CHINESE HOSTILITIES BECOMING GENERAL

NEW SPAN ACROSS SKEENA RIVER, NEARLY FINISHED, TO OPEN NOV. 15

Battle Rages Between Rival Forces Near Shanghai, China; Many Casualties are Reported

SHANGHAI, Sept. 4.—A pitched battle between rival Tsuchun forces opened at daylight this morning along the Shanghai-Nanking railway near Hwangtu, twelve miles from Shanghai. There were many casualties and reports indicate that the engagement is becoming general from the railway to the coast. The country around the city is flat intersected by muddy ditches and canals up which the river boats ply. For the present all water transportation is interrupted and great excitement prevails among both the native and foreign population.

In this city there are both English and French concessions which are being protected by forces of their respective countries.

Later
SHANGHAI, Sept. 4.—Troops numbering 40,000 battled throughout a sunshiny day and neither side had made any material gain in the fighting. The battle line extends from the Shanghai-Nanking railway to the Yangtze River. Shanghai is crowded with foreigners who flocked there from the battle lines, filled with apprehension lest the fighting lines draw closer to the city.

MANY ARRESTS AT BEER CLUBS

City and Provincial Police at Vancouver Seize Quantity of Bottles

PATRONS ARE CHARGED

VANCOUVER, Sept. 4.—City and provincial police this morning made a raid on the Overseas Transportation Club, made 23 arrests and seized one hundred and twenty dozen bottles of beer. W. Griffin, the alleged proprietor, is held for bail in $500 on charges of dealing in beer. Twenty-two patrons were charged with illegally purchasing liquor and are out on bail of $50, each.

The raid is the first of a series in the way of extermination against illegal places. The police believe if the law is strictly enforced and patrons arrested the clubs will be compelled to close.

Terrace Bridge Will be Ready for use this Autumn if Proper Weather Conditions Prevail There

If weather conditions in the meantime are at all propitious, the steel bridge across the Skeena River at Terrace should be open for traffic about November 15, Major R. M. Taylor, district engineer for the provincial department of public works, reports.

Five of the six spans of steel are now in and are being decked, the decking thereon to be completed by September 10. This leaves but one span of 250 feet to go in. This one, however, is the longest and the most difficult erection. With any kind of good luck it should be in by October 15. Decking and pointing it will take three weeks after that.

The approaches to the bridge were finished last spring.

Painters have been working on the bridge for the past week giving the steel its second and third coats, the first having been on when it arrived. The first coat is of red, the second brown and the third black. Two air pressure spray machines are used for the painting.

Fifteen men are engaged on the work of erecting the steel which has been in progress for the past three weeks. E. E. Davis of Vancouver is the sub-contractor under J. Coughlan & Sons of Vancouver.

FINAL SCENES ON EXCURSION

Party Returns From Visit to Bulkley Valley After Week of Activity

It was with feelings of distinct regret and pleasant recollections of a most happy time that the members of the Prince Rupert Board of Trade party climbed aboard the train at Smithers early yesterday morning on their way home, after their visit to the Bulkley Valley. There was so much to see and so many places to visit and so many people worth talking to that the five days were all too short. The Smithers District Board of Trade proved wonderful hosts and everything that was in their power for the entertainment and pleasure of their visitors was done strenuously.

Many of the party were out early at Jack McNeill's ranch at Grouse Mountain for grouse shooting and did not get back to Smithers until afternoon.

RUPERT MAN GETS TO VANCOUVER IN SMALL ROWBOAT

VANCOUVER, Sept. 4.—John Rawlson, bareheaded and weather beaten, arrived in a sixteen foot rowboat Tuesday from Prince Rupert which he left last March carrying a camping outfit.

Barbecue Pit Opened

About twelve noon the ceremony of opening the barbecue pit took place. The fire was swept off the top, and the redhot steel plates which covered the pit lifted. There was then exposed quarter after quarter of beef, roasting each in its own huge roasting pan, done brown to a nicely and throwing off a fragrance to which already sharpened appetites were very sensitive. Raised from among the redhot stones, each quarter was quickly attacked and sliced, or rather carved. Visitors were invited to possess themselves of two slices of bread, obligingly cut just the right thickness and a sandwich was quickly made with the Bulkley Valley beef. There were accompaniments to the sandwich to be got of course, and by the time everyone was fed, the bones of more than 800 lbs of beef was all that was left and they were picked clean.

BIG COHO RUN IS EXPECTED ON NAAS

Somerville, Wales Island and Arrandale Canneries Continuing to Operate — Naas Harbor Closed Down

A big coho pack is expected during the next month on the Naas River and three of the four canneries that have been operating there this season will continue packing until about October 1. These plants are Somerville, Wales Island and Arrandale, Naas Harbor was the only cannery that closed down at the end of the sockeye season.

George D. Brown, Simsbury, Conn., author, has already driven 65,000 miles and claims the distinction of being the first man to drive a horse across the continent. He is collecting material for a book.

Telkwa Barbecue Proved to be Great Event in History of the Bulkley Valley: Races Attractive

With the whoops of the broncho busters and the steer riders sounding on the clear air as they indulged in a little side show of their own, the largest crowd of sightseers ever yet at a Telkwa barbecue began to break up between five and six p.m. on Monday, after one of the most enjoyable and interesting afternoons. The barbecue beef was cooked perfectly, the horse racing was good and the bronco busting and steer riding novel and interesting. "Something doing every minute," is the Telkwa motto and it was lived up to. Consequently everybody went away happy and satisfied with a day's splendid entertainment.

Whole Valley Gathers
From early morning all roads led to Telkwa. It was practically one way traffic except from Smithers whence the jitney cars were busy trip after trip, the record being eighteen minutes for the twelve miles. In addition there were Indian rigs of every description conveying whole families, the brave behind the pair or more horses with the reins. Sitting back to back with him was the squaw controlling more or less the activities of the several white toothed, chubby faced smiling youngsters. Going to Telkwa for the barbecue, everyone smiles. Both Indian and white man travel the same road for the same purpose and a similar smile lights up the face of each. When the time came for the slicing of the huge quarters of beef, there were close to a hundred cars parked in a row alongside the race track while the Indians had their own encampment.

MASSETT PEOPLE COMING
The Exhibition Association has received a letter from Alfred Adams at Massett asking that the Prince John cross Sunday to fetch from fifty to seventy people to attend the fair here. A reply has been sent that they must guarantee five hundred dollars worth of business to insure the boat coming. It is expected to hear from Massett tonight and that arrangements will be made. An exhibit will be brought and slate and basket workers will accompany the party.

Crowds Fought to Hear Inquest Into Death of Shaughnessy Housemaid

VANCOUVER, Sept. 4.—Thirty-eight witnesses will give evidence in the inquiry before the jury concerning the death of Janet Smith, housemaid in the Shaughnessy Heights home, who died as the result of a bullet wound in the head on July 26.

The jury this morning viewed the body. Great interest was taken in the case and the greatest crowd ever assembled at the court house stormed the doors of the inquiry room. The crowd fought for two hours in a vain effort to gain admittance to a room with a capacity less than 100. Fashionably dressed women fought for position with the housemaids. Members of the crowd shouted at the police guard, "This is not Russia. We are entitled to get in. You cannot hold the inquest behind closed doors."

WELCOME GIVEN UNITED STATES WORLD FLYERS

Great Enthusiasm Prevails at Pictou, Nova Scotia When Airmen Arrive

PICTOU, N.S., Sept. 4.—Rousing cheers of the big crowds mingled with shrieks of whistles and ringing of bells welcomed the United States round the world airmen as they circled down into the harbor here yesterday afternoon after having arrived from Hawkes Bay, Newfoundland. They made the trip in 6 hours 26 minutes and on their arrival were extended a formal welcome by high federal and civic officials. The town here was gaily decorated for the event and holiday spirit prevailed.

The flyers were joined here by Lieut. Waite who with a new machine expects to leave with them for Boston tomorrow.

PRINCE ELUDES U.S. CROWDS AT PRACTICE POLO

Entered Field Unobserved and Sat in Remote Corner: When Discovered Climbed Fence

SYOSSET, Sept. 4.—The Prince of Wales called yesterday at the home of J. W. Davis, president nominee, who was formerly ambassador at the court of St. James. Mr. Davis was away campaigning but the Prince saw Mrs. Davis.

Two polo games were attended, the Prince succeeding in avoiding the crowd by entering the field unobserved and sitting in a remote corner. He wore a light grey check suit, a grey felt hat and bright red cravat, and tan shoes and sat smoking a cigarette, apparently enjoying the race he had played on the crowd.

When the spectators spied him they began to congregate so he climbed over a wooden fence and took the car to the Burden home where he is staying. While there he planted a tree on the Burden lawn. He said he would like to follow the practice of planting a tree at all places he visited.

SCHOOL PUPILS ON INCREASE

Sixty-Eight Already in School in Excess of Last Year Shows Population Up

TEACHERS NEEDED

There are sixty-eight more pupils in the public and high schools this year than when they opened last year, indicating a large general increase in the population of the city since that time. The present enrollment shows:

Public Schools 735
High School..... 132
Catholic School.... 110

Total.... 979

In addition to the above classes there will be several more students enter the high school within a few days and a few more in the public schools. The commercial class and kindergarten are yet to open at the St. Joseph's Academy by which time the total enrollment of pupils in the city will be well over one thousand.

The trustees are wrestling with the problem of providing accommodation for the new pupils. In the High School there is a preliminary class of 56 which is too many for one teacher to handle. Over fifty pupils are also in several classes in the public schools, making it difficult to carry on.

WINGED BOMBS FROM PLANES

FARNBOROUGH, Sept. 4.—Enormous progress has been made in the control of pilotless planes by wireless through experiments carried out at the royal aircraft establishment.

Another problem being considered is the launching of winged bombs from aircraft in flight and their control over a limited distance on to the desired object.

Great secrecy is being observed by the air ministry regarding the experiment, which is believed to be of greatest importance.

GETTING READY FOR EXHIBITION

Three and Possibly More District Agricultural Exhibits Coming—Busy at Building

There will be at least three large district agricultural exhibits at the annual Prince Rupert Exhibition next week. Prince George, Hazelton and Kitsumkalum and Terrace are already entered. A display is also expected from Francois Lake and the Naas River is likely to be represented as well.

Entries for the Fair close tomorrow and, judging from present indications, they will total up heavily. The campaign for early entries, which has been urged strenuously, is meeting with a measure of success and it is anticipated that there will be few disappointed people who, having neglected to file their entries, will find that they are not permitted to do so after Friday afternoon.

Preparations at the Fair Building are well under way, activity now being centred on getting the commercial booths in shape. These include an attractive timber display by the Big Bay Lumber Co.

A large number of contributions to the forestry and mineral displays have already been delivered at the building.

MACDONALD ON PEACE OUTLOOK

British Premier Says Arbitration Must Replace Militarism—Would Further Disarm

GENEVA, Sept. 4.—Premier Macdonald of Great Britain declared to the League of Nations assembly that the only hope his country saw for future peace was the extension of policies of arbitration and development of the League. He warned against regarding national security as a military problem and urged the calling of another disarmament conference in Europe to be attended by all countries including United States and Germany.

Extol Wonders Of Interior Valleys.

The Board of Trade members who are home from a tour through the interior valleys not only had an enjoyable trip while away but they added very considerably to their education. While they made only a flying visit, yet a week spent among the farms, mines and lumber mills of the interior will give the Prince Rupert people a much better idea of the resources of the great country within reach of the railway.

The visitors cannot say enough for the hospitality of the people and about the splendid country which they saw. They will from this time on be persistent and energetic boosters for the Bulkley Valley.

Timber Industry Very Important.

During the past few months the Timber Industries Council has been publishing a series of advertisements in this paper tending to show the importance of the timber industry. They have made it clear that one fourth of the workers of the province are employed in the industry and that timber is responsible for one third of the industrial payroll.

In view of the importance of the industry every possible step should be taken to foster it and to see that it is placed on a sound business footing.

Prince Rupert is interested in timber both directly and indirectly. It is hoped that the Prince Rupert mill will be operated yet and that the pulp and timber limits that go with it will be utilized. Anything that the government or the people can do to help stabilize the industry while at the same time protecting the interests of the general taxpayer will redound to the general good.

Skagway Alaskan Sings Swan Song.

The Daily Alaskan of Skagway has gone out of business and the town is left without a daily newspaper. In an editorial article in the final number the lady editor and owner had this to say:

"Had the paper received the loyal and earnest support of the citizens of Skagway it might have continued but the people have been spoiled by receiving too many sugar plums and like a spoiled child they still expect too much for nothing. Of all the business houses in town it takes but a casual glance to see that but very few of them advertise. Many read their neighbors' paper and are the loudest in denouncing the paper as good for nothing."

"The present owner has tried to be impartial, to give praise and just credit where just credit and praise were due, to withhold blame and to spare the feelings of many as all owners of newspapers have done since newspaperdom began."

"It is the earnest wish of the owner that some one may come to Skagway and bring a lively paper here. She will certainly do all she can to assist and she hopes for the future prosperity of this beautiful little town—this Garden City of Alaska."

"Surely there is a future ahead for Skagway. All it lacks is co-operation on the part of the inhabitants, a more get-together spirit, more dropping away from old bickerings, more smiles and less frowns, more boosts and less knocks. So, wake up, good people, and do not blame any one for poor sales, for you can't deliver the goods unless they are properly advertised."

All Laws Meant To Be Obeyed.

The Manitoba Free Press sometimes prints something worth while. In a recent number it says:

"The suggestion that the laws on our statute books may be divided into good laws and bad laws, the former to be duly respected and the latter to be ignored and violated without qualms of conscience, is contained in a letter on the question of liquor control which appears on the correspondence page of this issue. This, of course, would simply mean anarchy, for there are many laws which are disapproved by some people and to allow everyone to choose which laws he will obey would end all law enforcement. There would be no such thing as law."

"Every law must be regarded as a good law. If it is not, then the responsibility is on the people themselves since the majority of the people, through their representatives, permitted the law to be enacted and have not exercised their right to repeal it. When any action of the people disapprove of a certain law they are quite within their right in working to have it amended or removed. But that is the only proper course that can be taken. For some people to be allowed to disregard one law and others another, would simply destroy the whole basis of organized society."

FLYING MACHINES

WILL REMAIN HERE UNTIL END MONTH

The Royal Canadian Air Force flying boats that have been engaged in fisheries patrol service here this summer will remain until about October 1 when the coho season will close. Then they will be taken to headquarters at Jericho Beach, Vancouver, by their pilots, Flight Lieut. Earl MacLeod and Flying Officer A. H. Hull.

Yesterday afternoon Lieut. MacLeod returned from Bella Coola district where he had been patrolling the last two days. In spite of the wind and rain that he was obliged to navigate through, he made a safe and speedy passage up the coast.

BALL AT TELKWA CLOSED BARBECUE DAY

Corporal Bryce Master of Ceremonies at Big Event in Bulkley Valley

As a fitting end to the Telkwa Barbecue Day, Telkwa's hall was crowded when the grand ball started at 9 p.m. on Monday. Visitors were present from all over the valley, from Prince Rupert, Terrace, Hazelton, Smithers, Burns and Francois Lakes and most places in between.

For the ordinary dances which take place during the season, the Telkwa Hall is large enough and with room to spare often, but for this annual event, the floor space available was all too little for the great influx of visitors. Notwithstanding the congestion, however, dancing was kept up with enthusiasm, until the early hours, when the visitors took to their cars with a lively sense of the hospitality of their Telkwa hosts.

The music which was everything that could be desired was provided by the Telkwa orchestra and Corporal Bryce was master of ceremonies.

POLICE OBJECT TO BARGAINING WITH GUILTY CRIMINALS

New York Case Draws Attention to System in Vogue for Saving Time and Work

NEW YORK, Sept. 4. — (By Canadian Press).—Signs of friction between the police of New York City and the District Attorney have arisen as a result of the tendency of the prosecutor's office to allow criminals to "bargain" for leniency by pleading guilty to lesser charges than the ones on which they were arrested by the police. "Often a prisoner is able to greatly reduce his term of imprisonment by this method, as the District Attorney's staff and also the courts are saved considerable time and work when a defendant pleads guilty instead of going to trial."

The particular case which gave emphasis to the situation involved seven burglars who were captured in the American Railway Express Company's office after a revolver battle with a dozen detectives and 17 uniformed policemen. After the police had turned the prisoners over to the District Attorney for prosecution, news reached the ears of the police that the burglars were "bargaining for a plea." This meant that they had offered to save the state the trouble of holding their trial if the District Attorney's office would arrange things so they could "get off easy" by pleading guilty of lesser degrees of burglary.

Although the police said all the prisoners had long criminal records, under this plan the seven would receive sentences of five years each, which under the prison laws probably would result in the prisoners being freed in less than two years.

The police feel resentment strongly in such cases as they oppose any offer of leniency when they have risked their lives in capturing a criminal.

WHEN THE BABIES ARE CUTTING TEETH THE MOTHER SHOULD USE

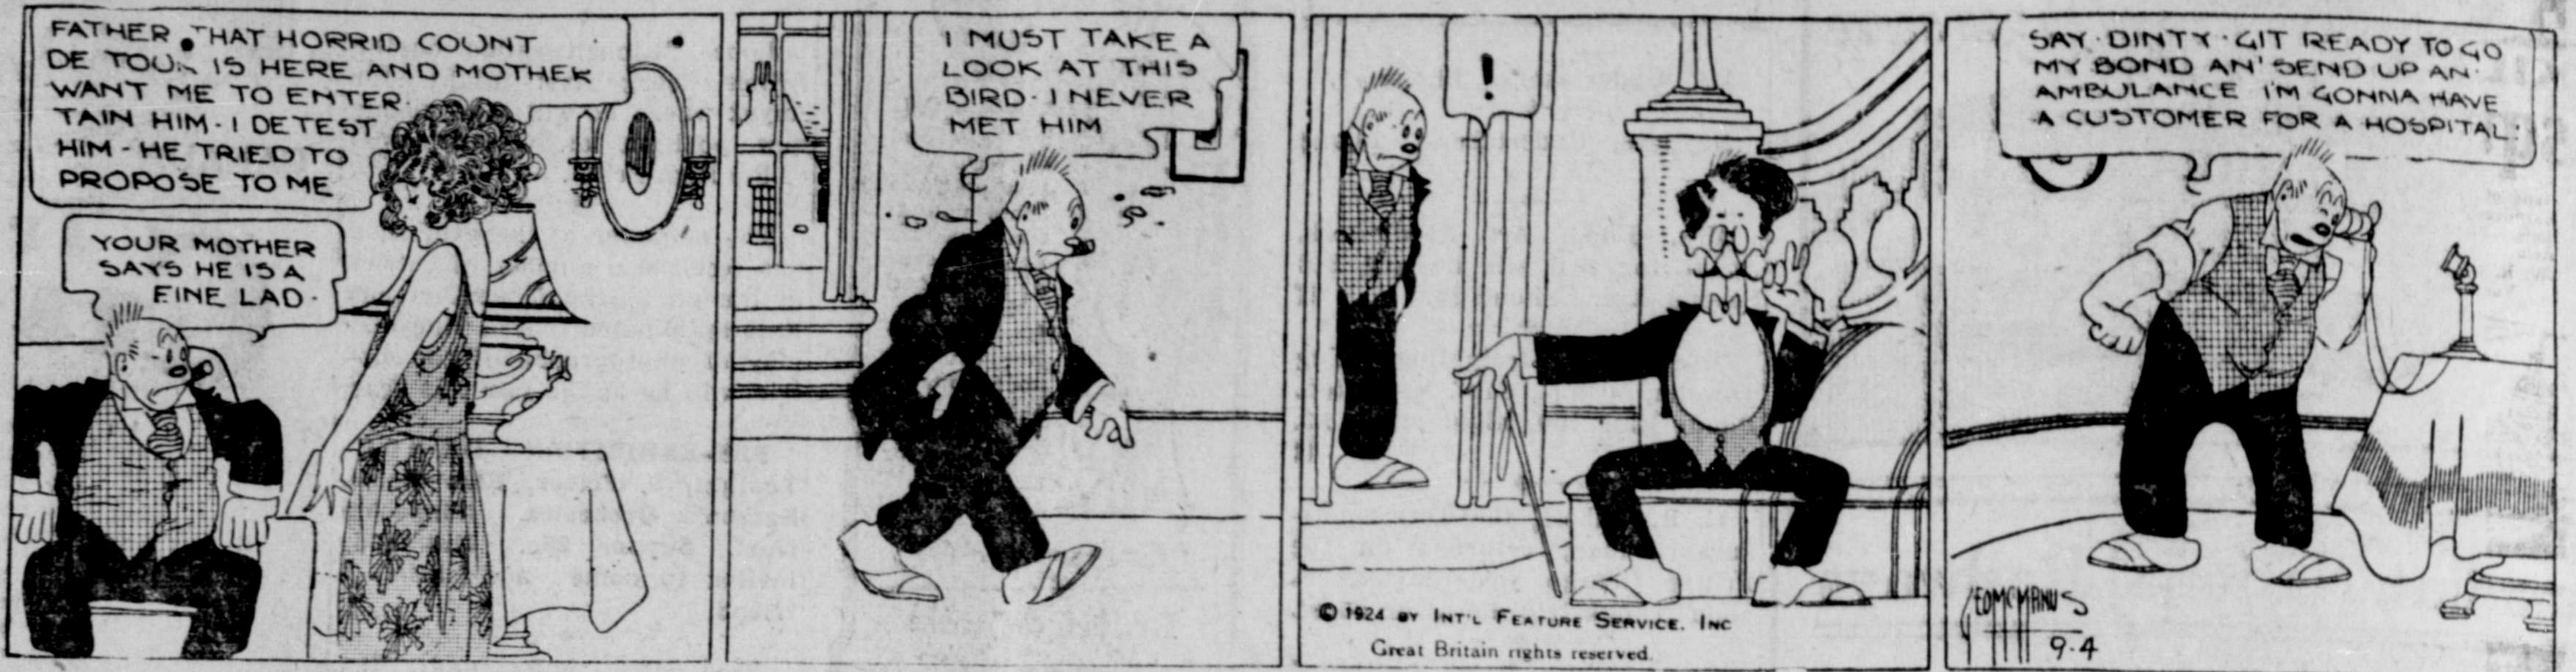

During baby's teething time, especially in the hot summer months, the bowels become loose and diarrhoea, dysentery, colic, cramps, etc. manifest themselves; the gums become swollen, and cankers form in the mouth. This is the time when the mother should use "Dr. Fowler's," and, perhaps, save the baby's life. Put up only by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

SEPARATING GOLD IS DIFFICULT PROCESS AT QUEEN CHARLOTTE

Entering into a technical description of the methods to be employed in recovering the gold from the black sand, Herman Block, vice-president of the P. B. C. Mines Ltd., explains that there are two distinct processes. First the sand as it is dug out, is run through sluices at the mine and the black sand separated. This is then known as concentrate. Then comes the more complex smelting process of reduction in which the gold is taken out of the sand. A new process in addition to the use of cyanide is being used. The gold is contained in the particle of black sand and its recovery is no simple matter.

Polo experts are agreed that the outcome of the contest between Great Britain and the United States for the famous International Challenge Cup at the Meadowbrook Club, New York, September 6, 10, and 13, hinges on the excellence and condition of the opposing ponies. If the British lose it will not be the fault of Jimmie Faulkner who has charge of the ponies from overseas. Jimmie is in charge of the British ponies when the British won in 1914. Since his arrival in the United States this summer he has seen both teams in action and when asked what he thought of the British chances said: "We shall give them a good rough-up." It is doubtful whether polo can boast of a more remarkable character than Jimmie. He is seventy—"turned seventy"—and a smiling little fellow with spindly legs and considerable of a paunch. He looks as though he might be forty or at the most in his fifties. It is easier to believe him seventy when you learn that he is the father of thirty-one children. Jimmie will resent any inference that that is too many children and will tell you that his father, who is ninety-nine to-day and "doing pretty fair" had thirty-seven. Jimmie is the oldest of them.

see the Glacier Falls on Hudson Bay Mountain. Here a big Dodge car climbed a track where Fords could not go, and got right up to the foot of the falls where the side of the mountain rises up sheer to the bottom of the glacier 1,200 feet above. It was a scene of wonderful beauty and grandeur, which in many another country people would travel far to see.

Still another took the Duthie Mine Road which climbs the eastern slope of the mountain above Seyntour Lake from which the view over the valley eastwards is a revelation. Driving down to New Hazelton, the car in which was D. G. Stewart raced a bear along the roadside. Every trip was full of incident and will provide many pleasant recollections. Nothing was left undone by the Smithers hosts to permit their guests to see as much of the country as possible within the time available.

Dinner at Smithers

The visit culminated in a dinner given at the Bulkley Hotel in the evening when an invitation was extended to the visitors for estate in Ireland and his home in Rugby. Jimmie is the stud-groom and has complete charge of Lord Winborne's stables. Most of the ponies that the British will use in the coming contest come from these stables. Jimmie brought over thirty-eight ponies in 1914 and this year he has forty-six, exclusive of the eight owned by the Prince of Wales. His ponies this year are a much better lot than those he brought over in 1914, he says. He is reticent when asked about their good points. Asked about any one of the stars in the string he will invariably reply, "She is a very, very good pony."

Frank Phiscator of Terrace reached the city on last night's train and will sail for Vancouver on the Prince George this evening.

Beauty Flies For Speckled Beauties

St. Jovite in the mountains of Northern Quebec is famous as a summer and winter resort. Winter times they use a wingless aeroplane for skiing, but in summer they put the wings and a body on and use it for fishing and swimming. Behind almost every mountain of the Laurentians there is a lake or two—so the plane comes in handy for jumping over the hills to chase the sporting bass and trout to their lairs. The above pretty girl, one of a party of five, has just come in from a flying trip to a nearby lake and is justly proud of her string of speckled beauties.

MANY MILLS CLOSED DOWN

Only Nine in District Now Running While More than That are Silent

REVIEW OF BUSINESS
Deflation, Market Conditions and Freight Rates are Responsible

There are 39 lumber mills in Prince Rupert forestry district with a total daily capacity of 1,049,000 feet. It is estimated that something not far short of, if not more than one million dollars is invested in these various mills—that is for plants and equipment not including timber limits that go with several of the larger ones. If all these mills were operating, they would employ probably 1500 men in the plants and in the woods and the total annual payroll would be in the neighborhood of two million dollars.

However, there is only a small proportion of the 39 sawmills running at the present time. Five years ago the most of them were operating but the deflation following upon the war caused many of them to close. The increase of freight rates shut more up. Last year some reopened to cut Jap squares but the bottom recently fell out of that market. Now the sawmill industry in Prince Rupert district is in a very inactive and unsatisfactory condition. Some operators report market conditions improving, however, and are hoping for a revival of the industry. The impending revision of royalties will tend to stabilize matters though the projected increase, if it is carried into effect, will only serve to delay the recovery of an already crippled industry.

Pulp and Paper
The review of the industry here given does not apply to the pulp and paper plants but, in passing, they might briefly be referred to. The big plant of the Pacific Mills at Ocean Falls continues to operate steadily. It produces 300 tons of pulp and paper daily and gives employment to probably 1,500 men. The 50 ton pulp mill of the Whalen Pulp & Paper Co. at Swanson Bay remains closed although the sawmill is operating.

The last sawmill in the district to close was the 125,000 foot plant of the Massett Timber Co. at Buckley Bay. The lumber glut in California where its output was shipped together possibly with some difficulties in connection with the management were the causes for the shut-down.

Mill Purchased

Recently the Graham Island Spruce & Cedar mill of 60,000 capacity at Port Clements was purchased by the interests represented by F. L. Buckley of Vancouver—also the 30,000 foot Airplane Spruce mill at the same place. It is the announced intention to remodel and reopen the former plant but the latter is to be dismantled.

The following plants in the district are at present operating:

- George Little, Terrace, 25,000 feet, for eastern and local market.
- Big Bay Lumber Co., Georgetown, 25,000 feet, for British and local market including boxes for the fisheries.
- Granby mill, Larcom Island, near Anox, 75,000 feet for the Australian market.
- Little & Giggey, Terrace, 15,000 for local market.
- A. T. Harrer, Smithers, 15,000 feet for local market. (This is a new mill just recently opened up.)
- J. Hagen, Vanarsdol, 10,000 feet, for local market.
- J. A. Brown, Eastall River near Port Essington, box lumber, 10,000 feet.
- Whalen Pulp & Paper Co., Swanson Bay, 125,000 feet, for Atlantic states.
- Northern B.C. Fisheries, Namu, 25,000 feet, box lumber.
- Not Operating
The following are the mills that are not operating at the present time:
Royal Lumber Co., Hanall, 25,000 feet.
Lakelse Lumber Co., Amsbury, 20,000 feet.
Kitsumkalum Lumber Co., Remo, 25,000 feet.
Kleanza Co., Usk, 20,000 feet.
Haywood Lumber Co., Usk, 45,000 feet.
Northern B.C. Lumber Co., near Smithers, 20,000 feet.
Prince Rupert Lumber Co., Prince Rupert, 125,000 feet.
Masset Timber Co., Buckley Bay, 125,000 feet.
Graham Island Spruce & Cedar mill, Port Clements, 60,000 feet. Airplane Spruce mill, Port Clements, 30,000 feet. Queen Charlotte City mill, Queen Charlotte City, 25,000 feet.

The following small local mills run when business offers: J. Kirkpatrick, Terrace, 5,000; Blue Ox, Terrace, 5,000; T. R. Davis, Terrace, 5,000; B. Tomlinson, Cedarvale, 2,000; Spitzl & Pohle, Carnaby, 10,000; Telkwa Lumber Co., Tatlow, 5,000; W. H. Van Horne, Telkwa, 5,000; Barger & Bourgeon, Quick, 5,000; W. D. Lukens, Palling, 5,000; F. R. Keefe, Southbank, Francois Lake, 10,000; A. Pepper, Encha Lake, 3,000; Prebbles, Macdonald's Landing, Francois Lake, 3,000; O. H. Hampre, Danskin, 2,000; Harrison Bros., Ootsa Lake, 2,000; Lawrence & Workman, Stewart, 5,000; Al. Falconer, Alice Arm, 5,000.

Scaling in District

From the following scaling totals for the year 1923 as reported by the forestry department some idea of the production of the district both in lumber and pulp and paper, etc., may be gained:

- Logs, 183,287,000 feet.
- Poles and piles, 1,717,000 lineal feet.
- Hewn railway ties, 662,630.
- Cords of pulp and fuel wood, 7,363.

Logging Railways

Logging railways are found in this district only at Alice Arm and in connection with the operations of the Pacific Mills in the neighborhood of Ocean Falls. Between the Abbotsford Logging Company, and the Granby Company, there are about five miles of logging railway at Alice Arm.

The Pacific Mills have the following mileage at logging camps, Kwatna River in Burke Channel, four miles. Green Bay, North Bentinck Arm, five miles. Kimsquit in Dean Channel, five miles.

ANIMALS IN LATEST ZOO AT CHICAGO ARE ALMOST AT LIBERTY

Conditions There Very Similar to Native Homes of Creatures Kept in Captivity

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—The physical and psychological atmosphere of their native jungle freedom, with woods, mountains and streams unchecked by metal bars or other evidences of restraint, are to be the surroundings of wild animals dwelling in the Chicago Zoological Park Colony, only a few miles from the center of this city. About 200 acres have been acquired some 12 miles west of Chicago's loop, and will be transformed into a land "conducive to happiness and longer life of animals" through the installation of the barless type of zoo.

Zoo specialists, architects and animal authorities from all over the world were called here to pass upon the tract, and the model ultimately accepted, avoids the faults experienced in the construction of other large zoos. George F. Morse, for many years head of the Boston Zoo, will direct the Chicago plan.

No Bars There

Dens will be provided for the lions in which they will be able to move about at will, with no bars, the public being protected by concealed moats beyond which the animals cannot go. Goats and other climbing animals will be in enclosures where there will be crags and rocks and various other natural fixtures that will permit them to exercise their natural instincts.

The psychological effect of displaying wild animals apparently unconfined is said to be of great value not only to the public, but to the animals themselves. The prison atmosphere is removed, and the animals enjoy a degree of freedom which is conducive to happiness and longer life.

Moat of Water

The construction methods employed to prevent the animals from escaping are novel. The sides and back of the various parks will be of some inaccessible rock formation, while the front will have a wide, deep moat of water with smooth retaining walls which will give the animal no foothold, even if he should swim the moat.

WOULD CIRCULATE CARTWHEELS AGAIN

Big Silver Dollars Almost Gone Out of Use in States Replaced by Paper

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The U.S. Treasury has embarked on a campaign to restore the silver dollar—the "cartwheel," which was so widely used twenty years ago to general circulation.

The initial step was taken when one of the coins was placed in the pay envelope of each of 5,000 Treasury employees. Similar action will be suggested to other government bureaus.

During the past 20 years a steady stream of silver dollars has flowed to the treasury as the use of paper money supplanted them on the receding frontiers of trade. The movement was furthered by the government because of the expense and danger of transporting the heavy specie in making necessary settlements between banks. It has been estimated, however, that the upkeep of paper money costs the government around three per cent of its total face value, while maintenance of silver dollars costs practically nothing. Arrangements have been made whereby various reserve banks will bear hereafter the expense of shipment of silver dollars.

There are about 509,000,000 cartwheels available, of which some $439,000,000 now are required by law to be held in the Treasury against silver certificates and silver treasury notes outstanding. Officials said about $30,000,000 might be considered as available for immediate distribution if the public demand required that amount.
