Premier Macdonald is Firm Over Interference Soviet Representative

GARDIFF, Oct. 27.—Premier Ramsay Macdonald, speaking here today, declared he honestly believed to be genuine the alleged letter from Zenovieff to the British Communists, upon which was based in part the protest submitted by the British foreign office on Friday to the Soviet representative in London. He declared the letter was received by the foreign office on October 19 the date of the dissolution of parliament. Only nine days elapsed between the receipt of the document and the answer.

Mr. Macdonald declared unequivocally that the British government would brook no interference from any foreign power. He said he could not avert the suspicion that the entire incident was a political plot. "If the letter is genuine, you can depend upon it that so long as there is a Labor government and I am responsible to that government, it will handle with firmness any and every attempt by an outside power to interfere with our internal affairs."

LAST RESPECTS PAID BY MANY TO ARCHBISHOP

Funeral Saturday Afternoon Attended by People of all Denominations

SERMON BY BISHOP

All Clergy of Diocese Take Part in Final Rites for Head of Church

The whole northern district of British Columbia was represented at the funeral of the late Archbishop Du Vernet at St. Andrew's Church Saturday afternoon and all the clergy of the diocese were present to take part in the last rites for one whom all loved and respected and honored. The building was not large enough to accommodate the large throng of mourners.

The sermon was preached by Bishop De Pencier of New Westminster. Principal Vance of Vancouver read the prayers. Archdeacon Rix conducted the service. Canon Rushbrook delivered the invocation and Rural Dean Marsh read the lesson.

The clerical pallbearers were Rev. J. Gibson of Anyox, Rev. Mr. Ashley of Stewart, Rev. J. Kerr of Burns Lake, Rev. W. Sweatnam of Endako, Rev. R. E. W. Biddell of Smithers, and Rev. J. S. Brayfield of Telkwa.

The lay pall bearers were A. E. Bazell-Jones, H. D. Cross, W. C. Orchard, W. E. Collison, W. E. Fisher, and M. J. Collison.

The family pew was occupied by old friends of the Archbishop including missionaries of the diocese. Two pews were reserved for natives and one for workers at the Japanese mission. Representative natives gathered from the villages throughout the diocese so far as it was possible for them to get here. Some were from so remote. There were present people from all religious denominations and a pew was specially reserved for the clergy of the sister churches.

The service was choral and the members of the choir were all present, Miss Ellett presiding at the organ and played the Dead March at the close while the congregation stood with bowed heads.

The only flowers were those sent by members of the family and two or three from Indian missions of the diocese.

The chancel of the church was decorated in suitable colors with flowers by the Diocesan branch of the W.A., the parochial branch and the members of the choir.

At the graveside Bishop De Pencier and Archbishop Rix conducted the service.

In the morning there was a private service at the House at which were present in addition to members of the family only Bishop De Pencier, Principal Vance, Archdeacon Rix and Canon Rushbrook.

MEMORIAL WINDOW FOR THE LATE ARCHBISHOP

Already many of the friends of the late Archbishop Du Vernet have been considering the erecting of some memorial in his honor and it has been decided that no more fitting memorial could be made than the placing of a suitable stained glass window in the Church of England now nearing completion in Prince Rupert.

There are many friends of the Archbishop even outside the Anglican Church who wish to share in this memorial, for he belonged not only to the Church of England but to the city and district, and no man deserves more to be gratefully remembered than he.

W. C. Orchard is authorized to receive any donations made to the above object.

READY FOR OPENING BRIDGE NOVEMBER 20

The bridge across the Skeena River at Terrace will be ready for opening about November 20 it was announced by Major R. M. Taylor, district engineer for the provincial department of public works, this morning.

SEATTLE IS BEATEN IN FINAL SERIES OF MINOR LEAGUE GAMES

SEATTLE, Oct. 27.—St. Paul club of the American Association baseball league won the first game in a series of nine to determine the championship of the minor leagues against Seattle of the Coast League. They won by 12 to 4. St. Paul previously defeated Baltimore, champions of the international league.

Bishop's Address

In his address to the congregation, Bishop De Pencier said they were gathered to pay a tribute of love and affection to one who had been esteemed by all. Also it was well at a time like this to learn a lesson for ourselves in regard to the conduct of our own lives. The lives of good men continue after death and their influence never died. This was doubly true of the one whom they mourned today. "He was a" (continued on page six)

The marriage between Sir Godfrey Thomas, principal private secretary to the Prince of Wales, and Miss Diana Hoskyns, daughter of the Archbishop of Chichester, took place recently at Chichester Cathedral.

Ghosts Disturb Workmen Who Camp on Old Indian Grave on Kitseukla Trail South of Skeena

A real ghost story was being told at the local office of the provincial public works department this morning. This is it: A crew of seven men working on the Kitwanga-Kitseukla trail about five miles west of Kitseukla on the south side of the Skeena River had encamped on an old Indian grave site. The first night at 8 o'clock there came a noise, "whish, whish, whish," followed by a definite tramping and rapping and repeated at regular intervals. Thinking that it might be caused in the stiffness of the night by a bush-rat at his business, a search was made with lanterns but it was unavailing. Returning to their tents, the men again heard the same disturbance in as regular a manner. It kept up until 2 a.m. and, the mystery lightening, little sleep was enjoyed. The next morning, a search was made for tracks for some marauder of the wilds but none were found.

The next night the noise started up promptly at 8 o'clock and kept up again until two. At the fourth night, it was still going in the same way. Having thus taken on the aspect of something really supernatural and mysterious, there was a good deal of anxiety with the result that the camp was moved. Then it was heard no more and sleep came to the worried ears.

While it was suggested that the mysterious noise might have been occasioned by some earth disturbances or even such a thing as radio static in the air, the men were unwilling to accept this explanation for the noise they said was too regular for that. The accepted belief, which will not be abandoned until it may be really proved otherwise, is that the camp had been established on the grave of some old Red Indian who in this manner voiced his objection to a desecration to his last resting place.

PRESSED AIR FOR HANDLING HALIBUT

H. A. Telfer of Montreal who has been in the city for the past few days looking into the possibility of establishing a pressed air plant here, returns East on this evening's train.

Pressed air service is a new system that would replace the using of ice in the handling of fish. It is said that it could be used to advantage here in connection with the halibut fisheries.

Brings Five Million Sockeye Eggs and Tells About Work of Hatcheries Restocking Streams

The work being carried on under modern and scientific methods by the department of Fisheries in its hatcheries is having splendid results and there is very great possibility of sockeye fishing on this coast being built up thereby to be as valuable an industry as it ever was even in its palmiest days," declares C. W. Harrison, inspector of hatcheries for British Columbia, who is in the city today.

Mr. Harrison is here in charge of a consignment of 5,000,000 sockeye salmon eggs that are being transferred from the hatchery at Pemberton on the lower Fraser River to the hatchery at Lakelse Lake. Early this fall, the department took 5,000,000 eggs from the Lakelse hatchery to Quesnel Lake and the shipment now being made to Lakelse Lake is to replace them.

The 5,000,000 eggs are carefully packed in 48 boxes. Each box is fitted out with trays, each tray containing 7,000 eggs. The tops of the boxes are open and the trays are covered with moss over which chunks of ice are laid. The ice gradually melting and percolating over the trays, provides the eggs with the necessary moisture. Being packed thus they also get the fresh air they require and are kept cool.

Mr. Harrison arrived with the shipment yesterday afternoon on the Gardena and will proceed with it to Lakelse on this evening's train. Accompanying him is R. H. Eaton, hatchery superintendent at Terrace.

Mr. Harrison was here ten days ago taking a similar number of eggs from Pemberton to the Stuart Lake hatchery north of Vanderhoof. That shipment was not to replace eggs that had been borrowed but merely to augment the supply at Stuart Lake where during past years there has been a serious falling off of parent fish.

Mr. Harrison was interviewed yesterday afternoon by a Daily News representative to whom he gave many interesting details in regard to the hatchery work that is being carried on in the province with a view to protecting and conserving the salmon fisheries.

LAST CAMP ISLAND ROAD

Work of Clearing Right of Way is Nearly Completed

The last camp in connection with the clearing for the Kalen Island road has now been established at Galloway Rapids and the right of way will be ready about November 15. The next stage will be the grading which, it was stated at the provincial department of public works office this morning, could not very well be undertaken until the city's part of the road giving communication to the work is completed. If this is not done, it will only be with the greatest difficulty that the provincial government can get its grading equipment on the ground as it would necessitate taking the equipment around by barge and building half a mile of road to get it over the muskeg into the work.

HEBRIDEANS WOULD COME

Father Macdonnell Says $300 Not Enough For Each Family

W. NIPEG, Oct. 27.—Providing the government of British Columbia really means business and intends to replace her Japanese fishermen with European, I can bring out gradually several hundred families of Hebrideans exactly suited to this industry, but the Provincial Government must be more generous than the present offer of $300 a family indicates, stated Father Macdonnell, the priest who brought a thousand Hebridean settlers to the Dominion.

Father Macdonnell said the offer of $300 was quite inadequate but he hoped it would be doubled. Under the Empire settlement school the British Government will donate about the same amount as the government of British Columbia. The sum of $1,200, said Father Macdonnell would enable each family to have its own house and a few acres of land.

MISS MORENCY RETURNS

Miss Hazel Morency, who left the city two years ago and has since been in Bangor, Me., returned on the Gardena yesterday afternoon and expects to remain here. She was accompanied by her cousin, Miss Ethel Astle, who also may locate here. During her former residence here, Miss Morency was a very popular member of the younger social set and her return is being welcomed generally.

O CANADA!

O Canada, our home our native land, True Patriot Love thou dost in us command. We see thee rising fair dear land, The true north strong and free, And stand on guard, O Canada We stand on guard for thee.

These are the generally accepted words of Canada's national anthem. They are not satisfactory but they are the best we have until another is forthcoming.

Canadians Look Silly When They Cannot Sing.

When Canadians are called on to sing a verse of their national anthem and they stand silent with one here and there singing, they look extremely silly. Several people in close proximity will all be singing different verses and then most of them will desist altogether.

When "God Save the King" is sung it is different. All know it and they join as one in the old song with good results.

It seems a pity that Canadians cannot unite on this matter of Canada's anthem and make a better showing at public functions. There is a section of this community that prides itself on its Canadianism yet the members do not sing the anthem any better than others. In all community singing this anthem should be the basic one but it is not. We seem to be much better acquainted with "Polly Wolly Doodle a Day," or "John Brown's Donkey."

Japanese Set Splendid Example.

The Japanese are a splendid example to be followed in this matter of singing of patriotic songs. On the occasion of a visit from that country some years ago of naval cadets the young men sang together their patriotic songs and while doing so the air was vibrant, the building almost shook as it rang with the very life of Nippon. It was the clearest possible indication of the greatness of the nation. It might almost be said that there could not be a great nation unless it could unite to sing its songs with unity and emphasis. Until that time it is nothing but a collection of individuals.

Sang Well During War Why Not Now In Peace.

During war time people learned to sing the British National Anthem and also Tipperary and other songs. Now in time of peace, why not learn to sing "O Canada" and let the world know that we are a nation. Until we can do that we are not a nation and cannot be.

Vancouver Tribute To Archbishop.

The Vancouver Star, under the title "British Columbia Praises a Fine Character" has the following tribute to the late Archbishop:

"In the passing of the Anglican Archbishop Du Vernet, of Prince Rupert, British Columbia is the poorer through the loss of an able man and a very beautiful character. No one could come into personal touch with the late prelate without feeling the better for the contact. A man of affairs and with a varied experience behind him, he was, at the same time, a singularly modest and simple-minded gentleman. Presiding at a Synod over his brother clergy at times when controversial matters were under discussion, he always allowed a wide latitude to the discussion, while keeping that discussion to the point with a firmness which he concealed under a gentle exterior. Lacking the advantages of personal stature and impressiveness, he possessed a dignity which was innate. Intellectually strong, he never paraded his knowledge. He kept abreast of current thought, and the homilies which he contributed at fairly frequent intervals to the press were inspired by a spirit of tolerance and wise thinking which made them at once appealing and helpful. It was not surprising that so beautiful a character should experiment successfully in thought-transference with those with whom he was particularly attuned. Of Archbishop Du Vernet it may be said with greater truth than of most men and women that he was in tune with the Infinite."

WINNERS IN VERSE COMPETITION HAVE AT LAST BEEN CHOSEN

"To Felix" by D. Ross is Adjudged the Best With "The Salmon's Lament" Second; and "Popular Topic" Third

The judges have had rather a difficult time awarding the prizes in the verse writing competition. The difficulty was that while some were more poetic than others, the question of rhyme, rhythm, poetic diction, clearness of expression, and cleverness all had to be considered. It was drawn to their attention that it was not so much poetry that was asked for as clever verses. Only a few people who are born that way can write real poetry but many people can write clever verses. The following in their order were adjudged the prize winners:

To Felix

(Our Family Cat)

Aristocratic Feline, whose bright eyes Hath oftimes lit thee thro' the darkest night Bright sentinels 'gainst ambush or surprise Twin blowing standards in the starkest fight.

Whose voice in cadence wild hath oft been heard Upon the lawn beneath the wandering moon, While in my heart the savage instincts stirred In wild responses to that primal tune.

Was it the winged god's power that made thee sing In graceful tenor on the back-yard fence Until some outraged neighbor grabbed something And well aimed words and missiles drove thee thence.

O, Felix, hero of a hundred fights May love and war be thine for many nights.

D. ROSS.

The Salmon's Lament

There was a very sprightly Soek-eye Salmon (A very modish classy Salmon he),

Who with his young companion, Johnny Cohoe,

Was as happy as a Salmon well could be.

"Well Soc," said Johnny, in a casual manner,

"Do you plan an Eastern trip this year, old man?"

Said the Soekeye, with his lower lip atremble,

"I shall surely journey eastward—if I can."

(The name of the author of this verse has been mislaid, will be kindly communicate with the office).

Popular Topic

"What a beautiful morning! Let us go out and kill something!"

Autumnal mists uprising from the sea,

The cry of loon, of wild goose winging free!

Ah! Paradise by Omar softly binged,

Compared with these, how dear art thou to me!

Creptant rustlings in the thick salal

The passing of a startled mo-witch tell,

Sharp crack of gun! A downward crashing buck!

Lo! He is dead and I'm a sportsman. . . . Hell!!!

PUT CHECK ON ALL PEDDLERS

Itinerant Salesmen Who Compete With Citizens to be Stopped in Ketchikan

KETCHIKAN, Oct. 27.—At the meeting of the city council an ordinance was passed whereby solicitors, itinerant peddlers or merchants, or any person who sells articles or takes orders for merchandise, or who has an exhibition in any store, hotel or other building, merchandise or any article of commerce for the purpose of sale at retail, shall pay a license tax of $15 and post a bond amounting to $1,000. This bond must be posted with the city clerk and can be a surety bond executed by a reputable surety company or a bond guaranteed by two responsible free holders residing in the city of Ketchikan, or it may be a cash bond. Under the provisions of the ordinance, such bond shall remain in full force for 90 days after the expiration of the license.

Its Aim

This ordinance is aimed at the house to house salesman or person who sells merchandise from rooms in hotels in competition with local merchants. The debate on this ordinance was very heated and an exceedingly interesting one. One of the most salient facts brought out in the argument was that the local merchant carrying a stock amounting frequently to $30,000 in value and sometimes more than $40,000 must compete with itinerant merchants whose stock of goods seldom exceeds $1,000 in cost and which, as a rule, is furnished by the company he or she represents. In addition to this, the local merchant must pay store rent, taxes on the stock carried and take risk of loss through many of the hazards of business, while the itinerant salesman has only travelling expenses and local peddlers license taxes to pay, giving them a great advantage over the established merchant.

WOMEN IN CHARGE METHODIST CHURCH SPECIAL SERVICE

A splendid special service was conducted in the Methodist Church last night by the Women's Missionary Society before a large congregation.

The address of the evening was made by Miss Haddock, deaconess, who spoke on the necessity of being prepared for emergencies in the work of the church. It was the duty of the church and the individual Christian, she declared, to be ready to grasp any opportunities for service that presented themselves. As an instance, if the church had not been ready when missions were needed, the situation today in Northern British Columbia, China, Japan and other mission fields would be much different than it was. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. W. H. Kerwin.

The chorister in congregational singing and the special program included a solo "The Ninety and Nine" by Mrs. H. C. Fraser; solo, "Teach me to Pray," by Mrs. P. Bonney, and a duet "That Beautiful Land" by Mrs. Fraser and Mrs. Bonney. A. J. Lancaster accompanied at the pipe organ.

Comparatively few of the thousands of miles of railway in Canada are electrified, but there is no railway organization which does not rely to a greater or lesser extent on electricity as an aid to efficient operation and service. Electricity plays an important part in all of the great Railroad Shops through the country. Some trains and cars are operated by power directly transmitted or stored in batteries. Bridges are operated, and a thousand and one electrical devices are in constant use which tend to be labor saving do away with the human element which might make for inefficiency. Numbered among these are the automatic Block Signals which are distributed along the line of the Canadian Pacific, and notices particularly in the Rocky Mountain passes where they are more urgently required.

Through a circuit in the rail this is accomplished, and if the circuit is broken, for the reason that another train is occupying the block, or that there is an open switch, a broken rail, washout or other obstruction, then the train approaching the signal may not pass. And while it awaits a through signal, trains following in the rear may not approach for the reason that they are also stopped by an automatic signal which will not release them until the preceding train has passed from that section of the track which they desire to enter. A perfect system. No electrical circuit—no through signal—no train may pass.

To the average layman an automatic signal is just a signal, and the general public is only interested in it because it gives added protection, or rather eliminates possible danger from the portion of track which it governs. To the railroad official it is more. It acts as a watchman against broken rails, open switches, a fouled track or any company is able to ensure absolute protection.

The opening of the basketball season is now set for November 14. While the venue for the games has not been definitely decided upon, the selection lies between the Elks' Home and the Auditorium. The latter is favored because it is roomier all around and has more accommodation for spectators but it lacks certain conveniences for the use of players. If these are provided, it will probably be chosen. It looks as if there will be three teams each in the Senior, Intermediate and Ladies' League. In the Senior, the Sons of Canada and Elks are definitely entered and the Moose will probably sponsor the third team. The Regiment, Grotto and Colts will compete in the intermediate division. The Ladies' League will be made up of the Maple Leafs, Gils' (formerly Adanacs) and a third aggregation organization of which is in the hands of Miss Marguerite Casey. The winners of the leagues last winter are all in again this year to defend their trophies—namely, Sons of Canada in the Senior, Colts in the Intermediate and Maple Leaf in the Ladies' League.

The Edmonton Journal carries the following editorial comment of interest to bird hunters: The Stettler Independent is quite sure that, if all the stories of big bags which hunters claim to have obtained were true, the wild life of the province would be on the point of disappearing. It does not believe that they are anything like as expert as the conversation that is heard would lead one to think. It is well within the mark, says the Independent, to say that a dozen shells are expended for one duck that is obtained, which it holds is a matter of congratulation. Considering the rate at which ducks travel, it is not surprising that the casualties are so few in proportion to the shots. The Winnipeg Tribune has been making an investigation and finds that the mallard travels the most slowly of all the members of its feathered family, its rate being between 55 and 90 feet per ary sentiments, and on the Marquis Andre-Louis has sworn eternal vengeance. To make matters worse the Marquis is courting Aline.

Andre's seditious speeches cause him to be sought for the gallows, and in escaping from the pursuing gendarmes, he joins a strolling band of players and becomes Scaramouche, the clown.

Bitterness against Aline leads him into an affair with the leading lady of the troupe, but he ends this when the girl accepts attentions from the Marquis.

Skilled in fencing, Andre-Louis Moreau is persuaded to become substitute deputy in the National Assembly of France for a deputy who was killed in the series of duels brought by the aristocrats against the people's representatives. In a duel with La Tour d'Azyr, that is the culmination of his activities in the Assembly, Andre-Louis wounds the Marquis, and Andre's misunderstanding of Aline's actions after the duel, further widens the breach between them.

Rebellion
The fires of rebellion among the lower and middle classes of Paris are finally fanned into open revolt. The patriot Danton leads the mob to the Tuileries, where the monarchy is overthrown. The Marquis escapes from the massacre at the Tuileries, and seeks shelter at the house where also is Aline, who has been unable to escape from the city. Andre-Louis comes to save her, and finds the Marquis there. The two men are on the point of killing each other when revelations are made that disclose Andre's real identity.

THE HEART BUSTER A TOM MIX PICTURE

Thrill in Every Foot of Film According to Advance Notices

The Heart Buster, featuring Tom Mix, is the big picture opening the week here tonight. According to advance notices there is a thrill in every foot of the entire film which centers around a scheming foreign crook winning the girl with whom Mix, as a young ranchman is deeply in love. When the girl announces her intention of marrying the foreigner, Tom leaves her in a cogitating mood. He cannot banish the picture of the successful lover from his brain with the result that he recalls him in another part which was nowise honorable.

He rushes to tell the girl of his discovery but his unsupported charges only cause the girl to announce more firmly her intention of marrying the man.

With the job of substantiating the charges on his hands Tom flies into action. He stops at nothing and finally lands in jail as the result of kidnapping the Justice of Peace and Minister in an attempt to delay the wedding ceremony. With the aid of Tony, his wonder horse, he makes a dramatic, but uproariously funny escape from the bastille. In the meantime the foreign crook is about to lead the girl up the steps of the altar when Tom suddenly breaks in with the damning evidence.

MEANEST MAN IN WORLD IN GEORGE COHAN PLAY

The story of the "Meanest Man in the World" which is the mid-week offering here is a George M. Cohan play. The story, which is an adaptation of the famous stage play in which Cohan personally appeared in New York City, deals with the business activities of a young lawyer who simply cannot succeed because he is too kind hearted. He is finally told by his friend to be mean—to look everybody straight in the eye and say no.

How the attorney begins this new method of business and how he finds himself unable to live up to the title of "the meanest man in the world" provides some remarkable situations and finally, when he is sent to a small town in New York to foreclose a note long overdue, he finds he can never succeed if he must use harsh tactics.

Blanche Sweet makes her return to the silver sheet in this picture, and critics who have seen her portrayal claim she never appeared to better advantage than in the role of Jane Hudson. Bryant Washburn also has an excellent portrayal in the role of Ned Stevens, the friend of the young lawyer.

SCARAMOUCHE STORY SABATINI WEEK END OFFERING AT THEATRE

"Scaramouche" is a story of the French Revolution from the novel by Sabatini. It tells the romance of Andre-Louis Moreau and Aline de Keradiou. Andre-Louis has been brought up as the ward of Aline's uncle. The Marquis de la Tour d'Azyr, a haughty aristocrat and man of fashion, killed Andre-Louis' friend, Philippe, because of his revolution-

DESTROYING RABBITS WITH POISON GAS ON A NEARBY ISLAND

TACOMA, Oct. 27.—A barrage of gas, combined with the use of poison, has eradicated the rabbits on Smith Island, in the Straits of Juan de Fuca, the entrance to Puget Sound. The rabbits had become such a pest on the island that they were undermining the foundations of the government lighthouse and the naval radio compass station there. Finally an appeal was made to the United States biological survey and Leo K. Couch, in charge of the work in this state, planned warfare against the rabbits. Thousands of them were killed in a week by calcium cyanide gas introduced into their burrows and by poison put on apples. The gassing was done in the daytime.

Mr. Couch has prepared data for the information of Australian officials. He believes the experiment may result in the eradication of the burrowing rabbits that are a pest in Australia.

CASSIAR GOLD RUSH MARK LEFT ON TREE

It is not generally known that Alice Arm possesses a landmark—or rather, a tree mark—of the days of the Cassiar gold rush in the early '70's.

On Mud Creek hill, close to the old pack trail to the Dolly Varden mine, and inscribed on it is "Aug. 1874." In the tree, and also another, a short distance from it, notches are cut, which held a pole for a canvas covering—a prospector's camp. It is near a small creek and a few years ago was easily discernible, although the lettering was almost falling off through decay.

It is known that gold seekers used these northern inlets in an endeavor to get through to the diggings, prospecting as they went. Who this hardy pioneer of exactly fifty years ago was, whether he got through and made a fortune, or turned back, or was murdered by Indians, no one will ever know.

school of yearlings 200 feet long by 40 feet wide, passing out of Quesnel Lake.

In this District
"Another instance of the success of this method of planting is to be found right in your own district," said Mr. Harrison. "Four years ago 150,000 eggs were placed in the tributaries of McLaughlin Lake in the Bella Bella district. That year no sockeye had entered there. This year the department placed a special guardian there to observe the run. He actually counted 6,000 grown fish returning to the spawning grounds. It is possible there were many more because he could not possibly observe all, especially those that went through at night.

"The department has been doing this work on a large scale during the last few years on the Fraser River and the West Coast of Vancouver Island and good results will undoubtedly be forthcoming in the next two or three years. The work has also been carried on in the Stuart Lake district on a large scale also in the Shuswap Lake, Quesnel and Anderson and Seton Lake systems in the Lillooet country."

Different Methods
Of the 5,000,000 eggs that were taken into Stuart Lake recently, Mr. Harrison said, two million would be planted in natural spawning grounds and the other three million would be placed in the hatchery and developed to the free swimming fry stage and then distributed in small, barren lakes in which they would be screened until they reached the yearling stage. "In the latter class of work, wonderful success has obtained," said Mr. Harrison. "The migration of hundreds of thousands of yearling sockeye last two years, where the hatchery has a capacity of 8,000,000 been observed each spring leaving such lakes."

The 5,000,000 eggs being taken into Lake Lakelse will be kept in the hatchery until they have reached the free swimming stage when they will be placed in the waters of the Lake.

Babine Lake
"The Babine Lake hatchery has been operating with splendid success for several years," stated Mr. Harrison. "It is located on Morrison Creek. When it was first established very few parent sockeye were returning. For the first five years, it was necessary to go 35 miles to Babine River to make the collection of eggs. Since then, however, collections have been made practically at the hatchery door. In fact, in the 75,000,000 from Morrison Creek, a stream that has thus been built up through artificial methods. Another method has also been followed at the Babine hatchery—that of retaining the fry in ponds and feeding them artificially. From a million to a million and a half fingerlings—3 to 4 inches long—have been liberated. There has also been fair success at Lakelse Lake raising the fry in ponds to the fingerling stage.

"The operations at Lakelse Lake have been generally successful," said Mr. Harrison. "The lake is known as being one of the best fishstocked in British Columbia."

good man and full of the Holy Ghost and of faith." The Bishop spoke of the late Archbishop as a man, as a Christian and as a Bishop. An honest man was the noblest work of God. Here the people knew and appreciated the one they mourned both as a man and a citizen. He was one who, through his kindness and helpfulness, made it easier for others to live. He was touched and inspired by the life he lived. It was impossible to be with the great and good without catching the reflection. Such a man as he was needed in his day. He came from a high type, from the Huguenot stock on one side and from the United Empire Loyalists on the other.

Leader and Bishop

For the past twenty years the Archbishop had lived here and been appreciated as a great leader and bishop. He had shown his ability in organizing the church in the province and before coming here in connection with the formation of a provincial synod and the Anglican college, the building for which they expected to erect soon at Point Grey. He drew attention to the fact that students memorial services were being held in the south simultaneously with that taking place here. The college would be a memorial to him and his work. The love and sympathy of the bishop had not been confined to any demonstration. As a great and far-seeing bishop they revered his memory. For him there was no death. He was not lost but gone before. There was no sadness with him. This life was simply a preparation for the one to come.

Bishop De Pencier spoke of the work of the departed in connection with his community work. His was a great personality that had obeyed the command "Be ye steadfast, immovable always abounding in good works."

SAXOPHONE ARTISTS EARN REAL MONEY PLAYING IN ENGLAND

LONDON, Oct. 27.—English dancers are paying American saxophone artists real money to coax their feet into the ever-popular fox trot.

London dance orchestras alone are paying $15,000 a week for American saxophone players.

The dance craze is running stronger than ever in London, and the leading hotels and clubs are spending huge amounts in luxurious fittings for the dancers. The Savoy Hotel is paying an orchestra alone, an orchestra largely recruited from America something over $5,000 a week, and this is but one of four orchestras catering to dancers at that hotel. Other hotels are also paying large salaries and a good "saxophonologist" can command $300 a week in London and, what's more, he can get it.
