BRITISH AIRMAN ARRIVES DURING NIGHT

MAJOR MARTIN'S PLANE IS RECOVERED AND CONTROVERSY ARISES OVER IT

Squadron Leader MacLaren Here From Big Adventure in North Where Nearly Lost His Life Behring Isd.

Splendid Work of Engine Made It Possible For Them To Reach Shore After Plane Wrecked

NOT LIKELY MAKE ANOTHER ATTEMPT

Party Was Well Treated By Russians At Petropavlovsk; Misfortune Was Due To Fog.

His Majesty's Canadian Ship Thiepval, carrying Squadron Leader A. S. C. Stuart MacLaren and his officers of the ill-fated British round-the-world flight, arrived in port from Dutch Harbor this morning at 2 o'clock and will remain here until Monday evening. The flyers will proceed south on the vessel to Vancouver and will return to England over the Canadian Pacific Railway. Squadron Leader MacLaren, commander; Flying Officer William Plenderleith, pilot; and Col. L. E. Broome, advance officer of the flight, are in good health and spirits although, naturally, keen disappointment is voiced by them at their failure through no fault of their own. Sergeant R. Andrews, mechanic, is still a sick man suffering from malaria following a slight sun stroke in Asia. It will be necessary for him to enter hospital at Vancouver before embarking on the overland trip home from Vancouver.

Plane on Deck
Battered down on the port side of the after deck of the Thiepval is the wreck of the Vickers culture amphibian airplane and beside it the 450 h. p. Napier Lyon engine. This is given evidence of the crash in the fog near Nikolski, Behring Island, which brought to an end the hopes of the British airmen to be the first round-the-world flyers. The machine and engine will be left at Jericho Beach pending further instructions.

Asked whether he expected to make another attempt to fly around the world next year, Squadron Leader MacLaren stated that he was not prepared to give a definite answer at this time. This would depend entirely upon circumstances arising in the meantime but he was inclined to think that he would not try again. If the American flyers are successful this year, there will not be the same incentive for any nation to embark on the project next year.

Crowded Ship
The Thiepval is a crowded little ship having on board besides her crew of 26, thirteen passengers including four members of the flight party, two Japanese liaison officers who were unable

MOND ELECTED IN CARMARTHEN

Former Member of Lloyd George Cabinet Gets Big Majority In Welsh Constituency

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Sir Alfred Mond, minister of health in the Lloyd George cabinet, was elected a member of the House of Commons in the constituency of West Carmarthen, Wales, yesterday, beating both Labor and Conservative candidates. The vote was: Sir Alfred Mond 12,760 Rev. E. Towns, Labor 8,351 Sir Alfred Stephens, Con. 7,896 to return to Tokio from the Kuriles and came through on the Thiepval to return across the Pacific via Vancouver; G. Valiquette, of Ottawa, moving picture operator; H. Laing of Gomox, Dominion government ornithologist; Capt. A. Freeman of Vancouver, pilot, and a steward who boarded the vessel at Petropavlovsk.

Due to Fog
When Squadron Leader MacLaren's machine crashed at Nikolski, the commander himself, Flying Officer Plenderleith and Col. Broome were aboard. Sergeant Andrews was lying ill aboard the Thiepval to which he was removed at Petropavlovsk. The accident was entirely due to the fog which was well nigh impenetrable. Had the flyers arrived at the scene half an hour later, they would probably have got through successfully as the air cleared. On hitting the water, the pontoons were broken and later the right wing was smashed on the choppy surface. The only thing to do, however, was to carry on, no land being in sight and no one knowing definitely where they were. With the pontoons pierced and the wing broken, there was imminent danger of everybody being lost if the machine capsized as it was threatening to do. At last land was seen about two miles off, and, by taxing, the damaged machine was beached under the cliffs of Behring Island. The flyers scrambled ashore near Nikolski and later salvaged the machine. Only they themselves realize what a close call they had from certain death. Squadron Leader MacLaren emphasizes the fact that the engine had been functioning perfectly and regrets indeed that misunderstanding caused it to have been understood otherwise. If the engine had not kept on, the lives of the party would certainly have been lost.

Wonderful Welcome
Despite the fact that their

EXCURSION TO BULKLEY FAIRS

Arrangements Being Made by Board of Trade For Week's Outing to Interior

The board of trade has arranged for a big excursion to the Bulkley Valley, the whole tour to occupy a week, the party to go and come on special cars provided by the railway company. All this is subject to a sufficient number deciding to make the trip. In any event a number of members of the board of trade will go.

The excursion is a pretentious one including visits to the Telkwa barbecue and the Smithers fair, and also covering a trip to the Hudson Bay glacier and a big drive through the lakes country. The arrangements are in the hands of a board of trade committee which is now making reservations for the trip and completing plans for the big event.

DRINK PALACE OFF NEW YORK

CHANGES POSITION
Speed Boats and Yachts Ply Between Liner and Shore and Parties Aboard

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Anchored fifteen miles off Fire Island, says an article in the Tribune, is a seventeen thousand ton liner flying the British flag converted into a palatial floating cabaret. Any kind of drink is obtainable on her.

The silverware and linen aboard the steamer is stamped with the name of the former German liner Frederick der Grosse but the name of the vessel is painted out.

The liner is the scene of nightly parties given by wealthy patrons. Speed boats and yachts ply between the liner and shore. The vessel frequently shifts her position and only those known to the captain know where she will be found at all times.

All classes of exhibitors are urged to make their entries for the exhibition now.

MacLaren Thinks Zanni Will Have Hard Time Making Round World Flight This Time of Year

Regarding the attempt of Major Zanni, the Argentinean airman to fly around the world, Squadron Leader MacLaren said this morning that whether or not he would be successful would depend largely on the type of machine he was using. Stating that Zanni had picked the worst time of the year to fly from Calcutta eastwards, Squadron Leader MacLaren predicted hard fights against weather conditions for the Argentinean. There would be the monsoons to contend with before reaching Tokio. "From what I know after Tokio, I think the crossing of the North Pacific at this time of the year is impracticable. Such a flight is practically impossible without government assistance or unlimited financial resources."

A DIRECT CABLE TO GREAT BRITAIN

New Service Inaugurated Yesterday in Message to King George

MONTREAL, Aug. 16.—Only two minutes elapsed between the time that Mayor Charles Duquette of Montreal, cabled the Prince of Wales yesterday and received his answer by means of the direct cable service inaugurated by the Canadian National Telegraph Co.

The inauguration of this new service dispenses with the delays which have been experienced in the past through the transmissions of cables over land lines to the cable companies offices on the Atlantic Coast in Canada or at New York. Formerly it was a matter of several hours to transmit a cablegram from Montreal to England, it is now a question of but a few seconds. The new service was officially opened by Mayor Charles Duquette of Montreal who at ten o'clock closed the switch linking the new office in Montreal with the cable office at 22 Great Winchester Street London. The first message transmitted was from Lord Byng to His Majesty King George, V.

Send Both Ways

It is possible on the new cable to send fifty words a minute duplex, which means that a cablegram can be on its way to London and another on its way to Montreal at exactly the same time.

BRITISH FLYERS ARE GIVEN MEMBERSHIP IN GREAT WAR VETERANS

Squadron Leader MacLaren received a handsome membership card designed by Morrie Craig of this city and his companions will be given similar ones later. All four were also presented with membership buttons. Squadron Leader MacLaren replied suitably, voicing the appreciation of himself and his companions. The flyers have been given the freedom of the local club room during their visit here.

Martin's Plane Struck Low Foothills When It Was Wrecked in Alaska

PORT MOLLER, Alaska, Aug. 16.—William Sullivan, a fireman at the fish hatchery, reported at the Pacific American Fisheries cannery station here that he found the airplane wrecked on April 30 by Major Fred Martin, then commander of the American round the world flight.

Sullivan said the plane struck on gradually sloping ground and that there was no mountain within a mile of the spot. He expressed the opinion that Martin was flying very low when he hit. If he had been 150 feet from the ground he would have passed over any elevations in the vicinity, which he called foothills. The plane was 30 miles from the cannery at which Martin and his companion arrived after ten days' wandering. The machine was hopelessly shattered.

NELSON, Aug. 16.—Speaking to one of the largest audiences ever seen in the Opera House here, Premier Oliver last night opened the by-election campaign. The premier declared that he would neither promise nor permit any of his colleagues to promise public works to Nelson, but if Nelson had any just demands he would not permit the opposition cry of "bribe" to prevent him giving those just demands full consideration.

All four were also presented with membership buttons. Squadron Leader MacLaren replied suitably, voicing the appreciation of himself and his companions. The flyers have been given the freedom of the local club room during their visit here.

Martin Dones

BELLINGHAM, Aug. 16.—"William Sullivan of Port Moller may call the sloping ground where my plane crashed a foothill, but I consider it a mountain," declared Major Frederick Martin, when shown the Port Moller despatches. He asserted that Sullivan was wrong when he said the plane could have avoided the foothills by flying 150 feet higher. Martin stated at the time of the crash he was flying 1,500 feet from the top of the mountain where he landed.

France and Germany Agree to Evacuation Terms: Troops Commence to Withdraw Soon

LONDON, Aug. 16.—August 15, 1925, is the date finally agreed on for the Ruhr evacuation in return for the acceptance by Germany of the French proposals that the Ruhr occupation continue for one year. France agreed to desist from her previous demand for a commercial agreement and other economic benefits which were to be linked with the question of occupation.

The French and Belgians also agreed upon the evacuation of all towns and points outside the Ruhr not in the district occupied under the Versailles treaty. As an example of goodwill, the French troops will be withdrawn from Dortmund and surrounding territory on August 13, one day after the French Parliament is expected to ratify the agreement.

It is agreed that the French and Germans begin negotiations in Paris for commercial treaties. The French and Belgians shall not insist upon their nationals remaining on the German railways. Thus the long controversy is settled.

DAILY EDITION Saturday, August 16, 1924.

Hearty Welcome To British Flyers.

The Daily News joins with the rest of the city of Prince Rupert in welcoming Stuart MacLaren and his hardy companions after their splendid attempt at flying around the world.

For many weeks through the news despatches we have watched their careers. We have entered into their disappointments when they have met with mishap and have been buoyed up with renewed hope as they again set out on their perilous journey.

Visit Of British Association.

The British Association is visiting Canada and for a week past has been holding meetings in Toronto. Now they are to tour the west and they will hold more meetings at various university centres.

Unfortunately there seems to have been no provision made for a visit of the scientists here, the only point where they could have investigated the most important fisheries in Canada.

Complaint has been made from time to time that scientists are interested in abstruse subjects but are not willing to engage in the study of such simple matters as the life history of the halibut, a subject which is of so great importance in relation to the food supply of the continent.

It is to be hoped that many of the members of the association will come north from Vancouver and return east by way of Prince Rupert.

Need The Hotel And More Boats.

What is needed here is the promised tourist hotel and more boats for the coast service. Just now there is not accommodation for any large body of tourists such as the British Association, in addition to the regular coast traffic.

Stability Of City Indicated By Taxes.

The manner in which taxes are paid here is an indication of the stability of the city. City Treasurer Matheson announces that 83.7 per cent of all collectable taxes were paid before the end of last month.

This payment of taxes is an indication that people have faith in the future of the city. In many cases the lands on which taxes have been paid are not even facing on roads and depend wholly for their value on future developments.

Unique Work Of Local Artist.

Recent work done by Morte Craig in connection with the present notable visit, draws attention once more to the wonderfully artistic work of this local man. Mr. Craig's work on native tanned skins is unique and cannot be duplicated anywhere in the world.

HUGE INITIAL INVESTMENT NECESSARY

ACTUAL VALUE OF B.C. TIMBER LIES IN ITS MERCHANTABILITY

Vast Purchasing Power of the Forest Industries of the Province

Imagine the vastness of the investment that was necessary to build up the British Columbia forest industries to their present capacity.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars must be expended before a foot of lumber can be produced in an up-to-date sawmill of large capacity.

Millions of feet of standing timber must be secured whilst the purchase of modern logging and mill equipment entails an enormous preliminary outlay.

In the manufacture of pulp and paper, the harnessing up of the necessary water-power and the cost of super-expensive machinery means that further millions must be sunk in the plant and in extended timber limits before a wheel can be turned in a completed mill.

Demand Sets Value British Columbia will never make progress by the scenic value of its unique timber alone. The actual worth of this wonderful, but mature, raw material is entirely in proportion to the chances it presents of attracting capital for its conversion into saleable products.

It is reckoned that the sum invested in the forest products industries of B.C. is between $150,000,000 and $200,000,000. This is probably as much as the whole stumpage of British Columbia is worth today as a merchantable proposition.

It must also be remembered that in addition to their investment the holders, manufacturers and distributors of B.C. forest products represent a spending power of approximately $100,000,000 per annum, in the circulation of which practically every man, woman and child in the Province benefits to some extent, great or small.

A set-back to the timber industries would be the greatest economic fatality that could befall the Province.

GENERAL MCRAE STILL IN RING

Leader of Provincial Party Makes Statement Regarding His Reported Retirement

"The fact that I have cancelled my proposed trip to Stewart and am leaving here tonight for Nelson to assist in the by-election campaign against Premier Oliver should be enough to offset any reports that may have arisen here that I am retiring from politics," stated Gen. A. D. McRae, president of the Provincial Party today. "I am always interested in obtaining better government for British Columbia and it is with that end in view that I expect to meet Premier Oliver on the platform at Nelson—this time without the barbeque."

General McRae went on to explain that his retirement from politics would involve a matter of organization and the calling together of the executive. He had no idea of such retirement.

Gen. McRae, who has been visiting the Watun River and Claxton canneries, will sail for Vancouver on the Prince George tonight accompanied by A. E. James and H. B. Jager who have been with him on his trip. Dr. Inglis, who also came north with the party, left last night for Stewart.

Gen. McRae yesterday received a telegram inviting him to assist in the campaign at Nelson.

machine was a wreck and their undertaking ended, the people of Nikolski, which is a small fishing village consisting of Russians and Aleuts under the Soviet flag, gave the flyers a wonderful welcome. As soon as their presence was known, the church bell started to peal. During the stay of the flyers there awaiting the arrival of the Thiepval, all possible hospitality and assistance was tendered them.

The welcome at Petropavlovsk during the stay of the Thiepval and the flyers there, was no less enthusiastic, a banquet being one of the events of the program. When the Thiepval first called at Petropavlovsk, Red guards were placed aboard but this was not the case on the second call. As one of the officers of the Thiepval said "We stayed there so long that we became acquainted with every person in the town." Petropavlovsk has a population of about 500 people, half of them being Red guards who watch the other half.

At Dutch Harbor in Unalaska, fine treatment was also afforded the flyers and the crew of the Thiepval.

It is a singular co-incidence that the accident befalling the British plane should have occurred at Behring Island on which are buried the remains of Vitus Behring, the Danish explorer who discovered the North Pacific Ocean and who perished there from scurvy in December, 1741.

The Thiepval, which left Vancouver on March 1, to lay out the route for the British flight, went as far as Hakodate, Northern Japan, from which point Col. Broome, the advance officer, proceeded to Tokio, where he boarded the plane. On the departure of the flight from Tokio, the vessel proceeded north in advance along the Kuriles and Squadron Leader Maclaren came up with it at Petropavlovsk. The fog, which was the ultimate undoing of the undertaking, prevailed almost constantly in the North Pacific and it was necessary to take chances from then on. The United States coast-guard cutter Algonquin at Attu kept the flyers advised of weather conditions and day after day it was a report of "thick fog prevailing."

The return of the Thiepval was a pleasant contrast to the going out. All the way to Japan from Prince Rupert, it was a continuation of dirty weather.

Informal Welcome
On the arrival of the Thiepval last night, the vessel was met by Mayor Newton, members of the civic committee, St. Andrew's Society and Great War Veterans' Association. The informal welcome that followed took place aboard the vessel and lasted till the small hours of the morning. If the ship had arrived in the day time, there would have been a demonstration but as it was the flyers and officers of the Thiepval were deeply appreciative of the welcome that was accorded them.

All the accommodation aboard the Thiepval is taxed to capacity on account of the number of the passengers and several officers as they say are "roughing it." Squadron Leader Maclaren shares the cabin of Capt. Beech.

Two Bears Aboard
The Thiepval did not return from her long cruise without mementoes thereof. Aboard are a Soviet black bear "Bolshie" which was acquired at Petropavlovsk and a Japanese brown bear "Hokadate, from Hakodate. Both are cubs and are the property of Lieut. Pressy. Hakodate is a very friendly though nervous little fellow. He has become chummy with members of the crew and submits with pleasure to their affection. When strangers arrive on the scene, however, he scampers off down the deck. "Bolshie" is not so amiable and sits glumly in a corner ready to take a snap at anyone coming near. He perhaps has good reason for his disposition, however, because he is just recovering from a scorching he sustained when he found his way under a boiler shortly after being taken aboard.

Mr. Valiquette, the moving picture operator, is quite pleased with the results of the voyage.

He was successful in getting good "shots" of the flyers while in action and his pictures of the North Pacific, which has never as yet figured very prominently on the silver sheet, will be of much value.

Interesting Stowaway
The stowaway aboard is an interesting character. His name is D. Hamachoff and he is a Russian by birth but an American by naturalization. A seafaring man, he went to Nome and made some money in a mining venture. Subsequently he crossed to Vladivostok and fell into the hands of the Bolsheviks who relieved him of his worldly goods and made him practically a prisoner. Always awaiting a chance to get out of Russia, he joined a ship and got to Petropavlovsk. There he stowed away in the bunkers of the Thiepval and fifteen days later was found at Dutch Harbor when the vessel was taking coal. He will be turned over to the authorities here.

The Thiepval is taking on coal here and moved this morning to Albert & McGaffery's dock. Some engine repairs have to be made before proceeding to Vancouver. She is not such an orderly looking ship as she was when she was here last in March but, when her experiences are taken into consideration, it might be wondered that she got through at all. The success of her voyage testifies to the navigating abilities and seamanship of her officers and Capt. Freeman of Vancouver, her pilot.

Girl in Waiting
One of the principal officers of the vessel, at least, is not very anxious about prolonging the stay of the ship in Prince Rupert. Planning to be back this way long before this, a wedding had been arranged for June. The Victoria girl, who is the other interested party, is still waiting anxiously and it is now arranged that two lives shall be made happy late this month.

Captain Beech commands the Thiepval; Lieut. Pressy is first officer and Lieut. Shipley, second officer. The chief petty officer is S. McMasters; chief petty officer, F. H. Parker; wireless operator, A. Peters; second engineer, Percy Scoble; third engineer, H. Arnold, and chief steward, G. Buckingham.

The Japanese liaison officers are Major S. Tanaka, army man, and Lieut. S. Tokunaga, navy.

The United States revenue cutter Cygan arrived in port from Ketchikan this morning bringing a party of tourists from Ketchikan under Dr. A. O. Weese of Oklahoma. They will leave tonight for the east and will stop off at Jasper Park.

ANYOX SPORTS KEEP UP WELL

Baseball Matches Well Contested at Smelter Town During Week

ANYOX, Aug. 16.—Big and one-sided scores held in the last two games to be played in the Anyox Baseball League schedule. The game between the Smelter and the Mine went to the "Gas Eaters," seven to two, and that between the Elks and the Smelter resulted in an eight to one victory for the "Brother Bills." In the Smelter-Mine game J. Ferguson and Land went the battery and for the Smelter Fitzpatrick and Wells. Playing fairly steady ball for the first two innings, the Mine pitcher was hit freely in the third frame, when the Smelter batters went on a hitting-fest and had nine men at the plate before the third man was retired, six runs being scored off five hits. Each side made a double play, the Smelter in the first inning, Dow to McDougall to Cole; and the Mine in the sixth, Brown to Kirke to Ferguson. The Smelter battery went good all the way, had good support and struck out seven, while the Mine battery was let down pretty badly, ten errors being registered against the fielders. Features of the game were the catches of Stewart and Anderson for the Smelter and Mine respectively.

The game between the Elks and Smelter was of much the same style, the Smelter emulating the Mine, and were almost blanked, the tally being eight to one. Costly errors were responsible for this. Fitzpatrick, who started pitching for the Smelter, went on the receiving end in the fourth and Wells did the twirling for the balance of the game; but the change was made too late to have any effect on the final result. The Elks' battery consisted of F. Fitzpatrick and J. Cody. In this game the Elks got nine hits and the Smelter five, two of them being long drives by Hall and Wells.

Wrestling—Nels Jepson of Edmonton vs. Jack Burns of Spokane for the middleweight championship of Canada, Monday, August 18, Empress Theatre. If

The Daily News during the past week has endeavored to impress upon the local baseball players the fact that there must be a lot of hard work and steady practice within the next few weeks if Prince Rupert's honors are to be properly defended in the games that will take place with outside teams during Fair Week. The sporting public of the city has been urging the same thing and it is to be hoped that, following the decision of the league to hold regular practices, the players will turn out in force. Everybody is behind the local boys and it is the general desire to see them win. It is generally realized, however, that practice is necessary and accordingly the agitation has been in that direction.

Good pitching can win a ball game but it does not necessarily follow that poor pitching should lose it. So far this season, the most of the games that have been lost by the Prince Rupert boys have been lost through loose fielding rather than through the quality of the pitching and that is not saying that the hurling was always what it should have been. The batting of the locals has not always been of the best either. A good effective practice should tend to remove these deficiencies. The second and third base and short the present time, and it is these that should be concentrated upon.

Clang! Clang! Clang!
Hats off to the amateur fire brigade which so heroically strove to save Sid Thomson's summer home at the Salt Lakes on Thursday last and which did such commendable work in preventing the spreading of the flames to the surrounding bush. While not wishing to detract from the seriousness of the fire, however, there was a deft touch of humor abroad at the time of the untoward occurrence. There is no finer fat reducer in the world than the cry of "fire." To have witnessed the Marathon race from the Salt Lakes between two well known local ladies when they heard the cry, and who must have covered the distance from the Lake to Sid's shack in more than record time, was a sight that doubtless many movie men would have given their studios to have secured. Women and youngsters from every angle were soon swarming around the burning building each one trying to "save the surface." A popular young lady distinguished herself by rushing for a bucket of water, at the crucial moment tripping over her most useful garment and swallowing most of the water. Another amateur fireman was sent hurrying for an axe and in the excitement returned with a toothbrush. One or two of the ladies on the scene worked hard in getting in everybody's way and rendered yeoman service by dropping their hairpins and requesting the fire fighters to help them recover same from the long grass. One bright youngster suggested putting some more wood on the fire to keep it going while someone went across the harbor for the city fire department. If there had been a fire helmet handy one shudders to think of the slaughter that may have attended in fighting for possession of it. The strange thing about the fire was that while all present worked like Trojans, and suffered considerable torment from the flames in their colossal efforts to save the structure, the shack proved very unappreciative of their attentions and much to the disgust of the onlookers insisted upon burning down.

"Call again, I'm too busy to talk this morning" was a waterfront expression on Thursday which is typical of the times in nautical circles. While the halibut arrivals were lighter on Thursday morning than for some considerable time past, thus giving the fish buyers and their colleagues a breathing spell, the mechanical and electrical shops were on the jump and the respective managers no not provide any Morris chairs or cold drinks for loafers. Considerable repair work is being carried on both to trolling and halibut boats of the home fleet while the waterfront shipyards have enough work on hand to keep them fully occupied. While the halibut landings have not been as heavy this week as last, prices have remained very firm and consequently fishermen have had no kick coming. Incoming skippers have reported heavy westerly winds on the outside waters and in some cases small boats have been forced to seek sheltered anchorage. No untoward happenings have been reported.

Successful Cruise
The appearance of the Maeve, Capt. Alex McDonald, skimming across the harbor on Wednesday and heading for Cow Bay caused a great deal of excitement in admiralty circles. Skipper Alex, aboard the Maeve, has been on a holiday cruise as far as Dundas Island and some wonderful stories of his water experiences are aboard. It appears that a large school of halibut chased the boat on the return trip and had it not have been for the wonderful behavior of the box of tricks something serious might have happened the famous craft. The Maeve is shortly to be commissioned in the fall and winter crab hunting activities and a thorough overhaul of the gun turrets on the boat is to be made shortly.

NOTICE OF SALE.
Sealed Tenders for the purchase of approximately 225,000 feet board measure spruce logs cut from Timber Sale X3318 and now lying in Cananda Lake and Indian Bay, will be received by District Forester at Prince Rupert up to noon of September 3rd, 1924.

The upset price, which is the lowest tender acceptable, is $22.08, being accumulated stumpage and royalty arrears. Tenders must be accompanied by cash, certified cheque or postal money order payable to B.C. Forest Branch, covering the full price bid. The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

For further particulars apply to District Forester, Prince Rupert, B.C.

Fish Business
From Monday to Friday 816,300 pounds of halibut has been marketed on the Fish Exchange. Canadians were high at 14.5c and 8c, low at 12c and 7c. Americans were high at 15.9c and 8c, low at 11.4c and 5c. Arrivals were: Canadian—Ethel June, Hippo, Hanaco, Nautilus, Dolphin, Tootle, Swing, Daisy, Athl, W. & F. Inez H., Fisher, P. Doreen, Sape Spear, Ingrid H., Alliance, Margalice, Nuba, Rose Spit.

Lieut. Sandford Leaves
Many local young ladies will regret the departure of Lieut. Sandford, of the Canadian Signalling corps, who recently returned to Vancouver after a short and exciting visit to this port. Mr. Sandford had been carrying out some wireless experiments in connection with the fishery patrol hydroplanes. As a signaller he was A.1. but as a lady-killer he took the double holed doughnut. However, like most men he had his faults, one of the most serious being his lack of knowledge of the geography of the town.

In addition a Japanese sampan style boat has recently been constructed measuring 20 feet by a 5 foot beam and fitted with a 3 1/2 h.p. Regal engine. This is a new type of hull for these waters. The sampan is a boat shaped much like the ordinary skiff and is used on the coasts of Japan and China. The sampan is usually propelled by a scull but sometimes has a sail and a mat covered cabin.

Big Bad Wolf
A timber wolf as big as a horse and wearing an expression of acute annoyance was again seen at Gillen's harbor, situated some 132 miles south of here. The fact was reported to the secret service by none other than Capt. Art Oswald so that there is no shadow of a doubt that a wolf does reside in that vicinity. The first report of the wolf seems to have reached the city sometime ago from the lips of skipper Handsome Jim who stated that he had been rudely interrupted by a large timber wolf while in that spot on a little hunting bent. At that time the wolf was so anxious to make his acquaintance that it became necessary for Jim to put on a little speed and make for the protection of the schooner out on the bay. It is on the cards that Jim, in company with a battery of amateur artillery, will make a bold bid this fall to rid the world of this dangerous specimen of deer destroyer. If the wolf in question grows much larger it will be necessary to send out an armed expeditionary force to do the slaying.

Canadian schooner Alliance No. 1, Capt. Chris Henriksen, had the misfortune to break her tailshaft while out on the fishing grounds and had to be towed into port on Wednesday. The schooner is now on the Ward ways undergoing the necessary repairs. The hull is also being copper painted.

Stallion in his own power plant
The power boat Spey, skippered by Lorrie Lambley, arrived from Lewis Island on Wednesday night and cleared again on Thursday morning for Dundas Island.

Surprise on Nauticals
A most enjoyable time was had by all on Wednesday night when a mixed gang made a surprise party raid upon the up-town residence of ePte Solem and Pete Laurenzen situated on Third Avenue East. The attack was organized as a frontal one but upon the members of the party taking up their respective positions it was noticed that no signs of life were in evidence. It therefore became necessary to send out scouts, the scouting work was ably carried out by Andy McDonald, who gained access to the premises from the rear in a manner best known to himself. Upon gaining their objective the gang started in to clean out the furniture, and if medals were offered for furniture removing we have an idea who would win the first one. A prominent local musician was told off to conduct the gramophone and soon the fun was in full swing. Pete Solem was the first member of the household to arrive on the scene and he soon got busy lighting the fire with half a pound of butter. Pete Laurenzen followed soon afterwards and obliged the assembly by participating in an exhibition waltz to the tune of "The Death of Nelson." Delectable refreshments were served at midnight and delightful dancing was enjoyed until the early hours. For a swell rendezvous for a surprise party take the tip, dear reader.

SCIENTISTS TO VISIT COAST

Leaving Tomorrow in Special Trains for Points of Interest

TORONTO, Aug. 16. — More than four hundred delegates to the British Association for the advancement of science and the mathematical congress convening which have just closed here leave Toronto tonight for Vancouver. Two special trains will be required to carry the party which is one of the largest special passenger traffic movements ever handled by the Canadian National railways. The trains will follow each other thirty minutes apart, the first train leaving the Union station at 7.25 o'clock standard time.

The trip across Canada has been carefully prepared by the Canadian committee of the British Association working in close co-operation with passenger traffic officers of the National System and the itinerary decided upon is of an instructive as well as scenic nature. Visits will be paid to mining and paper making industries in Ontario and to agricultural colleges, universities and lumbering industries in the west. Three full days will be occupied with the rail trip from Toronto to Winnipeg, stops ranging from three to twelve hours having been arranged en-route between these two points, the main places of interest being Coahll, Swastika, Timmins and Iroquois Falls.

Visit to Mines
Hon. C. R. McCrae, minister of mines in the Ontario government will accompany the party to Timmins and will personally conduct the scientists over the mining properties in Northern Ontario. The first train is scheduled to reach Winnipeg at 7.15 o'clock Wednesday evening and the travellers will make their headquarters at the Fort Garry Hotel until the following night. On Thursday they will receive an official welcome from Premier Bracken and will visit the Manitoba Agricultural College, the plant of the Hydro-Electric System at Point Du Bois and the University.

At Saskatoon which will be reached Friday morning the visitors will take part in the formal opening of the new chemical laboratories of the University of Saskatchewan. Several of the various sections will also hold meetings and a number of papers will be read. Afternoon tea on the University grounds and a picnic supper at the Forestry Station have been arranged for.

Deliver Addresses
All day Saturday will be spent in Edmonton. Several meetings will be held at the University there and there will be an official welcome from the Lieutenant Governor and the Premier of the Province. In the evening following a banquet tendered them by the University they will conduct a public meeting at which addresses will be delivered by Sir David Bruce, Sir John Russell, Sir William Beveridge and J. S. Flett.

Sunday they will spend in the Rocky Mountains with a stop over at Jasper Park Lodge as the guests of the Canadian National Railways and then a brief one at Mount Robson, Vancouver will be reached early Monday morning. The party will divide at this point, some going to Victoria, some to the mining and lumbering districts while others remain in Vancouver.

S. Osborne Scott and H. F. Tilley of the passenger traffic department of the Canadian National Railways will be in charge of the two trains.
