MUTINY OF EGYPTIAN TROOPS IN SUDAN

MEN TRAPPED IN SOUTH WALES COAL MINE WHEN RUSH OF WATER COMES

British Troops Fire on Sudan Mutineers After Attack on a Hospital

CAIRO, Nov. 28.—Two platoons of the Eleventh Sudanese army at Khartoum mutined today and attacked the military hospital. They killed one British and two Syrian doctors.

British troops fired on the mutineers, who suffered severe casualties.

It is not believed that the mutiny can spread sufficiently to endanger the British position in the Sudan or is it likely to have any influence against Britain there.

The battalion at Khartoum constitutes the only Egyptian force now left in the Sudan. The British military are strong enough to keep the situation in hand.

Twelve more persons were taken into custody today and the police expect to detain 35 in all as a precaution.

COOLIDGE NO LONGER TIED

Can Carry Out Own Policy and People Wondering What It Is

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—(By Canadian Press).—Development of the foreign policy of the Coolidge administration, now that President Coolidge has been elected by a great popular majority, is awaited with intense interest in Congressional and diplomatic circles. It is the general feeling that the President's own views as to foreign relations are to a large extent an unknown quantity for the reason that until now he has been obliged, or felt he was obliged, to be more or less tied to the Harding policies.

Beyond doubt, the Coolidge administration will preserve an attitude of the utmost friendliness toward Canada and the British nation in general. In case Canada sends an envoy to Washington as a permanent proposition, as it is expected here will be done, the Coolidge administration will welcome such action.

It is with respect to the League of Nations, the World Court, recognition of the Russian Government, and policies in the Far East that there is a feeling of some doubt and uncertainty as to what the Coolidge administration will do. Judging from past utterances, the President feels the League question is settled for good and that the United States intends to keep out of the League.

The President has shown some leaning toward the World Court but exactly what reservations he will want if this country joins it is not entirely clear.

Russian Recognition
As to Russian recognition, there is some reason to believe the President is more open-minded on the subject than Secretary Hughes who is implacably against it. It is known that friends of recognition in the Senate do not consider it to be out of the question that the President may take a course that may lead to this country laying down certain conditions which Russia will be able to accept. This does not mean quick recognition but it means that the friends of recognition hope for eventual recognition at the hands of the Coolidge administration.

ELKS' MUSICAL SHOW WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Financial Returns Were Not Completed This Morning—Dinner and Dance Last Evening

While financial returns had not been completed this morning, the success of the two night musical show "The Beauty Show" put on in the Westholme Theatre by C. H. Lewis under the auspices of the Elks' Lodge for the Christmas Cheer Fund was assured. It is estimated that some 525 persons attended each performance.

During an intermission at last night's show, Ben Self, exalted ruler of the local lodge, formally thanked the patrons for their support and spoke appreciatively of the success that had attended the efforts of Mr. Lewis in developing local talent. Mr. Self also made the welcome announcement that steps were already being taken to have Mr. Lewis come again to the city next year to put on another entertainment.

After last night's show, the lodge entertained the performers at a dinner and dance in the St. Regis Cafe. Music was furnished by the Westholme Orchestra. Mr. Lewis was called upon for a few remarks and, in speaking, congratulated the city on the splendid talent that it possessed. It was exceptional, he said, for a place of this size.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis will stop over in Prince Rupert on December 19 on their return from a trip to Kelchikan and the lodge will then hold a reception in their honor.

STUDENTS FROLICS SHOCK PEOPLE OF CITY OF BOSTON

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—Boston is shocked. The Boston Intercollegiate committee on living conditions among students has approved a report indicating that all is not as it should be in the famous Back Bay district where men and women students are "flying with less protection from moral temptation than is desirable."

The report charges that gambling and promiscuous drinking are common amongst the student population and that drinking at club and college organization dances recently has been "noticeable." It urges that the college authorities ask the police to be more strict in student residential sections.

Rev. M. J. Hinchcliffe presented an amendment to the budget resolution and bitterly attacked the government for allowing discriminatory changes in the regulations regarding the Mothers' Pensions' Act. Hinchcliffe's amendment constitutes a motion of want of confidence.

Changes in the Pensions' Act he asserted result in great injustice to the women of British Columbia.

The scene at the pithead was a touching one. Hundreds of women, relatives and friends of the trapped men, gathered there to keep vigil awaiting the arrival from below of those who did not come.

Do We All Lose Appreciation Of Time?

"After people have been in Prince Rupert a few years they lose all appreciation of the value of time." That was an expression heard today and there seems to be some truth in it. Perhaps that is one reason why so many of the people who were here in the early days are leaving and giving place to others. Owing to conditions we are apt to become a little careless and this is a serious handicap. It is rather sad to see the old timers leaving and others coming here and taking their places and making good where they failed.

Punctuality is one of the virtues. In business it is essential. Men who have been a success in life have been punctual. To be on time in the morning is much more important than to stay late at night. No overnight activities are a good excuse for being late in the morning. To stay in late when work is going on is to admit failure. An employee who is habitually late is a candidate for the road, or in modern slang "he should be given the air."

Selfishness Of Those Who Come Late.

People who habitually come late do not realize how selfish they are. To pamper their own lazy selves they hold up the business of an institution, a meeting or an industry and not only cause much annoyance but also lose money or the prospect of advancement through their dilatory habits.

We realize that it is useless to scold people, but if employees who make a habit of lateness were summarily dismissed, there would be fewer offenses of this class and the business of the community could be carried on much better. Prince Rupert can never make progress as long as her inhabitants are dilatory and careless in regard to business matters. Being late is one of the first steps toward business degeneration.

Outside Firms Look Towards This City.

Outside firms are looking toward this city as a possible business centre. Two new firms have come here to open stores and there is whisper of others following. People who live here must keep alive to the situation or they will lose out in competition with late comers. A number of local firms keep quite up to date and are bound to meet with success but others are not as keen for business and are trusting to luck instead of keeping in line with the march of events. Let us all watch our steps and make sure that we do not slip.

If You Have A Message Send It To The Editor.

Many people have useful ideas that remain buried and never have any value. In every community there are thinkers among newspaper readers. If there is anyone in Northern British Columbia who thinks he has a message that would benefit the community, the Daily News is glad to print it. The difficulty is that most people who would like to write letters are knockers and we are not looking for knocks. One boost is worth a dozen knocks.

We already know that our transportation services seem inadequate and that there are a number of other things that do not come up to expectations. We know that what other people do is never quite as well done as if we were doing it ourselves. A lot of people think they could make twice as good a newspaper as this one at a much less price, but we think they are fooling themselves. Forget the knocks unless there is a constructive message with it. Anything else of interest to the general public is always welcomed by the editor. Now and then we get a good letter and people enjoy reading it. Pass on your ideas, if you have any.

EIGHT HOUR DAY IS DISCUSSED

Gold Storage Plant and Byproducts Company Ask Exemption Under Act

LOGGING DISCUSSED

At the meeting of the Board of Adjustment in connection with the Eight Hour Day Act two applications for exemption from the operations of the law were asked, one by the Prince Rupert Byproduct Co. at Tuck's Inlet and the other by the Canadian Fish & Gold Storage Co., each claiming that their businesses were seasonal and subject to great fluctuations as a result of weather, tides, and the run of fish. The board consisted of J. D. McNiven, deputy minister of labor, J. D. Patterson and F. V. Foster.

In opening the session, which took place at the Court House commencing at 7.30, Mr. McNiven explained the purpose of the sitting. An eight hour day law had been passed, but there were some callings such as agriculture which did not come under the law. Also it was thought that others might be adversely affected and in which it might be impossible to carry out the law in its entirety without working a hardship. The board was empowered to grant certain exemptions subject to confirmation by the Lieutenant Governor in Council. It was to consider such possible exemptions that they were met. Mr. McNiven read such portions of the Act as were important in connection with the hearing.

George Bushby

George Bushby, asked for full exemption for his company and also for the whole fishing industry. It was strictly seasonal, just as much as agriculture or fruit growing. It was subservient to weather and other conditions and could not be carried on regularly. They never could tell how much material was coming and when it did arrive they had to work until everything was taken care of. His company of present just broke even and to handicap it further would make it impossible to operate. In the busy season they had a normal staff of 30 to 40 and in the off season this dropped to ten or twelve. During the busy time when the run of salmon was at its height they worked two shifts. The men were mostly employed by the month.

Cold Storage

W. E. Fisher, solicitor and director of the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Company explained why the operations of the cold storage plant should be exempted. There was a purely seasonal undertaking. They dealt in fish and when the boats arrived the fish had to be taken care of. Eight hours was their normal day's work and when longer hours were worked they paid overtime. The arguments which applied to Mr. Bushby's industry applied also to theirs.

J. T. H. Johnson, manager of the plant, said it would be practically impossible to enforce an eight hour law owing to the perishable nature of the product they handled. Whatever arrived had to be handled that day. The quantities fluctuated. Sometimes no fish arrived and another day there was half a million pounds. The men entered well into the spirit of the work and helped to the best of their ability. During nine months of the year fresh fish was arriving and they worked to some extent during the other three, packing frozen fish. They were keeping on as many men as possible during the closed season in order to hold them. There were a number of phases of their industry that had to be considered. In the engine room they had three shifts but in other departments things were different.

Evidence of Employees

After the Gold Storage officials had left, a former employee named Samerechuk, a former president of the O.B.U., said he had worked in the cold storage plant. For three months in the summer they worked long hours. They worked from eight to five with half an hour for lunch and then continued, sometimes until ten o'clock. Their rate of pay was 57 1/2 cents an hour with 63c for overtime and 68 1/2 cents on Sundays. They worked all the time, Sundays and all, and had not even time for a union meeting. When fish came in they had to stay with it until it was in the freezers. He thought they worked an average of fourteen hours a day. If they refused to work they would be laid off. He knew of one man to whom this had happened. He was a returned man and he thought had been shell shocked and could not stand the work. He has been here a year and was now working for the city. He liked conditions here and intended to stay.

Mr. McNiven said he would have liked to have had the evidence given while the officials of the cold storage plant were present.

Dave Thomson, on behalf of Akerberg Thomson Co. explained that they sometimes had rush jobs come in and must stay on the job until they were finished. It was pointed out that this was provided for in the Act.

Logging Industry

O. Larsen spoke chiefly on behalf of the men who worked in the logging camps claiming that the laws were not enforced there. He thought an eight hour day could be enforced in the fishing industry as well as elsewhere. In the mining industry the law had not been carried out, he said, but did not give specific instances. He wanted to know to whom they could appeal if the law was not being enforced and was told that the board would act at once on any reliable information.

Mr. Larsen expressed the opinion that the employee as well as the employer should be punished in cases of infraction of the law. In the states to the south the mills worked eight hours and under better conditions than here. Some of the camps were not in a proper sanitary condition. The Hanson Company was the only one living up to the law. He said he had worked in the States and he claimed that loggers were crossing the line to the south because of conditions here. The climatic conditions in the States in the south,

HE SURE FELT MEAN BUT MENDED HIS WAYS

Said a well known local man the other day, "Well, Sir, the meanest feeling I ever had come over me was last Christmas morning. I had passed up the Christmas card idea entirely and of course was deluged with all sorts of lovely Christmas greetings from relatives and old friends. And there, I hadn't sent out a single one. I thought then if everyone had been like myself a lot of real joy would have been lost. I determined to see that nothing of the sort occurs this Christmas. I am going to dispense sunshine on the "glad morn" as well as receive it." Your private greeting card can be selected at Rose, Cowan & Latta's, Fourth St., from our wide range at moderate cost, and cards will be printed on day of order. Phone 234.

THE PERSONAL ESSAY

The class had been told by the teacher to write compositions in which they must not attempt any flights of fancy, but should only state what was really in them. The star production from this command was composition written by a boy who was both sincere and painstaking. It ran as follows:

"I shall not attempt any flights of fancy, but write just what is really in me. In me there is my stomach, lungs, liver, two apples, two cakes and my dinner."

MEN ARE MORE SHORT TEMPERED THAN WOMEN

Is it so, or is it not so? Some men naturally will dispute the statement, but these same men should recollect the times they have lost their tempers when they lit the fire in the morning and it went out, leaving them to do the whole thing over again.

Fortunately this trouble can easily be eliminated. Coal is being sold today which can be ignited from paper rolled into balls. A good fire is going in a few minutes and breakfast is ready in no time.

This coal is the famous Nanaimo-Wellington, sold only by Albert & McCaffery. Every pound of it double screened—no rock or shale, no slack and very little ash. It lasts longer, gives greater heat and better service. These are some of the reasons for so many repeat orders. Be one of the many wise people. Do as they do by ordering nothing but Nanaimo-Wellington coal. Prompt and civil service. Remember the phone numbers are 116 and 564.

CITY OF PRINCE RUPERT

Take notice that Alin Avenue between Second Avenue and Seventeenth Street will be closed for one month commencing Monday December 1.

Having given the Sons of Canada a good close run for their money when they met them last week and with their team looking better now than it did in the first two games already played both of which they lost, the Colts are hopeful of defeating the Canucks in tonight's Senior League basketball engagement thus getting their first credit in the standing sheet. They have a job on their hands, they admit, but they are not daunted and don't see why it cannot be done. The game promises to be an interesting one and probably the feature of the evening's program. In the Intermediate League, the Regiment will have another try at the Colts who beat them in their first meeting. The third and opening game of the evening will be a Junior League affair—Troy Tims vs. Colts.

INGRATITUDE

An old lady was strolling leisurely across a field when suddenly she realized that a bull, with head lowered, was charging straight at her. Picking up her skirts, she managed to reach the other side of the gate in safety. Then she turned round, indignation on her face. "You ungrateful creature," she exclaimed, "here I have been a vegetarian all my life and this is what I get for it!"

Palestine is greatly hampered by the existence of many disputed land titles and undetermined boundaries, as well as by other defects in the land system inherited from the Turkish regime. Because of disputed titles Zionist institutions and individual Jewish colonists are still experiencing difficulties in purchasing land. Even after the completion of a transaction, the right of the owner to sell is frequently questioned by squatters who claim ownership of the land they cultivate, with resulting delay in throwing open large areas for intensive cultivation.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

November 28, 1914.

The Cadet Corps, organized and trained by George Leek, muster in force at the Knights of Pythias Hall last evening when a banquet was held. Speakers included Mr. Leek, Rev. J. F. Dimmick, O. H. Nelson, Canon G. A. Rix, Principal D. McD. Hunter, Rev. W. W. Wright and George R. Naden. There was also a musical program. Mayor Newton presided. This morning the corps staged a sham battle at Aeropolis Hill.

Field Marshal Lord Roberts, who died recently, was always modest in action and had the faculty of keeping closely in touch with his men. He was termed "The Darling of the British Army."

The business section of the town of Fort George was practically wiped out by fire last week but the indefatigable citizens are pluckily making a new start in temporary premises.

It has often been demonstrated that when men box in a playful manner someone usually gets hurt. A most remarkable instance of this was shown in Newark, New Jersey, in which Jack Dempsey, World's Heavyweight Champion was involved. Between his moving picture engagements, Dempsey undertakes vaudeville acts, and he was at the time boxing with a youngster of about seventeen in the course of his performance, and hugely enjoying himself weaving in and out of the frantic "leads" which the youngster was trying to land, when quite unintentionally, the youngster's head bumped into Dempsey's chin, Dempsey was laughing at the time, and his mouth was open, with the result that his jaws came together with a click that could be heard all over the theatre. As the champion stepped back, blood poured from his mouth and it was found that both upper and lower teeth had penetrated his tongue. Sitch-

DAWSON TALKS OF BUSINESS

Tells Members of Rotary Club a Few of the Necessary Things to Remember

WATCH THE OVERHEAD
Merchants Should Never be Knockers or Grouchers If They Wish to Succeed

Some interesting sidelines on business ethics were given the Rotary Club at its luncheon yesterday by F. G. Dawson of the wholesale grocery firm of F. G. Dawson & Co. He laid down the general rule that businessmen should not be knockers or grouchers, especially in connection with the community in which they do business. Instead they should be ready to speak well of the town or community and use every effort to improve it and at the same time to improve their own business.

Another important feature was to patronize home industries. Some people might think they could do better in the larger centres but any benefit obtained would be offset by the general loss to the community from that business going outside.

Overhead costs were a thing that businessmen often neglected to consider. Mr. Dawson said he found that very few people were able to figure costs and overhead. They could tell what was the gross profit on the turnover but to find out the net profit such things as insurance, donations and his own time had to be taken into consideration. In order to arrive at proper results, books must be kept and when a system of bookkeeping was adopted it must be lived up to, for to deviate was to spoil the whole.

Time Wasting
The subjects of courtesy and time wasting were matters worthy of consideration by both businessmen and the buying public. From the point of view of wholesalers a complaint was that merchants wasted the time of travellers a great deal. They nearly always kept them waiting and the extra cost of selling had always to be paid by the consumer. In the retail trade customers were very inconsiderate and wasted the time of those waiting on them. This added to the cost of doing business and added to the cost of the goods.

Giving correct weights and measures were very important in business. If the customer was robbed, the benefit to the merchant was only temporary as he was sure to be found out and the customer would go elsewhere to buy. So also it was important not to give over weight. In that way profits would be absorbed. Sixteen ounces should be given for a pound and not fifteen or seventeen.

The expensive service given by some retailers was also mentioned by the speaker. The telephone was used a good deal and sometimes several deliveries were made to the same house in one day. That meant added expense to doing business. Householders should be more thoughtful as the cost had to be added to the goods and was paid by the consumer.

Mr. Foster agreed with Mr. Larson that some of the camps were not fit for a hog to live in.

Mr. Squerehuok, after his evidence in connection with the Gold Storage said he had also worked in the logging camps of Northern B.C. and the best camps he knew were in B.C. They worked very little overtime. The other camps he knew best were those in Washington state.

Several others spoke briefly and Mr. McNiven then closed the session saying that the evidence would be carefully considered, and points of law taken up with Attorney General's department. After all parts of the providence had been heard from and comparisons made, they would give their judgment.

SOME STEAK
"How do you find your steak?" asked the waiter of a patron in the very expensive restaurant. "Just luck," the hungry man replied, sadly. "I happened to move that small piece of potato, and there it was!"

WESTHOLME THEATRE

Friday and Saturday at 7 and 9, and Saturday Matinee at 3.

MARY PICKFORD, THE WORLD'S SWEETHEART, IN "DOROTHY VERNON OF HADDON HALL."

A screen presentation of Charles Major's world-famous novel. A photo-play of spectacular appeal, magnificent settings and stirring adventure. A romance of the days of chivalry when Queen Elizabeth ruled. Never was Mary Pickford so gorgeously beautiful as in this, her most enthralling photo-drama—a picture story filled with tender romance, thrilling action and delicious comedy. Never so splendid a portrayal as that of the vixenish miss of eighteen who braves parental wrath, faces treachery, intrigue, and even treason, to wed her heart's choice. Beauty marks every phase of this classic—a classic that rings true in every detail. Mary Pickford, as Dorothy, reaches the highest pinnacle of her career, being ably supported by Allan Forrest as Sir John Manners, Anders Randolph as Sir George Vernon, Clare Eames as Queen Elizabeth, Estelle Taylor as Mary, Queen of Scots, Marc MacDermott, Courtenay Foote, Mme. Daumery, Lottie Pickford Forrest and many others.
