Not a Rosy Picture

DEJECTION by Soviet Russia of the Marshall N Plan for economic reconstruction of Europe, there can be no doubt about it, constitutes a major deterioration of the international situation. It brings about a state of affairs, the seriousness of which to realistic thinkers cannot be ignored. The fact of the matter is that, if Soviet Russia and the Western Powers cannot be brought together in the eleventh hour on this very vital issue, the conflict of two political idealogies will have been precipitated into the very survival of western Europe from the actual standpoint of physical survival through supply of food. Whoever can deliver the food to these people must necessarily control them politically. The situation has now developed to that very point.

Russia, by means which we can hardly call anything else than aggression by duress, today controls the bread basket of Europe by seizure of this Adolf Hitler had hoped to win the war. Failure spelt his ultimate disaster. The strength of Russia's position, therefore, cannot be denied. That is why today the Soviet can persist in being aloof and unreceptive to any proposals which do not fit in with her own national and political aspirations, be they worthy or otherwise.

Unless Russian collaboration with the United States and Great Britain in meeting the problem of European rehabilitation can be obtained, and the chances of obtaining that co-operation seem to be dimming every day, the western world is faced with the necessity of feeding Europe or letting her succumb to the Soviet domination and aggression. It is not a rosy prospect for world peace.

THE BIG JOB STARTS

A LITTLE LESS than two months ago, leading A officials of the Celanese Corporation of America visited Prince Rupert and said that within two months actual work on the $15,000,000 collulose pulp plant at Port Edward might be expected. Saturday's highly gratifying announcement that British Columbia Bridge & Dredging Co. had been awarded the $400,000 contract for excavation of the site at Watson Island indicates that the progress of the project is going according to plan.

It was a brief and undetailed announcement but it is known that heavy machinery for the big job of rock work is already on the way. Soon hundreds of men with modern and fast-working equipment will be blasting out a bluff at the site and throwing the rock into the slough alongside. Prince Rupert's mighty industrial project, an undertaking which will mean a complete and permanent turning in the road of Prince Rupert's business and economic progress, will be under way.

The brief period between announcement of plan and actual commencement of the work is about over. Now we go ahead. Possibly, some of us even yet do not appreciate the great change all this will mean for the city of Prince Rupert which, except for the hectic boom of the recent war, has so far in its existence never had much more than a fairly even, leisurely although not unpleasant course of

BAFFLING QUESTIONS

Editor, Daily News:

Through the medium of your newspaper may I be privileged to thank Rev. Basil S. Prockter for his Saturday sermon. "Immortality of Animals," which I read with much interest in July 15, Daily News.

Incidentally, in Mr. Prockter's ministerial duties he will have gathered much for provocative thought. He will have been asked various and innumerable questions; many of which he has been able to answer readily-but surprised at none.

When my younger daughter asked me today: "If Adam and | Eve were the first people on earth-and they were whitethen why are there Chinese, etc.? I was not only surprised at the seemingly logical question. I didn't know the answer. VIOLET INGALLS.
