Board, President in Resignations

By The Canadian Press
VICTORIA.—Resignations of the board of directors and the general manager of the government-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway were accepted by Premier W. A. C. Bennett late Wednesday by President John Hart, former premier.

May Daisy B.

VER (CP)—A half-ton vessel which may be the missing Daisy B. was sighted in Queen Charlotte Strait.

Mr. Kennedy's resignation, it is understood, will not be acted on immediately. He has consented to continue in the post until the new government can find a successor.

Further Curtailing Considered

Union Steamships Limited, operators of a passenger and freight service to this city for more than 30 years, in a letter to Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce says steamer operating costs has reached the point where "in some services curtailment or discontinuance is a very likely possibility."

The letter, signed by Gerald O. McBean, managing director of the company, further states that the change in boat arrival days here was dictated by "economic necessity."

The Chamber of Commerce, in line with more than 50 merchants, recently protested elimination of the company's Sunday boat arrival into Prince Rupert from Vancouver.

Mr. McBean said: "A restricted and closely administered subsidy paid by the Dominion government is all that has enabled us to continue operating combination freight and passenger vessels to northern British Columbia on a year-round basis."

SUBSIDIZED

"The subsidy is designed to ensure a regular service to the Queen Charlotte Islands area, Portland Canal area and other smaller communities between Vancouver and Prince Rupert chiefly in the intermediate territory, and it has always been the custom to proceed to or from the Queen Charlottes and Stewart by way of Prince Rupert."

"Prior to the opening of the Aluminum Company project our revenues to northern British Columbia were deteriorating to such an extent that the amount of subsidy necessary would possibly have been prohibitive and if assistance of this nature had not been forthcoming at least one of the two northern steamers would have been withdrawn each winter owing to lack of earnings—this in spite of the rate increases of recent years."

Union Steamships re-arranged its schedule for the northern run last May and in so doing cut off the arrival here of a steamship with (Continued on page 8)

Ship Going Full Astern At Collision

SEATTLE (AP)—The engineer on the steamship Baranof testified Wednesday that the Alaska-bound ship's engines were going full astern at the time it collided with the Greek freighter Triton near Nanaimo, B.C., on July 26.

Ship Going Full Astern At Collision

Louis Berell, second assistant engineer, gave the testimony to the coast guard board of investigation.

He said there was a quick compliance with the full astern order from the pilot.

Clarence G. Holm, quartermaster at the wheel of the Baranof, said he did not see the other ship until after the crash, in which two crew members of the Greek ship lost their lives. Holm said the pilot was giving him orders to change course.

SAW SHIP'S LIGHTS

Baranof's third mate, Roland R. Flaherty, said he saw the other ship's lights four to five minutes before the collision.

Flaherty said the Baranof's pilot, Capt. Ernest J. Lindstrom, was "running the vessel" at the time—shortly after midnight.

Vote Recount Ordered In Vital Vancouver Riding

Pinchi Creek Native Held For Murder

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—Royal Canadian Mounted Police reported Wednesday night they have charged Francois Peter Dennis, 38, with murdering a man by ramming him with a speedboat.

Dennis is charged in the death of a fellow member of the Pinchi Creek band of Indians, 54-year-old William Austin.

Officers said Austin's death last Saturday in Stuart Lake was witnessed by his wife and two children.

Police allege that Dennis and Austin argued on the day of Austin's death. Austin started out on Stuart Lake in his boat and Dennis followed.

Mrs. Dennis told police that Dennis rammed her husband's craft, knocking him into the water. She said Dennis then ran over the swimming man with his motorboat.

Mrs. Austin said she and her children were watching from shore.

Dennis was arrested Sunday in Fort St. James, B.C., and taken to Prince George jail.

Preliminary hearing of the murder charge is expected to be held here. Austin's body was recovered from the lake on Monday.

Harold Winch, CCF leader in B.C., succeeded in application for vote recount in vital Burrard-Vancouver riding.

Result could upset present legislative seating.

CCF Hopes to Take Edge Over Socreds

By The Canadian Press
VANCOUVER.—A recount from British Columbia's June 12 election will be held "forthwith" in Vancouver-Burrard riding.

The recount was requested by the CCF party which hopes, in this manner, to take a one-member edge in the legislature over B.C.'s new Social Credit government.

A ruling granting the CCF's court-hopping application was made in Supreme Court on Wednesday by Mr. Justice J. V. Cline.

CCF candidate Grant MacNeil lost by 246 votes in Vancouver-Burrard to Social Credit's Bert Price.

A CCF victory would reverse the present standing in the 49-seat legislature in which the new government holds 19 seats and the CCF 18.

But most political observers say a CCF victory would not noticeably change the overall political picture in B.C.

Nor would it force the Lieutenant-Governor to name the CCF party as the official government, as some citizens believe.

When Byron Johnson resigned as premier last Saturday, Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Clarence Wallace named W. A. C. Bennett the new premier and he in turn submitted names of his 10-member cabinet.

NO CCF GOVERNMENT

It has been rumored that if the recount gave the CCF 19 and the Social Credit 18, the CCF party would be the government.

Observers say also that were the CCF to have more members, the Social Credit government could still count on the support of seven Liberal members and three progressive Conservatives in any private enterprise versus socialism duel.

There has been no further announcement regarding by-elections to allow Attorney-General Robert Bonner and Finance Minister Einar Gunderson to occupy seats in the Legislature.

Neither was elected in the provincial election last June, and while they are permitted to hold the appointments they can not sit in the House.

Rhee Swept Back Into Presidency

PUSAN (CP)—Aging President Syngman Rhee was swept back into office by an overwhelming majority in nearly-completed returns from Republic of Korea's first direct election of chief executives.

Rhee's choice for vice-president—Han Tai Yung, an obscure Presbyterian minister—piled up a commanding lead over eight opponents in late returns from Tuesday's election.

Operations Cancelled

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Canadian Red Cross Society said today its B.C. blood bank is so low that Vancouver's two largest hospitals have been postponing some operations and shipments to out-of-town hospitals have been cancelled.

However, Red Cross officials say the situation should improve by the week-end because of donations from armed forces personnel.

A spokesman for the Vancouver General Hospital said the situation is "serious" and doctors have been urged to appeal to relatives and friends of patients to donate blood.

No emergency operations have been affected.

Daily News Publisher Returns Home

John F. Magor, publisher of The Daily News, has been transferred from the Vancouver General Hospital to his home at 4627 West Fifth Avenue, Vancouver.

Mr. Magor, who was seriously injured in an accident at Kemano Bay last May, has been in hospital since, with two broken legs and fractured heels. His condition has improved considerably, however, and he expects soon to walk with aid of crutches.

He is under close observation by his physician.

The accident at Kemano Bay claimed the life of Alex Hunter, managing editor of The Daily News, and also injured Jack McRae, former MLA of Prince Rupert.

Especially happy to have Mr. Magor home are his wife and four children.

Majority of BC Voters Favor Fast Time, But Most Ridings Don't

VICTORIA (CP)—The majority of British Columbians voted in favor of daylight saving in the June 12 plebiscite but the majority of ridings voted against fast time.

Near-complete figures received in the office of chief electoral officer Fred Hurley show 277,655 persons favor fast time compared to 223,558 opposing it.

Riding by riding count, however, discloses 24 ridings voted "No" and 17 "Yes."

Great Kitimat Plant Unlocks Many Treasures

$50,000,000 aluminum plant is being established in northern British Columbia. But the vast project will bring more than one new industry for the frontier. Dave Stockand tells in this story, last of a series, of the new opportunities it will create.—Editor

By DAVE STOCKAND
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KITIMAT, B.C.—An aluminum key is being unlocked in a wilderness treasure chest in British Columbia.

There is every reason to believe this key will unlock a natural lock which guards the potential of the region.

The Aluminum Company of Canada's Kitimat smelter is extraordinarily impressive. Aluminum smelters never are.

One thing, a staggering amount of power is needed—aluminum—10 kilowatt hours to make just one pound of aluminum. Raw materials must reach the plant, and the product must be transported to market.

FOR WEALTH

All this, observers base their predictions of great growth in the region.

3. B.C. is just beginning to tap its water resources. When power harnessed by Alcan has been allotted, the proposed dam at Moran on the Fraser River could add another 1,500,000 horsepower in Central B.C., meaning muscle for other major industry.

4. Prospects look good for selling manufactured goods. For example, the Peace River country is considered a logical market and Alaska is worth investigating.

5. Other than industry, the development will unlock an area rich in the natural resources which have given B.C. her lifeblood so far—timber, minerals and fish.

CENTRAL GATEWAY

Peering farther into the future, there is hope a road will be built through the Bella Coola Valley, a natural outlet to the sea midway between Vancouver and Prince Rupert.

So far this is a hope and nothing more, but settlers contend such an undertaking would provide a gateway for the whole of Central B.C.

At present the spotlight is on Kitimat. This construction camp 450 miles north of Vancouver seems likely to become a major city by B.C. standards.

Architects have drawn up blueprints for a "model city," everything planned in minute detail for a population of 46,500.

Kitimat, expected to have a population of 7,500 at the start of aluminum production in 1954, will be a seaport and a railway terminus as well as a smelter site.

VITAL RAIL LINK

Construction will start soon on a $10,000,000 railway leading out of Kitimat to link 46 miles to the north with the Edmonton-Prince Rupert line of Canadian National Railways.

A CNR vice-president, S. W. Fairweather, says he "wouldn't be surprised if this branch line turns out to be one of the most profitable moves the CNR has ever made."

Alcan says business and industry are interested in moving to Kitimat. While it is still too early to name names, queries have been pouring in.

Announcement has already been made that Canadian Liquid Air will build a plant at Kitimat. A pulp mill is almost a certainty.

"It wouldn't be politic just to have a one-horse industry," says Walter Abrahamson, assistant to the resident engineer at Kemano where a powerhouse is being built in the heart of a mountain.

There will be power to spare. In fact, says Mr. Abrahamson, the sale of power may be a factor in how soon the Aluminum Company starts on the second phase of its project.

Initial authorization provides for equipment to generate 450,000 horsepower, but the main hydraulic works now being built are sufficient for 1,000,000 horsepower.

The second phase—which would bring the project cost to beyond $50,000,000—would be accomplished by enlarging the powerhouse, drilling a second 10-mile tunnel, and diverting the Nanika watershed into the reservoir being trapped by a rock-fill dam on the Nechako River, 140 miles east of here.

NATURAL RESOURCES

Now, for natural resources. The rail line will make accessible huge stands of timber—some spruce, but mainly hemlock, larch and balsam.

Kitimat may become one of the ports where B.C. fishermen land their catches of halibut and salmon. Indian fishermen, especially are hoping for this.

Mining is an optimistic question mark, especially inland in the watershed area, parts of which have been opened up by highways needed for construction and also by the use of barges, a means of transportation which will become more and more practical as the level of the lakes rises.

Thomas Elliott of the B.C. and Yukon Chamber of Mines says: "The Alcan project will open an area known to be rich in mineral occurrence."

He adds that several mines developed in the past are not yet producing, and mentions silver-lead-zinc deposits as predominating.

A 110-mile road between Burns Lake and East Tahtsa runs near the Emerald Glacier lead-zinc mine which western mining men have termed "promising." Burns Lake is on the CNR so with these connections the mine no longer is an island in the wilds.

Even agriculture can't be counted out. Limited use of the soil—most likely for vegetable growing—will be possible in the Kitimat Valley, once some of the forest has been cleared. Terrace is farther north than Kitimat, but there are fruit trees in many of the backyards there.

Since spring the number of men working on the project has swelled to more than 6,000. Even in the early stage of production the manpower needs of the smelter will be able to absorb many of them.

FOR WEALTH

All this, observers base their predictions of great growth in the region.

There is every reason to believe this key will unlock a natural lock which guards the potential of the region.

Remind Cabinet Ministers

A new government for B.C. also presents a new situation for the northern and central part of our province: it has no representation of a minister in the cabinet. This situation arises after having had one or more cabinet ministers in the government from this area for more than 15 years.

While this may not be significant in itself, we hope at the same time that northern and central B.C. will not become a forgotten part of the province.

At this time, when major industrial developments are centred in central B.C. it is vital that much foresight be exercised by the government as to the future of its richest resource territory.

It will be up to the elected MLA's, when they sit in the Legislature, to constantly remind the ministers about the requirements of the last developed, biggest slice of their province, about which many know only a smattering.

Juvenile Delinquency

It is almost a truism to say that juvenile delinquency is the fault of parents rather than of children, but just making the statement does little to solve the problem.

Indeed it suggests that the problem is close to being insoluble, parents as a class usually being a stubborn lot, prone to resent outside interference with their methods.

Delinquency, in either youth or adult, is principally carelessness about the rights of others. First and basic training in the home is the responsibility of parents who must establish, to the understanding of their children, a compromise between what is due to others and what is due to oneself.

Once the basic principles of good conduct have been taught, however, it seems only fair that the child should be left to make his own mistakes and suffer the consequences. Otherwise he is a perpetual juvenile, and has a fair chance of becoming a perpetual delinquent.

THAT MORNING RUSH

The Calgary Albertan is half a century old, and to observe the anniversary has published an 82-page special. Morning papers have long been discouraged in the west, it being claimed few have time to read at breakfast hour. And other reasons are given, as well.

Soon or late, the same type of rovers always show up. Today, they are beginning to talk of Kitimat. Not so long ago it was Seven Islands at the broad mouth of the St. Lawrence. When something big, rough and difficult starts—Labrador is an example—a frontier type of town follows. Later on, the drifters appear. With early construction fading, as it does, they move. This time it will be thousands of miles westward. The thoughts of the ramblers are fixed on Kitimat and aluminum development.

As I See It

Small Farm Out?

GULL LAKE, Alberta: One of the biggest and most prosperous farmers in Alberta tells me that western Canada will soon be compelled by world competition to adopt something very much like the collective farm idea they use in Russia.

He is, incidentally, strongly and intelligently anti-Communist. That is, he can tell you exactly why he thinks the world Communist movement is a menace. But on the question of farming—the business at which he has spent his whole life—he says they are miles ahead of us.

He figures that when the next world slump comes, the sheer power of competitive world prices will compel western Canadian farmers to abandon the small unit of operation and go in for the huge farm unit.

MY FRIEND figures that the most economic sized farm for Alberta, right now, would be from 16 to 20 sections. He can give you a long list of detailed figures to show just why it costs more to produce food on a farm of one to four sections than it would on one of 20 sections.

According to Hank's figures, one farm hand, using only his own body power is worth two cents per day, net, in actual food production. The same man with a team of horses is worth 20 cents, net. But the same man with a 20 horsepower tractor is worth $2 per day. If the man has a 100 horsepower tractor to work with he is worth $10 per day to the farm. That is true whether the man is working on his own property or for somebody else.

HANK can show you a long list of savings that could be made if all farming was done on the grant unit basis. One item which looms large in his figures is that of roads—not the main, highways but the secondary roads and lanes into the small farmer's homesteads. In the long run, says Hank, all these have to be added into the cost at which food is produced. He thinks the farmers of western Canada are living in a fool's paradise right now. Most of them are doing quite well. But their costs of operation are high and they are too rigid. A sharp decline in world farm prices would put a high percentage back in the bankrupt class, says Hank. He thinks that prices are bound to come down within a few years at the most; and that western Canadian farmers had better be thinking, right now, of what they are going to do when they do come down.

HANK's pet peeve, right now, is the lack of a thorough-going farm electrification scheme in Alberta. He already has electricity on his own huge farm (which sells $30,000 worth of produce per year). Several communities have teamed up to bring the power lines from the nearest available outlet. But the actual cash cost to the individual farms has run from $1250 to $3000, when you include the necessary homestead wiring. Hank says it is wonderful for

Scientists Discover Point Of Snow Geese Migration

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP)—Two scientists of the United States Field and Wild Life Service report discovery of the fly-way of the Snow goose that annually migrates to the Pacific coast. The fly-way is its point of departure.

The scientists, Robert H. Smith of Medford, Ore., and Everett L. Sutton, Aberdeen, S.D., said they made the discovery in a low flight over Banks Island, west of Victoria Island and between the 70th and 75th parallels.

Banks Island in the Arctic Ocean is 1350 miles north of Prince Albert. The migrating fly-ways for other species of the Snow geese had previously been established.

The scientists earlier reported discovery of the summer breeding ground of the almost extinct whooping crane. They spotted two adult cranes in the marshes north of Great Slave Lake July 11 and 12. Great Slave Lake is 500 miles north of Edmonton.

Australians Reduce Taxes

CANBERRA, Australia.—The Australian budget brought down today calls for a reduction in taxes and concessions generally beneficial to the businessman, totalling $111,036,800.

Introduced by treasury chief Sir Arthur Fadden, the budget also provides for increased pensions and social welfare allowances.

the big fellow, like himself. But the smaller farmer, who has borrowed the money to pay for his share, is going to find himself in a tight squeeze if and when world food prices slump.

A province wide scheme or something like the T.V.A., or even a plan like the Ontario Hydro farm electrification program would provide the necessary long term finance and stability, says Hank. As things now stand, somebody is going to take a real rap—and judging by the past it will again be the farmer who will get it in the neck.

Incidentally, Hank's own life story indicates that come snow or thaw, hell or highwater, he will meet it with resource, good humor, and neighborliness.

Sun Life Hits $5 Billion Insurance Mark

MONTREAL—One of Canada's leading life companies, the Sun Life of Canada, has now more than five billion dollars of insurance in force, according to an announcement just released by George W. Bourke, President.

An interesting note on the remarkable progress of this 81-year-old company is that more than 54 years were required to reach the first billion of insurance in force, whereas the last billion was achieved in less than four years. Since the first policy was issued by the Sun Life in 1871, policyholders have received from the company more than $2½ billion in benefits.

The insurance in force of five billion dollars provides security and protection to Sun Life policyholders who own nearly two million policies; the amount includes group life insurance which now stands at more than $1,380,000,000, an increase during the first six months of the current year of more than $125 million, or 10 percent. Annuities to individuals of through group pension plans are not included in any of the above figures.

Mr. Bourke, in commenting on the ever-rising tempo in the company's life insurance sales, pointed out that Canada leads the world in insurance in force expressed as a percentage of national income, with 110 per cent in Canada, while the United States is in second place with 98 per cent. More and more individual citizens are placing their security through life insurance. They are becoming increasingly aware of the safety and the wisdom of extra self-help in providing protection and independence through the many savings offered by life insurance companies today.

Animal Pets Over-Run Household

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. James Stanton nurse wounded grizzlies and make pets of other bears.

At their home on Knight Inlet, 150 miles northeast of here, wild animals have the run of the place, digging for roots close to the house, tramping across the front porch and snoring loudly at night outside a bedroom window.

At one time this summer 27 grizzlies were digging for roots by the house.

Some years ago friends presented the Stantons with some South Sea pigs. For almost seven years bears and pigs roamed and fed together, but the pigs rapidly increased because neither the grizzlies nor the Stantons could bear to eat the pet porkers.

Jim and Laurel Stanton nearly went broke feeding them. Finally they reluctantly called in friends to do the slaughtering.

The Stantons have always been that way about animals. Mrs. Stanton buys crushed oats for the deer they winter each year, but the Canada goose, rescued with a frozen leg, prefers rolled oats and milk. Occasionally it flies about the living room.

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the best ways to get a great deal of money is to buy a horse like Bull Lea, the head sire at Calumet Farms, and then sell the small armored truck to carry you in to the show and then when the stuff begins to clutter the living room.

If you do go to one of the big sales and bid a little more than anyone else for you have in mind, just what you did. You can afford generous under the circumstances and go perhaps as high as $14,000, that being the price which Bull Lea was sold at in the 1936 Saratoga auction to which he was sold to Coldstream Stud.

In this initial outlay, about $100,000 will be spent, to buy now the sons and daughters of Bull Lea have been in the neighborhood of $100,000 in one year alone. The old boy's progeny sold for $1,334,027, which is a record. Calumet has never sold a horse for more than $100,000.

Lea's favorite son, Citation, won $1,085,760, making him the first and only horse to win the Kentucky Derby and the Kentucky Oaks. Another son, Secretariat, stands third in the winning list. Others include Bold Ruler, Assault, and Hill Gail, recent winners of the Kentucky Derby.

Every time you look up the name of Bull Lea, you are reminded of the $500,000 prize which he won in 1943. He was the only horse to win the Kentucky Derby and the Kentucky Oaks in the same year.

It is readily imagined, that a foal is handled with the tender care from its birth to its maturity. It lacks for nothing except a governess. To reach the sales can be a long and arduous task, so it may be seen that Calumet is conferring a favor upon any breeder fortunate enough to buy a foal from Calumet's services.

During the late War years, the world's greatest stable and bestowing of much unneeded money.

There were 74,139 machines on Canadian machines of these 38,740 were in and 18,238 in Quebec.

Cards Take Double Bill From Pirates

NEW YORK (CP)—It may have been rugged going, but Eddie Stanky's major league leaguers stayed right up with the best of them Wednesday night. His St. Louis Cardinals were pressed at times but they managed to defeat last-place Pittsburgh Pirates 7-2 and 3-2 in a National League doubleheader. The two Pittsburgh wins left them in third place.

First game was a toughie for the Cards. They battled to a 2-2 tie until the 10th inning and then exploded for five runs to take the decision. Johnny Merson won the series.

and game when he beat out a high infield bouncer in the ninth, scoring the deciding run from third. Chicago Cubs spotted Cincinnati Reds a two run lead in the first inning, but rallied to hand the Reds a 5-3 loss. It was the first Cincinnati loss under Manager Rogers Hornsby.

No other National League games were played. A doubleheader between Philadelphia Phillies and Boston Braves and the Brooklyn-New York games were rained out.

Remember When
Joe Louis scored a one-round knockout over Kingfish Levinsky at Chicago 17 years ago today, his 24th consecutive victory since turning professional in 1934. The Brown Bomber ran his string to 35 consecutive victories before he defeated James J. Braddock to win the world heavyweight title in 1937.

New Proposal Offered to Carpenters

VANCOUVER—Provincial Labor Relations Board last night presented new contract proposal to carpenters and contractors in its second bid to end the lengthy construction tieup in British Columbia. Three thousand carpenters have been on strike in Vancouver and on Vancouver Island since June 13 and 5000 workers in allied trades are unemployed as result.

The new proposal calls for a wage rate of $2.10 an hour. Original union demands were for increase of 50 cents an hour to bring their pay to $2.50.

FRANKFURT, Germany (CP)—A United States Air Force bomber carrying a crew of four plunged into the Rhine River at Mainz today. Two jumped from the craft before it struck the water. They escaped with serious injuries. Other two are missing and believed drowned.

ISRAEL-GERMANY TREATY
THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (CP)—Israel and Western Germany agreed yesterday on the first draft of a treaty under which Israel will receive an estimated $715,000,000 compensation for Jewish victims of Nazism.

Not the Way We Heard it—

MOSCOW (AP)—Two Russian correspondents of the Literary Gazette wrote from Helsinki that the officials of the United States delegation did everything in their power to set up an iron curtain around the American Olympic team. The correspondents—Anatoli Sofronou and Nikolai Latyshev—said the American officials tried to hide their athletes in order to keep them from making friends with the Russians. The American officials were frightened, said the Soviet paper, at possible friendly meetings between American and Soviet athletes.

During the Olympic games, U.S. and Russian athletes mingled freely. The rowing teams worked out together, swapped tips and friendly banter, and the rival coaches shared a single launch.

Immigration to Canada Shows Marked Increase

OTTAWA (CP)—A total of 98,057 immigrants reached Canada in the first six months of this year compared with 79,785 in the corresponding period of 1951, an increase of 18,272.

If the trend could be continued, Canada would have a near-record year for immigration. However, Immigration Minister Harris has said he expects the movement of new citizens to this country to drop in the last six months. Certain categories of workers will not be admitted after October.

A total of 194,000 immigrants were admitted in 1951—largest number for any year since 1913, when approximately 500,000 entered Canada.

The total for the first six months of this year included 54,103 workers and 43,954 dependents.

Muzzy Waits Too Long, Loses Chance for Slam

Here is another part score bidding situation. Mr. Champion opened the hand with a one spade bid. Now look at Mr. Muzzy's hand. He has a lot of high card strength including excellent spade support and a biddable suit of his own.

He bid his hearts, intending to raise spades on the next round. But there wasn't any next round. Certainly there was no reason for Mr. Champion to think there was a slam. And the partnership's immediate objective, game, had been reached when Mr. Muzzy said two hearts.

With a part score, when you have a good fit in partner's suit, raise him! Or make some kind of a forcing bid which can't be passed, if your hand is strong enough over all to justify such action.

Mr. Dale opened the 10 of diamonds and Mr. Muzzy won with the queen. He promptly took three rounds of hearts, winning when Mrs. Keen showed out on the third round. He cashed the ace and king of diamonds, then led a spade from the board, covering Mrs. Keen's trey with the ace.

Catholic May Bestow Sainthood on Priest

By PATRICK CROSSE

VATICAN CITY (Reuters) — A Polish-born signor who was saved from execution by the Bolsheviks through the intervention of a United States priest may be the first of the Roman Catholic saints persecuted following the Russian revolution to achieve sainthood.

Steps toward the beatification of the late Father Jan Baptist Cieplak have been undertaken by the Holy See. The priest was persecuted following the Russian revolution and was executed in 1924. The Vatican is now investigating his life and writings to establish if he possessed the virtues required for beatification. Cieplak, who was appointed administrator of the Mission of White Russia, was arrested by the Bolsheviks in 1921 on charges of protesting the confiscation of property and fomenting revolution with superstitious acts.

He was tried on March 26, 1923. Cieplak and other priests received death sentences and the others were being executed. Twelve jet planes were destroyed by raging fires that followed the explosions. Helicopters and lifeboats picked up 63 crew members driven overboard by the flames.

On March 31, Cieplak started serving a sentence in the Boutirka in Moscow. After Poland and the United States agreed to exchange political prisoners, he was released and came to Rome in 1924. Pope Pius XI received him in the Vatican and appointed him archbishop of Lublin in Poland, but his health had been broken by his imprisonment and he died on Feb. 17, 1926, during a visit to the United States.

The postulator of his cause for beatification is Msgr. Valerian Meysztowicz, for the last 20 years ecclesiastic counsellor of the Polish embassy to the Holy See.

Increased Crime In Britain Cited

LONDON — Although alarmed by the increase of crime in the United Kingdom within recent years, Home Secretary Sir David Maxwell Fyfe, believes it is too early to assess the results of the abolition of flogging.

Addressing the annual meeting of the National Association of Prison Visitors, Sir David said the number of indictable offences had risen by 14 per cent last year. And at the beginning of June this year there were more than 24,000 persons in British prisons and corrective institutions, the highest figures since 1877.

"The public are naturally disturbed and are raising questions about defences against crimes," Sir David said. "Voices have been raised for the restoration of flogging. I believe that having taken steps to abolish flogging, it is too soon to assess the results. Sufficient time should be given to see whether or not it is having an effect."

The minister deplored the present-day over crowding of penal institutions and suggested at least seven new prisons were needed to accommodate properly the country's population of law-breakers.

HAD SUCH FAVORABLE comments on the punch recipe, here's another: Grape Orange Punch—Combine 3/4 cup sugar with 3/4 cup water in a saucepan. Bring to a boil and cook over low heat for about 5 minutes. Cool. Add 2 2/3 cups grape juice, 2 cups orange juice and 1 cup lemon juice. Pour over ice in a punch bowl or any large bowl. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

FOR A "SPECIAL" DESSERT, try mixing together a can of cubed pineapple without the juice, whipped cream and one cup of cut-up marshmallows. Whip all together and cool. When serving, top with a large walnut. It's simply luscious and so cool and refreshing you'll want to serve it often.

FOR COOL SLEEPING in the heat, try sprinkling your pillows with a very light and refreshing cologne before you retire. You'll drift off to sleep amidst pleasant thoughts—perhaps of an English garden . . . or April in Paris.

ANY ELECTRIC FANS in your house? Try placing them on the floor. We've found this a wonderful way to beat the heat. It is NOT a good idea, though, if there are children in the house.

DO YOU REST your shoes? It's a fact that you'll get twice as much wear . . . and a lot more comfort . . . from your shoes if you alternate them daily.

A BAKING SODA solution not only cleans your refrigerator but also freshens it by removing odors. Stir three tablespoons of baking soda into a quart of warm water and simply wash out your refrigerator. It's inexpensive and good.

CREAMED LIVER is good eating . . . and easy to make. Dip one pound of sliced liver into 3 tablespoons flour, seasoned with salt and pepper. Brown in hot fat in a heavy skillet. Add 3/4 cup cream to liver. Cover with 1 medium onion sliced, then 1 to 2 cups sliced mushrooms; add 1 crushed bay leaf, if desired. Cover and cook over low heat for 30 minutes. Serves 4.

HERBS OR SPICES, added while cooking, can give greater taste-appeal to vegetables . . . even ordinary potatoes. Use bay leaf for average boiled; rosemary for French fried and Julienne; mint for new; tarragon for baked.

Trans-Canada Highway Formed Gradually

By The Canadian Press

The dream of driving from coast to coast in Canada over a modern two-lane highway is coming closer to fulfillment.

The third year of construction work has started on the Trans-Canada Highway scheduled for completion by the end of 1946, but the job may take longer than that.

A Canadian Press survey shows bulldozers and paving machines busy on the road at scores of places across the land. All provinces except Quebec has entered into agreements with the federal government for the building of the 5000-mile $300,000,000 hard-surfaced road. WORKS INDEPENDENTLY

Premier Duplessis of Quebec said in 1950 the agreement offers insufficient guarantees for provincial constitutional rights. His province is improving its existing highways without committing itself formally to the national plan.

One objection by Quebec authorities is that building the road to the width specified by the federal government—22 to 24 feet paved, with a minimum right-of-way of 100 feet—would involve demolition of houses in some Quebec villages through which it would pass.

The federal government is contributing 50 per cent toward the cost of the highway. The provinces make up the rest and choose the route. When completed, the highway will be the property and responsibility of the provinces.

The Trans-Canada Highway will cross Prince Edward Island. It is expected to thread across the southern part of Quebec, probably linking the major cities along the St. Lawrence River. Its mileages in other provinces have been announced as: Newfoundland, 590; Nova Scotia, 310; New Brunswick, 383; Ontario, 1432; Manitoba, 307; Saskatchewan, 414; Alberta, 287, and British Columbia, 628.

In many places, existing roads are being improved to meet Trans-Canada standards. Elsewhere, as in the rugged section of Northern Ontario northeast of Sault Ste. Marie, the road will open up new country, as it will also in parts of Manitoba, Newfoundland and possibly British Columbia.

TOUGHEST STRETCH
Along the north shore of Lake Superior, rough country makes the work difficult and expensive. Rock hills must be blasted to ensure a smooth grade.

West of Fort William, muskeg is encountered. Muskeg up to 10 feet deep can be excavated. But where it is deeper, perhaps up to 40 feet, it is blasted out and the space is filled with rock.

Across the land, this is the highway picture:

Newfoundland—Two major gaps to be closed, 45 miles on the western end of the island and 83 miles still unsurveyed between St. John's and Clarenville.

Nova Scotia—Already has spent $8,000,000 of its $12,000,000 share of the highway's cost in the province; road expected to run from New Brunswick border to Strait of Canso, with offshoot to Pictou for PEI ferry terminal, across Canso Strait on new causeway and then across Cape Breton to North Sydney to connect with ferry to Newfoundland.

New Brunswick—Connects with Quebec's Highway 2 about 11 miles from Edmundston and with Nova Scotia's Highway 2 near Aulac, after linking Woodstock, Fredericton, Moncton and Sackville.

Ontario—Since federal-provincial agreement was signed in April, 1950, contracts have been let for 257 miles for culverts, grading and paving. About 175 miles have been completed to Trans-Canada specifications. Estimated total cost of all contracts to date is $23,000,000, with $16,000,000 of this spent to date.

Manitoba—Has spent $4,400,000 since 1946 and plans to spend $4,152,000 this year; expects to have 139 miles paved within a few months. Work this year will include considerable surveying.

Saskatchewan—Total of 107.5 miles paved at present, with 97.5 miles of this to be widened, altered or otherwise reconstructed to meet federal standards; 141 miles gravelled at present.

Alberta—$2,850,967 spent to date, $5,700,000 to be spent this year.

British Columbia—$38,000,000 spent to date; $9,000,000 to be spent in near future on reconstruction and bridging on a 32-mile stretch.

fresh produce and milk on Sundays.

The new schedule has been bringing a Union boat in here with supplies on Wednesdays and Fridays. But, merchants, say, elimination of the Sunday arrival cuts off sale of fresh produce to customers at the beginning of each week and also seriously affects milk.

LETTER TO COUNCIL
A copy of Mr. McBean's letter was forwarded to City Council here and the Vancouver Board of Trade.

On suggestion of Alderman Harry M. Daggett the letter has been filed until merchants decide to take further action and when they do council "will be glad to do all it can."

Council endorsed the petition urging return of the Sunday boat.

Alderman George Casey said he agrees that the company must operate on a business-like basis and that "Union has rendered a very valuable service to this city."

VALUABLE SERVICE

Alderman George Hills agreed that the company has rendered a very valuable service "but at the same time space given Kemano and Kitimat has cut us to such a small amount that it prevents us from getting fresh produce.

"I think we should do further to try to get a renewal of our service. The people of Prince Rupert need some consideration."

He said Northland Dairy says it can supply daily needs of the citizens "but through choice the people wish another brand of milk."

KITIMAT SERVICE

Mr. McBean, explaining his company's situation, said: "In our opinion, if the Kitimat project had not provided a tremendous increase in business for our passenger vessels, there would undoubtedly have been a withdrawal of one steamer with other possible curtailment."

"We believe that a direct fast freighter service with a substantial amount of refrigerated space would be a justifiable project but will still require an extensive amount of study and investigation and will call for a large expenditure involving financial arrangements.

"Prospects are that this will need a considerable time and any estimates as to when a service of this nature could be initiated is impossible under current conditions.

"I am obliged to inform you that current revenues and earnings are considered far from satisfactory and are going to have a very detrimental effect on our ability to provide new services for some considerable time.

"The main problem is how to continue operating at present frequency . . ."

RCAF Plans New Squadron On West Coast

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF today announced formation of a new reconnaissance squadron of flying cancasters to be based at Comox, on Vancouver Island.

The new unit will be responsible for reconnaissance, search and strike action against submarines and surface vessels and will also do west coast escort duty with the Canadian Navy.

The squadron will be known as 407 Maritime Squadron and will be under command of Wing Commander C. E. McNeill, 34, of Vancouver.

planet—just a breeze, you might say, for a spaceship travelling 25,000 miles an hour—there would be much more to the problem than that.

Venus makes such a "close" approach only once in every 470 days; meanwhile, in its orbit around the sun, it gets as far away as 160,000,000 miles from the earth.

Saucer Pilots Risk Threat To Home Life

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP)—If those alleged "flying saucers" were ships from outer space, they'd have to be manned by chaps with tolerant wives.

Round-trip travel to the earth from Mars and Venus—the only two planets in our solar system given even an outside chance of supporting life—would involve nearly three years for the Martians, just over two years for the Venetians.

And they'd have to spend that much time away from the wife and kids even though they had space ships capable of travelling at a 25,000-mile-an-hour clip!

Just suppose, for a minute, that Mars and Venus were populated by some kind of intelligent beings capable of launching a spaceship—saucer-shaped or what have you—and that they wanted to do some fancy spying on the earth.

Here's what they'd be up against:

While Venus is "only" 25,000,000 miles from the earth at its closest approach to our
