NATIVE BANDSMAN LOSES HIS MONEY

One of the members of the Kitimaat Indian band which has been so enjoyed during the week had the misfortune to lose his money, all he had, amounting to sixty dollars. He was depending on this to pay his hotel bill and is therefore very anxious for its return. He thinks he must have dropped it at the Exhibition Building, but is not quite sure. If the person who picked it up will return it to a member of the band or leave it at the Daily News office, it will be passed on to the man who lost it. The bandsmen expect to leave for home this evening on the Princess Beatrice at six o'clock.

DAILY EDITION

Saturday, Sept. 13, 1924.

Congratulations To Winners.

Prince George is to be congratulated on winning the Fair Board's challenge cup for the best district exhibit. The award is well deserved but the honors were not won without competition. Terrace ran them very close and also put up a most creditable show. Francois Lake for the first attempt did excellently and Hazelton's exhibit was undoubtedly good.

Judging from remarks heard it seems likely that the winner of the prize next year will have to have almost a perfect exhibit for there is keen rivalry between the districts for first place.

Why Not Rupert District Exhibit?

It is pretty nearly time that Prince Rupert had a district exhibit in competition with the other district exhibits. Vegetables, poultry, forage plants and dairy products ought to be just as good here as elsewhere and at Smith Island they raise grain. This district could include Porcher Island where splendid results are obtained. All that is needed is someone to spend a little time gathering the material and Prince Rupert could put up a farm display that would make the other districts sit up and take notice. Perhaps the chief difficulty would be in securing fruit. Some is grown at Metlakatla but it is doubtful if enough could be shown to compete successfully. Porcher and Smith Islands ought to be the chief sources of supply. Eventually Porcher, Lewis, Smith and other adjacent islands will supply Prince Rupert with a great quantity of vegetables and poultry.

Hunters Beware Where You Shoot.

Hunters will be going to the woods in large numbers tomorrow and usually there are unfortunate occurrences because of carelessness on the part of those handling guns. This year is hoped that there will be nothing to regret. If hunters will look before they shoot, there will be no casualties. It is not enough to see something move in the woods. It is important to see what causes the movement before shooting.

Fair Directors To Be Congratulated.

In spite of adverse weather conditions the directors of the fair have carried on in such a manner as to command good patronage and they have got it. The exhibition this year was better than ever before and the directors and officials spent an immense lot of time bringing it to that state of perfection.

Many lessons will doubtless be learned and it will be for the manager to bring these before next year's board of directors so that they may benefit.

A good many fair offices are usually passed around and that makes for little continuity of policy except through the permanent official.

Telegraphic Difficulties.

In spite of telegraphic difficulties the newspapers are today able to give their readers a good smattering of world news. The strike of telegraphers almost eliminated telegraphic despatches but it is hoped that in future the Daily News will be able to cover the most outstanding events of world news.

While the two local papers are members of the company which handles the telegraphic service for the newspapers of Canada, they have little say in the management except that they may vote on the election of officials and take part in the annual meeting which is held in one of the big centres.

JUDGE IS PLEASED WITH EXHIBITS OF GRAIN AND PRODUCE

J. Mackie, of Marpole, B.C., appointed by the Provincial government as a judge of the district exhibits at the fair, in conversation with the Daily News stated that he was very agreeably surprised with the high grade of vegetables grown in northern British Columbia. "While in the south we can grow heavier grain it would be a difficult matter to beat the northern vegetables for evenness and quality of taste," said Mr. Mackie.

For a new country Mr. Mackie considers that the grains and grasses grown in the interior are very good indeed and foretells a wonderful future for farming in the northern districts. In judging of vegetables the small size of the vegetable and evenness of surface together with quality are the main points while in judging grains and field produce quantity is the main factor. Mr. Mackie leaves on Friday night's train for Vancouver.

WHILE most of the news was held back yesterday by the telegraphers they let through the result of the big fight, which was of course the most important news of all.

THE telegraphers being out was a relief yesterday. The editor says he did not have to guess how to spell the names of the Chinese generals.

SUPREME COFFEE MAKES GREAT HIT

Campaign Through Daily News and at Exhibition Proves Very Successful

That the advertising campaign carried in the Daily News for "Supreme" coffee together with the publicity gained from the display in the exhibition building had far exceeded his expectations in the number of orders gained both in the city and out of town was the opinion expressed by G. E. Hodgson, manager of the "Supreme" coffee campaign for Stewart & Mobley, Ltd.

So much business has been obtained from both the city and outside districts that it has been found necessary to dismantle the stall at the exhibition in order to enable the orders to be filled. The coffee blenders are working overtime to keep pace with the rush. "It has been one of the most successful campaigns that I have ever participated in," said Mr. Hodgson. Mrs. Harold Parker and Geo. Johnson assisted at the exhibition booth.

In the Letter BoxTRIBUTE TO BAND

Editor, Dear Sir,

I was reading the write-up you gave the Kitimaat band one night this week, which I consider was very timely, and wish to trespass upon your valuable space to testify to the excellent qualities of the boys composing this efficient band organization. In the course of business I have had pleasure in visiting Kitimaat frequently for a number of years and I honestly say that the teachings these boys got, both in their schools and churches, was of a very noble character. They have wonderful homes and are splendid type of Canadian citizen. A lot of credit is due to the late Rev. Robinson and family for the excellent Christian teaching he gave the natives in the early days. His motto was "Always be honest and live a clean life." Rev. J. A. Laley, who spent a long time at Kitimaat, was a noble man and the result of his teachings are apparent in the cleanliness and manliness of the Kitimaat boys. Rev. A. Allen, whom I had the pleasure of hearing preach several times while in Kitimaat, also did wonderful work in laying the foundation of a Christian principle for his congregation to live up to. The Rev. and Mrs. Matthews, who are at present carrying on the Christian work, are taking a great interest in the families and teaching them to be honest and good.

The wonderful playing of the Kitimaat band at the exhibition, which has been a matter of so much favorable comment, speaks for itself as to the efficiency of their bandmaster, Mr. Slatter. He has inculcated clean and many qualities into the members of his band and the splendid manner in which the boys conduct themselves at all times I consider is a credit to Canada.

Thanking you for your kindness.

RUPERT WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

Football Game Against Ocean Falls Resulted in Draw With Score 1-1

The final football game in the exhibition series, between Ocean Falls and Prince Rupert, played on the Acropolis Hill grounds yesterday afternoon and resulting in a draw 1-1, the local aggregation thus winning the silver ware symbolic of the northern B.C. championship in connection with the exhibition soccer series for the largest number of goals scored, was one of the fastest and prettiest games seen in the city for some time past. A large crowd of enthusiasts was on hand to witness the play which furnished plenty of excitement. Mitchell, in the forward line for Ocean Falls scored in the first half and R. McDougall, evened things up with a clever goal in the second for the locals.

The following teams were fielded:

Ocean Falls — Willier, goal; Smith and O. K. Lord, full backs; Munro, Best and Keith, half backs; Paul, Clarke, Defleux, Smith and Mitchell, forwards.

Prince Rupert — Steve Gathorn, goal; H. Menzies and J. Harris, full backs; P. Tinker, W. Murray and S. Currie, half backs; S. Elder, R. McDougall, S. Erskine, E. Warren and J. Johnson, forwards.

Sid Thomson refereed the game.

and E. Criggs and Dave Jack, of Anyox, ran the lines.

The Game

Prince Rupert kicked on the down grade. From the kick-off Ocean Falls pressed and for a time things looked dangerous for Rupert but after some midfield play the local forwards worked the ball down the field and Erskine tried Willier who saved. Ocean Falls forced a corner but nothing matured. The game was fast and pretty. The local team got a fine brand of combination play going and were very aggressive. The Ocean Falls team were not taking second place on the form of play and kept up a merry bombardment at Gathorn in goal for the locals, who was on the job at all times. A foul awarded to Ocean Falls outside the penalty area was not utilised. McDougall, in the forward line for Rupert made a nice try at Willier but the latter was sound. Ernie Warren tried Willier with another beauty but without effect. A few seconds before half time the Ocean Falls forwards got through and Mitchell placed a hot shot past Gathorn. At half time the score was 1-0 in favor of the paper makers.

Second Half

From the kick off Ocean Falls were conceded a corner but nothing happened. The Rupert boys were very aggressive and by splendid combination worked the ball to within a dangerous distance of the Ocean Falls' goal. McDougall, for Rupert, by clever individual play dribbled the ball past several opponents and placed it well past Willier, thus evening up the score. From then on it was a fast and furious battle. Splendid sportsmanship prevailed and the game was one of much interest. Though both teams endeavored to get "one more" not an inch of quarter was given on either side and no further tallies were made. The game ended in a draw 1-1.

Criticism

Every man on the field did his bit. The full back and half back line of paper makers worked like Trojans and fed their forward line well, the latter doing all that could reasonably be expected.

Willier, in goal, played a fine game. The Rupert boys were out to win laurels and were never seen at better advantage. Gathorn in goal played a cool and efficient game while he was ably protected by Harry Menzies and J. Harris at full back. Murray, Tinker and Currie in the half back line rendered yeoman service. The forward line was splendid R. McDougall and E. Warren playing an outstanding game.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lineham are sailing tonight on the Prince George for Vancouver on a holiday trip.

A shortage of frozen bait and bad weather conditions on the deep sea fishing grounds has accounted for light halibut landings this week. The closed salmon season in Alaska has meant that the northern source of half-bait has been cut off and it has been found increasingly difficult for both the Canadian and American schooners fishing on the deep sea banks to obtain the necessary "toothsome morsels" with which to lure the wily halibut on to the hook. With the frozen bait exhausted many of the schooners are fishing for their own while on the banks. The weather has been adverse to remunerative fishing.

Salmon Fishing Over
The white fleet of salmon trollers, which had been fishing for the past summer months in distant waters, have practically returned to port to a boat. The fleet fishing off the Queen Charlotte coast returned early in the week and the Hippo Island boats are all moored at their home stations.

high boots, Bab started in to lure the wily youngsters with all his art and skill. While the rain poured down his back and the peppy fish dashed past his net Bob meditated upon the hardships of the life of a trout and their uncomfortable living quarters. As the turbulent waters of the creek surged past him his sympathies went out to the speckled butties as they constantly strove to hold their own in the impetuous flood. As he rescued them one by one from the torrent and placed them in the selected bucket he murmured to himself "There, there, little ones, rest in peace." In due time our hero arrived at the temporary biological station with the two pailsful of material for experimental work.

Much Sympathy

As Bob gazed upon the fish swimming serenely in the placid security of the pail his meditations took the form of speech, "Why should these small fish be compelled to continually fight the roaring waters and thus wear out their beautiful fins? Tonight for once in their young lives they shall enjoy a good night's repose. No flowing waters shall disturb their slumbers. This water they are now in, taken from their home pond, shall support them through the long dark watches of the night." Thereupon he left them to their dreams.

Tragedy Awaits

Sad to relate, however, the morning after broke black and moist and as Bob turned out of his warm bed the murky atmosphere hit him straight between the eyes and he had a presentiment that all was not well at the temporary fish station. After hurriedly dressing and grabbing a light breakfast of stuffed doughnut, Bob made haste to the trout pens. What met his startled gaze drove him back against the wall in terror, while cold shivers ran up and down his walking stick. There in the pails lay his beautiful trout as dead as a wax image in Madame Tussauds. The trout evidently found the encircling kindness too great a shock to their nervous systems. To quote the classic phrase of the medical profession "the operation was a complete success but the patients died." Nothing daunted, however, Bob finally did secure an additional catch of small trout and the prowess of his manly skill and as a token of his determination small live trout are gaily sporting themselves in a beautiful tank at the exhibition.

When it comes to hitting the nail on the head every time see Lance Potter for the secret of how it is done.

Fine Model Boat

The model cruiser "Myrtle," built by Cecil Rose, was awarded a special prize at the Exhibition. It is a remarkable fine little boat. The details of the little boat are remarkable true and speak volumes for the time and trouble taken in its building. The model measures 4 feet long by 13 inch beam, and the interior is completely upholstered as are also the exterior seats, where neat little cushions are also placed.

A Fine Trawling Net
An exhibit of much interest to nauticals at the fair is a trawling net made by Jack Cobb for the Langara Packing Co., Masset. In making the net 44,000 feet of twine was used. It has a 50 foot spread which is 75 feet long and will hold approximately 1,000 pounds of fish. It took Jack two weeks to make the net, which contains 53,630 knots. A miniature trawling net is on exhibit at the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co.'s stand. The trawling net is used in the catching of flat fish.
