Vishinsky resumes Assault on United States

Charges U.S. Violated U.N. Charter in Italian Treaty

NEW YORK, (CP)—Andrei Vishinsky plunged back into his attack on the United States in the United Nations general assembly today after Secretary General Trygve Lie had appealed to the big powers to submerge their differences and turn to co-operation for peace.

Vishinsky charged that the United States had violated the U.N. charter by supporting an agenda proposal for revising the Italian peace treaty, and declared that State Secretary George Marshall had given an "incorrect picture" of the Soviet-American deadlock on Korean independence.

NEW YORK — Trouble was piled on trouble today as United Nations General Assembly faced possible ending by evening the flood of opening oratory which has resulted only in widening and deepening the gulf between Soviet Russia and her former allies.

The rapidly developing crisis between Russia and the Western Powers within the U.N. prompted Secretary-General Trygve Lie to draft an urgent appeal today for a supreme effort by the great nations to reconcile their differences.

There is widespread fear among U. N. diplomats that unless Moscow and Washington can be persuaded to find some grounds for common purpose, a showdown now developing may lead to actual break-up of the U. N. organization as at present constituted.

Lie told the Assembly: "The indispensable condition for peace is that nations with different social systems and different interests shall strive to live and to work together, side by side, in peace. Without such willingness to compromise no mechanism for maintenance of international peace and security however perfect, can be effective."

Slavs Kidnap Two Americans
TRIESTE, (CP)—United States army headquarters today demanded the return of an American officer and two men taken captive by Yugoslavs while on mounted patrol duty in the Trieste free territory frontier yesterday, and "forced across the border at gun point."

The men were patrolling near the sector where the Yugoslavs last week tried to force their way into free territory.

She was last seen on Sunday while en route from a playmate's home.

From the 12th to the 14th century, the city-state of Florence was one of the wealthiest communities in Europe.

TROOPS MOVE LONDON MEAT

LONDON, (CP)—The government called out troops again Monday to transport meat from Smithfield Market, London's largest meat distribution centre, crippled by a spreading wildcat strike of truck drivers.

Two hundred and fifty drivers joined 40 others who struck Saturday in sympathy for their fellow workers.

A spokesman for the meat transport organization—agents for the food ministry—said that 70 army trucks and 200 soldiers were called out.

MEAT STRIKE PARLEY SOUGHT

TORONTO, (CP)—A meeting of Toronto of provincial ministers of labor "to explore every possibility of reaching some agreement by which work can be resumed immediately in packing plants across Canada" has been suggested to premiers of seven provinces, Premier Drew said today.

He wired the suggestion in an effort to halt the week-old strike of 12,000 members of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO) which closed the plants of Swift Canadian Co., Burns and Co. and Canada Packers.

He suggested that the meeting be held in Toronto next Friday. The Manitoba government today agreed to take part in such discussions.

DODGERS GIVEN NATIONAL FLAG

ST. LOUIS, (CP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers were presented with the National League pennant Monday night when the St. Louis Cardinals were defeated by Chicago 6-3 in the second game of a double header before 8,000 shivering fans.

The Dodgers will meet the New York Yankees, winners of the American League pennant, for the World Series which starts September 30. Opening game will be held at Yankee Stadium, with later games at Ebbets Field, home of the beloved Bums.

FIRST COMEDY

The first comedy was performed in Athens about 550 B. C. on a movable scaffold.

AIRPLANES USED IN WAR AGAINST POLIO—With the poliomyelitis outbreak in North Delaware reaching epidemic proportions planes of the United States public health service took to the air to help combat the dread disease. The planes stand ready beside the barrels of DDT solution which will be sprayed by air to kill flies thought to be carriers of the disease.

Latest Florida Storm "Tame"

MIAMI, (CP)—Florida's newest tropical storm, tame compared with last week's disastrous blow, edged slowly inland from the west today, apparently carrying its greatest threat in copious rains, rather than destructive winds. Several Florida west coast cities reported hardly more than a breeze as the disturbance moved north-northeast.

BULGAR PEASANT LEADER HANGED

SOFIA, (CP)—Nikola Petkov, peasant leader and foe of the Communist party, was hanged early in Sofia's central prison on charges of plotting against Yugoslavia's Communist-controlled government. The 54-year-old leader of the opposition Agrarian Party denied the government's charge that he plotted a coup d'etat by armed force.

BOUQUETS TO ENGINEERS

The North Sea Canal in the Netherlands was one of the great engineering accomplishments of the 19th century.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Leding of Ketchikan, will leave to return to their home Wednesday night on the Prince Rupert after spending the last three weeks as guests of Mrs. Leding's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Giske, Park Avenue.

TRUSTEES FAVOR CAMERON REPORT

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS, (CP)—Members of the British Columbia School Trustees Association in annual convention here "approved in principle" Dr. Max Cameron's report on education finance.

However, delegates said the report should be amended to adjust for inequality between standard basis allowances for school costs and the real costs of school operation in districts or municipalities.

Vancouver Questions Freight Boost Cause

Steamship companies which raised their coastwise freight rates on Monday will be asked by the Vancouver Board of Trade to show why the increase was justified.

The Vancouver Board has set up a special committee to deal with the freight increase, which the companies claim was necessitated by increased operating costs.

The boost was equally as unpopular in Prince Rupert as it was in Vancouver, and protests have been made by the local Chamber of Commerce. Word of the Vancouver Board of Trade action was received here this morning by E. T. Applewhite, secretary of the local Chamber.

Strikers Gain Strategic Points

VICTORIA, (CP)—Striking members of the United Steel Workers of America gained two legal victories here Monday as Mr. Justice MacFarlane refused to grant an injunction to prohibit picketing of five Vancouver steel firms, and when a scheduled hearing by Acting Labor Minister Kenney on questions of fact in connection with the steel strike ran into a block here when he was served notice of motion of an injunction to restrain him from acting in place of Labor Minister George Pearson.

Press Hunt For Rapist

OWEN SOUND, Ont., (CP)—An Ontario provincial police inspector will join the hunt today for a man who raped and bludgeoned to death 11-year-old Betty Playford whose body was found Monday in a ditch half-a-mile from her home on the northeastern outskirts of the city. She was last seen on Sunday while en route from a playmate's home.

The 10,000-ton Northland Transportation Co. freighter Gromet Reefer, Capt. A. Parkes, docked at Prince Rupert Monday afternoon from Ketchikan to unload 14 carloads of frozen fish for rail shipment to the eastern United States.

Packers to Hold Out "Long Time"

MONTREAL, (CP)—Union organizer Jacques Casgrain of the United Packinghouse Workers of America said here that "we are prepared to hold out a long time" in referring to the meat workers in the nationwide meat strike which has entered its second week.

There was no immediate prospect for a back-to-work action by the 12,000 packers.

Meat to Canadians continues to dwindle.

The Story of Gold

EVERYONE IS INTERESTED in gold—so, let's talk about gold. They are talking about it in Prince Rupert and on Canadian stock exchanges where there was a rumor, later denied that the government had decided to pay a premium for its production.

It seems that once upon a time, as Babylonian mothers used to tell their puzzled children, it was all very simple. You had a piece of gold—some one admired it and gave you a hind quarter of beef for it, or the current version of the new hemline. It was as simple as that. If you had gold you could buy anything.

Let's go on—on to say 1914, when "gold standard" was an untarnished phrase standing for the utmost in national monetary respectability in the best of worlds. You could take five dollars or a pound sterling to the bank and get gold for it. And if a country bought more from another country than she sold to it, she paid off the difference in gold. Came the first world war and that matter of getting gold for your money went out the window.

It came to be regarded as good thinking that the value of a country's money lay in what it would buy within the country which issued it. That is, if it would buy your needs and reasonable luxuries, it wasn't necessary that you should be able to ask for gold. However, it still was considered that a country which bought more from another country than she sold to it, should pay the difference in gold, and that its real value was in the settling of these international balances. Then came the depression of the '30's. Britain and other countries went off the "gold standard" and the settling of international balances with gold also went out the window. That doesn't seem to have left much of the "gold standard." But the human race has an age-old confidence in gold. Part of this may be instinctive faith, part of it may be sound thinking. Whatever it is, there is a lot of the "standard" left in the old metal.

Which brings up the subject of the present most tangible reason for world respect for gold: the United States will pay $35 an ounce for it. Why the United States continues to do this is something for her treasury officials to explain. Perhaps she just thinks it is the sound thing to do, or perhaps she is horrified to think what would happen to the world economy, including her own, if she stopped buying it. For the United States willingness to buy gold is about the only universal yardstick of values left. If you wish to go to the trouble, you can value virtually anything in terms of gold at $35 an ounce.

The United States now holds nearly $22,000,000,000 worth of it, of which $12,500,000,000 is stored at Fort Knox, Kentucky.

When Foreign Secretary Bevin commented that this might be redistributed the United States was shocked. She had bought it and couldn't see any sense in redistributing it and then buying it back again. Perhaps Mr. Bevin meant something else.

The chief gold producers are South Africa, Canada and the United States herself, with Russia an unknown but interesting factor. Canada's production, beyond her internal needs, is sold to the United States to help settle her adverse trade balance with that country. Just now the crux of the gold problem is that no one has very much of it, except the United States (and possibly Russia), and the second world war wiped out or impoverished much of the productive power of the world.

The rest of the world is crying to the bins and factories of the Americans for goods. They certainly haven't gold with which to pay, and as yet they haven't the production to pay with goods. Britain aims to increase her production so she can pay with goods for what she buys. There is little talk of gold or the need of gold in this; it is regarded as very incidental as compared with production. Yet Britain is extremely loath to part with any of the gold reserves which she still retains; for, to repeat, there's a lot of the "standard" left in the old metal even if many violently disagree with the place it has had in world affairs.

Princess at House Opening

LONDON ©—Princess Elizabeth will make her first appearance of state at the opening of Parliament, when the King and Queen perform the ceremony during the last week in October. Only now that she is of age and heiress presumptive, has she a place in the official proceedings.

To save the eyes and avoid harmful glare, light should come over the shoulder and care should be taken not to cast the shadow of the body, or any part of it, on the work at hand authorities say.

ROTARY CLUB TO SPONSOR DRIVE TO AID BRITAIN

Prince Rupert will be asked to "adopt" the city of Poole, England next month when the local Rotary club embarks on a campaign to collect food and clothing for distribution in the East Dorset city of 60,000. Distribution of the food and clothing will be made through the Rotary Club of Poole, following a contact made there by Fred Scadden, a member of the local club who is now on his way back from a visit overseas. "The distribution will be done in a very gracious way," the secretary of the Poole Rotary club wrote P. H. Linzey, chairman of the drive in Prince Rupert.

No... and yes. He consulted his bank manager, who told him how the bank through personal loans, often helps people to meet just such situations. Arrangements were made, and Mary will take up nursing after all. In 1946 Canada's banks made over a million personal loans to Canadian men and women.

Land Dispute

reached before the end of the trial.

According to the agreement reached, the Crown will pay off the amount owing to the Soldiers' Land Settlement Board, including the interest accumulating since the date of the expropriation and present Mr. Little with a clear title to the land he has north of the Canadian National Railway, which amounts to 80 acres and is the site of his home. Mr. Little will also receive $2,000 dollars in cash, the difference between the amount owed to the Soldiers' Land Settlement Board and the $6,350 granted as the total compensation.

Originally the crown offered Mr. Little $3,200 for his land south of the railway but he is alleged to have refused the offer claiming his land was worth $20,000. Several unsuccessful attempts were later made to settle the case out of court.

In the evidence brought out during yesterday's hearing, cost of clearing land cannot be used as a basis for the land's value. Mr. Little's land was originally sold to him for $20 an acre and part of cleared at an estimated cost of $100 an acre.

William Robinson, witness for the plaintiff, estimated that in 1942 it cost $250 an acre to clear land, a figure based on government contracts let for the clearing of airfields. Yet in the evidence of G. T. McKay, settlement supervisor for the Soldiers' Land Act, his appraisal value of the cleared land in the disputed area of Mr. Little's farm was $40 an acre. For uncleared land he estimated the value to be $7 and acre.

There are professional standards in LIFE INSURANCE SELLING

Like a doctor or lawyer, the modern Life Insurance salesman ascertains the necessary facts before he gives advice. Having before him the picture of an individual's present and future responsibilities, he then recommends the insurance plans best adapted to meet those requirements.

Life insurance companies give their salesmen a thorough grounding in the principles and functions of Life Insurance. In addition, the Life Underwriters Association of Canada, with a membership of over 5,000 Life Insurance salesmen, has instituted a three year course of study for its members, which is establishing professional standards in life insurance selling. These studies lead to the designation "Chartered Life Underwriter" (C.L.U.).

As you can see from the text books illustrated, those who are qualified Life Insurance salesmen study a variety of subjects which enable them to assume the role of Life Insurance counsellor with a truly professional background.

A message from the Life Insurance Companies in Canada and their agents.

It is good citizenship to own LIFE INSURANCE

Skeena Pioneer, Trial Witness Here
Recalls River Trip in War Canoe

The first Trans-Canada train had just nicely made its first run to the western terminus and Vancouver was growing out of its knee pants. Prince Rupert was still just a man's name in the history books and in the whole north coast area of British Columbia there was only a scattering of white people.

That was in the year 1887 and it was in the fall of that year that a large war canoe, Halia built and capable of carrying two tons, pulled away from Father Duncan's settlement at Metlakatla and nosed its way east among the islands at the Skeena River mouth. On board the craft was Mrs. Tomlinson, wife of an independent missionary, her four daughters and young son Thomas Richard. Paddled by five natives, the party was headed for a new home in the Skeena Valley.

Today, Thomas Richard Tomlinson, who has spent almost 60 years farming and doing mission work at Cedarvale, is in Prince Rupert. He is here as a witness on an expropriation case that involves a piece of land that Thomas first saw in 1887 when he, along with his mother and sisters camped there on the way up the river. Thomas remembers the spot very well for the party had no matches that night and the stop was a cheerless one.

Thomas' father had originally arrived on the coast as a missionary for the Church Missionary Society but later became an independent and helped Father Duncan until he took his followers to Alaska. The elder Tomlinson and his oldest son remained in Metlakatla, attending to affairs of the family for a short time after the rest of the family had gone up the river.

The first winter in the interior was spent at the native village of Kitwanga but in early spring the Tomlinsons moved to land of their own which consisted of 380 unsurveyed acres. Thomas remembers that when they landed they were able to pack all their belongings on four hand sleds and with freight costing $50 a ton from Port Essington, it wasn't practical to have too much baggage.

Salmon Price Tie-Up Near

VANCOUVER. (C) — Demands for higher salmon prices continued Monday as fish company officials and representatives of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union prepare for negotiations to avert a tie-up.

Union spokesman William Rigby said that a fleet tie-up is possible unless the operators met the seiners' demands. The union rejected an offer of an average of .9c a pound for chums at a meeting Saturday.

this twentieth-century metal certainly Gets around!

IT GETS AROUND . . . THE WORLD

Every country in the world is today buying Canadian Aluminum produced at Arvida, Canada, home of the largest Aluminum smelter in the world. The "Alcan" ingot has become a major factor in world trade — and a valuable source of the foreign exchange which Canada needs to cover her own buying abroad.

aluminum in the north woods? Yes, even there this versatile metal makes itself useful in a dozen ways. That canoe is aluminum. So are the paddles. So is the rod, and the reel, and the tackle box. Non-rusting, light-as-a-feather aluminum is proving itself a natural for an ever-growing list of sports equipment; skis and skates and hockey sticks and bicycles . . .

And, of course, that's just one small part of the story. From industrial castings to objects of art, Canadian manufacturers are leading the way to stronger, lighter, more attractive articles of every-day use. Our own development and research is helping them to blaze new trails — places at their disposal a wealth of technical know-how. Today over six hundred Canadian companies are turning out products made with this miracle metal of the Twentieth Century.

CITY TO BUY B. C. BONDS

While idle money, unlike idle hands, cannot get into mischief, city council last night decided that it still might be a good idea to put its extra dollars to work. The work will be easy and profitable; all it has to do is draw interest.

For that reason, the aldermen fell into line with a suggestion by finance committee chairman T. N. Youngs that $50,000 of the $254,000 which the city at present has in the bank might as well be converted into interest-bearing bonds. According to current expectations, the $50,000 will not be needed this year.

Alderman Youngs suggested that the $50,000 be used to purchase Province of British Columbia bonds bearing 2 3/4 per cent interest at par value instead of lying in the bank. The bonds, he believed, could be readily converted back into cash should the city find a need for the money.

The other aldermen agreed readily to the idea when Alderman Black pointed out that it might be possible for the city to deposit the bonds in its sinking fund in exchange for cash when the time came, thus eliminating the necessity of having to sell them on the market.

Such a transaction would have to have the permission of the provincial government, City Clerk Thain declared.

EXPERIMENTAL FARMS SERVICE HAS BIG ROLE—Canada's experimental farms' service plays an important part in the life of the district in which they are located. Demonstrated at the Manyberries Alta., field day was a new type branding table which eliminates need for roping a calf and hauling it in to the branding fire. Calf simply walks down a chute, into the vertical table, which is then locked and tilted to a horizontal position. Branding inoculating, dehorning, etc., are then done with the calf held motionless. Range station boss Harry Hargrave claimed that calves were branded with no traces of stiffness the next day.

Russian Course Will Crumble Peace - Hideous Consequences' For the World of Today

NEW YORK, (CP)—Britain Monday warned the United Nations general assembly that if Russia insists on forcing its will upon the majority, it would destroy the organization and peace would "crumble and crash" with "hideous consequences."

Hector McNeil, British Minister of State, supported full examination of United States proposals for strengthening the organization and described as a "comedy piece" Russian delegate Vishinsky's speech accusing the Americans of war mongering.

He declared that if the United Nations is to succeed, its members must accept certain facts; no nation has a monopoly on truth; no nation is omniscient; no nation is omnipotent; no reasonable nation can expect at all times to have its view accepted by all other nations.

McNeil was particularly bitter when he referred to Vishinsky's attack upon Churchill, whom the Russian put in a comparable bracket with Hitler. McNeil said Churchill's struggle against Nazism "will compare with that of any Communist party in the world."

He blamed the present critical world situation largely on what he called Russia's unwillingness to co-operate and denied the charges that the Marshall plan for economic aid to Europe threatened the sovereignty of any country.

Illness of this room (Jardine's) could best be attributed to the habits of the tenant himself," the letter continued. "In the past eight months our department has received good co-operation from the proprietor of the Grandview Hotel, Mr. Robertson, in matters of sanitation."

"Sgt. Potterton reported that this room was cluttered and unkempt the day the death was reported but that on the same day he had inspected other rooms in the building and found them as clean as at present inspection."
