WERE BRITISH SERGEANTS HANGED? ACT CONDEMNED BY OFFICIAL JEWS

JERUSALEM () - There was some doubt today as to whether the Jewish underground had actually hanged two British sergeants who had been kidnapped July 12 and held as hostages in the event of the execution, as took place yesterday, of three Irgun Zvai Leumi members for complicity in the Acre jail delivery.

An underground communique today asserted that the two sergeants had been hanged in a forest near Natanya in reprisal for the execution of the three Irgun members.

Police at Tel Aviv were reported to have said that the bodies had been found there but this was later denied.

In London a Jewish Agency spokesman condemned the hanging by the underground, saying that execution without trial was contrary to all Jewish principles.

The chief rabbi in London said that such an execution was "too horrible for words."

LABOR PARTY EXPRESSES COMPLETE SATISFACTION

Military Commitments to Be Slashed-Miners Asked to Work Longer Hours-Stock Market Slumps

LONDON (CP) - Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee won a virtual vote of confidence from Labor Members of Parliament today after explaining the national crisis to them. A bulletin issued after the meeting said members had expressed "complete satisfaction of the party" with the Prime Minister's statement and added that "members assured him of the united support of the Parliamentary party in all measures which the government thought it necessary to take."

Speedy Air Mail Service

MITH THE INSTITUTION of air mail service VV between Prince Rupert and Vancouver this week, it is satisfactory to be assured by the Post Office that there will be a prompt and speedy dispatch and delivery of the mails in connection therewith. Mail will close about an hour before the plane leaves each week-day at noon and will be sorted into the boxes immediately following its arrival in late afternoon.

Meantime, it is to be hoped that postal authorities may see fit to take the necessary steps to bring about an early resumption of the good general postal delivery service to which we were so used and which, evidently through a recent cutting of staff, has become somewhat impaired. Representations with this end in view have already been made. There is no intention whatever of being critical of the overworked and courteous postal staff. As a matter of fact, the present situation is as unfair to the postal staff as it is to the public.

The postal service, which is a profitable business, should be kept in tune with expanding business needs. The very fact that it is monopolistic implies for it an even greater responsibility to the public than private enterprise which must either automatically expand or go out of business.

TOO MANY PARTIES

DOLITICAL OBSERVERS at Ottawa are carefully noting the reason for the confusion and unrest in so many countries of the Old Worldtoo many political parties. Japan has just passed through a government crisis where attempts to form a four-party government have failed. In Italy two former Premiers were unable to form a government and a third is now trying. France, whose greatest tragedy was caused by the existence impossible, is still having trouble. The reasons we hold elections is to form governments. The greatest measure of prosperity and happiness has come to those nations which have free parliaments with only two major political parties.

ALEC MUNRO

DRINCE RUPERT says good-bye today to the dean of local steamboat men, Alec Munro, chief engineer of the steamer Prince Rupert, who has plied these waters for thirty-seven years or more and who is making his farewell trip today. At the conclusion of this voyage, he goes ashore from his ship to go into retirement after many years of efficient and faithful service. It is safe to say that there is no better known and no more highly esteemed steamship officer than Mr. Munro. In his retirement we are regretfully reminded that the years are passing and that we are all growing older. It recalls to recollection many pleasant voyages we have made with the old school of coastal steamboaters, most of whom have now passed into retirement and not a few of whom have embarked on the long voyage which follows life.

Not only we but numerous other old friends will wish Mr. Munro. many more happy years in which to enjoy his retirement. When we travel again on his ship, we shall miss his cheery personality and shall recall with pleasant remembrance the many voyages we made with him through the years since we first met him as a young junior engineer.

Hotel Men Are Winners of Colorless Game

Savoy took their season's sixth baseball victory over the Moose team at Roosevelt Park last night, clouting the Fraternal Brothers into the semi-oblivion of a 9-2 defeat in a game that definitely could not be held up to aspiring youths as a model of crisp baseball.

It was definitely a league fixture with even the score on a bit of the routine side. From the fans' viewpoint it had the disadvantage of following Sunday's exciting inter-town double header and was therefore, something of an anti-cilmax.

The Moose record was darkened by six errors in nine innings which abetted pitcher Stu Hen-0 ry's contribution to the Savoy hitting tally. Henry allowed 16 hits, although his personal batting record was impeccable. The Moose hurler struck out seven batters.

Savoy pitcher Alex Bill, credited with the win, struck out six batters and allowed 10 hits.

Although not shiring too .875 brightly on the mound, Henry did .555 make a first rate showing at bat. .250 He marked up three hits in three times at bat, one a double. Fos-Thursday night's ladies' league | ter, of Savoy, hit four times in

What is said to be the largest school of tuna ever seen northern B.C. waters has been reported off the west coast of Vancouver Island. For the first time, the blue fin species has been seen. The B.C. fishing craft Rosalie III a few days ago unloaded 30,000 pounds at Seattle, its value being $7,500. The Rosalie's skipper is Capt. Norman Ryall. The disposal of the catch 4 BLADES is, to date, the top transaction in B.C.-caught tuna.

A year ago indignation was being expressed over the condi- p.m. tion of the road. Today that indignation is doubled and all and sundry are protesting vigorously. A mass petition is being gotten out seeking improvements.

The road, seemingly allowed to 11:00 a.m. go without attention whatsoever, is a mass of great holes. Mud is so deep when it rains that some motorists have been known to get out and take soundings before venturing forward.

There are two sawmills at the end of this "revenue road" on Babine Lake. It is also used extensively by the Fisheries Research Board which has a large project on Babine Lake and by the Forest Branch.
