Deep Sea Crews Threaten To Strike Over Wages

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canada's Atlantic and Pacific ports, vital supply links for food to starving Europe, were threatened with striking today as officials of the Canadian Seamen's Union announced a strike vote would be taken "within a matter of days."

The earliest date possible for a tie-up of the west coast is November 15 when the Union's contract with seven provincial shipping firms expires.

C.S.U. president Harry Davis announced last night that a strike vote was taken Friday night following almost unanimous "approval of such action as stop work" meetings held in ports across Canada yesterday.

Involved in the threatened tie-up are some 6,000 union members and 150 deep-sea vessels, including 110 in eastern Canada.

Seamen walked off their ships Friday afternoon on all coasts for emergency meetings and ships at sea have been informed by wireless of the strike situation.

SATURDAY SERMON

THE MAN JUSTIFIED

(By REV. PAUL A. BARBER, Full Gospel Tabernacle)
"This man went down to his house justified." — Luke 18:14

My text is the statement of Jesus concerning the Publican in the parable of the Pharisee and the Publican. "These two men went up into the temple to pray; the one a Pharisee and the other a publican. The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himself, God, I thank thee that I am not as other men are, ex-tortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this publican. I fast twice in the week, I give tithes of all that I possess." Luke 18:10-12.

The sin of pride and self-righteousness is responsible perhaps more than any other sin for the refusal of mankind to accept God's way of salvation. The Pharisee is the classical example of men who endeavor to win the approval of Almighty God through their own efforts. In the first place he is given to self-exaltation, comparing himself to other men as being better than they, and secondly, he offers to God a sacrifice of good works.

Oh, that men would see themselves as God sees them. "The heart is deceitful above all things and desperately wicked: who can know it?" Jer. 17:10. We are even told that "the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God, neither can he know them." I Cor. 2:14. Indeed we are born in sin and shapen in iniquity; we are altogether become unprofitable; we are dead in trespasses and sins.

But God in His mercy has brought us salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ. It is a thing of grace, not of works; it is a gift, not a wage. The sinner can never merit eternal life, but he can accept it as God's free gift to the penitent heart. The publican realized this wonderful truth and came to the temple, not on the strength of his own goodness, go down to your house justify-but on the strength of God's mercy, and prayed the humble prayer, "God be merciful to me a sinner." He knew he was a sinner, he took his place before God as a sinner, and God had mercy on his soul, for in the words of our text, "he went down to his house justified." To be justified means to be acquitted of all guilt.

Both these men came to the Lord but only one was justified. Multitudes of people today are religious, like the Pharisee, but are as far away from God as any sinner can be. They are too proud to recognize themselves as sinners before God, in need of pardon; instead, they make their display of good works before the Lord and call themselves Christians. Of such God says, "All our righteousnesses are as filthy rags."

The publican went home that day justified in the sight of God, clothed upon with the righteousness of Christ. He had come naked, he went away clothed; he had come blind, he went away seeing; he had come a sinner, but he went away a saint. That is God's way of salvation and the glorious privilege of every man, woman and child. Whosoever will may come and take of the water of life freely. Like the publican, you too may

Marriage Failure

ON THE EVIDENCE, American marriage is a monumental failure, declares David L. Cohn, in The Reader's Digest for November. The casualties of American marriages are higher than those of our wars; two marriages in five now end in divorce and the trend is still upward. Marriage has been made almost meaningless by many who marry with the reservation that they will get rid of it if they don't like it.

Cohn's article, condensed from The Atlantic Monthly, examines American attitudes which, he believes, are largely responsible for the high divorce rate. We teach our young that to be married is to be automatically happy, but we reject the "austere truth" that every blessing has its price. Marriage is looked upon either as a relationship to be broken at will or as a finality. In the first case we do not take it seriously. In the second we see it falsely, for marriage is not a finality, Cohn contends, but a beginning. "Girls are brought up to look forward to marrying; but they may relax. Men marry to 'settle down.' But if marriage is to thrive it must be constantly renewed."

Holding that the "emotional and intellectual adolescence" of Americans helps to destroy marriage, Cohn states that the United States is the only country where the husband is not—and does not want to be—a man, but a boy. "He wants to be mothered, not wived. Perhaps that is why he so often calls his wife 'Mama,' his daughter 'Sister,' and his son 'Brother.' . . . In the first year his wife finds it pleasant to mother her boyish husband. But when children come she can better discharge her maternal impulses through them. Then babying her husband becomes tiresome and she yearns to live with a man."

A NOTABLE GAIN

AN OFFICIAL AUDIT conducted this week at the Daily News office by the Audit Bureau of Circulations showed that the paid circulation of this newspaper has gained more than ten percent during the past six months to reach the highest mark ever reached by any newspaper or other publication in the history of Prince Rupert, the inflated boom years of the war not excepted.

Of course, it is satisfactory for us to be able to offer to the city and district through this substantial circulation the most effective advertising medium the city has ever had, a newspaper which the people pay to read and thereby esteem the more.

It is equally satisfactory to observe the implication of a steadily growing population as indicated by this phenomenal growth in local newspaper patronage.

Just before the war, the paid circulation of the Daily News was about 1800. Today it is over 2800—a very significant gain of which we are both proud and gratified.

PRINCE RUPERT YEARS AGO

(October 26, 1912)
It was announced at a meeting of the Overseas Club, held in the office of F. A. Ellis, that a provincial council was to be established in British Columbia with A. Stowell as Prince Rupert delegate. The following new members were enrolled in the local club: H. A. Phipott, A. G. A. Vidler, H. J. Goodwin, R. L. Heathcote, and A. D. Golden.

The Prince Rupert, Capt. Barney Johnson, arrived from the south on her last week-end trip of the season. The steamer had a good record in 1912, making 25 trips with total lateness of but four hours.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. C. Brown returned to the city on the Prince Rupert. They were married a week previously in Vancouver, the bride having formerly been Miss Spencer, stenographer in Major G. E. Gibson's realty office.

(October 26, 1922)
It was suggested by the Man in the Moon that the civic authorities erect on Fulton Street, opposite the city hall, a life-sized statue of a deficit.

Jean Coux, better known as Catalina, a well known old packer and one of the most picturesque figures in the central interior, died in Hazelton hospital. Catalina was about 87 years old and had come to the country long before the railway.

A silver tea was held at the home of Mrs. Sam Massey, Summit Avenue by the Presbyterian Church Ladies Aid. Mrs. T.

COINCIDENCE IN MURPHIES

OTTAWA—At Camp Borden, there are two officers named Murphy in the 1st Armored Regiment, Royal Canadian Dragoons.

One is Lieut. J. G. Murphy. The other is Lieut. F. J. Murphy. Each was born June 23, 1918. They arrived in this world within a few hours of one another.

To try to lessen possible complications, they are known as "Murphy F. J." or "Murphy J. G." This helps a little. Yet strangers are frequently confused.

SAUCER, SAUCER, WHO HAD THEM?

LONDON—Flying saucers have nothing on the magic cups at the Lancaster cricket field. They "came from nowhere" and even multiplied! It appears that 14 teacups disappeared from the tea stall on the first day of the challenge cup cricket matches at Lancaster. Next day 50 cups were lost. A member of the committee was delegated to get them back and he cruised around the stands telling folks that "if I don't get the cups back the gates will be locked until I do." Somewhere, probably out of coat pockets and various other hiding places, the missing cups—plus 10 more—appeared like magic.

LETTERBOX

Editor,
Daily News:
Communist Satellites
I notice the editorial column of your paper is performing its duty in company with the Faris brothers of Vancouver and such eminent columnists as Dorothy Thompson, Drew Pearson and many others of great importance to themselves in keeping the fire of hate burning against Soviet Russia.

It would seem that this is being done with fervent hope of the obliteration of communism and the unabridged expansion of U. S. imperialism through the use of the atomic bomb plus the lives of millions of what are now the world's school children. Quite a worthy ambition from the point of view of Mammon.

The word "Russia Satellite" is in daily use by the press and radio. Now what about the satellites of the good old U. S. A. Does not our Dominion rank as Number One in that order?

Democracy is both a much used and abused word. But in the words of Patrick Henry—"eternal vigilance being the price of liberty"—I beseech my fellow citizens to take nothing for granted but to try and discover the motive behind every move being directed by the exclusive order of Big Business in the name of Democracy.

Thank you, Mr Editor

U.S. COUPLE REVISIT CITY

Among the thousands of Americans who were temporary residents of Prince Rupert during the war years that Japan was throwing her weight around on the Pacific Front, was Bob Hoban and his wife. Bob arrived early in the "occupation" period and was followed some time later by Mrs. Hoban. Bob served in the checking department of the United States Army Transport Service for three years until October 1945, when he was sent home and received his discharge in the same month.

Now the Hobans, Mr. and Mrs. and their eight-month-old daughter have left their home in Duluth, Minnesota, answering an insistent urge to visit the city that had been the parents' war home.

Bob isn't sure there is any outstanding reason for leaving the shores of Lake Michigan for the shores of Kaien Island but he has memories of the friendly spirit he encountered here and if his present plans work out satisfactorily, he intends to make a home for his family in Prince Rupert.

MOVIE STARS' MAIL AMUSING

Fans' Letters Reveal Something New and Different Every Day

(By ENID NEMY)
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD (CP) — You've never seen Myrtle Flynn's name on a theatre marquee and her picture doesn't appear in fan magazines but more letters pour into her office in a week than most people would get in three centuries. For Myrtle is in the fan mail department at a motion picture studio and with the help of five other girls handles an average of 10,000 letters a week.

She's been reading other people's mail for 15 years, but she hasn't forgotten her Canadian birth or her childhood spent in the Dominion. Born in Ottawa, she received most of her schooling in Vancouver and also lived in Calgary. Some day soon she hopes to visit her homeland.

She says her work is diversified and entertaining and "in all the years I've been in it, there's been something new and different every day."

She is thankful for one thing — she doesn't have to answer the letters. Both studios and stars rarely enter into correspondence with unknown admirers but they still send autographed pictures out for a small sum.

Myrtle says newcomers to the screen like looking over their mail because it's still a novelty and usually they don't get a great deal. But with old established players it's a different story — they couldn't handle their mail even if they wanted to.

There is a dose of variety in the letters received. Some ask for pictures, others for advice. Girls occasionally ask for clothes worn by the star in a certain picture. Other letters ask for money to lift a mortgage or pay for an operation.

Married Quietly At The Manse

The marriage of Lorne Vanetta, son of Mrs. Edna Vanetta of Abbotsford, and the late of Vanetta and Miss Joyce Lowrie of Abbotsford, and the late John and Mrs. A. U. Lowrie of Pitt Meadows, B. C., was solemnized at 7:30 last evening.

The ceremony was conducted in the manse of First United Church by Rev. R. A. Wilson in the presence of relatives and immediate friends. They were accompanied by the groom's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Vanetta from Sumas, Washington.

The bride, who looked charming wore floor length white satin, and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. Matron of honor wore aqua blue and carried a bouquet of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

I want to know

Would your home be mortgage free?

It's quite proper to have a mortgage on your home while you are alive and earning the money to meet the payments — but, if something should happen to you, would your wife and family be able to manage?

For nearly 80 years The Mutual Life of Canada has been helping Canadian families, through well-planned life insurance, to meet uncomfortable emergencies with a minimum of trouble.

You are invited to call our representative and let him show you how to take care of the mortgage in such an emergency.

LIFE in this Prince Rupert by BIDDEE JINKS

Of the 12 months in a year, October seems most individual. It is a personality, a pelting 31 days of change. Summer slowly disengages itself and backs far into what has already gone.

In October sales managers begin to count the weeks and prepare to start a slumbering people with "Shopping Days Until Christmas." And small boys count too: nickels and dimes and pennies and forthcoming allowances to buy firecrackers for a gala Halloween. For always, on the 31st day it happens—and October goes out literally with a bang.

SOCCER GAME IS TAME NOW

Alan Farquhar Should Know—Has Been Following Game Since 1867

VANCOUVER, (CP)—Soccer players of today just don't compare with those of yesterday in the opinion of 83-year-old Alan Farquhar of Grantham's Landing, who was here for the Dominion soccer finals between Vancouver St. Andrews and Winnipeg Scottish which the Salts won in two straight games.

Farquhar should know what he is talking about. He saw his first game in his native town of Dundee back in 1867 and has been following it ever since. He has seen Dominion finals and crucial series all over Canada, including the first game played in Canada on May 24, 1885.

He remarked incredulously after the first game here that the game was not good football. "I've never seen the likes of it in a final match."

He feels that the best teams ever produced in Canada were the famous New Westminster Royals and Nanaimo. He admitted the new Canadian champions were fine, "but not as good as the Royals or Nanaimo, yet."

FOR HEALTHIER NORTH WINNIPEG, (CP)—Talks and films designed to promote health education will be carried to remote settlements of Northern Manitoba between Churchill and The Pas by the Manitoba department of health and public welfare.

LICENCED ROBIN HOOD PORT ARTHUR, Ont., (CP)—Fined for not having a license when he shot a bear with his bow and arrow last year at Lake Nipigon, Ont., near here, archery enthusiast Walter J. Rawlings of Traverse City, Mich., bagged a bruin this year again, but with no comments from the law. He has a permit now.

MORE PRAIRIE MOVIES REGINA, (CP)—The Saskatchewan administrator of theatres and public halls reported recently 516 motion picture theatres were licensed in the province in 1946, compared to 421 in 1945.

A. Carry the patient into the open air. Apply strong ammonia to the nostrils. Rub the heart, legs and feet with dry mustard. Use artificial respiration. Give an enema of hot coffee. Send immediately for help.

Q. How can I remove rust spots from washables?
A. A remedy that does not often fail to remove rust spots is lemon juice and salt rubbed on the stains; then place the article in the sun.

Q. What is the best way to slice bread?
A. Bread sliced lengthwise of the loaf is considered much better than when it is sliced crosswise.

Chancellory Dreary Ruin

Fuehrer's Balcony Now Overlooks Grim Rubble, Not Cheering Horde

By ERIC BOURNE

BERLIN (Reuters)—Soviet army and German police guards have been withdrawn from the miserable rain and wind-haunted ruins of Hitler's former "Reichskanzlei" on the Wilhelmstrasse, and Germans now are venturing, with half-timid curiosity, into the building in any numbers for the first time.

Elderly couples, arm-in-arm, peer with scarce concealed awe at the towering walls and lofty ceilings stripped now of their rich mosaics and panelings and their massive, elaborate chandeliers. It is a "hangover" of awe lingering from former days or awe at the depths of their fuhrer's fall? If you ask them, they shrug their shoulders and murmur, "terrible, terrible," and shuffle on.

A gang of laborers still is working in the chancellery, removing what little is left of the precious marbles, metals and other building materials considered to be of use for reconstruction elsewhere. When their task is done, the whole building is scheduled for demolition.

Out in the chancellory gardens, weeds abound near the entrance to the air raid shelter, covering the tiny depression in which the bodies of Hitler and Eva Braun, wrapped in gasoline-soaked blankets, are supposed to have been burned after their deaths.

Best informed guide in the chancellery is an old man who worked there for two years under the Russians. He now is the solitary guard, a caretaker with really nothing but his own corner to care for.

EVEN HITLER'S BATH IS GONE

From Hitler's former private suite, behind Bismarck's one-time chancellory, everything that escaped destruction in the war has been looted or dismantled. The safes—18 in the past year, the old man said—the heating system, even the lavatories and

Briggs Prince Rupert-Alaska Freight Service Discontinued —Bobolink Is Complete Loss

The dream of making Prince Rupert the major embarkation port servicing southeastern Alaska—shared by many Alaskans as well as local people—apparently has folded. The conception, which is as old as Prince Rupert itself, received real impetus last June when Briggs Steamship Corporation put the motor vessel Southeastern into service. An announcement made Friday in Ketchikan states that the Southeastern is being withdrawn and probably will be sold.

Phillip Briggs, president of the company said that the Southeastern's Prince Rupert-Ketchikan-Juneau service is being withdrawn "indefinitely because of insufficient tonnage, lack of local interest and exorbitant operating costs."

Lack of "local interest" presumably means failure of Alaska business people to support the Briggs proposal to have commodities shipped in bond from St. Paul to Prince Rupert and transhipped to Alaska on the Southeastern. Obviously the key to the success of the operation was sustained cargo, which was lacking throughout the brief career of the Southeastern.

Theoretically, the plan was sound and economically advantageous to Alaska. By shipping commodities to Prince Rupert by rail with a short boat haul to Alaska, freight costs undoubtedly would have been cheaper than if they were routed via Seattle. However, the plan required a concerted move by Alaska business men to purchase in quantity in the mid-west, which in many cases would have involved the creation of new business contacts. The idea, apparently Hitler's special bath, all have been removed.

Yet, scattered everywhere over three spacious, lofty apartments, there still is a profusion of blank sheets of notepaper headed "Reichskanzlei," various forms, index cards, proposals for promotion and the filled-in pleas for Hitler's clemency by the wives and mothers of some of those thousands condemned by the so-called "people's" courts.

From the gardens, you can see the burned-out villa of Goebbels, with its narrow windows. Closer, is Hitler's "orangerie," also burned out.

Before you leave, the old caretaker will lead you on to the famous balcony from which Hitler accepted the ovations of the marching storm-troopers and fenzied Hitler youth. It is a sorry little balcony, from which today the eye roves over the Wilhelmplatz, where workmen are breaking up and removing some of the wreckage of the Third Reich.

But, in giant letters across the mass of Russian soldiers' names written at the entrance to the broad reception hall where Hitler received foreign diplomats, someone has scrawled: "Es lebe der fuhrer! ein Reich—ein Reich—ein fuhrer—sieg heil!" ("Long live the fuhrer; one Reich—one fuhrer! Hitler—victory").

failed to catch on in the territory.

In announcing that the service is being discontinued, Mr. Briggs said that the vessel may be used for charter work. It may also be sold. The vessel was a converted naval supply ship with twin screws powered by two diesel engines. It has a cargo capacity of about 400 tons.

The floating boat repair scow Bobolink, which was the major casualty of Thursday night's storm, is a complete loss, according to people who boarded her after she piled up on Bacon Point after breaking her mooring lines at the dry dock and drifting across the harbor.

The complicated and valuable machine shop which was part of the floating boat repair scow owned by Nelson Bros., probably can be salvaged, but the hull has been smashed so badly that it is worthless.

The Bobolink, a two-storey scow, is lodged on a rock pinnacle which gouged her bottom, leaving her half submerged at high tide. Only the upper storey is visible at the higher tide stages. She had just been recaulked and copper painted when the wind broke her lines and whipped her across the harbor and onto the rocks Tuesday night.

Incidentally, the wind which blew the scow across the harbor, might have saved it from serious damage had it blown harder at the proper time. Apparently the scow might have drifted into a sheltered cove on the north side of the harbor had the wind remained high at the crucial period. However, there came a lull as the Bobolink neared the rocks at Bacon Point and instead of being blown into sheltered water, it piled up on the exposed rocks.

The sailings of the ss Prince Rupert from Vancouver on Mondays, November 17, November 24, and December 1, will be cancelled to enable the vessel to undergo annual inspection.

She will resume her regular service again from Vancouver on Monday, December 8.

According to recent reports from Alaska, as well as in Washington, the sea otter, once almost extinct and still amongst the rarest of fur bearing animals are on the way back. They are "somewhere" in the Aleutians, and if protected need never again face extermination. The stories are confirmed by coast and geodetic survey parties. One officer declares he has counted as many as 100 in a single herd. However, unless there is great vigilance and rigid protection enforcement there is liable, some time, to be poaching. Of all the north coast fur bearing creatures, the sea otter rank among the most beautiful, useful and valuable. They were hunted almost to the point of extinction, before Federal laws prevented that.
