R. E. Copies of this photo he has mailed to each Dominion cabinet minister, Sir Henry Thornton, Hon. Arthur Meighen, and Robert Forke. #### WOMAN CANDIDATE IN SIMILKAMEEN

Hon. Dr. Sutherland Confident of Capturing Seats for Government in Southern Interior of Province

VICTORIA, April 21.—The Liberal party is running a woman candidate, Mrs. H. McGregor, for Similkameen and Hon. W. H. Sutherland, who has just returned from a tour of the interior, says that she will be elected at the forthcoming provincial contest.

Dr. Sutherland is particularly pleased with the result of his tour through the interior. He says he is confident that the government will increase the number of its supporters in that part of the province.

"The government certainly will hold its present strength in the central interior and undoubtedly will carry the new riding of Salmon Arm," Dr. Sutherland asserted. "The Liberals are also confident of capturing South Okanagan."

Dr. Sutherland conferred in Revelstoke, his own constituency, with his supporters, and left confident that he would be re-elected.

Increase Majority

"On the whole, so far as I could find, the government is absolutely safe in the central interior and should increase its present majority there," the minister declared emphatically. He added that no date for an election had been fixed yet.

"When an election does take place, though, we have no doubt of what the result will be," he said.

Nature Does Much For This Country.

Nature does much for this north country even if at times she is a little stern and forbidding. Take as an instance the forests from which so much of the wealth of Canada is taken. They are provided without any sowing or preparing of land, and once the timber is taken off Nature sets to work again and replants the land with almost a carpet of young trees. In a few years the forests repossess the land if nature is allowed to have her way.

In an address given before the Rotary Club last week, P. Z. Caverhill, chief forester for British Columbia, drew attention to the way in which the townsites of Prince Rupert is being reclaimed by the forest. On most of the vacant land, young trees have sprung up and are growing fast.

Now and then some person who does not know the country is heard to remark how no steps are taken to replant the forests following the cutting down of the trees. People who say anything like that show their ignorance. Nature provides for the replanting, but the menace to the country is the frequency of forest fires. One fire will not destroy the seeds. Indeed it is claimed that they grow better on burnt over land than among the debris left by loggers. Let the land be burnt three or four times, however, and there is danger that the seed will be all destroyed and the forest permanently crippled.

Takes Long Time To Grow New Forest.

It will be at least 100 years before young trees will have attained a size sufficient to be cut and sawed into lumber. It will be several hundred years before the trees are as large as those which are being cut today. Take the cedar as an example. In fifty years the average tree is 37 feet high and five inches in diameter. In 100 years it is 60 feet high and ten inches thick. To reach a diameter of thirteen inches takes 110 years and by that time it is 67 feet high. A tree that size is often used as a sawlog in the west. The rate of growth of fir is much faster but hemlock is about as slow growing as cedar.

Community Hike Is Latest Thing.

In Victoria recently a community hike was organized. Some hundred and fifty people took part in it. They went out by train or motor to Goldstream and climbed Mount Braden, lunched at or near the top and listened to talks on several subjects relating to the things they saw and then returned home. The railway company attached an extra car to the train in order to accommodate the crowd. The outing was under the auspices of the Alpine Club but it is understood it was a newspaperman who made the suggestion.

A similar hike might possibly be arranged for Prince Rupert. It would be rather a nice thing to have everybody who could get away tramp to the top of Mount Oldfield and hold a community picnic at the top.

Dishwashing—with dainty hands

NOT possible, you say? Perhaps it wasn't, before Lux was discovered for dishwashing. But now, Lux, with its instant soapy suds, not only cleans your dishes thoroughly, but is as easy on the hands as the finest toilet soap.

Ordinary soaps or washing powders are too hard on the skin, making it rough and red. The ingredients in Lux are helpful—to the hands and skin—the Lux suds if constantly used will keep the skin smooth as Nature intended. You can do your own dishes, and not be ashamed of your hands, because they will never show that they have been in the dishpan.

Just a single teaspoonful is sufficient for your breakfast or lunch dishes—you may possibly have to use two teaspoonfuls for your dinner dishes. Try it just once. You will be so delighted that you will want to use it always.

Your hands will show improvement at once. Keep a package of Lux handy on your kitchen shelf. Use it for all your dishes.

Lux is economical for all dish-washing. One packet contains sufficient for 54 dish-washings—nearly all the dishes for three weeks.

LUX

Lux is sold only in sealed packets—dustproof!

EASTER MUSIC IN CHURCHES

Attendance at Services was Large Yesterday and Appropriate Sermons Preached.

There were special Easter services in all the city churches yesterday. The congregations were unusually large and, in one or two cases, all seating accommodation was taken up. At each church the beauty of the decorations constituted a feature.

Presbyterian Church

A children's service was held at the Presbyterian Church in the morning, the junior choir, under the direction of Mrs. H. R. Grant, providing the musical program which consisted of several choruses. The children also recited Bible selections preceding and in the course of Dr. Grant's address.

In the evening, the attendance was so large that people were turned away from the doors. The choir rendered two anthems—"Christ, Our Passover" and "Seek Ye the Lord." S. K. Campbell was soloist in the former and Mr. Campbell and A. Clapperton in the latter. There was also a vocal quartette "Jesus Died for us and Rose again" by S. K. Campbell, Mrs. Jarvis McLeod, Mrs. H. C. Fraser and A. Clapperton. The subject of Dr. Grant's sermon was "The Power of the Resurrection."

Baptist Church

The musical portion of the recitations by the children of the primary department at the Baptist Church in the morning and the Junior choir sang appropriate Easter selections. An Easter message to the children was delivered by Rev. J. J. Smithson.

In the evening the Junior choir again sang two selections and Miss Rodgers of Vancouver was the vocal soloist. The "Complete Victory of Easter" was the subject of the evening sermon. The decorations were arranged by the girls of the Helping Hands class.

Methodist Church

The musical portion of the morning service at the Methodist Church was provided by the Girls' Choir, the sermon by Rev. G. G. Haeker being especially for young people.

The evening service was largely of a musical character. There were several special Easter anthems by the choir and solos were rendered by Mrs. C. Woodworth and Miss Davies. Mr. Haeker's sermon was brief but appropriate.

Attendance at both services was unusually large.

Anglican Church

There were special Easter services at 8 a.m., 11 a.m., 2.30 p.m. and 7.30 p.m. in St. Andrew's Anglican Church, appropriate sermons being delivered on each occasion by Archdeacon G. A. Rix. The afternoon service was for children. Special notice was taken of the floral decorations

MOTHERS SHOULD NOT NEGLECT BRONCHITIS IN THE BABIES

Mrs. E. Langdon, Kingston, Ont., writes: "My baby boy had bronchitis when he was two weeks old, he recovered from the attack but took it again, several months later, and on account of the severity I was almost panic-stricken to know what to do for him. My mother advised me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, as she had used it for several years with splendid results.

I got a bottle, and after I had used it could see a decided improvement in him; after several bottles he was completely relieved.

My boy is now two years old, and he has never had an attack of bronchitis since.

As a mother, raising a family, I am very grateful to know that I have found a real remedy for bad colds and bronchitis, as it lifts care and anxiety from an anxious mother's shoulders."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is 35c bottle; the large family size 60c; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

FUNERAL OF LATE GOVERNMENT AGENT

Large Attendance of Friends and Many Beautiful Floral Offerings when T. W. Merne was Laid to Rest

The funeral of the late Thomas Webster Merne took place at Victoria last Monday afternoon at 1.45 from the B.C. Funeral Chapel, proceeding to Christ Church Cathedral, where service was conducted by the Rev. A. Bastin. There was a very large attendance of friends, and many beautiful floral offerings covered the casket and hearse. The hymns sung were "A Few More Years Shall Roll" and "On the Resurrection Morning." The following acted as pallbearers: H. Graham, J. H. McMullin, G. R. Naden, R. A. Bainbridge, J. H. Anthony and Dr. H. M. Robertson. The remains were laid to rest at Ross Bay Cemetery.

HEALING IS BY NATURAL LAWS

So Says Dr. Clem Davies in Discussing What is Known as Divine Healing

VICTORIA, April 21.—Dr. Clem Davies of Centennial Methodist Church declares that all healing is alike, according to divine law. He thinks too much dependence is placed on professional and evangelistic healers.

"The successful healer has a psychology of his own which he imparts to his patient and through which his patient secures freedom from all dependence on the healer, teacher and doctor. What every person needs is a wholesome philosophy of healing and life. This is better than a temporary cure which wears off after the personal magnetism of the healer is no longer present," states Dr. Davies.

"The whole trouble with the Price campaign was that thousands of people were all at sea about the whole business after Dr. Price left, and the ministers themselves were unable to carry on the work because it was tied up to Dr. Price's personality too strongly," says Dr. Davies.

Strip from Badges

"We have got to strip the philosophy of divine healing from all its badges, and sectarian and theological limitations. There are the 'mind cure,' the 'faith cure,' the 'prayer cure,' the 'mental science cure,' and the other 'science cures,' and apparently they do all their miracles with the same old powerful instrument: the patient's imagination, or as Cæsar calls, the subconscious mind."

"These are all different names, but I contend that there is no difference in the process. But they do not give the subconscious mind, namely, the person himself cured, the credit; each sect claims that its way differs from the ways of the others; as for example, Dr. Price's refusal to anoint a Christian Scientist or Spiritualist."

"There is one Divine law of bodily healing, and only one. It is scientific and operates through religion and even apart from it, the same as the sun's power operates impartially on the evil and the good," concludes the Centennial pastor.

CONSERVATIVES LOOK FOR A CANDIDATE TO CONTEST THIS RIDING

Names of Local Men Mentioned as Possible Choice and Merryfield also Spoken of Here

Conservatives of this district have been busy of late considering what candidate they will put in the field. They have been giving considerable activity and it is understood that a number of names have been canvassed and before long they will be prepared to call a convention and make a nomination. They are anxious to realize that it needs a strong man to run with any hope of success against the sitting member.

Among local men mentioned are C. B. Orme, J. W. Kirkpatrick and M. M. Stephens, and there is also a suggestion that Mr. Merryfield, formerly of this riding and now organizer for the party might be chosen.

Local Conservatives say they think they have a good chance of winning the seat, especially since the third party made such a failure of its P.A.K. charges against Mr. Bowser.

COAST STEAMER

Canadian Railway and Marine World had Stories about Her Early in Year

According to an Eastern authority the Prince Arthur, which lies across the Bay of Fundy, had been purchased by the Canadian National Railway and will be operated on this coast. An engineer in this city, who has worked on her says she is larger than the Prince Rupert or Prince George and a splendid sea boat and would be well fitted for the Alaska business. The following clipping from the Yarmouth telegram published early in the year conveyed the news which is not credited as correct here but which will be read with some interest by local people:

"The British Columbia and Pacific Coast notes in the Canadian Railway and Marine World in its issue for January, says: 'The Grand Trunk Pacific Steamship Company will, it is reported, have to have more steamships in the coast service during the year. The recently acquired Prince Arthur is expected to be delivered from the Atlantic seaboard early in the spring, and the new steamship Prince Henry, being built by Swan & Hunter & Wigham Richardson, on the Tyne, is expected to be ready to put on her route in June.'

"It is rumored that the Grand Trunk Pacific Steamship Co. had its choice of selecting either the Prince Arthur or its sister ship, but following inspection, etc., they decided on the former as being the most suitable ship and most consistent to combat with their somewhat strenuous Pacific coast services. Also that the large commodious wheelhouse and other recent improvements

THE SILENT COMMAND PROMISES NEW THRILLS

Hero is Beset by Traps and Snares and There is a Love Theme Throughout

This screen drama, "The Silent Command," promises something new in the way of thrills. It was adapted from a story by Rufus King. J. Gordon Edwards was the director. The combined skill of these two motion picture experts has been centred on telling a vital and unusual story with a vigor and novelty of treatment that would insure its flattering reception by the mass of picture goers.

The principal note struck by the author is loyalty. It shows Captain Richard Decatur, a hero of the drama, beset on every side by the traps and snares of a relentless foe bent on removing the young naval officer from his path. Every manner of temptation is set before him. His life is endangered; the very sanctity of his home is invaded. While these plots and counter plots are being waged against him, he is forced into a series of adventures that would furnish plots for a dozen ordinary motion pictures.

The locale of the story shifts from New York and Washington to the Panama Canal, with scenes aboard U.S. warships and skulking craft controlled by the enemies of the captain. Glimpses of Annapolis on Commencement Day are shown. There are remarkable examples of the working of the wireless at sea. A terrific fight during a storm between Decatur and the chief of the plotters is followed by a shipwreck that is the acme of thrilling realism. Through the entire plot runs a beautiful thread of love and affection.

STORY OF DIVORCE MARRIAGE FAILURE

Brass Shows How Young People Drift Apart and What Influences Their Lives

Marriage, as practised nowadays by the cynical and careless, gets an awful body blow in "Brass," a powerful classic of the screen adapted from the novel of Charles G. Norris, with Monte Blue and Marie Prevost in the featured roles.

Not only the silliness of people going into marriage without knowing each other well, but their readiness in exciting and bee-lining for the divorce court is shown in a way unforgettable indeed. It must not be supposed that there is any sober preachment in the picture; far from it. "Brass" tells a corking good story that moves every minute of the time it is projected on the screen, and that delights the big audiences that behold it. Absorbing as few pictures can be, with a plot crammed with action, "Brass" should be seen by everybody in need of genuine enjoyment.

Nearly everybody knows the story from the popularity it enjoyed as a "best seller." Philip and Marjorie Baldwin, young and married, suddenly wake up to find themselves utter strangers. A mother-in-law partially accounts for their distance, but especially does Marjorie's weakness for cabarets and good times. After a quarrel she leaves him forever, and Philip picks out the scattered threads of his life as best he can. Two women come into his life, the while Marjorie divorces him and remarries. The ending is led up to in masterly fashion, with thrilling climaxes that surprise and fascinate.

In that respect to the Prince Arthur, appealed to them in their selection. The Grand Trunk Pacific Company is now a subsidiary to the Canadian Government Merchant Marine.

THE FIGHTING BLADE GLAMOROUS ROMANCE

Historical Setting of Time of King Charles I. and Oliver Cromwell

"The Fighting Blade" is a glamorous romance of the Cromwellian era. Daring exploits, hairbreadth escapes, secret and sanguinary combats will thrill you as with bated breath you watch unfold the dramatic story of a young Flemish soldier of fortune whose sword was the most dangerous in all Europe at the time that Oliver Cromwell was bringing about the downfall of Charles I. and establishing the famous Protectorate. This famous duelist, Kerstenbroeck, played by Richard Barthelmess, after slaying a Cavalier in avenging his sister, casts his lot with the Roundheads, as Oliver Cromwell's party was known, joining him in his revolution against the monarch and his royalists, known as the Cavaliers. Kerstenbroeck becomes the scourge of the Cavaliers and his head is sought. Exciting events follow in breathless succession, in one of the most fascinating pictures it has ever been our pleasure to present. Barthelmess has never been seen to better advantage; and John S. Robertson has invested the production with magnificent massive settings absolutely authentic as to detail. We believe this picture will be rated by critics as one of the year's best ten. It is one of those pictures not to be missed.

GEORGE LITTLE AT FIJI ISLANDS IS ENJOYING HIS VISIT

Geo. Little is expected to return to Terrace about the middle of May, providing he does not go on to Australia, says the Omineca Herald. He has been having a most interesting time in the Fiji Islands, where he went in connection with the lumber business. He has secured a timber concession on the islands so that in future he will be able to get the necessary hardwood called for in the building branch of his business. He is also bringing a carload of the high class hardwood back with him. He is much taken with the natives of the Fiji Islands and finds them easy to get along with, but like all southern people, they believe that what they do not get done today they can do tomorrow.

When Mr. Little returns it is expected that Terrace will give him a real welcome to wind up with a smoker so that the traveller will be able to give his fellow citizens an account of his journey to strange lands.

The baseball organization meeting for the 1924 season is called for tomorrow evening in the Elks' Home. Baseball, like football, has lost men from its ranks since last year but, in spite of the losses there may have been, prospects are that the coming season will be a more interesting one than last, at least, as far as Senior League activities are concerned. The Sons of Canada have lost such men as Farquhar, Neilson and Hughie Scott who were here when the 1923 season opened but suitable successors to them it is understood will be found. The team which opened the season last year for Gil's is still intact.

It is probable that many Irish athletes will be sent to the Paris Olympiad this year as the result
