SEATTLE, Oct. 2.—The six successful United States round the world flyers are now speeding by train to Dayton, Ohio, whence they were ordered by Major General Patrick, chief of the United States air service. After turning in their final reports, the officers will be given extended leave of absence. Lieut. Lowell H. Smith will spend his leave on the Pacific Coast and Lieut. Erik Nelson expects to visit his mother in Sweden.

The three planes are still here at Sand Point field awaiting orders for their final disposition. The city of New Orleans, after which Lieut. Nelson's plane was named, has asked that it be sent there to be kept as a permanent souvenir. A close watch is being kept on the machines here against souvenir-hunters.

MURDERED WIFE AND CHILDREN

Former Captain in Air Force Turns Slayer in Fit of Despondency

OTTAWA, Oct. 2.—John Buchanan Pirie, V.C., an ex-captain in the Royal Air Force, who was wounded during the war and who is carrying a forty per cent pension, confessed to murdering his wife and two little daughters owing to despondency over inability to earn an adequate income. The woman was murdered with a blunt instrument and the children apparently were poisoned.

In his confession Pirie stated that he intended taking his own life also.

Earlier this year, Capt. Pirie was under observation at a mental hospital for some weeks.

HOBOS TO GET A RUDE SHOCK

"Hopping" Freight Trains and "Riding the Rods" to be Discouraged by Railways

WINNIPEG, Oct. 2.—Gentlemen of leisure who follow the illegal and dangerous practice of "hopping" freight trains whenever their business or lack of it calls them from one place of temporary residence to another are due for a rude shock. A determined drive against those who attempt to do their traveling in "sidedoor Pullmans" or by means of "riding the rods" has been launched by the railway companies and this drive is to be prosecuted to the bitter end. By cooperation between railway, provincial and municipal police forces, magistrates and other guardians of the law it is hoped to reduce this traffic to a minimum and bring about a drastic diminution in the number of non-paying guests carried by the railways in western Canada.

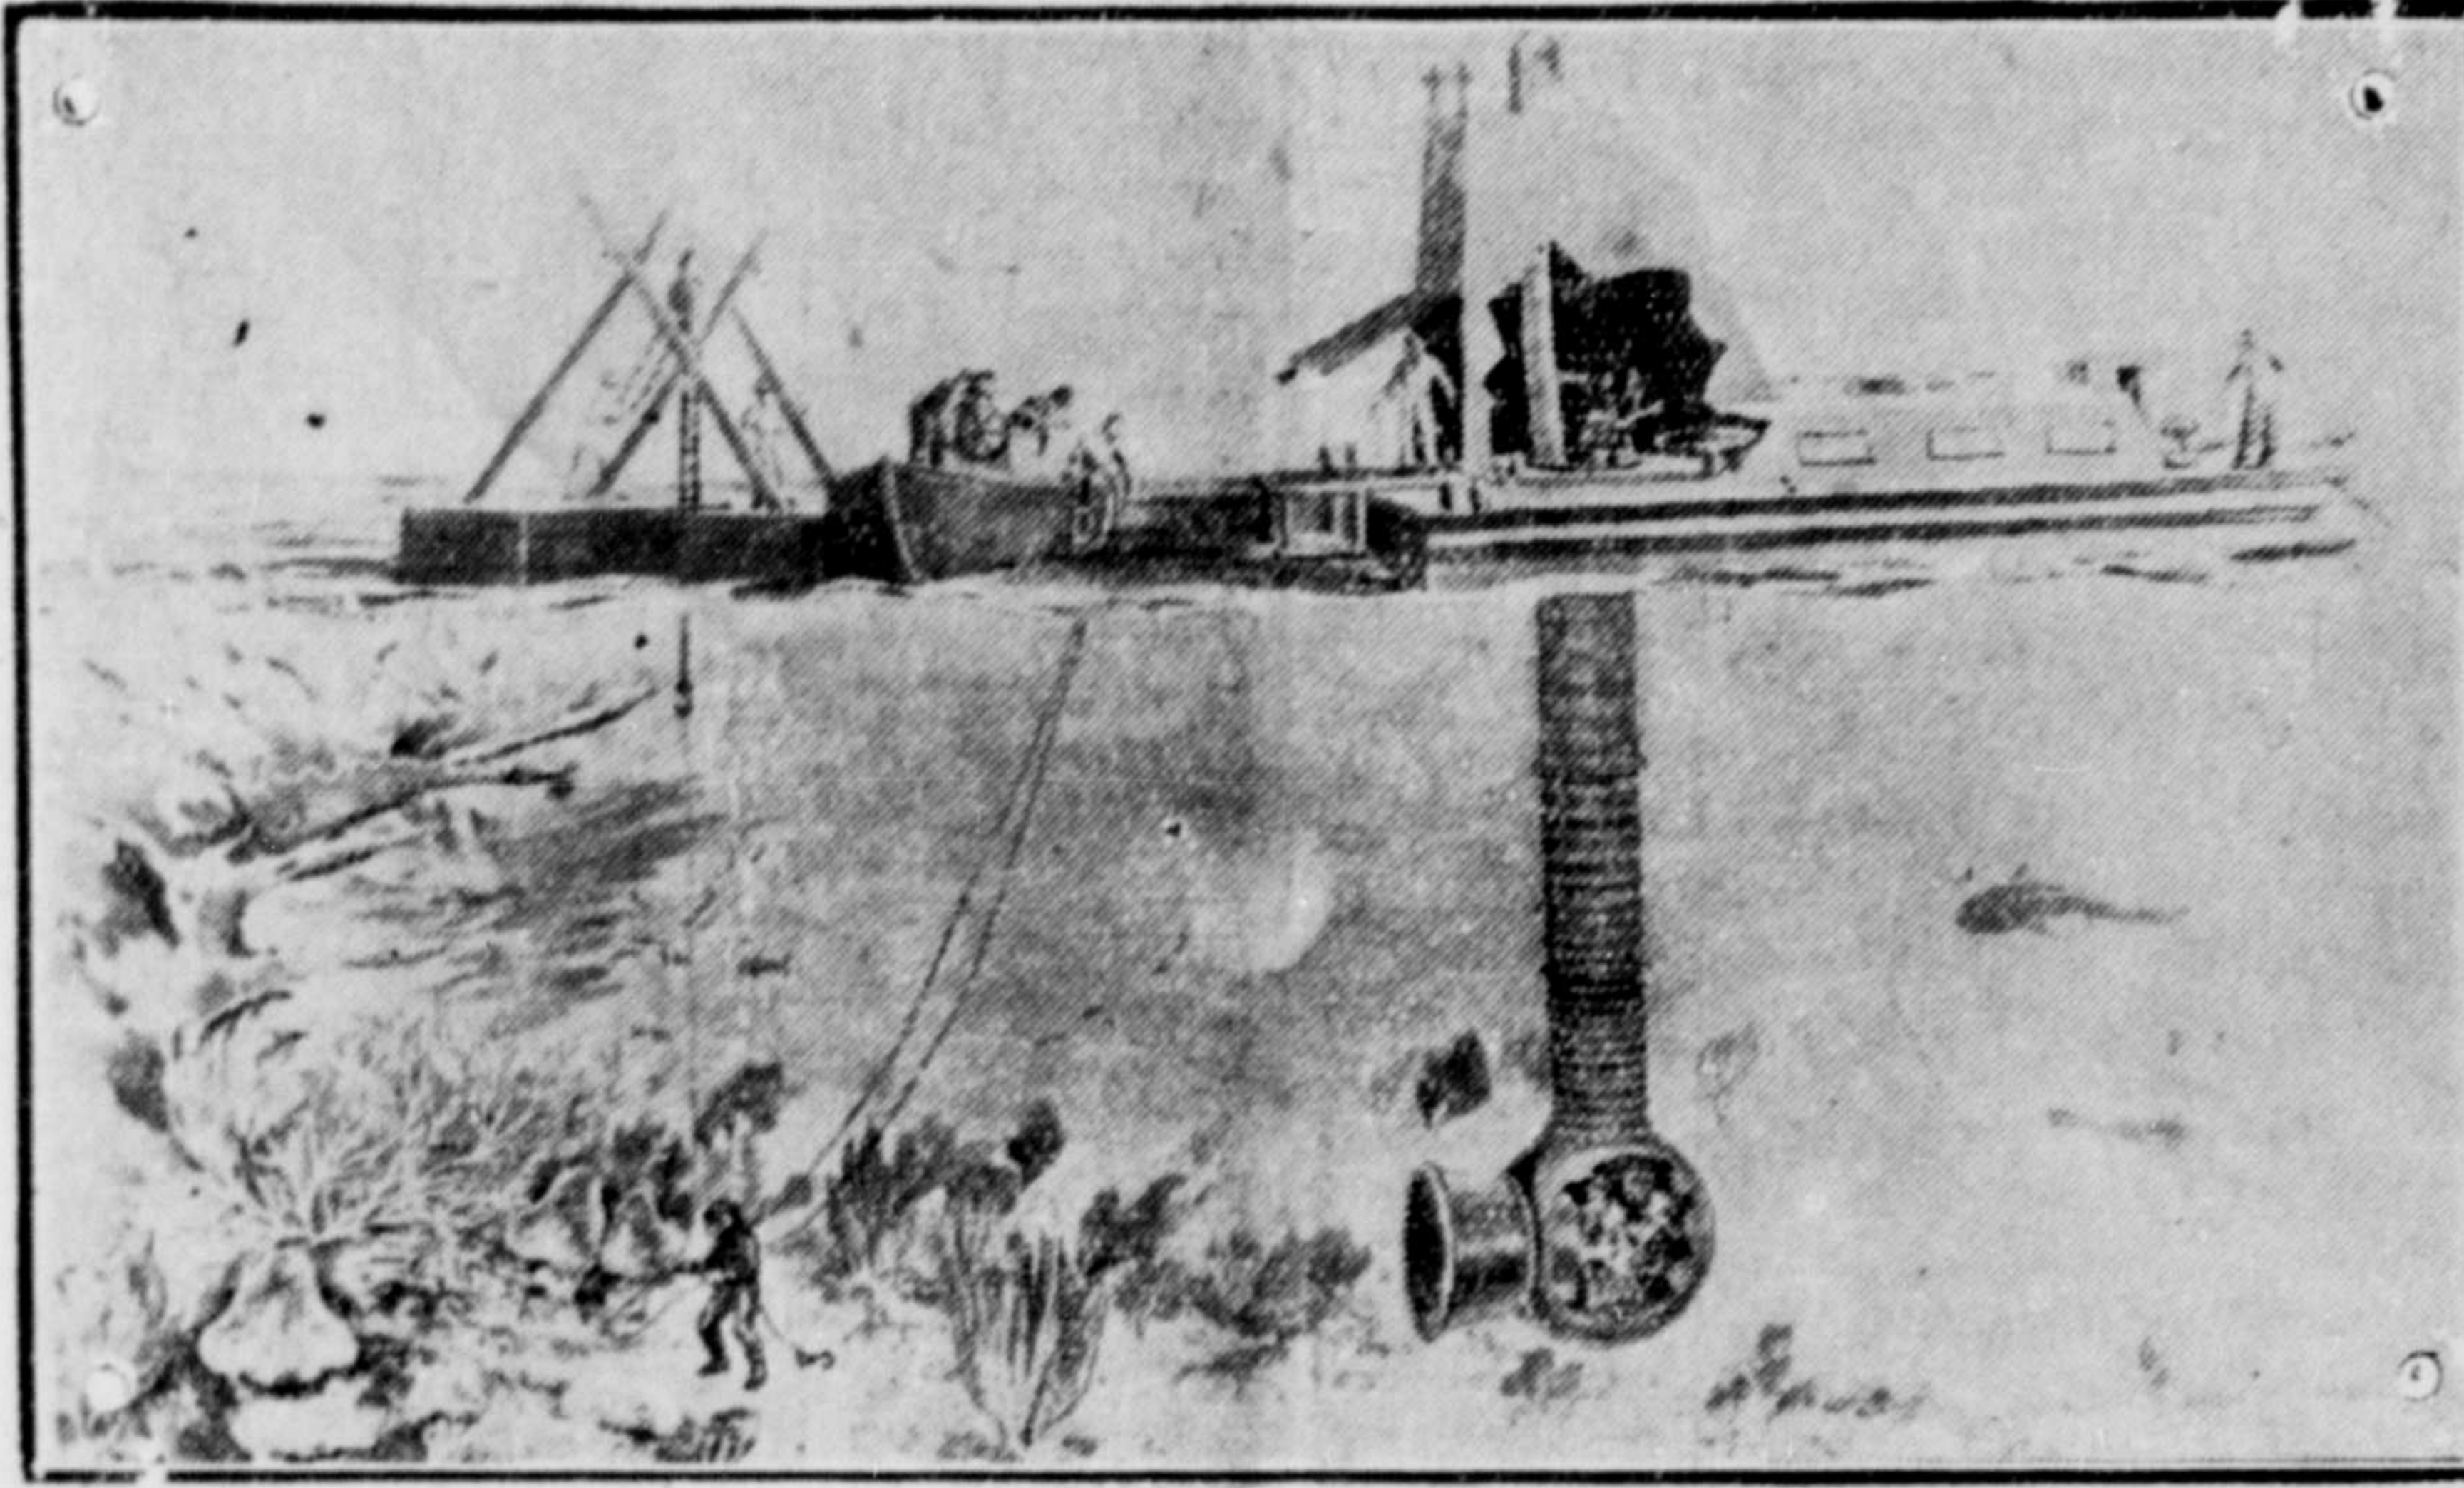

Steel Their Hearts
Police officers are being instructed to steel their hearts against the pleas of would-be-free travellers and bring them to trial on charges of trespassing and stealing rides and magistrates everywhere have promised their cooperation by stiffening up the sentences imposed on those who follow this dangerous and illegal practice.

A large per centage of the serious and fatal accidents on Canadian railways it is pointed out, involve persons who are trespassing on railway property and by reducing the amount of trespassing it is hoped to reduce the number of injuries and fatalities which are every year charged against Canadian railways. A number of cases have also arisen where considerable property damage has been caused as well as thefts perpetrated, affecting not only the railways but private persons. These facts as well as the fact that the "hobos" are a menace to the travelling public are behind the drive which is now being launched.

Assembly of League of Nations Adopts Protocol Without Any Sign of Dissent: Canada's Position

Senator Dandurand Lays Stress on Failure of United States to Take Part of Burden on Herself

GENEVA, Oct. 2.—The assembly of the League of Nations today unanimously adopted a resolution recommending that all states accept the protocol of arbitration and security. Fifty-seven delegations supported the resolution and not a state was represented at the gathering that abstained from voting.

The protocol provides for the pacific settlement of international disputes but in many cases the constitutions of the countries represented provide that the protocol must be ratified by parliament before being formally adopted.

Canada's Position
GENEVA, Oct. 2.—Hon. Raoul Dandurand, Canadian representative of the League of Nations, speaking before the Assembly today, declared that Canada must be loyal to the covenant of the League and would support the protocol of arbitration and security. He said when Canada subscribed to the covenant she far from thought she would have the entire burden of representing North America when the appeal came for maintaining peace in Europe. "The falling away of the United States increased in our eyes the risks we have assumed and the history of Europe during the past five years has not been such as to lessen that apprehension."

AGREE NOT TO MAKE WAR ON EACH OTHER

Signatory Nations to Protocol Bind Themselves to Reduce Armaments

GENEVA, Oct. 2.—What is officially known as the "protocol for the pacific settlement of international disputes" that was presented to the Assembly of the League of Nations yesterday after being signed by representatives of the great powers, contains a preamble and 21 clauses. The preamble sets out that one of its purposes is the realization of a reduction of national armaments to the lowest point consistent with national safety and the enforcement by common action of international obligations.

The most important clauses in the document interpret and strengthen the covenant of the League of Nations and provide a system for arbitration of all or any disputes, thus paving the way to what former Premier Briand in a speech today called "making war on war."

The signatory states agree in no case to resort to war with one another or with any other state which accepts the obligations set out in the protocol except in case of assistance to acts of aggression or when acting in agreement with the League of Nations.

Million Dollar Cargo Was Lost on Lady Kindersley and Vessel Probably at Bottom of Arctic

VICTORIA, Oct. 2.—"The Hudson Bay auxiliary schooner Lady Kindersley is probably at the bottom of the Arctic Ocean now," said Capt. Foellmer of that vessel upon his arrival here aboard the Baychimo with five other members of the crew.

The Kindersley had a cargo aboard worth a million dollars not a particle of which was saved.

"If we had stuck to our ship one day longer not one of us would have had a chance," the captain said. "We waited fifteen days before we were able to get away from the vessel. Many times we tried but each time were forced back."

The Baychimo will remain in quarantine 24 hours. Other members of the crew left Capt. Foellmer and are coming out overland.

REFORM SENATE DECLARES KING

Would Enact That Bill Could Not be Rejected by Upper House Third Time

FORT WILLIAM, Oct. 2.—Premier Mackenzie King, speaking here last night in the course of his western tour, said bills of public benefit passed by the House of Commons were being ruthlessly rejected by the Upper House. He said the situation was such that he believed, having regard to democratic government he would be justified in saying that legislation would be introduced amending the constitution so that a measure which twice had been supported by the House of Commons shall not be defeated by the Senate on the third occasion it is brought before parliament.

CARSON IS SLATED FOR IRISH BOUNDARY COMMISSIONERSHIP

UNION REFUSES TO ARBITRATE

Conciliation Board Proposed by Cold Storage Company But Refused

There was no change in the strike situation at the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co.'s plant this morning. The company having offered to arbitrate with the Fish Packers' Union of the One Big Union, a reply was received from the secretary of the union this morning as follows:

"I beg to report that the Fish Packers' Union of the One Big Union on the second ballot unanimously voted down your suggestion regarding a conciliation board."

Other fish packing houses are suffering from the lack of ice supply. The Booth Fisheries Canadian Co. was the main buyer at the Exchange this morning. It is getting in ice from its storage houses at Lake Rathlyn.

Railways Should Work Out Plan.

In connection with the railway rates, which seem to be in much confusion just now, it is undoubtedly the duty of the railways to get together and work out a plan which will give equitable rates to all parts of the country while at the same time securing for the railways an adequate income. That is the only reasonable method of adjusting the matter. No one but a railway man who is accustomed to dealing with rates can possibly handle the situation.

There are just two great railways in Canada, the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National. Everyone is agreed that they must be paid for the services they render and paid adequately, although not extravagantly. The objection we all have is to any system whereby any part of the country is discriminated against.

Parent Teachers Organization.

There is in this city an organization known as the Parent-Teachers Association. The object of this association is to co-ordinate the work of parent and teacher that the best educational results may follow. Parents are the most vitally interested in the children but next to them come the teachers. Each wishes to have the young people develop mentally, morally and spiritually in the best possible manner. By co-operation this can be best brought about.

In a town this size the teachers often know very few of the parents of the pupils. The result is that they have little opportunity to learn anything about the children except what they see in school. The Parent-Teachers tend to bring together the teachers and pupils and to aid in any possible manner so that the best results may be obtained.

Pity To Hold Up Business Of Port.

Without expressing any opinion in regard to the strike now going on at the Cold Storage Plant, the Daily News is strongly of opinion that some way should be found by the parties interested on both sides to get together and effect a settlement. Apparently it seems to be the usual plan for strikes to run for a number of weeks and then for the sides to gradually weaken after much money has been lost by both and a great deal of ill-feeling engendered.

It is understood that the management of the Cold Storage plant is willing to arbitrate. If that is correct, there should be no difficulty in effecting a settlement and getting back to work. Arbitration is the acknowledged method of settling disputes. The tendency is to have it succeed the method by which might triumphs whether right or wrong. It is being proposed in international affairs as well as in industrial disputes. When arbitration is refused it is usually because the cause is weak and it is hoped to effect by force what cannot be obtained in any other way.

Scots Editors On Canadian Settlement.

One of the editors who recently visited Canada from Scotland, on the staff of the Dumfries and Galloway Standard and Advertiser says in his paper:

"What we did see filled us with admiration for the machinery set up in Canada for advising and guiding and protecting the man who wishes to settle on the land. Canada seems to recognize that her agricultural population is the backbone of the country and that it is the soundest political wisdom to have prosperous and contented settlers. A good deal of the complaints that one hears about Canada arise from the fact that many men go out who are not really of the class that Canada requires. For their failure to make good the country cannot be blamed. In the cities there are many unemployed, just as there are in our own. But the fact remains that many thousands of Scotsmen who went out to Canada have found it a country where they can do well and live free and happy lives."

ROMANCE OF BOOTLEGGING

British Columbians Take Prominent Part in Business at Seattle; Fine Offices

(Special to Daily News)
 SEATTLE, Oct. 2.—The romance of the bootlegger should be the next big moving picture to be made. Every day here sees a battle of wits going on between prohibition enforcement officers and bootleggers, many of whom hail from the Canadian side. One in particular, who fits lither and thither, and whose home is said to be in Northern British Columbia where he still has interests, has led a most romantic life. Sometimes he loses out and his stuff is confiscated by the police but usually he wins and he makes enough money in a month to make up for all the losses of a year.

Bootleg offices are not in tumble down shacks on the waterfront but in sumptuously furnished rooms in the largest business blocks. Secrecy can be obtained better there than in what are usually looked upon as secretive places. The bootleggers do their work openly among the crowds and they use the regular commercial wires. Now and then they move offices, but not often. Also they sometimes change their names or the names under which they operate. The men at the head keep themselves aloof from any appearance of connection with the handling of strong drinks. They dress well and usually have some other business as a blind.

Two Irishmen were turned over by a wave while out for a row. One of them swam to the shore, and after a short rest, was seen to start back toward the other man, who was still wrestling with the waves. "Why, what are you going back into the water for, Pat?" inquired a bystander. "Why, didn't Oi have to save meself first" said Pat. "And now, beforra, Oi'm going back to save Moike."—Yorkshire Post.

Romantic Career of Man Who at One Time Owned Prince Rupert Salt Lakes

*Moreton Frewen, the man who at one time owned the subdivision surrounding the Prince Rupert Salt Lakes, recently secured by Hon. T. D. Pattullo for the people of Prince Rupert to be used as a park, had a romantic career. The London Times says of him:

There was a time when no Englishman was better known in America than Moreton Frewen, traveller, sportsman, and financial critic, whose varied and interesting life has been concluded. He died at Brede Place, Sussex, on Tuesday last week. Born in 1853 at Brickwall, of the Essex stock that sent Archbishop Accepted Frewen to York, his life was a series of "adventures of a Younger Son." At Trinity, Cambridge, he took a degree in spite of "whipping" the Drag. His hunting manhood was passed in the Melton Country, of which he left some amusing memoirs. He joined Whyte Melville, Peter Flower, "Chicken" Hartopp, and Bay Middleton in the first flight of the riders. He was the hero of a famous run from Rankshoro' Gorse to Ows-ton Wood. But in 1878 he sold his hunters, and between the alternative of Mastering the Killennies and taking a berth in Gordon Bennett's expedition to the North Pole, chose to hunt buffalo in Texas. The Charles O'Malley period of his life ended in racing the mail from Dublin to Cork on a special and catching the moving liner amid a cheering crowd!

Crossed 100 Times
 Afterwards he crossed the Atlantic more than 100 times, for a very serious period opened with his passion for currency questions. No "dime" novel could describe his American life, some of which is reflected in Wister's "Virginian." Under the aegis of General Sheridan he saw the last of the great buffalo herds, while taking up ranching. He was shown round the scene of the Guster massacre by Siding Bull himself, and he crossed the Big Horn in December snow with a party who saved their lives by driving buffalo as a snow plough! He pioneered in the unrailed prairie, but his career as a cattle king was foiled by the order of Grant ordering cattle off Indian lands and by the Chicago Beef Trust.

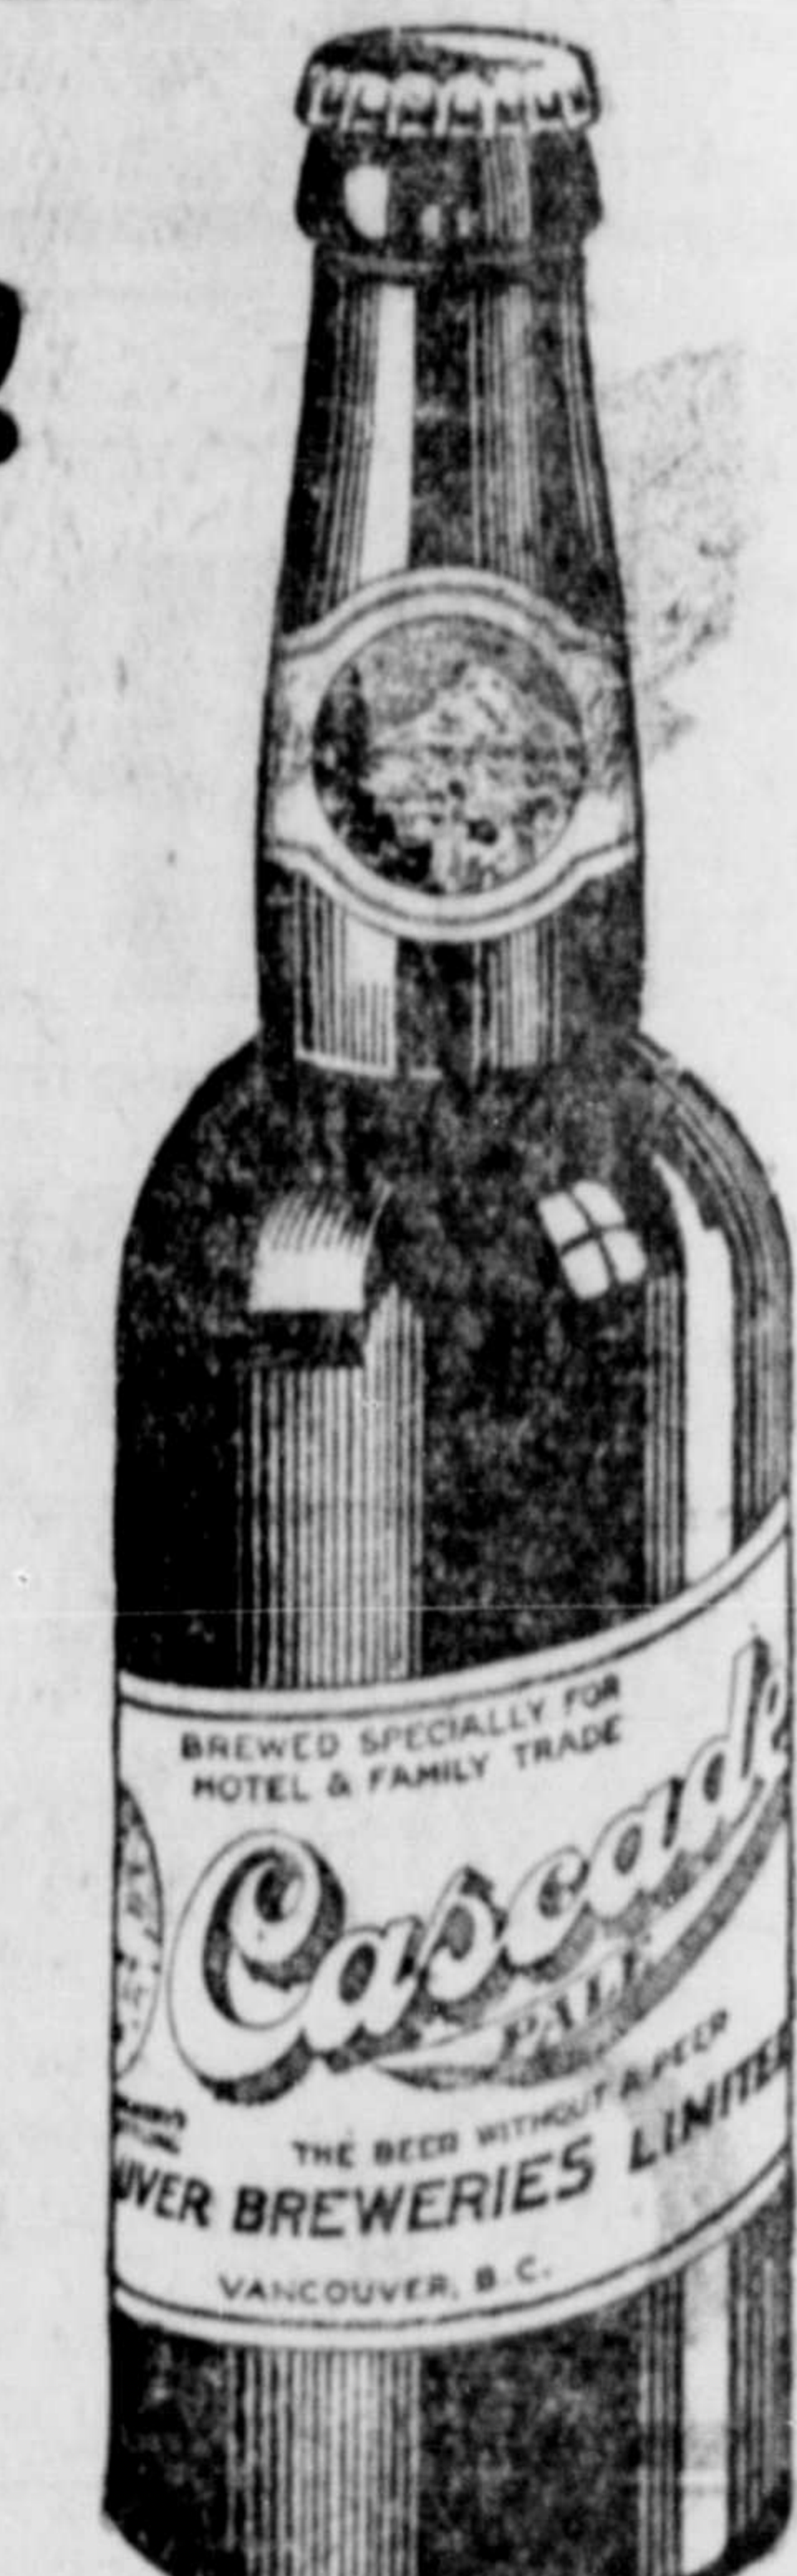

In West Superior City, which rose on one of his tracks, the schools are called after his now legendary name. He became interested in a lifetime of schemes and several times approached great wealth, but his success and utility proved to be social and international, for he came to know everybody in America, from Barnum to Bryan. Senator Hoar wrote in his Memoirs that "he deserves the gratitude of both nations for what he has done to promote good feeling between the two countries by his courtesy to Americans of all parties and ways of thinking. He has helped to make the leading men in both countries know each other." He knew all the presidents from Hayes to Wilson, especially Roosevelt, and it was said he largely upset Tom Reed's changes of the Presidency by acclaiming him as a convert to the fetish of Free Silver!

 He was a brother of Colonel Stephen Frewen and of the explorer Richard Frewen, and an uncle of Lady Carson. In 1881 he married Miss Clara Jerome, the sister of Lady Randolph Churchill, and he leaves three children, who have all inherited his taste for travel and writing—Hugh Moreton Frewen, Lieutenant-Commander Oswald Frewen, R.N., and Mrs. Clara Sheridan.

Friend of Kipling

Kipling and Selous were among his many life friends. His sport was interlarded geographically with his finance, whether he was writing on Indian rupees or American currency or the shekels of Empire. His motto was "thinking Federally," and, backed by the friendship of Albert Grey, Lord Milner, and Lord Dunraven, he became the preacher of that way of thinking in every corner of the Empire. There was no more interesting raconteur, and with Mr. Keynes he must be accounted one of those Cambridge economists who write as brilliantly as novelists. Few of his generation touched so many sides of life or travel, or accumulated so many friends, from J. J. Hill, the American railway king, to Sir Salar Jung, who brought him in the 'eighties to Hyderabad, where he set in order the dubious finances of the Nizam. With the war he Rose Russell, who it is alleged has been causing the police a good deal of trouble lately, was picked up early this morning on Second Avenue in company with an Indian by Sergeant Bailey. She appeared in the police court on a charge of vagrancy and was given until Monday to leave the city. If she is here then, she will be sentenced for she was found guilty.

FOUR LINE VERSE MAY WIN FIVE DOLLARS IN THE BIG COMPETITION

It is possible that a four line verse may win the five dollar prize in the Daily News verse competition. Some rather interesting efforts have already been made but it is hard to say as yet whether they are prize winners or not. There is no limit to the number of verses one person may submit and it is open to anyone, old or young, subscriber to the paper or not. Everyone is treated alike. The main thing is that the verse be written plainly on one side of the paper only and that it be signed by the author. Following are among the latest:

The Blue Jay
Blue Jay, Blue Jay, chatter, chatter all the day,
Jumping here, jumping there,
Never still anywhere,
Here a berry, there a worm,
Something everywhere you turn,
Plumage bright and saucy crest,
Among the birds I like you best.

Chaotic
The halibut's a noble fish,
I like to hear its song,
But when I hear the fishes sing
Bill Miller's booze is wrong.

A Back Yard Tragedy
A dog that was taking a walk one day,
Was tempted in somebody's yard to stray,
The chickens there soon got quite a scare,
As the dog started chasing them everywhere.

Then suddenly from the bush there came
With eyes that shone like tongues of flame,
A mistress puss of cat world fame.

A howl succeeded by more howls,
And doggie was soon on the homeward trail,
With a smarting nose and a drooping tail.

A Fishy Tale
You have heard about Jonah,
You have heard about the whale
But did you ever hear
Of any other fishy tale.

Four little fishes swimming in the sea,
Along came a big shark and then there were three.
Three little fishes swimming in the sea,
I caught the others and took them home for tea.

The verse must have to do with some form of animal life such as a bird, fish, animal, insect or germ. It may take any form desired such as an ode, a quatrain or even the popular limerick. Three prizes will be offered, $5 for first, $3 for second and $2 for third.

The verses will be published as submitted but the name of the author will be reserved to be used only in case of his winning a prize.

The verse should be neatly written on one side of the paper only and addressed to "Competition Editor," Daily News. No manuscripts will be returned.

FASHIONS & FOIBLES

by Shirley Sharon

At the smart inns where society is summing, lace is having a great success appearing either alone for dinner frocks or with silk crepe or crepe de Chine.

Lace gives an elegant effect to dresses of satin crepe, silk crepe or crepe de Chine, and when it is used with these materials it is usually dyed to match the material of the dress. Tiers and flounces of Chantilly lace in cocoa, ochre or butter color are worn a great deal for Summer. Even so small a thing as a lace yoke can give character to a dress of cocoa or beige crepe de Chine. With this type of dress smart women usually select the picture hat trimmed with flowers.

CHINESE USE FIRE IN WAR

Burn Down Small Town and Order Same for Shanghai It is Stated

SHANGHAI, Oct. 2.—Kaingsu forces, fighting to capture Shanghai employed the torch as their ally when two of their spies fired the town of Lotien, ten miles north of here. The spies were shot to death as they fled from the burning town.
Search of the pockets of the dead men revealed Kaingsu orders to start fires in Shanghai with the idea of reducing this gateway city to ashes.

"Miss Curlene," murmured the office manager to the stenog, "I don't wanna be harsh, nothing like that. I really don't."
"Let's have the answer," said the damsel nonchalantly, "What's gone wrong now?"
"I just wanna ask you not to write your young man during business hours. Letters are apt to get mixed. Herb & Blurb report we have sent 'em a shipment of love and kisses instead of the axle grease they ordered."

NOT MARRIED AND NOT ENGAGED ARE U.S. WORLD FLYERS

SEATTLE, Oct. 2.—Interviewers here asked the successful United States airmen almost every question conceivable. Affairs of the heart were not overlooked but little satisfaction was given the questioners in this regard. The flyers, all of whom are single men, are also free according to their own replies for each and every one denied being engaged. Lieut. John Harding admitted being interested in a Dayton, Ohio, girl but declared he was not engaged. Lieut. H. H. Ogden spoke similarly with respect to a Nova Scotia girl.
"Modern science is wonderful," said Mr. Robinson. "Why I haven't the least idea how electric light, for instance, works."
His sweet young partner gave him a patronizing smile. "Oh!" she said, "it's so simple. You just press a button and the light comes on, that's all."

HI-JACKING ON SOUTH BORDER

Murder, Loot, Extortion and Sudden Death in Wake of Smugglers

ALIENS IMPORTED

Not since the days when bearded, tattooed pirates fought, looted and died in their raskish craft on the Spanish Main, has there been such an era of lawlessness as now pervades certain sections of the Canadian border, due to the enactment of the prohibition and immigration laws of the United States, says a special despatch to the Edmonton Journal.

Murder, loot, extortion and sudden death, all these elements that made life interesting for the merry rover under the Jolly Roger, are there.

Hi-jacking of rum runners has become common all around the corners of the United States for a long time, but the super hi-jackers on the northern frontier have evolved a new means of revenue, hi-jacking the alien.

Quota Law

Alien-smuggling, given considerable impetus by the recent enactment of the United States quota immigration law, is providing the modern pirate with a harvest equal to that which he gleaned from the rum-runners.

Canadian officials have been told that as many as 300 aliens are entering the United States weekly by the "underground" route.

Liquor, the original gold brick of the hi-jacker, is still a gusher of wealth. Canadian beer and whiskey runners, not to be outdone by their rivals dealing in aliens, have redoubled their efforts, and the flow of their illegal traffic across the border is now unprecedented. Hi-jackers immediately became more active than ever, and have played havoc with the rum and alien smugglers. They robbed the liquor carriers of their money and then took their goods in hauls amounting to many thousands of dollars.

Four Murders a Week

Four murders during the past week have been ascribed to hi-jackers. Those refusing to "stand and deliver" are being summarily shot down, according to reports here.

The procedure of the hi-jacker is simple. In many cases, according to government officials, he is a member of a vast organization with tentacles stretching throughout the underworld of border cities in both countries. He hears that a shipment of liquor or aliens is about to be made and he summons his gang. A spot on the United States side of the line generally is selected for the hold-up. Little open resistance can be made by the victims there, because of the fear of arrest. Canadian laws do not forbid either traffic. In many quarters it is believed a protest by the United States would cause Canadian authorities to remedy the situation easily and with little delay. Various sums per person are charged by the hi-jacker for each person he permits the alien smuggler to take past his ambush. The price depends on the alien's chances of getting by before he crosses the border.

Bodies Found in River

Passage is worth between $20 and $200 per man. Orientals pay the latter sum. But sometimes aliens and their escorts refuse to "come across." Evidence of this was indicated last week.

SURVEY PARTY RETURNS HOME

A. E. Wright and His Men Arrive Here After Exciting Experience Off Lawn Hill Buoy

A. E. Wright, B.C.L.S. and his party consisting of J. Paton, Roger Wright and L. Hinton returned to the city yesterday from the Queen Charlotte Islands where they have been engaged this summer in coast triangulation work. They left their gas boat Ethelda at Skidegate where it is possible she may remain for the winter.

The work this year was conducted very successfully, Mr. Wright reports. There was only one experience that approached the point of excitement, that occurring last Thursday when the party was setting off for Prince Rupert on the Ethelda. Near Lawn Hill buoy, the engine broke down. This being in the evening, the anchors were thrown over and in the morning two men were sent ashore to obtain assistance. Meantime, rough weather had come up but the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co. boat Chief Legaie, Capt. Charles Svendsen, reached the distressed craft late that night, making the seventeen-mile trip from Skidegate to Lawn Hill in the face of a howling southeast wind and in pitch darkness. Mr. Wright and his companion were taken to safety and, later, the Legaie towed the Ethelda to Skidegate. The party decided to leave the Ethelda there and made the passage across Hecate Straits home in a fish boat.

AS GOOD AS A PLAY

A visitor to Limerick, staying overnight at one of the principal hotels, asked the hotel porter to what theatre he could advise him to go. "Och, sir," replied he, "there be no plays on just now."

The visitor was dejectedly walking away, when the porter came after him with the news: "Begorra, sir, I'd forgotten; there's no play, but the Town Council is meeting tonight!" And to the Town Council play he went, and enjoyed the scenes better than any which could have been put on a stage in a theatre. Municipal Engineering.

JUST THE THING

Assistant Editor: "This new story of Chamberton's is horribly mushy."
Editor: "Well, run it as a serial."

THE WORST OF IT

The Girl—Oh, don't some people get offensive when they open a car?
The Man—Well, some certainly do get a habit of running other people down.
