Thursday night joined the province-wide fight of the trade union movement to have Bill 39 amended. Opening their campaign the members sent the following telegram to Premier John

"Prince Rupert local United Fishermen & Allied Workers' Union tonight passed resolution demanding fall session of the Legislature to revise Bill 39 in accordance with wishes of B.C. trade union movement. Reply."

Among features of the Bill to which the union objected were the government supervised strike vote, the big fines for union officers and members who engage in strike action, the inclusion of "employees' organizations" other than trade unions, that is "company unions," as a bargaining agent under the act, which were branded as "chains to bind the trade union movement in

The Union decided to circulate a petition among the citizens of Prince Rupert with the objective of obtaining 1000 signatures of people endorsing the demand for a fall session of the provincial law-makers. The following were appointed as a committee to prepare plans for the city-wide canvass which will be held next week: T. Dennis, E. S. Brett, R. L.

Russia and Peace

ME BELIVE, as Andrei Vishinsky says, that VV Russia wants peace and prosperity. We have no quarrel with that claim. We do say, however, that Russia is pursuing a very provocative and dangerous course, charging our side, on the one hand, with wanting to fight and knowing full well that we are as anxious for peace and prosperity as she is. Strikingly similarly to the talk of Adolf Hitler and the Nazis before World War II is that which is heard these days from Vishinsky and other Soviet spokesmen. They, like the Nazis did, talk of aggressive forces moving stealthily against Russia, threatening her with encirclement and war.

Vishinsky's fulminations notwithstanding, the record shows that Russia, while possibly not wanting war, is, through her intense selfishness, nationalism and generally obstructive tactics, threatening world peace and is endeavouring at least to manoeuvre the western powers which oppose her idealogy into a different and embarrassing position.

COASTAL FREIGHT INCREASE

THE ANNOUNCEMENT yesterday by coast steamship companies of an increase of thirty percent in freight rates came as a sudden shock to all local business people and it will reach into the pocket books of all residents with its tendency to further increase the rapidly advancing price level.

Possibly some advance, in these days of spiralling costs, might have been justified but a thirty percent increase seems a little drastic to say the least of it.

It is satisfactory to note that the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce moved quickly in making its protest. The action will receive full approbation of the people of Prince Rupert.

RETAILERS PLAY GAME

DRINCE RUPERT BAKERS, doubtless, could have had as good reason as those anywhere for taking immediate advantage of the price decontrol on bread and flour to boost their prices. They are to be congratulated on their forbearance in holding to the old level until after the new price level on flour hits them directly.

In fact, the food consumers of Prince Rupert can consider themselves fortunate that not only the bakers but the rank and file of retailers are refraining from increasing prices to the public as long as they possibly can—that is until their own stocks bought at the pre-decontrol levels are exhausted.

HAT'S the East Indian's way of saying Asphalt Shingles. But, here in British Columbia, most people simply call them "Duroid" Shingles, even though the odd time the name does not apply.

"Duroid" is an exclusive trade name, used only on shingles made by Sidney Roofing. These famous shingles are made with a base of the best quality felt. Thats why they last so long. That's why they're found on so many homes and have become so well-known for depend-
