LITTLE LEGISLATION PROMISED IN SPEECH

ELEVATOR PLANS HERE TODAY AND WILL SOON BE READY FOR TENDERS

Legislature Opens with Formal Ceremonies and Speech from the Throne

Little Legislation Forecasted Except Reduction of Horse-Racing and Bill to Set Timber Royalties

VICTORIA, Nov. 4.—That the Legislative program, which actually gets under way today, will be small is indicated by the speech from the throne read by Lieutenant Governor Nicholl yesterday at the opening of the Legislature. The speech indicates that the government will introduce legislation to cut the horse racing season in the province in half. This and the bill to fix timber royalties, which are to go into effect next year, are the only two bills forecast in the speech.

The government's determination to reduce costs and introduce greater efficiency into the civil service is stressed in the official document.

As forecasted yesterday, J. A. Buckham, member for Columbia, was elected speaker. Prayers were read by Rev. Dr. Wilson after which Mr. Speaker called the House to order and the first business was taken up when Hon. A. M. Manson, attorney general, introduced Bill Number 1, an act to amend the Court of Appeal Act, which was given its first reading.

A resolution of condolence to Mrs. McKeie, widow of the late John McKeie, Conservative member elect for Grand Forks, was submitted and endorsed.

Formal Ceremonies

The opening of the House was attended by the usual ceremonies. It was a great social event attended by men and women from all walks of life. The naval and military forces were represented and the Governor wore the usual cocked hat and was accompanied by his secretary. After the election of the speaker and the return of the Lieutenant Governor to the chamber, Mr. Buckham, on behalf of the House made claim from the King's representative to all the rights and prerogatives of the people as is customary on such occasions. Everything was of a formal nature and no real business was transacted.

This afternoon the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne opens and will

A letter from A. L. Brown of Astoria, Oregon, asking to be allowed to redeem lot 27, block 5, section 1, which was offered at tax sale, was received by the city council last night and referred to the finance committee and city solicitor with power to act. Mr. Brown explained that, fifteen years ago, he had paid $1200 for the lot and had since paid more than that in taxes. At the time of the Astoria fire in 1922, he had been unable to take care of the taxes and the matter had since been overlooked. Mr. Brown indicated that he wished to hold the property, feeling that an era of prosperity was in store for the city.

CHURCHILL'S STAND

Will Support Conservatives Against Anti-National Views of Socialism

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Friends of Baldwin declare that he is determined to form a cabinet composed of the best men from a national and empire viewpoint, regardless of the personal claims or previous records of his supporters.

Winston Churchill and fellow constitutionalists celebrated their success at the recent election by a dinner at the Constitutional Club. Mr. Churchill said their role in Parliament would be to aid the Conservatives at every stage against the un-English, anti-national views of Socialism. He hoped to see Parliament renew its broken pledges given the Dominions at the Imperial Conference. Also he desired to see the seaport set to work again on the British naval base at Singapore.

Australian Opposition
To Canadian Treaty.

Recently a trade agreement was made between Australia and Canada under which each country was to give the other certain preferences. Now the opposition to the treaty is such that it is in danger of being defeated, according to a despatch arriving today. Possibly the opposition is exaggerated and may be of a purely political nature.

Exception is taken to the close trade relations of Canada with the United States. Australians object to Americans getting a preference which Great Britain does not enjoy. Yet that is Canada's business and has nothing to do with the present pact. The only thing of which we have to complain in connection with our trade relations with the United States is that they are not close enough. The Americans are our close neighbors and as such cannot be ignored in a business way. It pays us to do business with them and we only hope this business will increase.

Build Road
To City Limits.

The City Council is to be congratulated on its decision to proceed with construction of the road to connect with the Kien Island provincial road, thus preventing any delay in the construction of the part outside the city. Hon. T. D. Pattullo has promised that the work will proceed, providing the city does its part. Now we can be assured that the work will go on.

There is some heavy machinery to be taken in to the right of way and as the road is not along the shore, it would be most difficult to get it in place unless the city did its part. This difficulty will be overcome by the action of the city last night in deciding to proceed with the work.

Liquor Figures
May Be Misleading

Figures quoted in connection with the liquor sales may be very misleading. Last year and the year before there was in Victoria and Vancouver a very large influx of tourists and most of them bought liquor. Also from those centres people take their supplies to the country surrounding. The result is that it looks as if the people there drank a great deal when as a matter of fact a large part of the business is done with visitors and those living outside the municipal boundaries.

There is no attempt in this to make it out that Vancouver or Victoria people do not do their share in the consumption of liquor, but the figures quoted do not indicate that they take more than their share.

Are We Over
Organized Here?

The opinion is often expressed that in Prince Rupert we are over organized. There are enough societies represented here to serve a place one hundred times this size. Some of these are languishing for want of members and many people who are professional joiners are kept poor in their efforts to pay the dues on all the organizations to which they belong. Also work is often neglected in an effort to serve the societies.

Societies, fraternal and otherwise, all have their place and that a very useful one. They provide an outlet for the activities of those who would otherwise find time hang idly on their hands. All these things must be used in moderation, however, and it is probable that we are over enthusiastic in our efforts to keep up with larger places.

The Man in the Moon

SAYS:-

SUCH a lot of people are trying to imitate the owl. They are on the go all night and then sit around and mope all day. Then they think themselves wise.

THIS is fine weather and in spite of the pessimists we have to admit it.

THE shops here seem to sell about everything except elbow grease. If some enterprising merchant would lay in a stock he would make a fortune for himself. Or is there really no demand?

NOW that Germany builds the gas balloons for the Yankees and the Prince of Wales sets their fashions, where is that much boasted Americanism about which so much has been heard?

THE British workman sings at his job but the Canadian cusses it.

THE BASIS OF GOOD WILL

How does British Columbia compare with the States to the South of us, as far as the timberholder is concerned?

The answer to this question, which is so frequently asked, is of importance to the people of this Province whose distinct interest it is to make the development of their natural resources every bit as sure and attractive a proposition in British Columbia as it is elsewhere.

The Province of British Columbia and the States of Washington and Oregon produce the same species of timber but the laws governing the holding of it are very different.

In Washington and Oregon timber owners hold the land in fee simple with all mineral and oil rights. In many cases, when the timber has been removed from them, cut over lands are valuable for purpose of sale in the open market.

Holder Has No Equity in Land

In British Columbia the holder of timber taken up under license or lease has no equity in the land, and no indefeasible title to the timber.

The people of British Columbia possess a very clearly defined equity in the standing timber—an equity which brings them a handsome return—no less than one-third of their total revenue.

It is up to the People of British Columbia to Prove in their solution of the present royalties problem that their good will is as satisfactory a basis for investment as any tenure system in existence.

The logging and lumber industries of the Province are entitled to get a reasonable and stable basis for investment of capital in timber, and its carrying charges.

That is all the Combined Units of the Industry are Asking

THE CONSTANT MOON

The weather depends on the moon, it is said,
And I've found the saying quite true;
For at present it rains when the moon's at the full,
And it rains when the moon's at the new.

When the moon's at the quarter then down comes the rain;
At the half 'tis no better, I ween;
When the moon's at three-quarters it's at it again,
And it rains mostly always between.

The real whole wheat cracker—not made of coarse, uncooked flour, but made of the whole wheat grain, cooked in steam, drawn into filmy shreds and baked in electric ovens. It is more easily digested than ordinary crackers and contains more real, body-building nutriment. The crisp, tasty shreds of flavorful, baked whole wheat encourage thorough chewing, and that means healthy gums, sound teeth and good digestion. Delicious with butter or soft cheese. "Nerves in Bad State Could Not Sleep"

Mrs. H. N. Tardell, Harrowsmith, Ont., writes:

"My nerves were in a very bad state, and for nearly six months I did not know what it was to have a good night's rest. I could not eat, and never felt well. I heard about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and thought I would try it. After taking it for a few days I began to feel better, and soon was able to sleep well at night. My appetite also returned, and I felt stronger and better, and after taking three boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I was quite well. I have also given the Nerve Food to my little girl, with good results."

To lead a party of 32 New York people with 53 horses along the ridge of Rocky Mountains, most of the time above snow line, in 64 days from Field on the C.P.R. to Jasper on the C.N.R., a distance of nearly four hundred miles, was one of the tasks successfully carried out this summer by James Hogg, a tourist guide, who arrived in the city over the weekend from Jasper. The tourist season now being pretty well over in the Rockies, Mr. Hogg is now on his way to White Horse and sailed for the north on the Princess Mary yesterday afternoon.

HUMOROUS SKIT ON CANADA IS GIVEN IN LONDON PAPER

Chief Products of Country are Maple Leaves, Trappers and Mounted Police

A humorous skit on Canada is given in the London Daily Express of recent date. A man who signs himself "Beachcomber" says:

"Canada is the place where all those people are born whom we continually mistake for Americans. Beginning in the East it rises quickly to its feet and takes the C.P.R. to the West. On the north it is bounded by ice and on the south by stern men, chewing gum and idly swinging revolvers, who are there to prevent the Empire spirit being smuggled into the U.S. Everyone in Canada wears a Stetson hat, has read Professor Leacock's books and has shaken hands with the Prince of Wales."

"The chief products of Canada are maple leaves, trappers with a French accent, mounted police troopers and a determination to make us native Britons realize the existence of the British Empire. Scotch influence is great in Canada, but they also have a brand of their own."

MASQUERADE BALL AT TERRACE PROVED TO BE MOST SUCCESSFUL EVENT

Miss Onalee Grieg and Sammy Kirkaldy Were Awarded Prizes For the Best Dressed

TERRACE, Nov. 4.—The masquerade dance Friday evening was one of the most successful in years. The public had been well notified that only masqued dancers would be allowed on the floor and as a result the costumes were more numerous and showed to better advantage on the less crowded floor. The prizes for the best dressed lady and gentleman went to Miss Onalee Grieg and Sammy Kirkaldy who wore very handsome and becoming seventeenth century costumes.

Two frogs that kept everyone guessing all evening won the prize for the comic costumes. When masques were removed they were revealed as Miss Mary Wilson and Miss Betty Anderson. Ben Agar dressed as a wizard won the other prize.

Another dancer who caused much amusement was a very large baby daintily dressed in white who turned out to be Mr. Eggleshaw.

Other conspicuous costumes were Night With its Thousand Eyes, some pretty Folly costumes, a Harem Lady, farmer and his wife, a man from the cold north with parki and all, an Indian girl, the usual number of clowns, and a pretty little wood nymph.

Archbishop F. H. Du Vernet, of Caledonia, who has just passed away, was a priest of a type that is an asset to any Christian Church. There have been few dignitaries of the Anglican Church better known in Canada. The Archbishop made himself known by his writings. He was an apostle of peace and goodwill among men and he felt that it was his duty to go outside the scope of his immediate See to tell the thoughts that were in him. Though he believed in the value of publicity, he sought it not vain-gloriously because he was modest and humble in all his dealings with mankind. He was a true Christian in word and deed. He was forever eager to do all that lay in his power to minister to the needs of his parishioners in a territory that is one of long and hard distances. His memory will be cherished throughout the upper half of British Columbia for long years to come.

Wherever the late Archbishop Du Vernet went he was the messenger of good will; whatever he wrote and whenever he spoke he left the imprint of a conscientious, God-fearing personality on those who read or heard. During the last few years public attention had been directed to him more than ever before because of the theories he put forward on the subject of thought transference. He believed implicitly in these and felt it was right to inform all within his range of the discoveries he had made. On all grounds, but most of all because of his work-a-day Christianity, he will be remembered with reverence but diluted with sorrow in that one of his attainments could not have been spared
