent on man for survival.

Q. When a young girl has visited a friend for several days is it necessary that she write a "bread and butter" letter to her friend's mother?
A. Yes; a bread and butter letter should be sent to the mother as well as to the friend.
Q. What does the prefix 'a la' mean preceding many French phrases?
A. 'A la' means 'according to' or 'in the style of.'
Q. When a college man invites a girl to a college weekend, who should pay for her hotel accommodations and her meals while she is there?
A. The man should pay for these expenses.
Q. What reply should a girl make when a man thanks her for a dance?
A. She may reply, "I enjoyed it too," or "You are very welcome."

Mrs. A. J. Sheardown of Armstrong, who has been visiting in Vancouver and elsewhere down the coast for the past two months, arrived in the city Friday to be the guest here over the forthcoming Christmas and New Year holiday season of her sons, Allan, William and Harry Sheardown.

NEW SYMPHONY—Ira Dilworth, former chief executive for CBC in British Columbia and now general supervisor of CBC International Service at Montreal, is seen here with the young Canadian composer, Alexander Brott, right, as they examine the score of the latter's new symphonic suite, "From Sea To Sea." Mr. Brott's suite attempts to convey in symphonic form the life and culture of Canada's five main regions. The final movement describes British Columbia, ranging from the peaks of the Rockies to the primitive rhythms of the Indian tribes at the coast, and reaches its climax with a chorale which expresses firm belief in the unity of all the peoples of Canada.

Reminiscences and Reflections

Grand Trunk Pacific engineers came along. It was known there was another inlet here but nothing that could safely shelter a fleet let alone enter without all sorts of risks. Perhaps there were fly specks on a chart or hearsay yarns of dangers that never existed. When the facts were finally blazoned, there were skippers who did not object to admitting their astonishment.

A young bull, failing to leave the tracks in time, was killed some years ago in the Bulkley Valley country. The farmer brought suit and, in the hearing of the case Lin Bell, widely known and amiable railroador was called as a witness. "Did you see the bull?" inquired counsel. "I did sir." "Tell the court where you saw him." "The bull was coming out of the g-g-rass." "Coming out of the grass! Did you see him again, and if so, under what circumstances?" "The g-rass was coming out of the b-b-ull."

No Further Wreck Bodies Found—Canned Salmon Cleared Out of Skeena—Halibut Fishermen Are Worried

The Canadian Fisheries department patrol boat Sooke Post, which has been standing by the scene of the wreck of the American Army transport Clarkdale Victory since Wednesday afternoon, reported late Friday that a continued search of the coast around Hippa Island on the west side of the Queen Charlottes has failed to reveal any more survivors or bodies than were spotted early Wednesday by the United States Coastguard. Three survivors and the bodies of four crew men were removed from the wreck by the Coastguard and taken to Ketchikan Thursday while the Sooke Post, Capt. Charles Stewart, and another Coastguard vessel scoured the rough coast line. The search continued Friday without success. Weather on Thursday was fairly favorable for inshore work by the 60-foot boat although how long that condition would continue Capt. Stewart would not predict. Even in calm weather, the sea is rough. The Sooke Post expected to stand by at least until today. It patrolled an area about 15 miles north of the scene of the wreck, in the belief that any bodies which were in the sea would drift in a northerly direction with the prevailing current on the west coast of the Queen Charlottes. A land party, organized by Constable Fred Walker of the provincial police Queen Charlotte City detachment, failed to traverse the rough, heavily timbered country to Hippa Island. The area lacks trails. Distance from Queen Charlotte City to Hippa Island along the coast is about 54 miles.

Despite the fact that salmon trolling was re-opened in District Two a couple of weeks ago, there are, apparently, no fishermen taking advantage of it. The weather, of course, is so rough and the season is so late that few are interested. However, there are a few boats out regularly fishing shrimp around nearby islands, and there is some crab fishing going on, too. Catches are being sold on the local market.

42-day race to the Area Two banks this year has inspired the Deep Sea Fishermen's Union to take action to figure out a workable curtailment scheme for presentation to the International Fisheries Commission. This year, the halibut fishermen caught more fish in less time in Area Two than ever before in history. Prospect for next year is that, without some sort of control, the quota will be brought in before any fishermen can make a worthwhile number of trips.

To the regular halibut fishermen, who in past years have made their living at that type of fishery, it looks as though a fair opportunity to make a living is fast disappearing if some sort of curtailment scheme is not brought into effect soon. This year, despite the fact that about 200 American boats lay strike-bound at Seattle, Tacoma and Portland during the entire Area Two season, the quota period was shorter than ever before. If those 200 vessels join the Canadian fleet in 1948, they fear the season will not last a month.

Also, an increasing number of small boats, mostly trollers, have been fishing from camps, where they can spend a day on the grounds then make quick delivery of their catches. A good portion of the 1947 quota was caught this way.

Depletion of the pilchard fishery, which has kept many of the larger boats busy in the spring, may also turn them to halibut fishing next year.

A 42-foot troller-halibutter is being built at the Cow Bay Boat Works for Harold Childs, who for the last few years has been beam-trawling with Capt. Charles Haan on the Zenardi. The vessel, which is now being planked, is to have fir planking below the water line and cedar above. She will be powered by a 100 h.p. Buda engine.

Union steamer Catala, Capt. Ernest Sheppard, arriving later than had been at first reported, reached port at 5:45 this morning from Vancouver, Ocean Falls and numerous coastal waypoints. The vessel sailed later in the morning on her return south.

C.P.R. steamer Princess Louise, coming north in place of the Princess Adelaide, will arrive from Vancouver Monday afternoon to be the first vessel of her line to resume berthing at the government wharf following the wartime interruption during which C.P.R. ships docked at the C.N.R. wharf. The Princess Louise has been placed on the Vancouver-Ocean Falls-Prince Rupert route while the regular boat, Princess Adelaide, goes on the Vancouver-Victoria-Seattle run of the Princess Kathleen which had a stranding a few days ago in the fog at the entrance of Vancouver Harbor.

Dr. Neal Carter, formerly director of the Pacific Experimental Station at Prince Rupert and for the past seven years located in Vancouver, after spending six months in Japan where he made a survey of the Japanese fishing industry, found that, as a result of the war, the Japanese lost their former northern salmon and crab fishing grounds around Karafuto and the Kurile Islands as well as the use of shore canneries on the Kamchatka Peninsula. The fisheries that remain are today largely confined to Hokkaido, the northern main island of Japan proper.

A seventy five pound salmon, caught by troll off the west coast of Vancouver Island was recently bought by Edmunds & Walker Ltd. This is said to have been the largest salmon caught in B. C. waters in recent times by a troll fisherman.

An automatic fish hook baiting machine invented by the brothers John and David Andrist, is reported to be working smoothly. The claim is made that the device can take care of a hundred hooks a minute. Most fishermen bait their hooks the night before or even a day ahead, but this contrivance puts the bait in the water fresh, it is asserted.

Reported to be the largest

WINDSORS MAY VISIT ALBERTA RANCH — The Duke and Duchess of Windsor, shown aboard the liner Queen Mary, told reporters on their arrival in New York after a six months trip to Britain and France that they may visit the Duke's E. P. Ranch south of Calgary, Alta. The Duke termed his ranch a "great link with Canada" and it is a piece of property which "is an assurance I shall return there some day." The Windsors, who were omitted from the invitation list for the wedding of Princess Elizabeth and Lieut. Philip Mountbatten on November 20, declined to discuss the royal wedding, terming it "purely a personal and family matter."

NOTICE TO VETERANS INTERESTED IN TRAINING

If you are planning on taking vocational training under the Veterans Rehabilitation Act, you should apply immediately, as the right to apply, with very few exceptions, ends December 31, 1947. Applications may be made to the nearest district of the Department of Veterans Affairs in person or by mail, or to the Veterans' Officer at the nearest office of the National Employment Service.

The exceptions referred to above are veterans discharged subsequent to January 1, 1947, pensioners and veterans whose entry into training was delayed by the necessity for medical treatment under authority of the Department of Veterans Affairs.

Published under the authority of

C.P.R. steamer Princess Norah, serving Alaska, docked here at 2:30 Friday morning, delayed 10 hours in her southbound passage by fog in Wrangell Narrows. Capt. Graham O. Huges, veteran north coast skipper, halted his vessel at the narrows rather than risk in the winding, treacherous channel. The Norah stopped here two hours, then speeded toward Vancouver, hoping to make up at least part of the time she had lost.

The canneries on the Skeena River are now completely cleared of their 1947 packs of salmon, all of which has been sent to Vancouver. Vessels of the Frank Waterhouse line have made several trips to the canneries to load the packs for shipment south.

There has been no indication whatever of herring in the Prince Rupert area so far this fall. Some herring has been caught around Butedale but the quantity has been small. Sets by seiers have yielded only 10 to 12-ton catches and the herring are believed to be parts of a local population and not the migratory schools which make that type of fishery so profitable—on occasion.
