EFFORT MADE NOT TO TELL

Unsatisfactory Evidence Given at Trial of Mabel Normand's Chauffeur

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 22.—That there appears to be "a conspiracy to suppress evidence in the hearing of the case against Horace Greer, chauffeur for Mabel Normand, charged with shooting Gourtland Dines" was the statement of Judge Walter Handby at the preliminary hearing. The statement followed evasive replies and inability to remember on the part of both Miss Normand and Dines. Dines, testifying from his bed, said he did not remember what Greer said on New Year's night. He did not see the pistol in the chauffeur's hand and did not remember if he picked up a bottle when Greer entered the apartment and sought to persuade Miss Normand who was Dines' guest to leave. He could not say to his own knowledge whether it was Greer who shot him. Greer was present at the hearing and at the conclusion shook hands with Dines, who smilingly said, "That's all right old man."

Coventry, son of the Earl of Coventry, announces that contracts have been awarded for $125,000 worth of lumber as a preliminary to construction in the spring. The Victoria Park Racing Association has been incorporated to operate the track. Colwood is about six miles from this city. Already there is one of the finest golf links in the country there.

MILD WEATHER IN THE YUKON

Thermometer Reading Hovering Around Zero as Against Forty Below Last Year

DAWSON, Jan. 22.—The Yukon is experiencing the mildest winter weather within the memory of the oldest inhabitant, the mercury hovering around zero in contrast with the previous January's forty degrees below zero. Extreme high temperatures have prevailed in Yukon and parts of Alaska since early last summer. Toronto meteorologists theorize that the higher temperature of the Pacific ocean currents is possibly due to submarine disturbances from volcanic action

LONDON, Jan. 22.—Quick political changes have taken place within the past few hours. Late last night the Baldwin government was defeated by an adverse vote of the House of Commons on a want of confidence motion. This morning, shortly before noon, Premier Baldwin handed in his resignation to King George and it was accepted. On the advice of the retiring premier the King sent at once for J. Ramsay Macdonald and asked him to form a cabinet. The request was granted and soon afterwards Macdonald announced his cabinet as follows: Premier and Secretary for Foreign Affairs—J. Ramsay Macdonald. Lord Privy Seal and Deputy Leader of the House of Commons—John Robert Clynes. Lord President of the Council—Lord Parmoor. Lord Chancellor—Viscount Haldane. Chancellor of the Exchequer—Phillip Snowden. Secretary of State for Home Affairs—Arthur Henderson. Colonial Secretary—J. H. Thomas. Secretary for War—Stephen Walsh. Secretary of State for India—Sir Sydney Olivier. Air Minister—Brig.-Gen. C. Thompson. First Lord of the Admiralty—Viscount Chelmsford. President of the Board of Trade—Sydney Webb. Minister of Health—John Wheatley. Minister of Agriculture—Noel Buxton. Secretary for Scotland—Wm. Adamson. President of the Board of Education—C. P. Trevelyan. Minister of Labor—Thomas Shaw. Postmaster General—Vernon Hartshorn. Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster—Josiah Wedgwood. Commissioner of Works—F. W. Jowett.

In announcing that he would combine the foreign office with the premiership Mr. Macdonald stated that one of his first steps would be to bring the League of Nations within the purview of the foreign secretaryship.

Commons Adjourned

The House of Commons agreed to an adjournment for three weeks on the proposal of Premier Baldwin in order to allow members of the new government to get acquainted with their duties and prepare to submit legislation. Unofficially it is stated that the cabinet will be officially appointed Thursday. The Baldwin government was defeated late last night, the majority against being 328 to 256, giving an adverse majority of 72. The amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne was moved by J. R. Clynes, deputy leader of the parliamentary Labor Party, Ramsay Macdonald himself moving the closure which shut off all further debate. The amendment read: "That it is our duty respectfully to submit to Your Majesty that Your Majesty's present advisers have not the confidence of the House." The Labor Party was supported by H. H. Asquith. The Macdonald government will be the first Labor government in the history of the nation. Members of the cabinet will have to return to their constituencies for re-election.

VICTORIA, Jan. 22.—Extra precautions are being taken by federal and provincial medical authorities to guard against any possible outbreak of smallpox in this province consequent upon the entry of infected persons from the smallpox stricken section of Hong Kong where a veritable pestilence is raging. Ships arriving from that port at quarantine are being given extra attention by the federal authorities and the provincial board of health.

OTTAWA, Jan. 22.—The proposed flight of the United States dirigible Shenandoah to the polar regions next summer will interest Ottawa considerably particularly in regard to annexation of territory. In the last two years the Canadian Government has sent an expedition north with a view to confirming the Canadian title to the great archipelago area north of Canada, comprising all islands west of Greenland and north of the Canadian mainland. The area of these islands, exclusive of those under 500 square miles in extent, is 520,000 square miles.

RAILWAYMEN ON STRIKE STILL

Both Sides Claim Advantage But No Sign of Settlement in Sight

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The second day of the strike of engineers and firemen against a wage reduction found both sides claiming the advantage. Reports from provincial centres were far from reassuring to thousands who use the railways. The men are standing firm and in some places are being joined by many engineers of another union in defiance of the admonition of the officers. In the coal districts it is feared the miners will have to cease work if the tieup continues. Industrial centres fear enforced idleness because of the inability to obtain supplies. Newcastle owners see the spectre of United States dealers ousting them from continental markets.

DAILY EDITION

Britain Acts Constitutionally.

The government of Great Britain is being carried on according to the unwritten constitution. The Baldwin government retained power to the last possible moment and then has been defeated and is being replaced by a Labor government with J. Ramsay MacDonald as prime minister. This was inevitable from the moment the election returns came in. Labor is the predominant power in the British parliament, but it can only retain control of parliament through the co-operation of the Liberals. Under this group system there will be a Labor government with Liberal control. At any time the Liberal vote may bring on a crisis resulting in either an appeal to the country or a coalition of Liberals and Conservatives to carry on.

How long the Liberals will continue to support the government will depend very largely on the stand the Labor government takes on public questions. Should they try to force through a capital levy, as proposed, they would probably go out of power almost immediately but they will not do that. The levy policy will be shelved for the present and possibly for all time.

Capital Levy Hardly Workable.

A capital levy is hardly workable. The idea of ridding the country of its bonded indebtedness to foreign countries is perhaps a rather good one and was doubtless intended to be a beneficent measure. The trouble would come in carrying out the levy. Take a specific instance. A merchant is in business, carrying on as most merchants do with little spare capital and with notes coming due at specific periods which must be met. The state says it wants a capital payment amounting to the value of one fifth of the business. It simply could not be paid. It is difficult enough to pay the taxes much less a levy on the capital. To give the government a charge on the property would ruin the merchant's credit. It is an impossible situation. It would cause thousands of business failures and would end in chaos.

If all businesses were incorporated companies, it might not be difficult to hand over to the state shares in the concern to the value of the levy. The state might also get a share of the bonded indebtedness. Then there would be all sorts of manipulations to make the dividends as low as possible so that the state should not get its share. While some would pay the levy faithfully, because they could not help themselves, others would manage to squirm out of it just as Germany today is squirming out of paying her levy to the allied governments.

Reports Against Vancouver Charges.

J. D. O. Mothersill, special commissioner investigating the grain shipping at the port of Vancouver, urges providing more grain storage facilities and a lowering of the charges which at present amount to six cents a ton. One feature of the cost, which is alluded to, is the installation and operation of belt conveyors. One at the Ballantyne pier he says will cost over half a million dollars to install.

Mr. Mothersill did not visit Prince Rupert because his commission did not include this port and he was asked to hurry with his report. Vancouver is objecting to the report as untrue in some particulars.

To bring Prince Rupert to the attention of the Alberta people a campaign of publicity is desirable, and this, it will be remembered, was suggested by Mr. Mothersill to Prince Rupert people who interviewed him at Vancouver.

Necessary City Should Make Itself Known.

It seems very necessary that there should be a great deal of publicity on the prairies and in the far east to keep the port before the public so that when they think grain shipments they shall think Prince Rupert as well as Vancouver. Today shipping grain westward means shipping by way of Vancouver. We are but a small place and to make ourselves felt we should exert a great deal of energy else we shall be buried as we deserve.

A Letter from Old London

Empire Exhibition, Indian Rope Trick, Crystal Palace Revival, Engineer's Exhibition, Holiday Theatres

(By Pantou House)

LONDON, Jan. 22.—In connection with next year's British Empire Exhibition, a Fellowship has been formed, with the Prince of Wales as its first member and president. The primary object of the Fellowship is to promote Imperial trade and industry, and the scheme embraces the provision of prizes and scholarships, the former designed to further the cause of Imperial education. The scholarships of £1,000 each will be intended, in the case of a young citizen of the Overseas Dominions, to give him a university or technical education in the Motherland; and in that of a young citizen of the United Kingdom, to provide for his settlement overseas; but each will have the option of using the scholarship for a start in life in his own country.

These prizes and scholarships will be available only to Fellows of the British Empire Exhibition or to their nominees. The subscription to the Fellowship has been fixed at two guineas (about ten dollars) without any further liability, membership being open to any British citizen. Every member will receive a certificate of membership on parchment, signed by the Prince of Wales, which will form an interesting souvenir; a ticket giving free admission to the Exhibition at all times (or, if preferred, 25 single tickets); and a gun-metal badge, issued only to Fellows of the B.E.E.

The Indian Rope Trick

Many people have heard of that alleged masterpiece of Indian jugglers, the "rope trick," by which a rope thrown into the air appeared to stiffen, and was climbed by a boy who seemed to vanish at the top. It was described by Marco Polo, the thirteenth century traveller, and has been a favorite legend ever since. Large numbers of people profess to have "known someone who saw it done in India," but few—if any, claim to have seen it themselves. Famous English conjurers have searched India for someone who could perform this trick, but entirely without success. Captain Clive Maskelyne, of St. George's Hall, London, tells us that his father (a wonderful illusionist) did not believe that the thing was possible as described, though it might be done after a fashion on the stage; he had offered to take Lord's cricket ground to stage the trick if a performer could be found, but no one had ever taken up the challenge. However, a London merchant, himself a native of India, has just departed for his Motherland to look for a rope trickster, who, if found, will appear in the Indian theatre at the Empire Exhibition next spring.

The Crystal Palace

Canadians who did not know London before the war have probably seen and heard little of the Crystal Palace. The enormous structure of glass and iron on the heights of Sydenham, in South London, is the same which housed the Great Exhibition in 1851 in Hyde Park, and retains several relics of that enterprise, such as the reproduction of Egyptian and Pompeian rooms with their wall paintings. As a Bank Holiday resort of the democracy, it was a rival to Hampstead Heath. It was the scene of all England's important musical festivals, and of countless gatherings, entertainments and shows, including an annual Christmas pantomime; its weekly fireworks nights were a joy, not only to those who paid for admission, but to large tracts of South London. To many of its patrons, its flowery and well-wooded grounds, with their fishing and boating lakes and realistic figures of prehistoric beasts, were its greatest charm. During the war it became, of all unlikely things, a training ship—"H.M.S. Crystal Palace," headquarters of the Royal Naval Division—and later it was an important demobilizing station. The Imperial War Museum, housed here since 1920, is now being transferred to South Kensington, and the trustees, with more space at their command, intend to restore both the building and the grounds to their old glories, at present a little faded. A resort with so many possibilities of indoor and outdoor amusement is assured of a prosperous career.

Engineers' Exhibition

All right-minded people who are or have been boys delight in the Model Engineers' Exhibition, to be held next week in the Royal Horticultural Hall, Westminster. Among the exhibits entered by amateurs for competition, will be seen the smallest internal combustion motor in the world, complete with electric ignition, water cooled, and capable of being covered by an ordinary tea-cup. A working model of a post office railway van will demonstrate how mails are taken off and on a train travelling at sixty miles an hour. At last year's Exhibition, over 6,000 visitors enjoyed free trips on miniature railway trains. This time a fourteen inch locomotive—a perfect model of one of the London & North-western "flyers"—will draw six full-grown passengers the length of a 72 ft-track in five seconds. This locomotive is stopped and started, like its big brother, from the driver's "cab."

Holiday Entertainment

Of some fifty productions now running in inner London, only two are pantomimes of the orthodox kind, but there are six or seven other plays for children, including the perennial "Peter Pan," and a new and charming version of Thackeray's "The Rose and the Ring." A successful dramatization of Stevenson's "Treasure Island" which delighted London last year, has been revived, and Maeterlinck's "Blue Bird" has returned. The ever-popular farces, "The Private Secretary," "Charley's Aunt," and "When Knights Were Bold," which are again here, probably have more patrons under than over the age of twenty. At the Lyric Theatre, Hammersmith, the late lamented "Boggar's Opera" has been succeeded by a rollicking production of "The Merry Wives of Windsor." And, if all this good fare is not enough for the youngsters the suburbs of London can muster no less than fifteen pantomimes.

Some few months ago I was troubled with bad blood which broke out on my face in the nature of pimples, boils and ring-worm, and I got so bad I really did not know what to do. I was ashamed to go anywhere, and the itching and burning caused such a terrible sensation I could get no relief day or night. One day a friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters. RAILWAYMEN IN SESSION TODAY

Meeting of Traffic Representatives of Canadian National Opened Yesterday

SEVERAL ADDRESSES

TORONTO, Jan. 22.—The conference of traffic representatives of the Canadian National which opened here this morning has brought together the largest gathering of freight and passenger officers that has met in any Canadian city.

More than 470 railway men are in attendance coming from all sections of Canada and the United States. Mayor Hiltz and A. C. Hogg, president of the board of trade, welcomed the visitors at the opening session of the conference at the King Edward Hotel. The general conference is being presided over by Vice-president J. E. Dalrymple of the Canadian National Railways with his executive assistant, George T. Bell, while H. C. Melanson, general passenger traffic manager, and H. C. Martin, general freight traffic manager, have charge of the special meetings relative to their respective departments.

Fine Body of Men

Vice-president Dalrymple in introducing the mayor and the president of the board of trade, stated that the object of the conference was to devise means of further improving the service given by the railway to the travelling and shipping public. Mayor Hiltz said that it gave him special pleasure on behalf of the citizens of Toronto to welcome such a representative body of railroad men. The success of any country depended to a large extent upon its railways and the representatives present at this conference had probably more to do with the upbuilding of Canada than any other similar number of men. They were giving loyal service, not only to their chief but to the country at large.

Mayor's Address

A. C. Hogg emphasized the keen interest they, the Toronto Board of Trade, the largest organization of its kind in Canada, had in the transportation industry. He agreed with the view that the task of consolidating the various railroad properties comprised in the National system into an efficient and smooth working organization and bringing to bear the full efficiency of the many departments was the most gigantic task that ever faced a railway president. He described Sir Henry Thornton as a practical hard headed railroad executive of wide experience. Without leadership of that character the traffic men attending this conference could not carry with them the spirit that leads to maximum results. He referred to the excellent showing made by the National Railways in 1923 but reminded the gathering that a considerable increase in net revenue had yet to be produced before the fixed charges of the system were met.

Freight Rates

There were many people who believed it to be good policy to carry on a continuous fight with the railroads on the subject of freight rates and kindred matters, the mayor said. He did not believe in that policy. Canada enjoyed a unique form of competition in its railroad field, a publicly owned enterprise and a privately owned railroad being engaged in carrying the commerce of the nation. When the Canadian National Railway by bringing into play every ounce of efficiency and developing new traffic reached a point where it paid interest on the investment then freight rates should be reduced.

In thanking the mayor and the president of the board of trade, Vice-president Dalrymple said that the accounting system of Canadian Railways through which the result of operations were made known was the same as that of all standard roads, returns being made in great detail to the board of railway commissioners of Canada and the interstate commerce commission. There was nothing to hide and nothing had been hidden.

ENORMOUS AMOUNTS OF GERMAN MARKS SOLD TO AMERICANS

LEIPZIG, Jan. 22.—Many collectors in Germany, like the stamp collectors, have had their hands full this year. New notes, regular and otherwise, have poured in on them from all sides. Thousands of issues of German marks which became worthless as currency within a few weeks of their appearance, have been accumulated by the money collectors whose only rivals in this respect were the garbage men or the factories who sought the valueless marks merely for the paper.

Collectors' agents in Leipzig, Berlin and other German cities have done a land office business all summer and fall among their foreign clients, some of whom ordered marks by the pound. The United States, it is estimated, has taken tons of the paper notes to be sold in the streets by peddlers, or given away as premiums with a ten cent order.

Freak Issues

In addition to the regulation notes, freak issues of marks came from everywhere, some of them especially designed to give the collectors a thrill. These notes were good only in the districts issued. Thousands of them never reached the public at all because they passed directly into the hands of the collectors.

On top of all the money being turned out by the government as fast as hundreds of presses could print it, the big German industrialists, such as Krupp, Stinnes and many others, issued marks with which to pay off their workmen. These notes, also gobbled up by the collectors, were acceptable as currency only in the immediate districts where the respective plants were situated.

But collectors were not the only ones interested. Many municipalities, headed by ingenious individuals, reaped a harvest and are planning further moves in what the village masters, for their own amusement, prefer to call "high finance." By striking a bargain with collectors the municipalities, and some of the other issuing bodies, made a clear gain of substantial amounts by the sale of an entire issue, and the local famine of currency was relieved to that extent. Many of these deals were open and above board, and the town or village benefited. It was, in substance, a lucrative form of indirect taxation, with the collectors being the chief taxpayers.

Artistic Designs

Thousands of the notes were artistically designed for the sole purpose of catching the eye of the collector or the man on the street in the United States, South America, China or Honolulu. Series after series were produced, only to be cancelled automatically after a time limit, thus avoiding any chances that the collectors might "come back" at the village masters and demand redemption in years to come when the town itself might be on its feet again, and not thinking of wasting time with turning out home made money.

Capt. Babington Announces His Company's Intention of Expanding on Graham Island

A first class cannery with the latest equipment for handling of clams will be built on the north coast of Graham Island about 20 miles east of Massett in time to operate this spring. Capt. H. B. Babington of the Langara Fishing & Packing Co. recently announced in the south.

An experimental cannery was installed by the company last year for the purpose of trying out the razor clam beach. The experiment was a complete success, resulting in the decision to expand operations. The clams are both plentiful and of good quality.

Capt. Babington and his partner, E. A. Simpson, were recently in Seattle looking over the clam situation there.

INTERESTING LADIES' GAME

Kaiens Gave Maple Leafs Good Run Last Night But Lost Out in End

SONS OF CANADA DEFEAT TEACHERS

The Ladies' League game between the Maple Leafs and Kaiens turned out to be the most interesting and best contested of last night's basketball matches. The Kaiens, though they lost by a score of 17 to 10, were on even footing 9 to 9 with their opponents at full time after having been ahead of them several times during the game. They fell off in the extra period, however, and lost a victory which should easily have been theirs.

R. B. Skinner was referee and the scoring was as follows:

Maple Leafs—Miss Louise Fisher (1); Miss Aileen Stephens; Miss Margaret Graham (3); 4; Miss Myra Harvey (1); 4; Miss Laura Frizzell (1); 9.—Total 17.

Kaiens—Miss Byrne (2); 2; Miss A. Morrison 2; Miss M. Casey (1); 6; Miss Brochu; Miss H. Lundquist; Miss Long.—Total 10.

Sport Chat

The outlook is promising for a good hockey program at Prince George for the balance of the season. Arrangements have been made for a couple of matches between Jasper and Prince George on January 26 and 27 and matches between Smithers and Prince George have been set for February 2 and 3. In the meantime, the various teams which are to meet are assiduously practising.

Curling competitions are in progress at Prince George and unprecedented interest is being taken in them. The sport is no less popular with the ladies than it is with the men. Fourteen teams are entered in the men's competition for the Bank of Commerce cup and there are four ladies' teams in the running for handsome pins donated by Alleyne Wright.

Teams are now in training and extensive preparations are being made for the holding on March 11 of the seventh annual Dog Derby at The Pas, Manitoba. Special carnival features are being arranged and accommodation will be provided for visitors. A carnival queen contest is adding to the interest in this annual event.

The feeling was aptly expressed at the annual meeting of the Fair Association last week by Ben Self and Mayor Newton that attractive inter-town sport events add more to the general interest during Exhibition Week than any other features. Some persons may be drawn by the tables of vegetables, cookery, etc., in the Exhibition Hall but it is a pretty safe bet that the games on the grounds cause the most of people to climb the hill. The better athletic bill the Association can put up the more successful will be the Exhibition. Last year's program was a good one and it is to be hoped that this year's will equal or surpass it.

PRINCE RUPERT ADVERTISED IN EASTERN CITY

George McNicholl Draws Attention to Advantages of this Port and Vancouver

"Vancouver and Prince Rupert will one day occupy the same position on the Canadian Pacific Coast that San Francisco and Seattle hold on the Pacific Coast of the United States," said Geo. A. McNicholl, general passenger agent of the Canadian National Railways at Vancouver, who is at present in Montreal on business and who gave out an interview in which he reflected the optimism and confidence with which British Columbia is looking into the immediate future.

Confident of Future

"There is no need for anyone to regard the future of British Columbia with anything but confidence," said Mr. McNicholl. "The natural situation, depth of water and general conditions of harbors at both Vancouver and Prince Rupert are such as to give them great advantages over all other ports and to give solid basis to the prediction that they will rank in the not very distant future among the great seaports of the world. Vancouver seems to have passed the peak of bad business conditions. When I left there last week there were no less than nine boats lying in the harbor refitting for the grain carrying trade or awaiting berthing space. At Prince Rupert there is awaiting shipment on the docks one million feet of lumber, and similar activity is being shown in other phases of industry."

As far as general business conditions are concerned, Mr. McNicholl pointed out that increased activity in lumbering and mining is resulting in a well-sustained stimulation of commerce and industry. The mining outlook is particularly good. The gold and silver mines at Hudson Bay Mountain, near Smithers, are on a shipping basis and considerable development of mines at Fiddler Creek is being carried out by J. F. Duthie, Pacific Coast financier, who was responsible for the development of the Duthie mines, later acquired by the Guggenheim interests. The latter interests are also taking steps to develop other promising property in British Columbia and a considerable increase in mining output in that province can be expected this year.

C.G.M.M. Activity

Mr. McNicholl stated that much credit should be given the Canadian Government Merchant Marine for the increase of lumbering activity along the Pacific Coast. He pointed out that since the C.G.M.M. boats entered the export lumber trade at Prince Rupert, many of the smaller lumber mills that were languishing have taken on a new lease of life and are now in a healthy condition. By calling at Prince Rupert the boats of this service have given a regular and easy outlet for the products of those mills, and the quantity of lumber awaiting shipment has grown from 300,000 feet per boat to about one million feet. During the winter months the small towns and villages are kept busy in the lumbering district through orders for ties placed by the Canadian National Railways.

Another reason for optimism is the growing popularity of Vancouver and Victoria as winter and summer tourist resorts. The bulk of this traffic comes from the United States, and it is an encouraging and notable sign that among the visitors are many who are paying second or third calls, proving the permanent attraction of these cities. The increasing favor which tourists are showing to the north Pacific cruises of the Canadian National Railways steamships and to the rail trips over the National lines through the mountains is also bringing new tourists in large numbers to Vancouver. Mr. McNicholl predicts that this year will see one of the heaviest on record in tourist traffic on the Pacific Coast.—Montreal Gazette.

GIRL WAS CAUSE ESKIMO MURDER

Two Natives to Hang for Crime on February 1 at Herschell Island

HAD SHORT REPRIEVE

Witnesses Convicted Themselves in Their Evidence Before Court

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 22. —By Canadian Press. —The final chapter in an Arctic fued, resulting from the desire of a white man to possess an Eskimo maiden, is due to be talled at the little barracks of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police at Herschell Island, on February 1, when Alik Omiak and "Eskimo" Tetamangma, of the uncivilized Copper Eskimo tribe of Prince Albert Sound, hang for the killing of Corporal Doak of the R.C.M.P., and Otto Binder, a white trader of Coronation Gulf.

According to the story, Otto Binder's fancy for a young Eskimo girl, desired in marriage by a member of her tribe, was the basic cause for the fued which culminated in the killing of the two white men, several Eskimo men and women, and the strangling to death of a four-year-old Eskimo girl, whose parents had been murdered. The girl was killed rather than have her left a charge on the tribe. Corporal Doak was the victim of Omiak, whom he had arrested for his part in the fued.

Trial in North

Witnessed by only a half dozen interested Eskimo men, and Bishop Lucas, of Chipewyan, Church of England bishop for the territories, whose charge reaches out from the Indians of Chipewyan to the furthest Eskimo tribes in the North and North-eastern Omiak and his fellow tribesman was tried before Judge Dubue, of the Alberta courts and a stipendiary magistrate for the northwest territories, and a jury composed of steamboatmen, trappers and traders. The trials, amid the unique setting of the Arctic Island post of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, commenced on Monday, July 16, and concluded five days later. Irving B. Howell, an Edmonton barrister, conducted the prosecution, while T. L. Cory of Winnipeg defended the accused. Mr. Cory did not deny the charge of murder, but contended that the time was not yet ripe to try Eskimo prisoners in the same manner as white men, since the uncivilized Eskimo is in the same condition as the early Briton of two thousand years ago.

Convicted Selves

Bishop Lucas, commenting on the trials, declared the prisoners were so frank that each man practically convicted himself. Three other members of the tribe were also tried. Found guilty of manslaughter, Ekootuk, medicine woman and sorceress of the tribe, is serving one year imprisonment at the Herschell Island post, while Ellipsi and Amoruk, males, charged with the killing of Apakia, described as the "bad Eskimo" were found not guilty and released.

After the courts finding had been sent to Ottawa and approved, Sergt. Tjorse, veteran Arctic officer of the R.C.M.P., left Vancouver early in September on his long trek to Herschell, bearing the death warrants. His two thousand mile journey involved many modes of transportation, ranging from the commodious ocean going steamers in the Alaskan service to the primitive dog sled and canoe.

Indignation

The death sentence aroused indignation in certain quarters and led to the submission of petitions asking for the postponement of the executions, to the Justice Department. The Dominion cabinet reviewed the case in the first instance on October 6, and declined to interfere with the sentence imposed. This sentence set the execution for December 7 and the decision of the government confirmed this date.

Popular indignation was aroused, particularly in the city of Toronto, by a number of statements which were later denied by the Justice Department. It was alleged that one of the prisoners was a young boy of 16 years, and also that graves were dug for the condemned Eskimos before the sentence of death was pronounced. The Justice Department denied both these allegations, declaring that the consensus of reliable opinion from the north, placed the age of the prisoner referred to at between 20 and 25 years. The graves referred to were dug, according to the department, for the reinterment of the remains of the late Sgt. Belgig and the late Corp. Doak, both members of the R.C.M.P.

Was Postponed

Following receipt of some of the petitions, the cabinet again took the case under consideration, and again came to the conclusion that there should be no interference. This decision was arrived at on November 3, and a messenger was despatched from Vancouver to Herschell Island bearing the news to the law officers at that point. The demands for a stay of execution continued however, and finally the cabinet took up the case for the third and last time. This resulted in a decision to postpone the day of execution until February 1. The member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police who, in the capacity of messenger, was bearing the decision made at the previous cabinet meeting to Herschell Island, was communicated with and instructed to change the day of execution in accordance with the final decision of the cabinet.

Col. J. H. McMullin, superintendent of provincial police, is expected tomorrow from Victoria on a trip of inspection.

COULDN'T SLEEP HEART WAS BAD NERVES A WRECK

Mr. H. A. Reid, Upper Musquodoboit, N.S., writes:—"I am very thankful for the benefit I have received by using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills."

When I came home from overseas, in 1920, my heart was very badly affected by concussion, and my nerves were a dreadful wreck. I was very short winded, and could not possibly sleep at night, in fact, I was in such a condition I felt as if I did not wish anyone to speak to me. I thought I would try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and before I had taken two boxes I could enjoy a good night's rest as well as anyone.

There are lots of returned men who are suffering the same as I did, and I feel sure that if they would only try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills they will receive the same relief that I have.

MILLIONS and Movies

THROUGH the medium of slender strips of celluloid an actor appears simultaneously on thousands of screens in as many different towns. On the same evening, he entertains great armies of film fans who eagerly pay their money to see his performance.

So the movie star commands a king's ransom for a salary, and a fortune is spent profitably, to provide a proper background for his art. The movie multiplies personality--and earning power.

Advertising does the same thing for a merchant or manufacturer. In a single day it takes his message into thousands of homes--to tell folks why they should have his goods and how to get them. Advertising endows him with a thousand voices with which to tell his story.

But the value of advertising is by no means confined to the advertiser. It has a very definite value to you.

A glance through this paper enables you to sift out the things that interest you. Sitting in your easy chair you can compare values and prices. in a moment you can tell exactly where to go for what you want and how much to pay.

Figure how much useless walking and talking and how much actual money you can save by spending a few moments daily with the advertisements.

NIKOLAI LENINE OFFICIALLY IS DECLARED DEAD: HIS LIFE WAS A VERY ROMANTIC ONE THROUGHOUT

reported that Lenine was a very studious pupil, introspective in his thoughts and shy in his relations with his schoolmates. When Lenine was 17 his eldest brother, Alexander Ulianoff, was sentenced to death and hanged for an attempt upon the life of Czar Alexander III, which was organized by a terroristic organization of which he was a prominent member.

Not a Terrorist

Lenine himself never was a member of any terroristic organization, but a desire to avenge his brother's death is said to have ruled his life. His active revolutionary work began in the early 90's, when he entered the University of Kazan, from which he was expelled one month later for participating in a students' revolutionary movement. Then he moved to Petrograd, attended the university, and studied for a lawyer's degree.

SEVEN YEARS OF TORTURE

Headaches and Indigestion Ended By "Fruit-a-tives"

The Marvellous Fruit Medicine

Like thousands and thousands of other sufferers, Mr. Albert Varner of Buckingham, P.Q., tried many remedies and went to doctors and specialists, but nothing did him any good. Finally a friend advised him to try "Fruit-a-tives"—now he is well. As he says in a letter: "For seven years, I suffered terribly from Headaches and Indigestion. I had belching gas, bitter stuff would come up my mouth, often vomiting, and was terribly constipated. I took Fruit-a-tives and this grand fruit medicine made me well." 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At dealers or sent by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

NEW HAZELTON

A petition is being circulated asking the Dominion Parks Board and the Canadian National Railways to establish a national park in this district. Harrison E. Clement, formerly engineer in charge of the Delta and Highland Boy mines here, has been appointed manager of the Premier Paymaster mine and the United Mineral Lands Co. with headquarters at Salt Lake City. Fifty young folks last week enjoyed the annual sleigh ride given by Mr. and Mrs. Donald McLeod of Vancouver, who formerly resided here.

Was a Wanderer

In 1901 Lenine finished his term of deportation in Siberia and emigrated to Switzerland, where, together with two of his friends, Martoff and Plakhanoff, he published a newspaper entitled "The Spark," devoted to revolutionary propaganda in Russia. He wandered from Switzerland to Germany, to England and to France, seeking out a simple existence by journalistic efforts, or was supported by wealthy revolutionaries. Up to 1904 Lenine had worked along general Marxian lines, but in that year he detached himself from his comrades and organized the Bolshevik faction of the Social Democratic party, the same faction which he swept into power in Russia as the Communist Dictators.

When Lenine arrived in Russia after the overthrow of the Czar, he made his first appearance at the All-Russian Congress of Soviets, urging the workers to seize the power and do away with the Kerensky government. Not having found an ear, the Bolshevik faction, under Lenine's leadership, attempted in July, 1917 a coup d'etat, which was suppressed by the Petrograd Soviet and the Kerensky government.

From July 1917, until Lenine returned suddenly to Petrograd to become almost overnight the Dictator of Russia, he was in hiding. Secluded in a straw shack on an island in the Neva, not far from Kronstadt, he remained for days while platoons of Kerensky soldiers, aided by bloodhounds, searched for him. Peasant friends brought him newspapers, and carried messages from him to Leon Trotsky, later second in command of the Proletarian Dictatorship, who was then practically in control of the Petrograd Soviet.

Lenine was characterized by observers as the greatest intellectual force in the Russian Revolution. He spoke German, French and English, and read works on economic problems in all these languages as quickly as they could be received in Moscow. Having a world vision, and desiring a world-revolution, he tried to keep in touch with the thought and affairs of all countries.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emption is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emption are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emption must be qualified for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes. Minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management or partially free permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.
