The man lunged at the woman again but the driver interfered and as the man attempted to flee felled him with a blow and called the police. The woman was unconscious when admitted to the hospital.

At the point where the accident occurred the Malahat Drive overlooks Saanich Inlet something like a thousand feet below. There are a number of sharp turns and the highway is not very wide. The wonder is that all three men were not killed.

FINE MUSICAL COMEDY "THE BEAUTY SHOP" TWO NIGHTS NEXT WEEK

Something unusual is billed for Wednesday and Thursday of next week when the local Elks will put on the musical comedy "The Beauty Shop" in the Westholme Theatre. The cast and chorus number about sixty persons who are rehearsing diligently under the direction of an experienced theatrical coach.

The beauty chorus is one of the chief features and many of the city's most popular and talented young ladies will be seen as "Manieures," "Broadway Girls," "Sailorettes," and "Corsican Girls."

The costuming is something exceptional, some two hundred different costumes being worn throughout the three acts.

"The Beauty Shop" has been given in Seattle, Tacoma and practically every other town on the Pacific coast and has been the talk of the town for weeks afterwards. The proceeds of the two performances are for the Elks' Xmas Cheer Fund.

Pass Resolution Backing Action of Ian Mackenzie and Major Burde

VICTORIA, Nov. 17.—At the last general meeting of the Canadian legion a resolution was unanimously passed endorsing the action of Capt. Ian Mackenzie, M.P.P., and Major R. J. Burde, M.P.P., in filing a resolution on the order paper demanding that the Federal House of Commons take such steps as are necessary to curtail the powers of the Senate in the matter of interfering with returned soldier legislation.

The legion has on previous occasions forwarded resolutions of protest at the action of the Senate in modifying the measures which passed the Commons at its last two sessions in giving effect to the report on the Ralston Commission on treatment, pensions and re-establishment, and they therefore feel that they should support any action along these lines that will assist in remedying the unjustifiable position in which the ex-Servicemen and their dependants are placed by the Senate's action.

BOB RITCHIE DIES IN EAST

Suddenly Stricken With Pneumonia on Return From Trip to England and Died Yesterday Morning

With shocking suddenness, Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Ritchie, 420 Fourth Avenue West, received the sad intelligence yesterday that their elder son, Robert A. Ritchie, had passed away in New York City. Only on Thursday "Bob," as he was familiarly known here, had arrived in New York from London, England, and was staying at the Biltmore Hotel. Suddenly stricken on Friday, he was taken to the Rockefeller Hospital where he expired at 8 o'clock yesterday morning from lobar pneumonia.

"Bob" Ritchie, who was 27 years of age last September 6, was a native son of British Columbia. After having resided in Victoria and receiving his elementary education there, he came to Prince Rupert in 1909 with his parents and was a student in the old public school on Second Avenue. He served in the Great War since which he was located in the East. About four years ago, he returned here to pay a brief visit to his parents. An electrical genius, "Bob" was an experimenter in wireless long before the days of modern radio perfection and had the first amateur wireless set in Prince Rupert. His studies along this line he continued until the time of his death.

Many friends, who will be shocked to learn of "Bob's" untimely passing, will extend their deepest sympathies to his parents in their bereavement. He is

LIZZIE IN DITCH

Narrow Escape at Smithers When Car Goes off Road on Fifth Avenue

SMITHERS, Nov. 17.—Another car of the Henry Ford vintage took a notion on Wednesday evening to park itself in the Smithers canal, this time it was Watson's delivery truck, which failed to respond to the pressure on the brakes and backed into the deep ditch on Fifth Avenue, very deeply seating itself on its rear end on the ice in the bottom of the ditch with its front wheels in the air like a dog begging for crust.

Jack Smith, the driver, had a narrow escape, as had the car one in sideways he would have lost likely been seriously injured. As it was both he and the car came off without a scratch, other than those inflicted by O'Neill and Wall, the Ford owners, when they assisted Lizzie into a position more in keeping with her build.

Mr. Van Decar was in business or several years at Ootsa Lake, where Mrs. Van Decar has conducted a general store for the past year and a half.

After a short visit in Smithers the newly married couple are returning to Ootsa Lake, and intend to make their home on the farm Mr. Van Decar recently purchased from James Stoyhoff, which adjoins the Harold Bennett place on the shores of Ootsa Lake.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

November 17, 1914.

A scintillating and undoubted success, the society circus in aid of the Belgian war fund which opened last night and will continue today outshone anything in the entertainment line that had ever been staged in Prince Rupert. No less than $1,150 was realized in the one night. There was an immense crowd in attendance.

A report was submitted at last night's council meeting stating that no disloyalty had been intended by the few city workers who did not take the holiday given last week when the overseas contingent left for the south.

The body of A. Roy, one of the victims of a double drowning a few weeks ago near Shawatlan's Passage, was found this morning by a man named Lindsay not far from where the accident occurred. Roy's son's body is still missing.

NOT LAW MAKERS

Editor Daily News.

According to a report in your paper last week the police commissioners set themselves up to be law makers for this city as well as executive heads. They are taking on themselves to say whether the law shall be enforced and where.

Now, sir, I am not a resident of Comox Avenue or Fraser St. nor am I one of the habitues of these districts but I take an interest in everything that goes on in the city and I like to see fair-play. As I see it, the mayor and the other two commissioners are taking on themselves to say where the law shall be broken. They say you can defy the law on Comox Avenue but not on Third Avenue.

Other Laws

All right, Mr. Editor, if they can do that with one law they can do it with another. They can say people may steal on one street and not on another. They may murder on one street but not on another. I should like to know if they are allowed to do that. Can they allow bootlegging on one street and not on another? If they can I should like a year of free action on the open street.

There is a rumor around that one street pays for protection to somebody but no one seems to quite know who gets the protection money. Naturally under these conditions everyone is suspected. My understanding of the law is that the police commission is there to see that laws are enforced and not to see that they are enforced on some streets and not on others. I should like to know from the city solicitor if they have any right to do that. I should like to know whether it is a crime for officials to condone with crime. When the mayor says the people of doubtful character know to what part of the city they may go to carry on an occupation that is contrary to law, a good many of us would like to know if he is not putting himself within the scope of the law.

Position of Officials

I am not now arguing against a restricted district but I am just discussing the position of the city officials who have taken an oath that they will enforce the laws without fear or favor. If the city has a right to set aside a district for the commission of crime, I shall have no more to say, but if, Mr. Editor, you find that I am right and the city officials have no right to play favorites in this illegal business, then, sir, I shall crave the pardon at a later date of expressing my views again on this interesting public question. I should like to know what you think about it and also what the city solicitor, who is also the city prosecutor, thinks about it.

Yours for justice to all, INQUISTOR.

OVERWHELMING MAJORITY IN SILENT ELECTION

Prince Rupert Women Register Interesting Vote to Save Money and Lessen Work

It is a sign of the times that women should demand more authority in their homes. Not that they want all their own way but that when comfort and economy are at stake they are usually better judges than their husbands.

They are at home all day and know more about the things that go to make for the comfort of the home than the husbands who come home at night expecting everything to be just so. This is why so many Prince Rupert ladies insist on having Nanaimo-Wellington coal. They have made a study of coal and have discovered that Nanaimo-Wellington is far superior to its competitors. Very little lasts a long time. If drafts are shut off at night the fire will be there in the morning. No rock, very little ash and no slack are other points in favor of Nanaimo-Wellington.

This famous coal is sold only by Albert & McCaffery. They have their own team and trucks and assure prompt service. Order direct from them and be sure you get the only coal—Nanaimo-Wellington. Their phone numbers are 116 and 564.

With the possible exception of the Senior League game between the Golts and Elks, the opening matches of the basketball season on Friday night were quite up to expectations. The Maple Leafs and Gil's put up a real keen tussle in the Ladies' League in spite of the good start the former got in the first half. Future matches between these two live organizations will be looked forward to. In the Intermediate League, the Golts were value for their victory over the Grotto but the latter showed promise of proving serious contenders as the season advances. Perhaps, the Golts were a little disappointing in the Intermediate League but they were faced with a pretty formidable aggregation representing the Elks. The former will likely improve in team work as the season goes on and the latter do not need to plume themselves over much for the Sons of Canada may be expected to prove as tough customers in the future as they have consistently been in the past.

Tonight's basketball matches will be just as attractive as those on Friday night when the Elks' Home was filled to capacity. To start with the Maple Leafs and Gil's are coming up again in the Ladies' League. The latter gave the former something of a shock with their come-back in the second half of the first game. The tables may be turned this time. Contrary statements notwithstanding, the Leafs will have to give all they have this season to hold the Benson Cup. Their opponents are a likely looking bunch and have at least two stars of former years in their ranks—namely Caroline Mitchell and Leona Parker. In the Intermediate League, the Regiment will try out conclusions in their opening game with the Golts. They will have all they can handle. The Sons of Canada will play their opener of the season with the Golts who will have to bolster up the team that was so decisively beaten by the Elks on Friday.

Vancouver Paper Draws Attention to Wild Stories in Connection With Janet Smith Case

In its issue of Monday the Vancouver Star has the following editorial article on its front page:

"Inspector Owen of the provincial police denounces those who, over their tea cups, bandy about lightly, the names of others, whom they suspect, in connection with the death of Janet K. Smith.

His rebuke may be merited. Trial by tea table probably antedates trial by jury, for which it is a poor and cruel substitute. But it will never be cured by the ban or the curse of police officers. It can be largely prevented by their efficiency.

Tea table thrives where there is inertia and ineptness in administering the law. There were both in the unfortunate case cited.

It is reduced to a minimum, when, by vigor, impartiality, and intelligence officers of the law inspire public confidence in both their ability and their single mindedness.

It was thus that the Northwest mounted Police on the plains, and Chief Justice Begbie in the turbulent mining camps of Cariboo, by dealing swift and evenhanded justice when the law was broken, left no ground for innuendo and little for specula-

When this paper demanded a sleepless search for the murderer of Janet Smith, it invoked the most effective means of stilling the tongues of slander. When the police, by their zeal, capture the criminal or establish his identity, the voice of suspicion will be silenced.

The remedy for the evil of which Inspector Owens complains, lies largely in the hands of the police. It consists, not in denouncing gossips, but in robbing them of their occupation.

"Child's Eyelids Inflamed. Stuck Together and Bled"

Mr. E. P. Kimball, Entwhistle, Alta., writes: "Our little girl from birth was troubled with inflamed eyelids and in spite of several remedies, grew worse until at the age of sixteen months her eyes could not be opened after sleep without bleeding, a waxy discharge sticking the lids together and adhering with great tenacity. The child's grandmothers were consulted by mail, and both responded with a little sample box of Dr. Chase's Ointment. These were used as directed, and lasted until we could obtain a further supply from Edmonton. Improvement was very marked from the first application. The waxy discharge was easier removed and did not reappear. Inflammation subsided and has not returned."

LITTLE BABY PEGGY IN THE FAMILY SECRET

Wonderful Baby Actress to be Seen Here at Mid-Week Showing
Little Baby Peggy never knew her father. She only knew that her mother was sad most of the time; and that her grandfather was cross, and said she was "always in the way."
She wanted to play with the happy children of the neighborhood, the poor little ones who could get dirty and whose parents were always eager to greet them with broad, round smiles. One day she ran off and got lost. A dirty, hungry looking young fellow picked her up and brought her to the station house, leaving her in the kindly arms of the law.
Naturally, the child forgot about her rescuer until one midnight when in the country, she hears a disturbing noise from the vicinity of the ground floor. Without disturbing her mother she crept out of bed, and cautiously walked into the drawing room.
To her surprise, a man was bending over the contents of the family safe. He dropped his mask in surprise. Immediately she recognized him as the "kind man who picked her up when she was oh, so tired."
He tried to tell her that he would not take her things—when an automatic barked.—The baby's mother dashed downstairs; her grandfather likewise entered.
It's a love story.

SINNERS IN SILK IS REJUVENATION STORY

Man is Given Youth by Treatment of Monkey Gland Order and Gives Way to Jazz Craze

The action of "Sinners in Silk" takes place in and around New York, particularly the deck and swimming pool of an ocean liner, a country house in the exclusive Westchester district, a fashionable apartment on Park Avenue, a magnificent villa located on the roof of a down-town skyscraper.
The story is of a man broken in health and past middle age, who returns to America after an absence of twenty years. He meets on shipboard, during a festive swimming party in the ship's swimming pool, a very beautiful and a very modern young lady, to whom he is attracted. He is travelling with a distinguished physician, a disciple of Dr. Steinhilber, the Viennese specialist, who tempts him to undergo a rejuvenation treatment which will restore his youth.
God of Jazz
"You will find your country altered since last you were here," the doctor tells him. "A new and terrible generation has been reared. Its god is jazz; its slogan speed; Love is free to-day, free for the taking."
Merrill yields to the temptation, undergoes the treatment and twenty years are lifted from his life. He immediately enters the gayest set of young people and becomes the sponsor of a succession of "wild" parties. And he does not fail to get himself talked about in scandalous gossip. After a series of stirring episodes and intrigues Merrill all but succeeds in taking the girl whom he met on ship board and the one girl he really desires, away from the young man who truly loves her.
But in the end he steps aside in the young man's favor and resumes his former and milder ways of life. He has found that there is no free love; that one always must pay for love, sometimes with sacrifice, sometimes with self-respect, sometimes even with one's heart's blood.
His Own Son
It also develops that the young man he wished to cheat — of the girl, is his own son, whom he had not seen since early childhood, when he deserted his wife and the boy's mother. The young fellow has a letter from Merrill from his mother in which is stated that if the father thinks himself worthy, he is to acknowledge his son. This is what makes him to give up the unnatural life of gaiety.

LILY OF THE DUST IS WEEK END PICTURE AT THE WESTHOLME THEATRE

"Lily of the Dust," coming to the Westholme at the week end, is a production bound to satisfy the most finicky picture fan. Pola Negri is the star. Every time people come to the conclusion that she has just about reached the heights of characterization she comes along in a new picture to surprise them with something new.
"Lily of the Dust" was adapted by Paul Bern from a novel by Hermann Sudermann and the play by Edward Sheldon. Pola has the role of Lily, a poor but very beautiful girl, whose fascination for men is a curse to her. In love with one man, she is forced by circumstances to marry another, only to learn that marriage without love is most unhappy. Men are attracted to her, and she finds herself being pushed along the easiest way that eventually leads to destruction. Fate takes pity upon her, and in the end she finds happiness.

Is your wife wiser than you?

IF YOU read only the stock and sporting pages, and your wife is like other women, she is wiser than you. She reads the shopping news.

She likes to hear you jingle money in your pockets. She likes to stretch money to the limit, so she won't have to ask for more. She likes to shop strategically. Know what she does.

Comfortably at home in a cushiony arm-chair, she scans advertising columns. She compares, judges and selects the goods she desires; maps her route; with least effort and minimum time, goes direct to the planned store and buys.

She obtains what she wants at the lowest price it is offered. She is certain of full satisfaction, for she knows advertised goods live up to their claims. She saves time and steps, and returns sufficiently alert to enjoy new advertisements—and to prepare you an appetizing dinner.

These advertisements are written for your benefit too. Read them. Help her help you save.

FORTUNES ARE FOUNDED ON SMALL CASH SAVINGS

It's not what you make it's what you save that counts. It is a recognized fact that a business conducted on a cash basis can be operated much more economically than one conducted on a credit basis. However, when there is no inducement to pay cash, why do so? More and more the world over the cash system is coming into use. As a result of our adv. of the past week we found that given the proper inducement the people of Prince Rupert, too, are willing to pay cash. Have you investigated our proposition, if not why not? The proof of the pudding is in the eating thereof. F. W. MOERSCH, Grocer, Phone 13.

WHAT FUR ARE YOU BUYING?

Cat Skin Changed to Half a Dozen Different Names by Dyeing and Treatment

RABBIT IS POPULAR

Oh, where, oh, where has my pussy-eat gone?
Oh, where, oh, where can she be?
Will her name be ermine or pahlmi or chevre,
When she is returned to me?

Then again, pussys name may have been changed to chatigre, barondukie or any of a number of others by the time she reappears among old acquaintances. And not only her name, but her appearance will be transformed so completely that smart indeed will be the person who can recognize her.

No game warden has announced an official open season on cats, alley house or Persian, yet at a fur sale in the east it frankly was admitted that forty thousand cats had been killed for their pelts. And that was for one wholesale house.

Many Processes

A style authority says: "Anything that can be done to hair nowadays can be done to fur." Can—and is. Dyeing, bleaching, permanent waving, clipping, any and every process to which hair can be subjected has become common in the fur industry. The result is, the fur market is flooded with remarkable products influenced, if not actually manufactured, by chemical reactions. With this development, the fur and advertising trades are co-operating to keep fur advertising fully trustworthy.
So with but a few unauthorized exceptions, the prospective fur buyer is made cognizant of the nature of the merchandise he is inspecting. Not only cat fur, but that of other more or less lowly animals, is treated by one or another process and rechristened. Thus, dyed rabbit becomes bay seal, French seal, Laskin seal, sealine, near or northern seal. Dyed opossum becomes stone marten; dyed muskrat, Hudson seal; Jap mink or Jap weasel, Jap Lilinsky; dyed marmot, marmink.

Summer Ermine

Not only is fraud eliminated as far as possible, but by improving and beautifying such pelts, furs that otherwise would be unavailable except for the favored few, are placed within the reach of limited purses. Summer ermine is an example. As its name would indicate, summer ermine—the real thing — was obtainable only at a certain season of the year. Being very rare, it, therefore, was very expensive. Soon, however, it was discovered that cat fur could be bleached and dyed until a very pretty imitation resulted.

Since its wearers paid from $45 to $50 for the coat, she was aware her collar of "summer ermine" was not summer ermine at all, but she undoubtedly enjoyed it much more than if the salesman had called it by its real name.

It's a wise animal these days that knows its own fur.

KNIGHTS HOLD BIG BANQUET

Catholic Organization Initiates 25 New Members to Local Council on Sunday Afternoon

VANCOUVER TEAM HERE

Addresses of High Order Given by Visitors at K. of C. Dinner Last Night

Yesterday was a great day in the history of the local branch of the Knights of Columbus. In the afternoon about 25 new members were admitted to the order, the ceremonies being conducted by John P. Dunne, special supreme agent of the order and a team from Vancouver consisting of J. F. Dorsey, district deputy, H. W. Colgan, George Colgan, F. D. McConnell, A. Brault and Leo Sweeney. They put on special degree work exemplifying the work of the order.

The initiations were followed by a banquet in the evening in the Boston Hall at which the members of the local council and their lady friends sat down at three long tables with the officers and visitors on the dais, A. D. Gillies, grand knight, presiding and by his side being Right Rev. E. M. Buno, O.M.I., D.D., bishop of Prince Rupert and the Yukon, and on the other side M. P. McCaffery, past grand knight, with the visitors on either side.

Faith of Our Fathers

The invocation was pronounced by the Bishop and this was followed immediately by a toast to the Pope, the gathering singing "The Faith of Our Fathers," as follows:

Faith to our fathers, living still In spite of dungeon, fire and sword; O, how our hearts beat high with joy When'er we hear that joyous word.

Faith of our fathers, holy faith, We will be true to thee 'till death

Faith of our fathers, holy faith, We'll be true to thee 'till death. This was followed by the toast to the King with the National Anthem.

Work of the Order

In responding to the toast to "Knighthood in British Columbia," H. W. Colgan of Vancouver told something of the founding and work of the order. It was started as the result of an inspiration from God given to Father McGivney, who one day came out of the sanctuary with the light of God in his eyes having received the inspiration. The first council consisted of twelve men but this number had grown to 800,000 extending all over the continent. Eighteen years ago the order was first planted in British Columbia by the present special supreme agent, when a council of 12 members, was formed at Vancouver. Now they had 2,000 members and twelve councils. Similar degree work to that put on here had just been completed by the same group at Vancouver, Kelowna and Langley Prairie, the last two being new organizations. In Vancouver the order had raised $60,000 to build a school for boys, which would be completed soon after Christmas. A great deal of work was done by the councils and also by the members individually.

John P. Dunne

The address of John P. Dunne is impossible to report. It was overflowing with humor. He spoke of the honor done them that day in having the distinguished prelate, the bishop, witness their efforts in the afternoon and also present there with them that evening. Their aim was to develop a race of young men who would be leaders in the nation.

Speaking of the presence of ladies at the banquet, he said that the nation today depended first on Mother Church and second on womanhood. He spoke appreciatively and eloquently on the love of woman which refined the more animal instincts of men. In days of old the knights rallied to the protection of women and he expected the knights of Prince Rupert Council not to be behind hand in the same work.

Telling numerous anecdotes to illustrate his points, the speaker then went on to mention the value of faith in a world that was suffering from spiritual restlessness. They, who owed allegiance to the Church of Rome, were by no means slaves to Rome. There was the only institution that taught free will. The whole aim and object of the Knights of Columbus was to help the members to live the lives of Christian gentlemen. To them love and sacrifice should be synonymous. He wanted the Prince Rupert Council to be the flower of manhood.

J. F. Dorsey

The district deputy, J. F. Dorsey, in replying to the toast of "The Ladies" quoted the Mayor of Spokane whose statement "The Ladies, God bless them, what would the knights be without them?" brought applause. He urged the married men to check up now and then and see how they stood in relation to their wives. He spoke hopefully of the future of the Prince Rupert council which he believed would forge ahead and he asked the ladies to encourage the men to attend the meetings.

J. J. Beasley replying to the toast of the New Members said he found himself in a good organization with great aspirations and ideals. He thanked the knights and visitors who had given them such an enjoyable time.
