Aluminum Project 10-Mile Tunnel Through Coast Range

Men and machines are tunnelling 10 miles through a mountain to provide cheap power for British Columbia's aluminum industry. In this story, Dave Stockand tells about a multi-million-dollar engineering job that means birth of a new city on the northern Pacific coast.—Editor.

KEMANO, B.C.—A mountain rearing above a mushroom patch of quonset huts has no name, but it has a heart.

Deep inside the mountain, 1,400 feet underground, a man is scooping out a bomb-proof, weather-proof powerhouse for the Aluminum Company of Canada's "Project British Columbia."

The hard rock is showing unexpected resistance to the honey-combed and hollowing, a confusing maze of passageways already through the coast range mass.

"The rock has slowed us down," says Engineer Walter Brown, "but I think we'll pick up the time."

Way Engineer Builds Tunnel

Tunnel work is Mr. Abrahamson's "baby." He was a field engineer on the Toronto subway project before coming to Kemano as resident engineer.

The powerhouse section now under construction will be 700 feet long and 80 feet wide. It is the third link in a chain of engineering jobs that start 125 miles east of this town of 2,000.

Kenny Dam comes first. By straddling the Grand Canyon of the Skeena River it will reverse the flow of a watershed of 100 miles and back the water westward into the Ootsa basin of lakes.

On four headings, a 10-mile tunnel is being punched through the mountains to carry the water in a 2,600-foot drop to the powerhouse. The rock now has been drilled more than 4,500 feet.

Tunnel work, and work on the powerhouse itself, goes on 24 hours a day, six days a week, under supervision of men who have experience on almost every continent.

Penstock tunnels will split the "head" of the water after it has passed through the 10-miler, which is 25 feet in diameter, the four automobiles. Each penstock will then split into two to drive eight turbines planned for the first stage of power.

When done, the water will be channeled through a tailrace to the Kemano River, which joins the sea at Gardiner about 100 miles south of Prince Rupert.

Tunnel Job Slowed up

The 10-mile tunnel is going slowly at the moment. As Mr. Brown explains, "we've run into rock that has to be supported by steel beams, and strikes haven't helped, either."

The powerhouse walls and ceiling will be built inside the tunnel chamber and "tied" to the natural rock. Weak strata are strengthened by long steel rods anchored deep in the rock and cement will be forced under pressure into flaws.

A 15-mile transmission line will carry the power to the town of Kitimat, scheduled to start producing in 1954.

When the tunnel work could begin a 10-mile road had to be built from Kemano Bay to the chosen mountain.

Part of that road is "Camp Five" of Morrison-Knudsen Co. Ltd. The first tunnel driven from the base of the mountain is a 1,500-foot exploratory shaft, which will be used as a water supply.

Mountain Climbing With Tramline

Men tunneling from above, too, from the 1,600- and 2,600-foot levels of the mountain. These camps are served by a cable tramline which creeps up an incline averaging 30 degrees with a load on its back.

At the heart of the mountain is an excursion through a wondrous world where the only reminders of reality are the rumbling machines, the rat-a-tat of drills and "danger" signs.

Men work with picks and shovels. Everything is being done by machinery. Value of heavy equipment engaged on all stages of the project has been estimated at $25,000,000.

Over 2,000 of the 6,000 men employed are working in the area, 2,000 of them at Camp Five. There are literally hundreds of buildings here: quonset huts, cement silos, a bank, a post office, baseball diamond and just about everything in a regular town of comparable size.

Kemano will shrink instead of grow after the mountain is conquered. Possibly 150 workers will be needed for maintenance purposes, meaning a village of about 500 persons.

Rock Men Back to Work

VICTORIA (CP)—The major construction work laid off construction workers in British Columbia, Canadian destroyers at sea, a drydock in North Vancouver, result of steel shortage from the United States steel industry being rehired this week.

Welders, steel platers, and liftmen forced out of work by the steel shortage are being rehired this week. The hiring more during the steel deliveries get underway," he said.

THIS MOUNTAIN rearing above this mushroom patch of quonset huts has no name, but it has a heart. Deep inside the mountain, 1,400 feet underground, men and machines are scooping out a powerhouse for the Aluminum Company of Canada's "Project British Columbia." Two thousand men live in this temporary camp in the Kemano River Valley. The camp is made up of quonset huts, cement silos, a bank, theatre, post office, baseball diamond and just about everything found in a regular town of comparable size. (CP PHOTO)

Big Majority Returns Socialists to Alberta Youngest Premier Reassured Overwhelming Voters Support

By The Canadian Press

EDMONTON.—The Social Credit party, back in power in Alberta for its fifth consecutive year, again will have an overwhelming majority in the next Legislature.

That was assured yesterday in the provincial general election when 43-year-old Premier E. C. Manning, youngest provincial chieftain in Canada, led his party, back to about the same commanding position it held at dissolution.

When counting ended last night, this was the party standing compared with results of the 1948 election:

	1952	1948
Social Credit	41	51
Liberal	1	2
CCF	1	2
Ind. Social Credit	1	1
Doubtful	17	1*
Total	61	57

The Social Credit tidal wave at the polls, especially at rural points, drowned bids of the Liberals and CCF to break the government's 17-year hold on the oil-rich province. It all but washed away legislative opposition from party rebels and wasn't affected by the limited revival of the Progressive Conservative movement in the province.

Mr. Manning, who became premier after the 1943 death of William Aberhart, party leader in 1935, won personal victory in Edmonton where he headed the polls against 28 other candidates.

Liberal leader R. Harper Prowse, unsuccessful in his second attempt to become the first Alberta Liberal premier since 1921, and veteran CCF chief Elmer E. Roper were both re-elected in the seven-member Edmonton riding.

Keep on Paying Premiums

VICTORIA (CP)—Premier W. A. C. Bennett Tuesday appealed to British Columbians to keep on paying their hospital insurance premiums.

The premier issued the appeal just before going into the Social Credit government's second cabinet meeting at which initial discussion on a voluntary hospital insurance plan is expected.

"Tell the people to keep on paying their premiums. They should not discontinue payments in anticipation of a voluntary plan," Premier Bennett said.

"It will be to the people's advantage to keep on paying their premiums. They will not lose money by any changes we will make in hospital insurance," he added.

A voluntary hospital insurance scheme is the first major study facing the new government. Premier Bennett said it will be given priority over most other matters.

Police Seek Clue to Island Death

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police are attempting to solve the mystery death of Sule Onni Spezborn, 70, whose body was found floating in Minstrel Island harbor, 180 miles north of Vancouver, several days ago.

Medical examination of the body showed numerous lacerations on his head and face, but they were not sufficient to cause death, police said.

Samples of stomach contents have been sent by RCMP officers here to their laboratory in Regina for analysis in an effort to determine cause of death.

Police are investigating the possibility that the aged man was robbed and murdered and his body then thrown into the harbor.

It was reported he was always plentifully supplied with money, but when the body was found, pockets of his clothing had been turned inside out.

20 MPH Limit, No Jay Walking Features of New Traffic Bylaw

Under the new traffic bylaw shortly to be submitted to ratepayers, speed limit on Prince Rupert's two main downtown streets will be 20 miles an hour.

City Council, on recommendation of Alderman George Hills, voted unanimously in favor of reducing the present 25-mile-an-hour limit on Second and Third Avenues between Seventh Street and McBride and all connecting streets.

The 25-m.p.h. limit on other streets will remain.

Ald. Darrow Gomez said that in the original re-drafting he vetoed any move to introduce a 25-m.p.h. limit throughout the city and urged that that section be changed. His motion was seconded by Ald. Mike Krueger.

Later, Ald. James Prusky seconded Ald. Hills's suggestion to reduce the speed limit only on the two main streets.

NO JAY-WALKING
A new section in the by-law also makes it an offence by pedestrians to cross downtown streets except between crosswalks.

There is no penalty against jay-walking at the present time. Council agreed that pedestrians crossing in the middle of blocks and at various angles across the streets are a hazard to vehicular traffic and may be the cause someday of a very serious accident.

Fines will be imposed for jay-walking, just as motorists will be summoned for speeding or failure to obey other traffic regulations.

Council agreed to eliminate the "no left-hand turn off McBride onto Third Avenue."

TRAFFIC LIGHTS
A traffic light is to be installed at that intersection and another at Third and Fulton.

Under the by-law dealing with traffic lights, it will be possible to make a right hand turn against a red light—after the motorist has come to a stop and allows pedestrians and other traffic the right-of-way before proceeding.

The rule now in effect at Third and McBride has been severely criticized by council and citizens for some time.

Several aldermen agreed that under the present ruling property values between First Street and McBride on the north side of Third Avenue is seriously affected because westbound car-travel is banned.

Another section of the new by-law gives the mayor the right to set aside streets for sleigh-riding.

OTHER CHANGES

Other changes limit parking in front of the Federal Building to 15 minutes; prohibit parking on most streets longer than 24 hours, and allow only one-hour parking on Third between Seventh Street and McBride during business hours.

Even before the new by-law becomes effective, several citizens have complained about the 20-mile-an-hour speed limit on downtown streets.

Several business men say the modern car doesn't get into high gear until it reaches a speed of 20 m.p.h. and that the new section will tend to cause a traffic congestion rather than relieve it.

Council agreed during discussion of the move that there is no real traffic congestion in this city, but the 20 m.p.h. limit is to be enforced mainly to protect children.

As an added protection for children, no parking will be allowed in front of city schools except for trucks during uninterrupted loading or unloading.

Thomas Brown, QC, city solicitor, has been requested to have the by-law drawn up as drafted and presented to council for endorsement.

Record Salmon Catches Foreseen With Big Run

The salmon pack this year is "considerably ahead" of last year and indications point to a record sockeye catch along the Pacific Coast.

A tremendous run is reported heading up the Fraser River and gillnetters are reaping an exceptional harvest.

With the close of halibut fishing off B.C. waters, a number of these fishermen are now engaged in salmon fishing.

Possibility that the salmon pack will exceed the two million cases packed last year appears certain as packers and collectors are reporting to canneries daily with full loads of sockeye.

The major sockeye runs have ended up the Naas and Skeena, although gillnetters on the Skeena are still averaging 60 a day.

Fishing is over at Smiths Inlet, where a heavy run kept fishermen busy during July, and there is little activity now in Rivers Inlet.

WAREHOUSES BULGING
While fishing in the Naas is nearly over, there is still an improvement over last year's catch. The Canadian Fishing Company's giant cannery here and those on the Skeena have packed thousands of cases of sockeye this season. Warehouses here are bulging with canned salmon.

There has been no reports of increased sales and whether canneries will obtain any export orders is still unknown. Last year Britain bought 300,000 cases of canned salmon but even with this purchase more than half a million cases of the 1951 pack were left unsold up to a month ago.

Canners reduced the price per case by $5.50 in an effort to sell the pack.

HALIBUT
The Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative has been a busy place also for the past fortnight as halibut fishermen from areas 2B and 2C have brought in sizeable catches.

During the past week more than 25 halibutters have come into port here, most of them to the Co-op, although other companies have purchased some loads.

Most halibut boats from the areas—both of which closed at midnight Monday—are heading for home ports.

The areas opened on July 26 for a 10-day period and the bulk of the fishermen made only one trip. A large part of the catch was taken to Butedale instead of this city.

Most halibut boats based at

Fraser River 'Exceptional', Skeena Fishing Dwindles

Vancouver and New Westminster took their catches south.

There are now only two areas open for halibut—areas 3B and 4B—which are in the Bering Sea. Only a handful of Canadian fishermen go that far north.

Premier to Attend Law Conference

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent will make a two-week trip to Western Canada this fall, visiting Vancouver and possibly a number of other western points.

No itinerary has yet been completed. The Prime Minister is at present holidaying at his summer home at St. Patrick, Quebec.

Purpose of the trip is to attend the Vancouver meeting of the Canadian Bar Association of which he is the honorary life president.

He will also lay the cornerstone for a new building at the University of British Columbia while in Vancouver.

(It was announced recently by E. T. Applewhite, MP for Skeena, that the Premier will visit Prince Rupert Sept. 7 on his tour of the province.)

Snakes Cause Bus Accident, 24 Killed

BOMBAY (AP)—Newspapers here today told how 24 persons were killed in a bus accident caused by snakes on the loose.

The bus, loaded with Hindu worshippers, was going through a jungle in Hyderabad State last week in the Hindu festival of Nagpan-Chami.

Among travellers were several snake charmers with baskets of King Cobras. The basket lids came loose and the reptiles appeared on the windshield and crawled in with the driver.

The snakes had had their poison apparatus removed, but the driver became panicky and lost control of the machine. The bus went off the road and fell into a chasm.

The driver lived to tell how the crash occurred.

Atomic Bomb Victims Lodge Protest

HIROSHIMO (AP)—Maimed and crippled survivors of the world's first atomic bomb explosion marked the seventh anniversary of the blast here by protesting against the United States treating them as guinea pigs instead of helping heal them.

Civic leaders of the atom-bombed cities of Hiroshima and Nagasaki complained that the U.S. Atomic Bomb Casualty Commission here is giving thousands of dollars for casualty research but little or nothing for actual treatment.

As I See It

Alberta Election

GULL LAKE, Alberta.—

On the eve of the Alberta election all the experts are agreed that the Social Credit government will be returned.

The government itself obviously believes so, for it has gone through this election campaign almost yawning with boredom at the lack of interest and real competition.

I see no signs whatever that the Social Credit government will be beaten in this election. But I hasten to add that I do see plain signs that it will not last more than another term.

THE MAIN source of dissatisfaction with the Social Credit government of Alberta is that it has strongly improved the financial position of the provincial treasury, but it has done so partly at the expense of the municipalities.

Here are some figures which tell their own story. In 1944 the net debt of the Province of Alberta was $151,000,000. By 1951 this had been reduced to $98,000,000.

In other words, in spite of the enormous income from oil since the close of the Hitlerite war the total provincial and municipal debts in Alberta are $21,000,000 higher now than they were in 1944.

THE ALBERTA Social Credit government is a good government, in the sense of being a cautious and conservative ministry. I long since called it the best provincial conservative government in Canada because it is the most conservative of all the provincial administrations.

This ultra-conservatism of the Social Credit government has in fact caused a revival of the old true-blue, avowed Tory party in Alberta. Its speakers complain that the Manning men are too conservative!

Mr. Breckon cited education and called for aid up to 50 per cent of the cost, not 12 per cent now being paid. He said British Columbia, which approximates Alberta in both income per capita and total provincial income, paid 40 to 50 per cent of the cost of city schools.

ANOTHER source of dissatisfaction with the Social Credit government is its failure to do anything about rural electrification. In the previous provincial election here they held a plebiscite as to whether or not the farmers wanted a public-service-at-cost electrification service.

The reservoir was once drained, in connection with a grisly murder case. A woman, who lived on Comox Avenue, just down the hill from the reservoir itself, had her throat cut. No arrest was ever made. No weapon that might arouse suspicion was ever found.

SOME of the keenest oil men here think that Saskatchewan will rival and perhaps even overtake Alberta in oil development in the next few years. The CCF government of Saskatchewan has just offered oil and gas exploitation rights in 32 blocks, covering 2,850,000 acres in the centre of the province.

This move, in fact, signals the end of the undeclared war or half-war between the CCF and private oil companies. The latter had been dragging their feet for years back in Saskatchewan, because they hoped for the ousting

Noted Island Editor a Fearless Writer

CHARLOTTETOWN—James Robertson Burnett believed an editor should be read, not seen. He once said: "The less a man appears personally before his reading public, the better for his influence." And he followed his own precept.

But when this dour gracious Scot died on June 12, the province knew it had lost a personality. For half his lifetime of 81 years he had run the Guardian, Prince Edward Island's only morning newspaper. He had won the island's confidence and championed its causes. And precepts apart, no one infused with his vigor, humor and originality could help emerging as a striking individual both on and off the printed page.

The note of individualism was sounded from the first. Recounting how he got into newspaper work in the first place in his native Aberdeen, he once declared: "My mother destined me for the Presbyterian ministry and my father for banking. I disappointed both by deciding on a newspaper career."

TRYGVE LIE, U.N. secretary-general, visited England, Belgium and Austria during a recent tour of Europe where he made addresses before several organizations and at the University of Louvain. At Brussels, he attended a luncheon given by Belgian United Nations Association. Mr. Lie is third from left. Delivering address is Pierre Wigny, chairman.

Ray REFLECTS and REMINISCES

Speaking of war perils, Canadians in Korea say they sense the danger of feeling bored. Tension of waiting is replacing the satisfaction of advancing and being shot at.

POSSIBLY AVAILABLE?

Charged with attempted wife murder, a Vancouver man, without money, solicited a loan in order to pay counsel. Permission was not given by the judge who, by the way, practised in Prince Rupert years ago. Accused suggested the provincial attorney-general be asked to make an advance, and here, His Lordship relaxed a little. "The A-G," he quipped, might give some social credit.

Even if we had no railroad, no highway, no aeroplane, no automobiles and next to no town to enjoy 40 years ago, people did have their vacations. For example, a Skeena River voyage—Rupert to Hazelton—was a thriller. You can't buy it today.

The wife and political partner of a president died in Argentina recently from illness. It's not the first time a woman of more or less public prominence has experienced a natural death. But one would not think so, to read the dispatches from Buenos Aires.

THE DUKE HIMSELF!

Few are left here today who can recall the opening of the Acropolis reservoir 40 years ago. This is about to be given repairs and renovation, for it's needed. It was in the autumn of 1912 the formality of opening was performed by HRH the Duke of Connaught, Governor General of Canada, assisted by Mayor S. M. Newton and members of the city council.

The reservoir was once drained, in connection with a grisly murder case. A woman, who lived on Comox Avenue, just down the hill from the reservoir itself, had her throat cut. No arrest was ever made. No weapon that might arouse suspicion was ever found.

EXERCISE GUNPLAY

Peace in Bordeaux jail (Montreal) again. Yes, there was shooting in a Canadian lockup, and the press played it up all over Canada. Still, it wasn't exactly new. Once, years ago, a of the CCF, and the advent of a government which would allow them a larger slice of the total oil melon.

But now both sides have come to terms.

He never regretted the choice. Now and then in his office at the Guardian—always overheated because he grew used to hot weather during years in British Guiana—he would reminisce:

How, as a cub reporter in Aberdeen, he had spotted a private car on a siding, boarded it and found "a stoulish gentleman in kilts, seated smoking a cigar," and scooped the opposition on a visit by the Prince of Wales (Edward VIII).

Or how he had put a blunt question to Gen. William Booth: "A distiller had died and left $2,500,000 to the Salvation Army. Would Booth turn it down as tainted money? Young Burnett (himself an ardent teetotaler) went to ask the question. As he told it, the old General straightened up to his full six feet, looked the reporter in the eye and said: "Young man, when money reaches the Salvation Army it is no longer tainted, but sanctified to the uses to which it will be put."

He had one other Booth story. On the same night the General spoke to a giant meeting. He made a rousing appeal for converts and exhorted:

"Let them stand up so I can see them." One after another rose until all the vast gathering was on its feet except the 15 newspaper men covering the meeting. The General looked round the emotion-swayed crowd and exclaimed: "Hallelujah! Everyone within the hearing of my voice wants to be saved—except the damned reporters!"

COURAGEOUS EDITING

A small man physically — too small for the Royal Scots in the Boer War—Mr. Burnett had no lack of courage. After his cub days in Aberdeen and a period with the Dalkeith Advertiser he took over the weekly Argosy at Georgetown, British Guiana, and converted it into a daily.

In the Caribbean he fought

Less Traffic In Smuggled Smokes Claimed

OTTAWA—Fewer smuggled cigarettes are reaching the Canadian smoker. That at least is what the revenuers believe.

There's no positive way of telling, because no one knows the relation between the number seized and the number safely smuggled. A drop in seizures might indicate a lessened flow or it might mean the smugglers were getting wiler.

There will probably always be some smuggling as long as Canadian cigarettes cost more than American, but the revenue department thinks the three-cent tax cut on Canadian smokes in the last budget, plus increased border vigilance, has substantially lowered the tide of smugs.

The racket was at its height in the fall and winter of 1951. Then, with Canadian cigarettes costing 24 cents up for a pack of 20, you could buy a pack of smuggled Americans almost anywhere in Canada for 35 cents or so. By November the border watch was getting pretty vigilant and just over 2,000,000 smokes were seized—the biggest monthly haul on record.

MONTHLY FIGURES

By February, 1952, the number seized was down to 1,470,019 and by March to 1,060,025. In April it was up again to nearly 1,500,000, dropped in May, and rose again in June.

For what the figures are worth, seizures in 1951 totalled 11,080,291 of which 7,463,478 or almost two-thirds were netted during the last six months of the year. In the first six months of 1952 they totalled 7,053,166.

All cigarettes seized are distributed free to patients in military hospitals.

NOTICE

Extensive and essential repairs by guniting are being made to the City water reservoir. It is estimated that these repairs will take approximately six (6) weeks, and during this time it will not always be possible to supply water at pressures at the higher levels in the City. Every effort is being made to eliminate or minimize these inconveniences.

Your co-operation is essential and respectfully requested during this period.

H. S. Whalen MAYOR.

Alberta Vote Little Influence Here

IN SPITE of encouragement voiced by some enthusiasts for the Social Credit cause, it is not likely that B.C.'s new government will rush into a quick election to capitalize on the party's victory in Alberta.

For one thing, there is no reliable proof that achievements in one province influence opinions in another. If it were the case, the CCF party in our last provincial election should have scored an easy win on the heels of the CCF government's return to power in Saskatchewan the day before.

In the second place, Social Crediters have nice opportunities just where they are to consolidate their position more effectively than any return to hustings would accomplish. Under cover of orders-in-council, they can and apparently intend to run the province for an indefinite period without exposing themselves to debate.

Also in that period they can learn much about government machinery which right now is strange to them. It is not the most democratic form of administration, and in our opinion Harold Winch is quite justified in attacking the plan, particularly in view of the fact that two of the Social Credit cabinet members were appointed without their election.

On the other hand, the Social Credit party is in the fight for survival and B.C. is in need of a government. In the same circumstances, it is likely that any other party would follow the same course.

VICTORIA REPORT

by J. K. Nesbitt

VICTORIA.—It was a memorable scene in the white and green drawing room at Government House the night of Aug. 1, 1952.

A new government was sworn in—a Social Credit government, the result of the June 12 election.

Not since 1933 was an entirely new government sworn into office. That year the Pattullo Liberals wiped out the Tolmie Conservatives.

It was difficult to believe it was really happening last Friday evening at Government House. There was the new Premier, Hon. W. A. C. Bennett, and his chief supporter in recent years, the Hon. Tilly Jean Rolston, making history as Canada's first cabinet minister with portfolio. The other two women cabinet ministers—Mary Ellen Smith in B.C. and Mary Irene Parby in Alberta—had no portfolios.

Mr. Bennett and Mrs. Rolston were jubilant. They had succeeded beyond their wildest hopes. Their chief enemies the last few years—Byron Johnson and Herbert Ansbomb—were nowhere to be seen.

The next morning, the new Premier, always spectacular, did a route march on the Legislative Buildings. He paraded his new cabinet up the curving driveway and they took over the seat of government, each new minister going first to his own office, and then they all gathered in the Executive Council chamber for the first cabinet meeting.

Byron Johnson bowed out in dignity from the buildings on Friday. He drove to Government House, handed his resignation to Lieut.-Gov. Clarence Wallace, and recommended that the Social Credit leader be called upon to form the new government. Thus the King's representative implicitly followed the advice of his first minister, even though that minister had been defeated.

Mr. Johnson returned to his office, called in the press to tell them what he had done. He looked well and cheerful, said he had no regrets, that he had had 4½ happy and busy, sometimes trying, years as the Premier.

"I did what I thought was right, and that's all you can do in this job," he said.

Two members of the new cabinet—Finance Minister Gunderson and Attorney-General Bonner—haven't legislative seats. This is rather unusual, but it has often happened before.

Now, how will Premier Bennett get them into the House? He has indicated there will be by-elections and he has also said that he hopes it will be possible to have Vancouver Island represented in the cabinet. The island, with 200,000 people, didn't elect one Social Creditor. But Premier Bennett can't expect any of the new island members—CCF, Liberal or Conservative—to resign their seats so that Messrs. Bonner and Gunderson might be elected to

Phone Equipment Officials Wives Along for Visit

Earl Squires of Vancouver, superintendent of board construction and installations for B.C. Telephone & Supplies Company, arrived today with his wife.

Accompanied aboard were Mr. George Squires, engineer for the Electric Company Vancouver and Mrs. Squires.

They were met by Eric Squires, superintendent of telephone and city clerk Bill Squires.

Mr. Squires is on a temporary assignment to the Electric Company Vancouver and will be needed when the new automatic exchange is installed.

Mr. Squires is authorizing construction of a new automatic exchange system to be installed before Fall. The Auto-Exchange Company will install it.

Mr. Squires, son of Mr. John Squires, arrived yesterday for a brief visit with his father and brother.

Mr. Squires was raised in Booth Memorial. He left in 1924 for the University of B.C. and returned to Vancouver in 1927.

Mr. Squires is a technical assistant with the Canadian Air Lines at Montreal.

SUMMER TIME IS SALAD TIME and best friend of the summer salad is cottage cheese, kitchen experts say. It goes with fresh greens and summer fruits, and gives them a look and taste as cool as a polar breeze.

Japanese Woman Writer Lauds Western World For Progress

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP)—Tsugi Shiraiishi, Japanese woman writer, says Japan still rates as the western world's most reliable bastion in the Far East.

"The occupation," Miss Shiraiishi said in an interview, "all but eliminated any strong feeling of bitterness toward the Allies."

"There is a certain amount of resentment on the part of former soldiers who were wounded during the war and who lost their disability pension when the new constitution was drafted—the majority of Japanese people are for the west and against Communism."

Miss Shiraiishi, women's editor of Tokyo's Nippon Times, said that Communists aren't particularly numerous in Japan. There are approximately 10,000 registered party members in a total population of 85,000,000.

Referring to a move by the Japanese government to curb Communists under the "Subversive Activities Prevention Law," she said:

"The government claims this legislation is needed but this liberal minded Japanese fear it is a two-edged sword which may strike back at innocent groups in later years."

WOMEN'S RIGHTS
She said the most significant change in the Japanese way of life since the conclusion of the war was that with the framing of the new constitution women now have equal rights with men in Japan.

Miss Shiraiishi, new from Japan to attend the International Convention of Pilot Clubs on Mackinac Island in Michigan. She was educated at the University of Toronto and Columbia University at New York. She spent 10 years on the staff of the Tokyo Y.W.C.A. and is an active worker in the Japanese Girl Scout movement.

Miss Pat Smith, whose marriage to Mr. Robert Anderson takes place this Friday, was the recipient of many beautiful gifts at a miscellaneous shower Monday held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Anderson, 114 Ninth Street.

Shower hostess Mrs. Jack Kohlbruss presented a corsage of yellow carnations to the bride-elect.

Miss Evelina Boulanger and Miss Kaye Paul carried in the overflowing basket of gifts after which delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. G. Shenton and Mrs. Anderson.

Among those present were Mrs. F. Smith, mother of the bride-to-be; Mrs. W. Bird, Mrs. P. Bond, Mrs. A. M. Garon, Mrs. B. Gilmour, Mrs. Elsa Hogue, Mrs. D. Heal, Mrs. J. Johansen, Mrs. J. Judge, Mrs. E. Kehn, Mrs. J. Paul, Mrs. J. Richards, Mrs. J. Rurka, Mrs. A. Slater.

Those unable to attend but sending gifts were Mrs. B. Barrie, Miss Vicki Lewis and Mrs. J. Gairin.

Canada's First Woman Cabinet Minister

Mrs. Rolston Holds Parenthood Before Politics

VICTORIA (CP)—Canada's first woman cabinet minister with portfolio is a grandmother with a salty sense of humor who puts parenthood before politics.

Mrs. Tilly Rolston, Social Credit's choice as British Columbia education minister, raised two daughters and a son before she felt herself free to run for public office.

When she first entered the Legislature in 1941 as a Progressive Conservative, Mrs. Rolston was already a grandmother.

"I don't believe a woman should be in public life while her children still need her," Mrs. Rolston says, and several times in the House she suggested the government should pay mothers to stay home and look after their children.

Mrs. Rolston is 65 years old, a widow and a native of Vancouver. She taught school for two years before her marriage in 1909 to Fred Rolston.

Her sharp tongue, oiled with humor, has got the best of many political exchanges in the years separating Tilly Rolston, housewife, from Tilly Rolston, government minister.

The press gallery remembers the time she apologized for her raspy voice—a cold, she said.

"I've got something in my room that'll fix you up, Tilly," bellowed Tom Uphill, the Labor MLA for Fernie.

"Thanks, Tom. I'll see you later," said Mrs. Rolston, and continued with her speech.

Though she sat as a Conservative and a Coalitionist for 10 years, time and again she blasted the government and said she wouldn't be bound by what she called the "party line."

In 1951 she stamped across the floor of the House, declaring she no longer had any faith in the Coalition government. She sat as an independent for the rest of the session. Later, she embraced Social Credit and won in Vancouver-Point Grey in the June 12 election.

Mrs. Rolston has never forgotten she was a housewife. Her long battle for colored margarine ended in triumph last year and she says the next time the Legislature meets her fight will be for cheaper milk.

"That white, lardy stuff," she sneered during her campaign for margarine colored by the manufacturer. "Why should it be that awful, frightening, sickening color?"

Only two other women have held cabinet posts in Canada and neither was given a department to administer. They were Mrs. Mary Irene Parby, one-time minister without portfolio in Alberta, and Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith in B.C.

16 Enjoy First Scout Camp in Rupert District

First official Scout Camp in the Rupert District came to a close at Lakelse Lake with a presentation by the boys of a present to the camp mother, Mrs. Thornton, who won the hearts of all with her care and wonderful meals.

Sixteen boys and their leaders returned to their homes here well-tanned and with a lot of practical knowledge of Scout experience behind him.

The Scouts set up their eight-day camp at the Kinsmen campsite on Lakelse Lake.

Boys were present from the First (Cathedral), Second (Conrad St.), Fourth (United Church), and Fifth (Annunciation) Troops and were under the leadership of Scouter Archie Mitchell as Camp Chief.

Three patrols were set up for the eight-day training camp and at the end of the Camp, the Eagles Patrol under Nolland Brechin had won the championship, with the "Jackass" patrol in second place.

Individual honors went to Frank Arthur Amiel as the best all-round Scout, with Leonard Griffiths and Joe Scott following in close order. Feature of the camp was the closing night pow-wow when Danny Pick took the blueberry pie for the wildest Indian ever known in "them thar parts."

During the camp period, the District Commissioner visited the camp and spent a happy weekend with the boys and leaders. Mr. Mitchell was assisted by Rev. John Twining, Rector of St. Peter's Anglican Church at Seal Cove, who plans to start Cubs this fall at the east end community.

Dr. J. D. Galbraith, chairman of the Fourth Prince Rupert Troop, and Rev. W. Duclas of the Terrace United Church were both visitors and real helpers at camp for short periods, as were some of the parents of the Scouts.

Timely RECIPES

We always keep ripe olives, dried beef and noodles on our emergency shelf so we can prepare this "Summer Casserole" without much fuss or bother. It's a delicious, flavorful meal-in-a-dish for warm weather. Combine the dried beef and olives in a cheese sauce and mix with the cooked noodles. Then bake a half hour to blend the flavors.

- SUMMER CASSEROLE
- 4 ounces noodles
 - 1/2 cup ripe olives
 - 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
 - 3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
 - 1 1/2 cups milk
 - 1/2 cup grated American cheese
 - 2 ounces (1/2 cup) sliced dried beef
 - 1/4 cup buttered bread crumbs
- Cook noodles in boiling salted water until tender. Meanwhile cut olives from pits into large pieces. Melt butter and blend in flour. Add milk, and cook and stir until thickened. Remove from heat, blend in cheese, the olives and shredded dried beef. Pour sauce over drained noodles. Turn into greased 1 1/2-quart casserole and top with crumbs. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 30 minutes. Serves four.

Scottish Earl Engaged to English Model

LONDON (CP)—Anne McNeill, 21-year-old English society girl, Tuesday night announced her engagement to the Earl of Dalkeith, Scottish peer whose name has often been romantically linked with Princess Margaret.

The 29-year-old Earl will be the fifth of the Princess' immediate circle of young men friends to marry.

Strong rumors of his engagement to the Princess last January was swiftly followed by gossip that he was already engaged to Miss McNeill, at the time visiting her father, a Hong Kong lawyer.

Miss McNeill, a model for London fashion designer Norman Hartnell, said no wedding plans have been made.

Canadians Seek British Typists

DUNDEE, Scotland (CP)—Urgent Canadian inquiries for shorthand typists and "competent secretaries" are being received by Departments of Labor branches throughout England and Scotland.

It seems British-trained girls have made a big impression among Canadian business executives. They want more of them, says the Weekly News of Dundee. And the demand has caused a stir among those who have their eyes on distant lands.

Scottish girls who migrated to Montreal and Toronto report they are making from £12 to £60 a week. Some are saving enough to send money home to bring other members of their families to Canada.

MARRY SOON
But the Labor Department says Canadian executives' imported secretaries are marrying quickly. From correspondence received the official figure this is a natural result in a new, rich land where opportunities are rampant.

In general, reports from the girls who have gone to Canada are bubbling. They think the cost of living high but their nylons are cheaper. All in all, they think they are better off in Canada.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Rebidding Problem Is Analyzed Here

"I thought you said not to open the bidding first or second hand unless you had a good rebid," said Mr. New, the avid kibitzer. He was sitting behind Mr. Dale when his hand was dealt and referred to Mr. Dale's one-spade opening.

He was right in a way. With no part score the South hand is not a good opening. If you did open it, you would be obligated to make some rebid after most bids your partner might make. And, as Mr. New pointed out, you don't have a sound rebid over your partner's response of two in any of the other three suits.

Accident Victim Pioneer Missionary Of South America

A colorful story of pioneer missionary work follows the burial here last week of the Rev. Sidney C. Deacon, 67, who died in hospital here following a car accident the week before.

Bishop and Mrs. J. B. Gibson were killed in the same accident. Born in Bristol, England, Rev. Deacon came to Canada in 1906 and was the youngest of 60 students who ministered to early white settlers in Saskatchewan. He took his training at Emmanuel College, University of Saskatchewan, along with the late Bishop Gibson and Archbishop Edward Hodson who conducted his funeral.

Rev. Deacon returned to his homeland for a short period, then went to central South America where he pioneered missionary work among the Aricaucan Indians of the Grand Chaco for 20 years.

He returned to Canada in 1949 and ministered for a short while at Unity, Sask., after which he became rector of the Ocean Falls Anglican Church. He had been posted to Fort St. John this summer and was on his way there at time of the accident.

His funeral was held in St. Andrew's Cathedral, Assisting Archdeacon Hodgson in the service were the Rev. O'Connell of Ocean Falls and the Rev. Canon Basil Procter of Prince Rupert.

Hymns of the congregation included "How Sweet the Hour of Closing Day" and service closed with "Munc Dimittis." Pallbearers were the Rev. Cecil Randall, Montreal; Canon C. A. Hincliffe, Smithers; A. L. Sergeant, Dawson Creek; Ernest Hurd, Ocean Falls; Nelson Hillier, Ft. St. John, and R. E. Gladding, Prince Rupert. Burial was at Fairview Cemetery.

Well-Known Publisher Dies Suddenly

TORONTO (CP)—George McCullagh, 47, publisher of the Toronto Globe and Mail and Toronto Telegram, died Tuesday of a heart seizure.

Death of the publisher came unexpectedly when he appeared on the road to recovery after a lengthy and recurrent illness. Mr. McCullagh's story-book newspaper career began as an 11-year-old newsboy in his native London, Ont., hustling copies of the old Toronto Globe he was to purchase Oct. 14, 1936.

Five weeks after purchasing the Globe, he bought the larger Toronto Mail and Empire and merged the two into Canada's largest morning paper, the Globe and Mail.

BOUGHT TELEGRAM
On November 25, 1948, Mr. McCullagh bought the Toronto Evening Telegram for $3,610,000 to become publisher of two of Toronto's three daily papers.

Born March 16, 1905, he was the son of George H. and Anne Catharine McCullagh, both of London. In 1929 he married Phyllis Laidlaw, daughter of the late John D. Laidlaw. He is survived by his widow, two sons and one daughter.

Shantz Wins First 20th This Season

NEW YORK (AP)—Little Bobby Shantz last night became the first 20-game winner in major baseball this season.

The Philadelphia left hander mixed up his pitches in great fashion to lead Philadelphia Athletics to a 5-3 victory over Boston Red Sox in their American League game.

In other American League games, Cleveland Indians split a doubleheader with Chicago White Sox before 40,909 fans, winning the first game 6-0 and dropping the second 6-3. St. Louis Browns beat Detroit Tigers 5-1 and New York Yankees edged Washington Senators 3-2 in other matches.

NATIONAL

In the National League, St. Louis Cardinals beat Pittsburgh Pirates 1-3; Cincinnati Reds blanked Chicago Cubs 4-0, and Brooklyn Dodgers were defeated 7-6 by New York Giants.

At Philadelphia the victory marked Shantz' first mound appearance against the Red Sox this season. He now has beaten every Club in the American League at least once. It also marked Bobby's 21st complete game in 23 starts this season. He has lost only three.

In the dressing room later, Shantz in typical modest fashion, said credit for the win should go to his battery-mate Joe Astroth. "Give credit to my catching buddy. He handled me in another great game. I don't mind saying I was struggling out there. It was a tense moment for me."

A large segment of the New York police force tried to keep them out of Rocky's quarters after he had clobbered Matthews but the boys in blue only got themselves trampled.

AT 1952 OLYMPIC GAMES 18 Track, 11 Swim Records Broken

HELSINKI (AP)—Twenty-six track and field records were broken in the 1952 Olympic games.

Eighteen new marks were established in men's track and field while two others were tied. In women's track and field, eight records were broken.

The swimmers shattered 11 records, six by men and five by the women.

Bob Mathias of the U.S. hung up a world record in winning the decathlon with 7,825 points.

Czech Runner Named As Top Olympic Contender

By ALAN HARVEY

HELSINKI (CP)—The 1952 games will be remembered as the Zatoppek Olympics.

In a Canadian Press poll of sports writers, Emil Zatoppek, the incomparable Czech runner, emerged incontestably as the individual star.

The games formed a brilliant jamboree of sports, where anybody who didn't break a record was practically passe the next afternoon.

But Zatoppek, running like a refugee from a Finnish steam bath to win the 5000-metres, the 10,000 and the marathon, was the unanimous choice of a half dozen newspaper men to head the Olympics "Big Six."

Zatoppek was picked by Ted Smits of the Associated Press, Vernon Morgan of Reuters News Agency, Bob Busby of the Kansas City Star, E. W. (Slipp) Carr of the Sydney (Australia) Daily Telegraph, John Beavan of the Manchester Guardian and Barney McElwaine of the Sunday Pictorial.

Few of the writers could agree on the stars in the Czech's shadow. Votes ranged widely among a cast of champions, nearly every one a record-buster.

CANADIAN STAR

Most were in the realm of track and field but Smits went beyond that in putting on his list Canada's George Genereux, the 17-year-old high school student from Saskatoon who won the Dominion's only gold medal in the clay-pigeon trap-shooting event.

Smits said he picked Genereux because of the marksman's youth as well as his brilliant performance.

Five votes went to Australia's Marjorie Jackson, 21-year-old typist who ran the 200 in 23.4 seconds, two-tenths of a second better than the old world mark.

She had previously broken the Olympic record and equalled the world mark in winning the 100-metre dash in 11.5.

Another Commonwealth athlete, Jamaica's Herb McKenley, received four votes. McKenley, who has never won more than a silver medal in previous Olympics, lost whisker decisions in the 100- and 400-metres. Then he ran an incredible record-shattering leg of 45.1 seconds in the 1600-metre relay for his first Olympic gold medal.

Four votes went to Adhemar Ferreira Da Silva, the Brazilian hop, step and jump record breaker who created a precedent by picking up his victory bouquet and loping spontaneously around the track as 70,000 fans roared.

Another Australian girl, Mrs. Shirley Strickland de la Hunty got two votes. The attractive

TRANS-CANADA HIGHWAY—All provinces except Quebec have entered into agreements with the federal government for building a 5,000-mile, $300,000,000 hard-surfaced road across Canada. The third year of construction work has started with bulldozers and paving machines busy on the road—scheduled for completion by the end of 1956—at scores of places across the land. One objection by Quebec authorities is that building the road to the width specified by the federal government, which is paying half the cost, would require the demolition of houses in some Quebec villages. (CP PHOTO) blonde broke the heart of the Dutch wonder woman, Fanny Blankers-Koen, by winning the 80-metre hurdles in 10.9, breaking both Olympic and world records.

Another pair of votes went to Joseph Barthel, the little athlete from Luxembourg who told the Olympic crowd he was "so happy for my little country" when he upset the track world with his 1500-metre triumph.

Coffee-colored Hal Whitfield of the U.S. also won the nod from two writers. The veteran of 27 fighter-bomber missions over Korea seemed to win effortlessly the 800-metre for the second straight time.

This is now the six sports experts voted:

Smits—Zatopex; McKenley; Bob Mathias of the U.S., who won the decaathlon for the second time in a row; De Silva; Whitfield, Genereux.

Morgan—Zatopex; Miss Jackson; Da Silva; Whitfield; Jozef Czermak, Hungarian winner of the hammer throw; Harrison Dillars of the U.S., 110-metres hurdles winner.

Busby—Zatopex; Miss Jackson; Barthel; Ford Konno of the U.S., victor in the 1500-metre swim; American heavyweight boxer Ed Sanders; Clyde Lovellette, leading scorer of the U.S. Basketball team.

Carr—Zatopex; McKenley; Da Silva; Miss Jackson, Mrs. Strickland; Russell Mockridge, winner of two gold medals for Australia in cycling.

Beavan—Zatopex; Miss Jackson; McKenley; Barthel; Hungary's Eva Novak who led Hungary's women swimming team to a record victory in the 400-metre relay; Baldir Dossanj of India's winning field-hockey team.

McElwaine—Zatopex; McKenley; Miss Jackson; Mrs. Strickland; Da Silva; Lindy Remigino of the U.S., a virtual unknown who became the first white man to win the 100-metres since Vancouver's Percy Williams did it in 1928.

New Broadcast Service For Fishermen Launched by CBC

A program designed to serve the commercial fishermen along the B.C. coast was launched August 1 by Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Tom Leach, the commentator for the Farm and Fish Department of the CBC in the British Columbia region, has completed arrangements to provide, on a daily basis, information of landings and pack of various species of fish, and also a complete marine weather service.

In addition, regular news coverage of fishing in the neighboring waters off the Washington and Oregon coast will be available.

The B.C. Fishermen's Broadcast will provide the widest possible radio coverage for the coastal area. With the initial Pacific network of the CBC opened one hour earlier (7:00 a.m.) to give distribution over CBU, CBRX (short wave) and CFPR, Prince Rupert.

This arrangement is expected to reach practically every radio receiver along the entire coast—from Alaskan waters to well south of Vancouver Island. In addition, the program will be broadcast by many of the smaller transmitters of the CBC located throughout the interior of the province.

Mr. Leach said there had been some question about the use of standard-wave broadcasts for the fishermen's program. "Many people are under the impression that the B.C. fishing fleet is entirely equipped with short-wave radio transmitters and receivers and all other modern apparatus which would make the operators self-sufficient. That is not entirely true.

"While many of the larger seine boats and druggers are well prepared to pick up short-wave weather forecasts and also have ship-to-ship or ship-to-shore telephones, there are other facts which might have some influence on their catch. We hope to continue giving that service for a long time to come—from Monday to Friday, each morning at 7 o'clock."

To secure the basic data for the broadcast, the CBC has worked out a close liaison with the Federal Department of Fisheries and the Dominion Public Weather Office in Vancouver.

For several years the CBC has provided a similar service to Maritime fishermen, broadcast from its station at Halifax. The program gives weather forecasts plus information on catches, landings, markets and other news relevant to the industry.

Fireman Housekeeper Finds Flour on Hands His Undoing

DAYTON, O. (AP)—Fireman Wilbur Sager blames the cherry pies for his broken ankle. Sager, 44, was baking cherry pies when a fire alarm sounded. He raced to the pole and slid to the floor below. Slid? He plummeted. Flour on his hands.

SIX BODIES have been recovered and a seventh man is missing following a collision between an RCAF Lancaster bomber and a Vampire jet fighter high over Laurentide National Park 160 miles north of Quebec. Tail section of the bomber is seen on the tree-studded slope in this aerial shot. The crash occurred during air manoeuvres. (CP PHOTO)

GUARDIANS OF PEACE

...The Infantry Section Leader

The Canadian Infantryman ranks among the finest fighting soldiers in the world. Teamwork and individual initiative are two important reasons for this.

A key man in the successful team operation of Infantry in the field is the Section Leader. The example he sets and the leadership he provides is the spark to the smooth, effective work of Canada's hard hitting Infantry.

To keep pace with the growth of the Canadian Army Active Force, more Infantry Soldiers are needed. There are full opportunities for advancement ... there are challenges and adventure in the Canadian Army Active Force at home and overseas.

Play your part in Canada's most important business today, . . . defence. You are eligible if you are: 17 to 40 years of age, (tradesmen to 45), physically fit and ready to serve anywhere.
