SENSATIONAL TURN IN RAILWAY INQUIRY

COMMONER TO ASSUME POST OF DIGNITY HELD FOR CENTURIES BY NOBILITY

Star Witness in P.G.E. Probe Admits Trying to Sell Copies Railway Documents for $5,000

Rossiter now in pay of Provincial Party at $250 a month produces check signed by Anderson and Whiteside

VICTORIA, March 13.—E. J. Rossiter, former railway department accountant, and star witness of the Provincial Party, admitted to Mr. Justice Gallihier in the Pacific Great Eastern probe that he is in the regular pay of the Provincial Party and that he had offered to sell copies of the government railway documents to the Conservative Party for $5,000. Rossiter said he told the Provincial Party leaders when he handed railway documents to them they would have to "find him a position until the election." This the Provincial Party had done, he added. He was being paid $250 a month now, he stated, which was $75 a month more than he had been receiving from the railway department. He produced one of his checks from the Provincial Party signed by Ashworth Anderson and A. M. Whiteside and drawn on the Union Bank.

SETBACK FOR GOVERNMENT

Macdonald Administration Gets Adverse Vote on Minor Question

LONDON, March 13.—The Macdonald Labor government received a setback in the House of Commons today when a proposal of J. R. Clynes, deputy leader of the House, for suspension of the 11 o'clock adjournment rule to discuss army estimates was defeated by a vote of 234 to 207. The government, however, does not consider the defeat a vital one.

Socialist Miner Represents King at Holyrood Palace for General Assembly of Church

LONDON, March 13. By the appointment of a commoner, John Brown, as Lord High Commissioner to the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland, which is pending, a socialist member of parliament and a former miner, whose wife was a mill girl, will succeed to the post proudly held by members of the Scottish nobility for the past 250 years.

It is the duty of the commissioner to act as representative of the King during the General Assembly. The commissioner has his residence in the famous Holyrood Palace and for a few weeks each year keeps Royal state there.

Brown says he intends to abate nothing of the ancient dignities. His wife will be styled "Her Grace."

House of Lords Would Place Tax on Betting in Britain but Government Not Agreeable

LONDON, March 13.—The House of Lords yesterday carried a motion on a vote of 57 to 15 to the effect that the taxation of betting is desirable and practicable.

Lord Newton in moving the resolution said there was no harm in betting in moderation and the system of licensing would diminish it.

Lord Arnold, under secretary for the colonies, agreed that betting had become a great evil. He disagreed that taxation would diminish betting suggesting that rather it would provide better facilities for it. It was not a business proposition for the government to set up a machine against strong moral opposition to obtain only about £3,500,000 a year from the proposed taxes.

FRANCE GETS A HUGE LOAN

NEW YORK, March 13.—The establishment of a banking credit of not less than $100,000,000 in favor of the Bank of France has been arranged by an American banking group headed by J. P. Morgan Co. The loan is fully secured by gold held in the vaults of the Bank of France and is to be used to stabilize French exchange and for other purposes.

The loan it is understood will run for not more than a year and the interest is low in view of the excellent security.

McBride Declares Himself in Favor Building Elevator at Prince Rupert by Government

Thomas G. McBride, member for Cariboo in the Dominion House of Commons, declares that he will support Prince Rupert's claim for recognition as a grain port and the building of an elevator here. In writing to Secretary John Blue of the Edmonton Board of Trade acknowledging receipt of a resolution passed by them recently urging the erection of an elevator here, Mr. McBride says:

"In reply to your letter of February 18, which referred to Prince Rupert as an outlet for grain from the prairies, would say that I fully appreciate the stand you are taking.

"While my interests personally are in Vancouver, I have always been of the opinion that Prince Rupert should get a share of the trade at least. Indeed, as I see it, Vancouver will have more than she can handle for many years to come. Why then, hold a seaport like Prince Rupert back?"

"I have taken up this question in Vancouver and a number of citizens there do not understand why I should not boost for Vancouver all the time, and while I know that Vancouver is destined to be one of the largest, if not the largest port, on the Pacific coast, I also know that there are other places along the coast that the sun shines on as well as Vancouver, and should get at least fair consideration.

"If the question of building an elevator comes up in the house during the coming session, which I expect it will, you may rest assured that it will have my support.

"THOS. G. McBRIDE."
Mr. McBride is a member of the Progressive group but has supported the Liberals on most occasions.

PRINCE RUPERT IS GOING TO VANCOUVER

Vesle! Will go to Yarrow for Bottom Repairs—Machinery Work at Vancouver

C.N.R. steamer Prince Rupert is to be taken south at the first of the week to complete overhaul. The vessel has been in dock here for the past week and her tailshafts have been drawn for inspection by Albert Farrow, steamboat inspector, who arrived from the south yesterday.

Owing to the fact that the local yards will be busy with the Canadian Scottish, repairs to the bottom of the Prince Rupert necessitated by a stranding near Ocean Falls last fall will be executed at Yarrow, Victoria. Certain engine parts are to be replaced and this will be done at Vancouver by company men. Woodwork painting will also be done there.

The Prince Rupert will remain at Vancouver until she resumes service in April.

Premier Macdonald Addresses Annual Meeting of British Parliamentary Association

LONDON, March 13.—"I suppose the British Empire was one of the fabrics which in some people's opinion would be the first to fall asunder on the advent of a Labor government," declared Premier Macdonald at the annual meeting of the Parliamentary Association. "The real fact is," the Premier continued, "that we are anxious to make the country so big and influential in the best sense of the term, that great Dominions will feel proud of being associated with us."

The Premier urged that only by constant personal contact could the various governments of the Empire maintain harmony.

DAILY EDITION Thursday, March 13, 1924.

Newspaper Amalgamations.

Newspaper amalgamations and deaths have been going on steadily during the past year. A very large number have disappeared throughout the continent since the beginning of 1923 and more yet will go. This is the day of big things. It is the day of big newspapers, and the small ones find it difficult to carry on. That has been the experience everywhere.

The latest paper to disappear is the Vancouver World. It has struggled for some years against tremendous odds under various managements but none have been able to make it a success. Eventually, in the face of such severe competition, it had to go under. By amalgamating with the morning paper and being published as an evening edition a good deal of expense will be spared but yet there is some doubt if it will be a permanent success. Possibly it may. In a city the size of Vancouver there is room for just two daily papers, one published in the morning and the other in the evening. Seattle has three but even there with a large adjacent territory it has been difficult to make them all a success.

Public Interest Seems Dying in P.G.E. Investigation.

With a big convention and much loud talk and by means of free papers sent out to electors at enormous expense, the leaders of the Provincial Party sought to convey the idea that there is something crooked about the way the Oliver Government is carrying on the business of the country. Interest in the investigation was dying a slow death until today it revives to find that the star witness of the Provincial Party is being paid for his services in working up the case against the government and that he offered to sell the evidence he thought he had for $5,000. His salary today from the General McRae party is $75 a month more than he was formerly getting from the government. Also he admitted that he had been promised a permanent position if the party was returned to power at the next election.

The investigation has proved a boomerang. It has struck General McRae and his followers in the face. Apparently Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper had already retired from the investigation in disgust and now it looks likely that there will be a still greater scattering of the faithful.

Party Patronage Of The Worst Kind.

There has been a lot of talk about party patronage and the Oliver Government has often been blamed for appointing its friends to vacant positions. There is, however, no record of the Liberal or any other party heretofore bargaining with a discharged public servant to pay him for his evidence against his former employers by feeding him at the public trough and in the meantime paying him a fat salary from party funds put up by millionaires and corporations. It has been proved, and the fact is well known, that there are party funds for there must be under the present system. It costs money to run an election. There is no objection to the use of money in the hiring of halls for meetings, providing travelling expenses for organizers, and carrying on the legitimate work of placing the views of the party before the electors. It is done by every party and must be done if the electors are to know what they are voting for. That is quite a different thing from purchasing witnesses to give evidence against their former employers. If the McRae millions and the funds of the big interests are to be used in that unscrupulous manner today before the election, what sort of an orgy is to be expected should these hungry hangers on come to be fed from the public trough to pay them for their services? It is difficult to imagine a more despicable act than that of the discharged employee who tries to get back at his former employers by selling the information he gained when employed. A man of that kind would be a disgrace to Tammany Hall. Happily British Columbia has few of them.

GYROS HEAR MR. BRANKIN

Superintendent of Neglected Children for B.C. Tells of Work Being Carried on

That honesty should not be considered as a policy but rather as a principle which should be rigidly adhered to and that character, finding its elementary factor in desire for good or evil, rules destiny, are teachings followed at the provincial industrial school for boys at Essondale, according to D. B. Brankin, superintendent of that institution and also superintendent for British Columbia of neglected children, who addressed the Gyro Club briefly last evening. Stating that every child brought into the world was entitled to good birth, proper physical care and moral protection, Mr. Brankin stated that, if circumstances prevented those responsible for the child giving the last two mentioned of these necessities, it was up to the state to do so.

Making Citizens

Mr. Brankin went on to outline the work carried out at the industrial school and the methods of conducting it. The work done in this respect in British Columbia, he stated, was excelled by no other province in the Dominion. The old ideas associated with industrial schools and reformatories had long since been abandoned. While the industrial school had certain of the conditions of a prison, the purpose actualizing those in charge was to ascertain the cause rather than the effect of youthful misdemeanors and seek to remedy them converting the inmates into useful and upright citizens of whom the nation might be proud. It was a poor home that did not offer conditions for the child better than the best conducted industrial schools or reformatories, but such institutions were necessary and were doing a good work.

Enunciating the ideal principles employed in dealing with the boys, who were often more misunderstood than criminal, Mr. Brankin urged that the Gyro Club do its share in inculcating those principles even to children who had not become wayward. Example, he declared, was one of the most effective methods.

The speaker also referred to the case of neglected half-breed children, of whom there were many in this district. Here was a problem for which no provision had yet been made. He offered the question for the consideration of the Gyro Club.

To Stave Concert

Business of the Gyro Club last night included matters pertaining to the playground program, the playground concert that is to be put on early in May and an appeal from the hospital for assistance in its forthcoming campaign for membership. The playground committee is awaiting receipt of permission from the provincial government to use the Market Square as a venue for boys baseball games before proceeding further. Further campaign reports showed the fund to be growing steadily. Good progress was reported by S. K. Campbell for the concert committee. School children and teachers will contribute largely to an attractive program that is being arranged. The club has expressed its willingness to assist in the hospital campaign when formally called upon.

Charles E. Starr, manager of the Pacific Fisheries, has been elected a member of the club.

Provincial Constable R. Gibson of Port Essington returned from Vancouver on the Prince George yesterday afternoon. He went south in charge of prisoners.

Well Known Child Star to be Seen at the Westholve Friday and Saturday

Who is Baby Peggy?

She was just offered a five-million-dollar contract for her acting for the next three years. A king's ransom at the very least. MANSON TELLS OF INTERIOR

Extols Terrace Fruit, and Farming Valleys of Other Districts

In the address to the Laurier Club at Vancouver, part of which has been previously published, Hon. A. M. Manson told the people of Vancouver about the interior valleys of Central British Columbia. He said:

"But mineral wealth is by no means all. Stretching eastward from Terrace to the Rockies is valley after valley of as fertile land as lies out of doors. Terrace apples have gained a place on your menu cards. Beautiful apples of delicious flavor. Terrace potatoes and Terrace berries are the equal of the best the province produces. The population of Terrace has been growing apace, by reason of the agricultural and timber development of the Kitsumkalum Valley.

"Eastward one passes through the Hazelton country, the Valley of the Kispiox, up the Bulkley through the Lakes country and down the Nechako to Prince George and the Valley of the Fraser. Seven or eight years ago a mere handful of railway construction farmers inhabited this vast area; today several thousand excellent farmers are breaking the soil and adding with great rapidity to the agricultural production of the province—perhaps not amassing great wealth, but on the whole doing as well or better than the average farmer of the West—farming in summer, timber making and logging in the winter.

Offer Homes

"It is not to be said that it is a land flowing with milk and honey, though there is lots of both, but it cannot be denied that these valleys offer satisfactory homes for at least a hundred thousand families. The climate is not severe. There is an occasional dip of the mercury to exhilarate our settlers, but there are none of those bitter winds and blizzards that prove so trying to our prairie people. The winters are delightfully bright and the days of the summer are long and hot. Summer frosts are becoming a recollection rather than a fact. The tilling of the soil takes care of this. One remembers that the centre-post of the province is just outside of Vanderhoof in the new riding of Omineca, and one remembers, too, that mountains can only be seen from Vanderhoof on the brightest days, and then only a few.

Immigration

"At Vanderhoof we have a creamery, launched under government auspices in 1920, with a rapidly growing production. In 1922 its production, 18 months after its inception, was 34,496 pounds. With the influx of settlers under our present immigration policy, federal and provin-

WOULD DEVELOP THE FISHERIES OF B.C.

Campaign in South to Use Products of This Coast View to Extensions

VICTORIA, March 13.—A strong argument for the development of British Columbia's fish industry is made by A. A. Milledge, manager of the British Columbia Products Bureau in Vancouver, with which the Victoria Chamber of Commerce is co-operating in a home products campaign.

"Every person in this province should insist upon being supplied with British Columbia fish," he says. "By so doing, citizens will expand the present industries, give employment to more workmen, consequently increasing the population and encouraging new settlers to provide the necessities of life for the workers in the factories. It will thus be readily seen that by developing the fishing industry the other industries of the province will in turn receive added impetus, and the movement will result in general prosperity for all British Columbia.

Suitable Coast

"The conformation of the coast of British Columbia is especially suitable for fisheries; the shore line is made irregular by many deep inlets and estuaries, and from the coast a feeding ground for fish in the shape of a sea ledge runs out from fifty to 100 miles before dropping away to ocean depths. The Pacific Ocean and the large rivers along its 7,000 miles of coastline abound in fish of all kinds, of which the most noted is salmon of various varieties, bred in British Columbia rivers, matured in the Pacific, and which regularly return after four years to the parent streams in immense numbers to spawn.

Leads Dominion

"For the eleventh successive year, British Columbia has produced more fish than any other province in the Dominion of Canada; the fishery products last year having a total value of $18,931,100 or fifty-one per cent of the total fishery products of the Dominion. In 1903 these products were valued at $2,748,365, so it will be seen that the industry has been steadily growing.

"The total value of each principal species of fish taken in British Columbia for the last year is as follows: Salmon, $13,130,000; halibut, $3,948,000; herring, $861,000; cod, $226,000; black cod, $121,000; pilehards, $161,000; crabs, $61,000; clams, $68,000; oysters, $33,000; miscellaneous, $395,000.

EDMONTON ASKS HER DEBENTURE HOLDERS TO REDUCE THE INTEREST

Complaint Made at Public Meeting that Civic Taxes Too High; Government Aid Asked

EDMONTON, March 13.—At a mass meeting held in Memorial Hall a resolution was carried, moved by Dr. G. Hope, that the Provincial Government withdraw from the municipal field of taxation by discontinuing to impose a supplementary revenue tax; also that the Provincial Government be asked to divide with the municipalities certain other revenues to which the latter appear to be entitled.

A second motion, by Mr. J. Lakeman, who spoke from the audience, was also adopted. This provided that in view of the declining standard of living in Edmonton, the holders of city debentures be approached with a view to their accepting a ten per cent reduction in their dividends.

The speakers which included practically all the members of council, the commissioners, Mr. W. Owens, Mr. G. Tobin, M.L.A., (Leduc), and other members from the audience, were all unanimous on one point—that the taxes imposed on the citizens of Edmonton were too high. Otherwise the speeches varied considerably, many of which drifted from the point of immediate taxation to world-wide conditions affecting finance in general.

A moving picture film "The Stream of Life," of a religious nature, was exhibited last evening in St. Andrew's Anglican Church by Rev. J. Gillett before he returned to his headquarters in Massett. There was a good attendance and a collection was taken up for Mr. Gillett's work.

You need a PILOT

EVERY good ship, nearing port, takes on a pilot. Usually, the law requires it. The pilot knows the channel. With his capable hands at the helm, the vessel is safe. Without him, there is danger of the shoals.

When you set sail on a shopping tour you, too, should have a pilot. Everybody needs one. And well-informed shoppers always have one—ADVERTISING.

Advertising keeps you off the rocks of extravagance and waste. It takes you straight into the port of economy. It tells you plainly where to go for what you want. It shows you how to save steps—and money—and time. By watching it carefully, each day, you are able to buy to best advantage.

Often, the advertisements will keep you from making an unwise purchase by pointing out just why one article suits better than another. It points out for you the pick of the country's market and the selection of the particular kind, shape, size and color that best suits your taste and fits your pocket-book.

Whether you want food, clothing, furniture or a toy for the children, the advertisements can help you.
