Grain Elevator is Key to Local Business says Director of Railway

The grain elevator is the key to increased business in Prince according to D. J. McDougald, director of the Canadian Railway, who was in the city yesterday and who went East on the train after visiting Anyox. He sees a great future with steadily increasing business for this port.

"I believe that those of you who have waited a long time will soon see some of your dreams come true," declared the prominent visitor. "With an elevator here there would be ships coming to the port, the railways would be busier, the machine shops, drydock and all the institutions connected with the port would get business. It is a sin RAILWAYMAN to see that splendid drydock idle and the fine dock and shed not being used. Jury Finds He Came to Death by His Own Hand While Temporarily Insane

Finding that deceased came to his death by his own hand while temporarily insane, the coroner's jury in the case of Harry Carnahan, who died in the General Hospital yesterday morning after having slashed his wrist with safety razor blade in the city jail, attached no blame to any official but strongly recommended the police force be increased promptly. inasmuch as it was not in the interests of public welfare to leave the jail without some one in attendance at all times. offenders brought to time by the flying men. While the Dominion Fisheries office is not in the custom of announcing convicrol work, it is known that the airmen have been instrumental in apprehending many law breakers and bringing in a good deal of revenue in the way of fines. Apart from police work, the machines are also being used to good advantage in photographing and mapping out the territory they are patrolling. Lieut. Duncan, the official photographer of the patrol, is engaged in some most interesting and valuable work. He is taking photographs of the spawning grounds of Skeena and Naas Rivers and Smith's Inlet. His! photographic observations show obstructions to the run of the salmon to the spawning beds, unscalable falls and log jams,
