

Biggest Halibut Month in History of Port was Completed Here Today

Sales Amounted to 3,842,500 Pounds Which was About Half a Million Over Those of July

More fish was marketed here during the month of August than in any previous month in the history of the port. The total sales amounted to 3,842,500 pounds, and this would have been increased but for the diversion of several large boats to Ketchikan during the week for cold storage purposes. July held the previous record with 3,388,000 pounds.

While a portion of the fish has been going into cold storage to be used during the close season, large shipments east have been made regularly.

Today there were a large number of small boats in with small catches, no fewe seventeen craft selling 143,500 pounds. Three of the boats were American with 53,500 pounds. Sales were as follows:

Progress Being Made On Kaien Island Road.

Progress is being made on the slashing of the route for the road from here to Galloway Rapids. Half the distance has already been covered, much of it through heavy timber, and the work is still proceeding. The slashing will give the road a chance to begin drying out and make it easier to proceed with) the clearing next year. It is a big job to make a road even for that short distance and it is very satisfactory that this much is being done this year. If we can get follow up action, as it is confidently expected will be the case, we shall have a road out of town on which we can drive and it is possible that the lands at the back of the island will then be opened up for those who wish an out of town place. Many people would like to get an acre or a half acre in the country which they could gradually develop with a view to eventually residing there.
