French Proposals With Minor Changes Have Been Accepted by London Parley Committee

LONDON, July 31.—Members of the experts' committee of the inter-Allied conference, after an examination of the proposals submitted by French experts yesterday as a compromise to end the conference which has been deadlocked over security for the Dawes plan for a German loan, declared belief that the French proposals with minor alterations would probably be acceptable to the conference. One of the French proposals provides for a board of arbitration empowered to make a declaration of default on the part of Germany. The evacuation of the Ruhr in successive steps as securities are issued under the plan is also provided for in the proposal.

Large Shipments of Halibut Made Through this Port in Month of July and Prices Good

Despite the fact that American arrivals were comparatively low up to the middle of the month on account of prices offered at Alaska ports being just as high as those prevailing here, halibut landings at this port during the month of July totalled 3,388,100 pounds constituting the largest volume of business done here in a single month for some time. In view of the approaching close season, fishing is now proceeding on a larger scale and this no doubt is contributory to the increased heaviness and frequency of arrivals.

PICTURESQUE TRIP ENGLAND TO STATES WITHOUT ANY MONEY

MONTREAL, July 31.—How to live on nothing a year would be an apt title for the story told to the harbor police by 16-year-old Arthur O'Sullivan, giving his address as Liverpool, England, who is being held at the Canadian immigration office.

On his own admission, Arthur obtained free passage across the Atlantic on the S.S. Regina, by mingling with passengers in the third class sections by day and sleeping in the stokehold at night. After arriving in Montreal, he visited Toronto and smaller cities and parts of the United States, travelling on freight cars and riding the bumpers. He returned to Montreal and was attempting to get aboard a liner bound for England when his plans were interrupted by the harbor police who discovered him and took him into custody.

Exhibit Of Fish For The Fair.

There never has been an exhibit of fish at the fair here because fish is a difficult thing to handle. What is really needed is an exhibit of plaster casts of the various kinds of food and sport fish taken in these waters which could be kept as a permanent exhibit along with the minerals and other articles which would be of interest to the public.

A Nelson paper says that the chief inspector of fisheries is co-operating with them in providing samples of the various kinds of trout including eastern brook trout, large and small mouth bass, cut throats, dolly vardens, and kokanee, and probably chub, grayling, ling, squaw fish and suckers.

Apparently this exhibit is to be of the fresh fish. The suggestion of a set of casts of the fish is more feasible and would be likely to bring better results. Salmon eggs showing the various stages of development are also to be shown at Nelson, Prince Rupert ought to be able to secure an exhibit of this kind from Lakelse. Such an exhibit would arouse interest in the fisheries and would be of great educational value.

Warns Against Weight Remedies.

A contemporary issues a warning to people against the use of weight reducers. It says:

The matter of overweight has been pretty thoroughly investigated. It is so closely related to the quantity of food consumed and the amount of exercise not taken that a cure is fairly convenient to those in reasonable health and who are at an age which still permits them to engage in vigorous outdoor exercise or work.

It has been found that the majority of remedies said to be efficacious as reducers of weight will not of themselves accomplish such a result. The best plan to take off excess weight is to reduce the menu and take plenty of exercise, preferably at some outdoor work. The person who is over-stout, but is not suffering any particular inconvenience therefrom should not worry. The cure for the ailment is so natural that it should not prove unpleasant. Most people who are overweight enjoy their meals so thoroughly that they permit their appetites to get the better of their judgment. Restraint in eating is calculated to cure most cases of over-weight.

Invite Premier To Visit City.

It has been announced that Premier Mackenzie King will probably tour western Canada this autumn. He is billed tentatively to go to Courtenay on Vancouver Island to lay the cornerstone of the new post office. He will address a meeting in Vancouver and another in Victoria.

It would be quite worth while for the Premier to come to Prince Rupert on this trip. He would be able to enjoy the holiday on the boat coming north and would be able to get in touch once more with the people of the north. If an invitation has not already been sent to him it is to be hoped this will be done at an early date.

Railway Rates Are Again Live Question.

Numerous complaints are being made in different parts of the country against the freight rates since the Crow's Nest Pass rates have come in force and this seems an opportune time to again press for a revision of the rates westward. Premier Oliver is already at work on these with a view to pressing British Columbia's claim and failing this an appeal will be made to Parliament at the next session. While everyone wishes the railways to prosper and it is evident they must get a rate high enough to pay for operation and overhead expenses, what we in the West take exception to is that better rates are given from the prairies eastward than from the same points over the same distance westward. The fight for better rates is to have these equalized.

FOUGHT BEAR WITH AN AXE

Crude Weapons Used Against Grizzly Then Men Ran Away

FROG LAKE, July 31.—An axe and a shovel were the weapons with which A. F. Granger of Frog Lake and Frank Hood of Fox Lake withstood the attack of a grizzly bear recently, according to the account of his adventures brought back from the wilds of Northern Alberta by Mr. Granger.

When Mr. Granger wielded the axe on the bear's skull, he received in return a cuff which sent him sprawling fifteen feet away, but a blow on the back with Mr. Hood's shovel sent the grizzly into temporary retreat, and the men were enabled to take to their heels and reach safety, according to Mr. Granger's narrative.

The scene of the adventure was laid near Wolf Creek, in the lake country in the northern part of the province, where Mr. Grainger had gone for a holiday. Mr. Hood, who lives on the shore of Fox Lake, had gone into camp with him, and the two were on a trip of exploration of Wolf Creek when the grizzly bear was encountered, Mr. Granger reports. They had left their rifles in camp, he says, to avoid being too heavily burdened.

He Tells the Story

The story of the encounter, as told by Mr. Granger, is as follows:

"After walking about three miles from camp, my pal saw something moving in the bushes, which he took to be a moose at first sight. He drew my attention to it by exclaiming, 'Look, look at the moose!'"

Grizzly Shambles Out

"But before I had time to answer a large grizzly bear shambled onto the trail about twenty-five yards ahead of us. He was large even for a grizzly, and as he came into full view I was amazed at his size. He was of a tawny grey color, and in the bright morning sunlight his coat shone like burnished copper.

"As he came onto the trail he stopped and looked up the trail toward the north (away from us). Then he turned his head and looked in our direction. Seeing us he gave a short grunt, while the bristles on his back rose up like those of an angry dog, and he started toward us.

"After shambling forward for perhaps ten steps he stopped, threw up his head, and then came on at a furious rate, grunting and growling.

"There was no time for concealment. All we had time to do was to step off the trail on to the side of the road. On Mr. Hood's side there were two small trees behind which he stepped, but on my side there was no concealment whatever.

Feelings Beyond Telling

"My feelings at that moment cannot be described. I was not really afraid, but I realized that there was very small hope of either of us coming through alive. I remember saying to my companion, 'Don't run, Frank, we must fight.' To which he replied simply, 'I will not run.' There was no time for a further exchange of words for the bear was bearing straight down upon me.

"I had always supposed a bear to be a slow, ponderous animal, but I was surprised at his speed as he came towards us. I poised my axe for a blow, took two or three quick steps toward him struck for his head. But the bear struck too, and my blow glanced off his head and did him no harm.

"My move toward him brought me within reach of his powerful paws and he rose in the air and struck me with the backs of his paws just below my ribs. I sailed through the air for about fifteen feet and landed on my head in a bed of moss. The axe was still clutched in my hands, and I started back to the fight, but my breath was gone and I could not make it.

"In the meantime my pal had taken a hand in the fight, for he sprang forward and brought the sharp point of the shovel down on the bear's spine. At this unexpected attack the bear turned half around as if to attack Frank, received another blow from the shovel, turned back and made off the way he had come, emitting howls of rage, and disappeared behind a rise of ground.

Bear Coming Back

"After we had got back our breath we followed to the top of the knoll, and saw the bear about a hundred yards away. But he was coming back. We did not wait for the second encounter, but made what haste we could for camp, taking care to keep concealed by the shrubs and trees as much as possible. We arrived at the camp without being overtaken, thankful to be spared a terrible death.

"As soon as I was able to be out again, for I had been badly bruised where the bear had struck me, and my neck and shoulders were sprained from my fall, Frank and I went back to the place of the encounter, this time taking our rifles along as well as a powerful trap which we set for him, or any of his pals that might happen that way. We found by his track that he had returned to the place after we left, searched for our tracks and after finding them, followed us almost to camp."

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

July 31, 1914.

Germany has declared war on Russia and it is believed Austria will follow suit today. Russia is prepared to invade Austria at a moment's notice. A general European war seems to be imminent with Germany, Austria and Turkey on one side, and Britain, France, Russia, Belgium and Italy on the other.

A wire was received here yesterday that the Grand Trunk Pacific docks had been destroyed by fire. They were built only last year at a cost of $300,000 and were the handsomest docks on the Seattle waterfront.

The local G.T.P. offices have received word that an order has been issued putting Prince Rupert on a par with Vancouver, Victoria and other coast points in the matter of terminal freight rates.

In the Letter Box

WANTS NEW FLAG.

Editor Daily News: Stuart McLaren's arrival might suggest that a respectable flag be flown from the post house, if not always, at least on the British aviator's arrival. The condition of the flag which has been flying from the government buildings for the past several months has been the subject of audibly comment, not always complimentary, from the tourists of the United States who have been passing through here in such numbers lately.

Britain's glory has not faded and it is a cheap economy to fly a faded flag. We ought to be and are proud of our flag, but it requires some effort to be proud of the specimen our government provides just now for the public gaze.

EDMONTON PREFERS SMALL HOUSES AND OTHERS ARE VACANT

EDMONTON, July 31.—Large houses appear to be going out of fashion in Edmonton, and in some cases new bungalows are being built alongside vacant larger houses.

An inspection of the list of permits issued by the building inspector reveals the fact that practically all new residences erected this year are of the bungalow type, containing from four to seven rooms and costing from $2,500 to $3,500.

It is noticeable also, in the city, that while many eight and twelve-roomed houses are available for rent, there is scarcely a bungalow vacant in any district.

FASHIONS & FOIBLES

by Shirley Sharon

The round, shallow yoke which lends its outline to so many fashions for grown-ups is charming in a soft, full frock for the small girl.

At a recent and very royal children's party held in an old-world garden in the heart of London a small girl who presented a bouquet to her royal hostess wore a little French frock of pale-blue Georgette printed with parrot tulips in pink and white and red and yellow. The dress itself hung softly from a round shallow yoke and the short sleeves were slashed to the shoulders. These little straight-hanging frocks are charming in all the soft Summer materials and colors—geranium cotton voile, canary-colored fine cotton crepe, powder-blue batiste, silk crepe, crepe de Chine, flowered silks, etc.

BRINGING UP FATHER

LECTURES GIVEN BY MRS. ANNIE BESANT TO CROWDS IN LONDON

LONDON, July 31.—Mrs. Annie Besant has finished a series of five lectures at Queen's Hall on "Civilisation's Deadlock and the Keys." Though in different ways she has antagonised many people, she still has a very big following in this and other countries, and her mental and physical vigor in the 77th year of her present incarnation is practically undiminished.

Queen's Hall has been full to overflowing every Sunday evening in June with a very responsive and enthusiastic audience, who miss no opportunity of showing respect and admiration. The platform is banked with flowers, and at Mrs. Besant's entry and departure the assembly of about 3,000 spontaneously rises. There is no chairman and no preliminaries. Mrs. Besant plunges straight into her subject, and without a note and without pause easily holds the close attention of her audience for over an hour. A born orator, she has a dignified, rather elevated style and a deliberate delivery. Her articulation is perfect. She is clearly heard in every part of the hall, and when she becomes passionate her voice rings out with clarion note. When she is protesting against social injustice, or pleading for some urgent reform, one realises that the speaker, though she has undergone many changes, is yet the same Annie Besant who forty years ago with Charles Bradlaugh, from the Hall of Science in Old Street, denounced what she regarded as the evils of that time.

CANADIAN BIRTHRATE FALLING STEADILY

Prairies Show Marked Drop in Percentage of Births During Past Few Years.

WINNIPEG, July 30.—Manitoba and Saskatchewan birthrates are steadily falling, according to figures from Ottawa, issued by the Federal Bureau of Statistics covering the last four years. In Manitoba the birth rate per thousand in 1921 was 30.3. In 1922 it fell to 28.2, and last year it was only 25.6. In Saskatchewan the condition is more serious as the birthrate there has fallen steadily for four years from 30.1 in 1920 to 25.2 last year. Taking the Dominion as a whole the birthrate, which stood at 26.3 in 1921, was only 23.3 in 1923.

Only one family in Canada achieved the distinction of landing safely a set of quadruplets. Better luck, however, was experienced with triplets, of which a round dozen cases are recorded. Twins were fairly common, there being 1,766 pairs ushered into Canadian citizenship without accident.

OBJECTION IS TAKEN TO MARRIED WOMEN IN WINNIPEG OFFICES

WINNIPEG, July 31.—War may be declared upon married women in the civic service, who are working to augment a family income already sufficient for maintenance. The old question of abolishing married women to open up jobs for men in need of work, which became a live topic at the close of the war, has been revived by Ald. T. Flye, who advocates releasing all such persons from the civic service. "It has come to my attention recently that quite a few women are holding down good jobs with the city, who have a husband that can support them. This may be all right under certain conditions, but at a time when the city and the government is grappling with a serious unemployment situation and straining all our resources to find jobs for men with families dependent on them, we should not allow married women who are working merely for pastime or pin money to fill civic positions."

THINGS THAT KEPT UNCLE JAKE YOUNG

BUTLER, Pa., July 31.—"Chew tobacco moderately, eat moderately and exercise moderately, if you wish to be 100 years old," is the rule laid down by "Uncle Jake" Cable, of Connoquenessing township, who now dwells at the county home and who will be 107 years old in October. Longevity is apparently the rule in this Cable family as "Uncle Jake's" father lived to the age of 104 and his mother, brothers and sisters lived many years.

SEEDING TREES

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 31.—More than 2,000 pounds of tree seed were sown in the state and institutional nurseries this past spring, officials in the Department of Forests and Waters announced. It is estimated this quantity of seed will produce more than 49,000,000 small trees principally white, pitch, red and Scotch pine, Norway spruce and larch.

Sport Chat

With play improving and the enthusiasm of the fans waxing as the season advances, soccer has been gaining in popularity during the past few weeks. Such being the case, there will undoubtedly be a good turnout at the Stuart Shield match tonight between the Sons of Canada and Sons of England. It will be the last match of the first half of the trophy competition. Whatever the outcome may be, the Canucks are assured of ending up at the top of the standing, but should the Englishmen win tonight, the lead of the Canadians will be slim on entering the second half, a fortnight hence.

The Sons of England will select their line-up this evening from the following: W. Lambie, R. Howe, Dick Lambe, Percy Cameron, George Kelsey, F. Hodgkinson, G. Shenton, Dickens, Percy Tinker, Munro, George Hill Jr., Bales and S. Gawthorne.

Despite his pre-flight statements that, if he lost in the recent bout with Tunney, he would hang up his gloves for good and all, there is every indication that Georges Carpentier, the French pugilist, will continue to engage in ring activities. Motion pictures of the Carpentier-Tunney bout reveal that the blow which felled the Frenchman in the fourteenth round was no foul despite assertions of many ringside spectators that it was below the belt. The pictures were viewed last week by Carpentier and Tunney and their managers, and, after seeing them, Descamps, Carpentier's manager, stated that it was not Tunney's gloved fist that committed the alleged foul blow, but his knee. "We hope for a return match with Tunney," Descamps stated, "and feel confident, if allowed another chance, that we can reverse the decision."

Nels Jepson, light heavyweight wrestling champion of Canada, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon and next Tuesday evening will meet Jack Burns, of Spokane, challenger, in a match for the title. Jepson is a likely looking man and is confident that he is not going to lose his laurels to Burns. Besides the Canadian title, Jepson holds the middleweight, light heavyweight and heavyweight titles of Alaska, having won them as a result of a tour in 1916. During the war, Jepson was in the U. S. army as an instructor and two years ago came to Canada. Wrestling in Alberta, he defeated all comers and won the light heavyweight championship of Canada. He is well-known in Edmonton and Lethbridge and makes his home in the former city. Jepson has been wrestling for some 15 years and among the men he has defeated are Charlie Olsen, Young Norbeck, Leib Carlson, Jack Allison and Nels Moe. On one occasion he wrestled with John Berg, former light heavyweight champion of the world, two

BASEBALL LEAGUE TO CONTINUE WITH TWO TEAMS PLAYING

In order to improve the standard of baseball being played in the City League, G.F.'s team was withdrawn from the competition at the meeting of the Association last night, and it was decided to proceed with the second half of the schedule with two clubs—the Sons of Canada and Columbus Club. A distribution of the players formerly signed up with G.F.'s will be made among the two remaining teams with a view to matching them as evenly as possible. Starting tomorrow night, games will be played twice weekly on baseball nights until a week before the Fair when the city championship competition will conclude.

The schedule for the second half of the season, together with the official standing of the teams to date, will be issued by the Association before the end of the week.

SHORT WAVES FOR WIRELESS

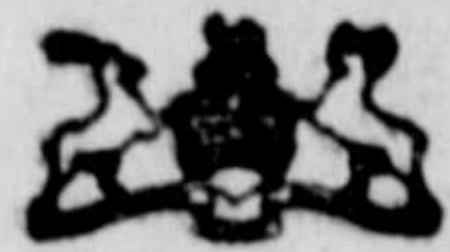

Marconi Tells About His Work With Latest Beam Stations.

Many inquiries have been made here in regard to the wireless beam stations which are being installed and of which Vancouver is to get one. Signor Marconi, before the Royal Society of Arts in London, recently gave an account of the experiments he had carried out with long distance short wave directional wireless telegraphy on the beam system.

He remarked that though short waves and reflectors were used in the earliest experiments in wireless transmission, the long-wave system made such rapid progress that research was diverted from short waves, and only recently has it been discovered that these waves, which alone can, in practice, be confined in beams to definite directions, are capable of results that are unobtainable with the longer waves commonly employed for long-distance communication. He returned to the short waves about 1916, and has since made various experiments with them. In particular, in April, May, and June, of last year he sailed in his yacht Elettra as far as the Cape Verde Islands, to investigate the conditions of transmission from Poldhu, where a short-wave installation had been fitted, and found that, contrary to general belief, the day ranges for waves about 100 metres long are reliable and not inconsiderable; that the night ranges are much greater than had been anticipated; and that intervening masses of land do not present serious obstacles to the propagation of the waves. He also discovered that the strength of the signals during the hours of daylight varies definitely and regularly in accordance with the altitude of the sun above the horizon over the space or region intervening between the transmitting and receiving stations.

Half Round World.

In the earlier part of this year short-wave signals from Poldhu were received at Sydney "every day perfectly well" from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. (Greenwich time) and also between 6.30 a.m. and 9.30 a.m. In view of the position and

FRECKLE-FACE

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots. How to Remove Easily

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable concern that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine as this strength is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

Stenhouse, Ltd., 35 St. Francois Xavier St., Montreal, Que.

altitude of the sun, it would appear that the waves during the morning period travelled westwards from England across the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, along the longest route to Sydney (about 12,219 nautical miles), and during the evening period eastwards over Europe and Asia along the shortest route (about 9,381 miles). These results tempted Signor Marconi to try a wireless telephony test to Australia, and on May 30 intelligible speech was transmitted for the first time from England to Sydney. The total power applied was about 28kw., the wave was 92 metres in length, and no reflector was used.

In Signor Marconi's opinion it has now been proved that adequately designed reflectors, even if of comparatively moderate size will enormously increase the effective strength of the signals. Moreover, the use of receiving reflectors will be of the greatest advantage to practical working, because, while magnifying the strength of the received waves, they reduce all interference, whether caused by atmospheric electricity or by other stations, unless the direction from which the interference is coming happens to coincide exactly with that of the corresponding stations.

High Speed.

Very high speeds of working appear to be possible only if very short waves are employed. And there is no theoretical reason why, with a frequency of 3,000,000, the frequency of oscillation of a 100-metre wave, the speed should not be 100 times greater than that attainable with a frequency of 30,000, which represents the frequency of a wave length of the order it is proposed to use for the Imperial stations. Another advantage is that when desired, only stations situated within a certain restricted angle of sector of the beam are able to receive, and this condition brings about a comparative privacy or secrecy of communication unobtainable with any other system of radio-communication. This might prove of the greatest importance in time of war, besides considerably increasing the number of stations it will be possible to work, by reducing the possibilities of mutual interference between them.

SENATORS ARE UNDER FIRE

Victoria Paper Says They Will Have To Give Way if People Say So.

The position of the Senate of Canada is under fire by a number of newspapers of Canada. The latest to take up arms against the second chamber is the Victoria Times, which says:

Senator Crowe, of Vancouver, seems contemptuous of Premier King's announcement that steps will be taken to curtail the veto power of the Senate over legislation passed by the House of Commons. He defiantly points out that any measure of Senate reform the Government would seek to have enacted would have to be concurred in by the Senate, which therefore would have to be reckoned with.

Master of Situation.

The implication of this, of course, is that the Senate is master of the situation and can afford to treat with scorn all proposals for its reform no matter how strong or general might be the demand for it.

Hon. Mr. Crowe is quite mistaken in his estimate of the situation. If the Canadian people in a general election on the issue declared for Senate reform by a large majority, as they certainly would, the Senators would do some very serious thinking on the subject. The concurrence of the Senate in an application to the British Parliament for the necessary amendments to the Canadian constitution probably would not be required so long as such application was adopted by the House of Commons at Ottawa on the authority of the Canadian people decisively given in an election.

Special Privilege.

Senator Crowe says the Senate was established to protect minorities and check freak legislation. The record shows clearly enough that by minority the majority of the Senators mean special privilege, and by freak legislation measures, passed by the House of Commons, which privileged interests do not like. In their catalogue of freak legislation they include the pensions bill and the Canadian branch line bills which they killed for all practical purposes.

There is one minority however, that the Senate does not protect and that is the minority of Senators in its own body who want to see this reactionary relic of irresponsible government transformed into a democratic institution desirous of carrying out the wishes of the people who pay to maintain it.

PAYROLL HIGHER B.C. LAST YEAR

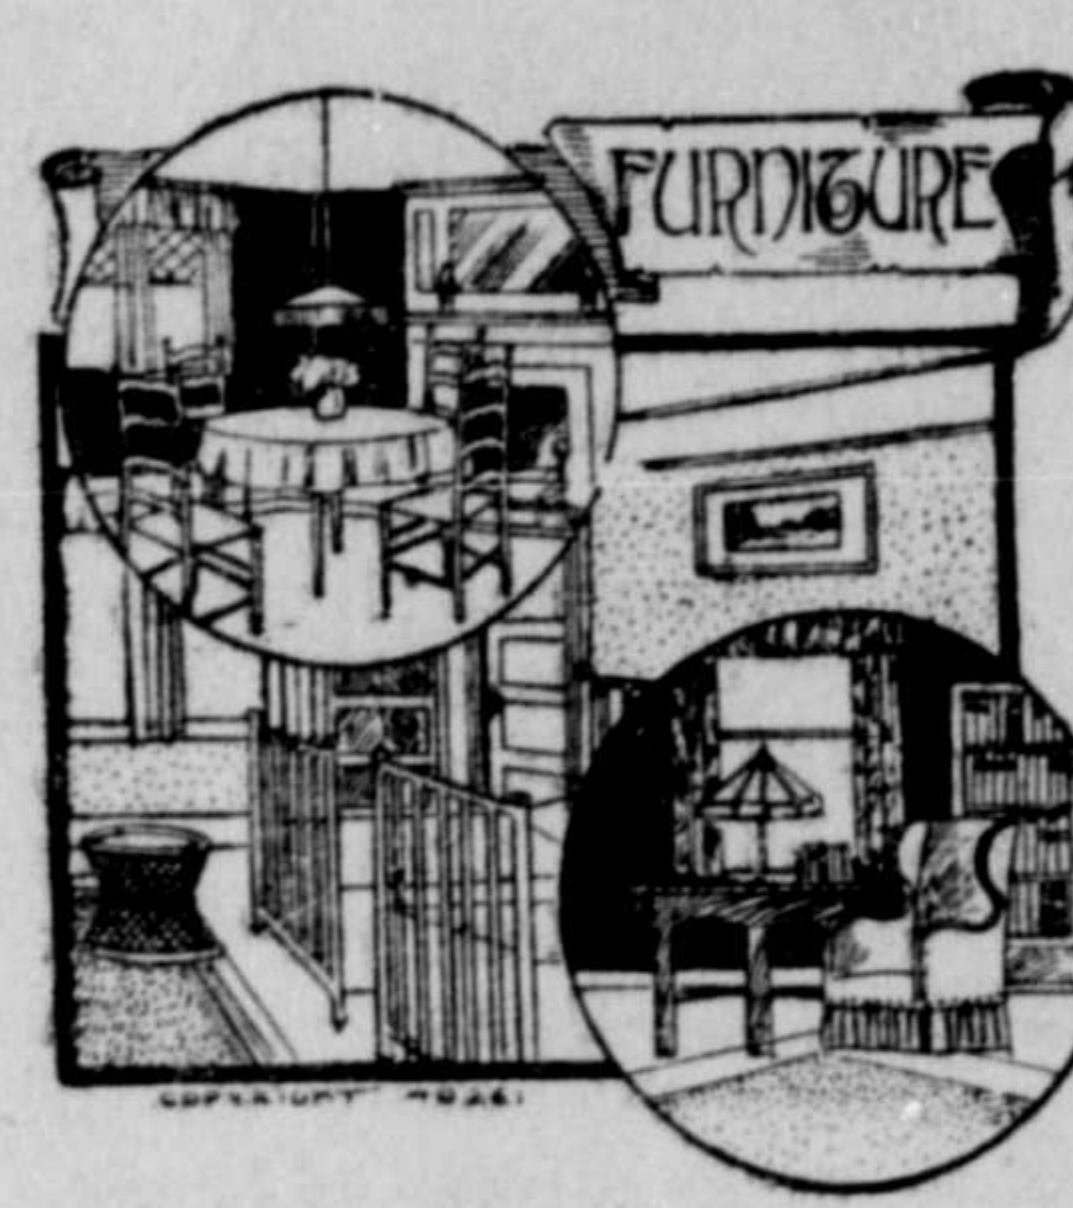

Exceeded That of Previous Year by Twenty Million Dollars Says Minister of Labor

VICTORIA, July 31.—The industrial payroll of British Columbia last year exceeded that of the previous year by twenty million dollars, and most of the industries paid a higher average wage, according to the annual report of the provincial department of labor, an advanced synopsis of which was issued under the authority of the minister, Hon. A. M. Manson.

Unemployment in the province last year was less serious than for several years preceding. The report shows. The efforts of the department to assist unemployed ex-service men are dealt with, and it is pointed out that because of the mild climate of British Columbia, hundreds of disabled or partly disabled veterans of the Great War from other provinces have made their homes on the coast.

The report refers to the Hours of Work Act, passed at the last session of the Provincial House; to changes in the Factories Act affecting the employment of young persons; to the longshoremen's strike in the coast cities, and to the work of the Government Employment Service.

HAIL INJURES CROP IN SOME DISTRICTS

Some Farmers Lost Whole Crop in Country South of Edmonton

Hail storms of varying intensity visited parts of central and northern Alberta over the week-end according to reports reaching the Journal today, says the Edmonton Journal. Elnora and Eckville suffered the greatest loss, some farmers in these districts losing practically their whole crop.

Leduc, Millet, Wetaskiwin, Red Deer, Huxley, all south of Edmonton, and Westlock, north of the city, also report hail.

July Rain 3.42 Inches

The heavy showers over the week-end, accompanied by lightning and thunder, according to figures secured from the meteorological office, resulted in .40 inches of precipitation in the city, to date to 3.42 inches, or an increase of .18 over last year's figures for the same period.

On Saturday night thunder was accompanied by a deluge of rain, which although heavy did not last very long. Sunday night heavy showers were again experienced but for a short time only. The figures from the meteorological office give the precipitation up to this morning only, and it is expected that the figures will be materially increased by tonight.

Rain Fairly General

Various parts of the province, particularly in the north, benefited greatly by rain during the week-end.

According to reports received by the Canadian Pacific Railway, there was three hours' rain on Sunday from Edmonton to Hardisty and two hours' rain from Wetaskiwin to Red Deer. In the Red Deer district itself there was one and a half hours' rain. In the south, a shower lasting for one hour was recorded at Ravenscrag.

There was an hour's light rain in the east extending from Maple Creek to Swift Current.

In the south there were good showers in the vicinity of Pineher Creek and Macleod, also a heavy shower at Stirling.

In the Calgary district there was a good shower on Sunday night.

SCIENTISTS TO REACH QUEBEC

Should Arrive Late Tomorrow Night and Will Visit Interesting Points in Canada

QUEBEC, July 31.—The Canadian Caronia carrying the majority of delegates from Great Britain to the annual meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science is due to reach Quebec late Friday night according to information received here today.

The Caronia has on board in addition to Sir David Bruce, president of the association, more than 20 delegates from the British Isles and they include the keenest scientific and mathematical minds in the world.

Members of the party are not expected to disembark until Saturday morning as elaborate preparations have been made to give them the entire day in Quebec, visiting the historical points in and around the city. They are also to be received by the Lieut.-Governor at Spencer Wood and to be welcomed to the province by officials of the government and city. They will leave Quebec for Montreal Saturday night on a deluxe special train over the Canadian National Railways, this train making a leisurely trip so as not to reach Montreal before Sunday morning. C. K. Howard, general tourist agent, and H. F. Tilley, general agent of the Canadian National Railways will board the Caronia at Father Point and complete all arrangements for the smooth movement of this important party through to Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto. Following the convention in Toronto these two officers will take charge of the special trains that will take more than 400 of the delegates across Canada over the lines of the National system.

Wireless on Train

Among the delegates on board the Caronia of special interest to Canadians are Sir Ernest and Lady Rutherford. Sir Ernest who is a past president of the association was some years ago professor of physics at McGill University and it was while he occupied this post that he conducted the first successful reception of wireless signals on board a moving train in the history of the world. It is a coincidence that this experiment was carried out on board a train belonging to the Grand Trunk Railway system, now part of the Canadian National Railways which are today operating radio receiving sets on board a number of their trains as part of their regular service.

In connection with this feat of Sir William, which took place on October 13, 1902, it is pointed out that Sir William has done much for the advancement of wireless telegraphy and radio broadcasting. He is credited with being the real discoverer of wireless telegraphy, successful demon-

BABIES ARE BORN IN INTOXICATED CONDITION

Well Known English Doctor Says Cases Are Common.

LONDON, July 31.—There have been many instances of boys and girls being intoxicated at a very early age, but it remained for the modern physician to announce that cases are on record where babies have been intoxicated at time of birth. Dr. E. Saleeby is authority for a statement that such cases are well known, and his statement is confirmed by other doctors. Babies are born with their breath smelling of liquor as a result of the intemperate habits of the mother. They come into the world in an intoxicated condition.

CROSS BETWEEN LION AND TIGER AT ZOO

Was Presented by Indian Prince and Recent Visit Was Made to See How Getting on LONDON, July 31.—Prince Ranjitsinhji has paid a visit to the Zoo to see how the "tiger," which he had recently presented, was getting on. He told the authorities interesting anecdotes of its parents and its early life, but the most important revelation was that it is a tiger after all, for its father was a tiger and its mother a lioness. It had been previously understood that its father was a lion.

It appears that two lionesses and two tiger cubs were born in the Prince's menagerie and that the four were brought up together, and inbred when seven years old. There have been three litters of tiger cubs so far, the first two of which came to a bad end, for they were both eaten by their mothers. The third litter, born three years ago, consisted of four cubs, one of which died. Of the remaining three two remain at Nawanager, and the third, a male, has settled down at the Zoo.

Fought Over Meat

Tragedy over took the parents of this final litter. The tiger disagreed with the lioness about a piece of meat. They fought. The lioness took the tiger by the throat and held him thus for twenty minutes, after which he broke loose and killed her, and almost immediately died from his own wounds.

If the two young tigers at Nawanager, which are a pair, should breed, it will be interesting to hear if the cubs are in accordance with Mendelian principles, in which case there should be one tiger, two tigers, and one lion—that is to say, 50 per cent of the cubs ought to resemble their hybrid parents, 25 per cent their grandfather tiger, and 25 per cent their grandmother lioness.

NADEN HELPS PLACE BOUNDARY MONUMENT NEAR MOUNT ROBSON

VICTORIA, July 31.—George R. Naden, deputy minister of lands, has left for the vicinity of Mount Robson to be present at the placing of a monument surmounted with a plate commemorative of the ceremony. This will mark the completion of the delimitation of the boundary line between the provinces of British Columbia and Alberta.

The work of locating the boundary, which in this part follows the mountain tops, has been in progress for a number of years under joint arrangement with the government of Canada and the two provincial governments concerned. The monument is to be placed at a point lying between the Mount Robson Park and the Jasper Park and will be at a height of about 5,000 feet. The three governments will be represented. In the absence of the minister of lands representing British Columbia, the deputy minister was requested to be present.
