apidly Expanding Market for Aluminum, Says Alcan

By The Canadian Press
VANCOUVER—The projected $400,000,000 Alcoa aluminum plant will have no adverse effect on the $850,000,000 plant now in the construction at Kitimat, B.C., a spokesman for the Aluminum Company of Canada said here Saturday.

Bennett Seeks Likely Seats For By-Election

VICTORIA (CP)—Premier W.A.C. Bennett, now on an unofficial tour of some parts of British Columbia, is making a personal survey to determine which seats will be opened to permit by-elections, it was indicated Saturday.

Premier Bennett is planning to call two by-elections before the February session in an effort to gain seats for two non-elected cabinet ministers, Attorney-General Robert Bonner and Finance Minister Einar Gunderson.

Social Crediters are expected to call the two by-elections at the same time and throw all their weight behind Bonner and Gunderson.

Their defeat at by-elections, of course, couldn't unseat the government.

POLIO CLAIMS 15th VICTIM

VANCOUVER (CP)—Polio claimed its 15th victim in British Columbia today when a 37-year-old suburban West Vancouver woman died at her home before the arrival of a doctor.

She was the second woman to die from polio within 24 hours. A 35-year-old Kimberley mother died Friday, bringing the toll for the disease-ridden mining town to eight.

Four more cases were admitted to Vancouver General hospital today, bringing the province's 1952 total to 129.

Forest Closure To Be Lifted At Midnight

VANCOUVER (CP)—Closure of the Vancouver forest district will be lifted at midnight tonight, it was announced today by R. E. Sommers, minister of lands and forests.

Rain which fell in many forest fire areas has brought under control or has completely doused most of the fires which shut down logging operations 19 days ago.

Some 12,000 loggers were thrown out of work only a week after they ended the 45-day strike.

Cost of both the strike and the forest closure is estimated at $75,000,000 in loss of revenue and wages.

Past 'Enemy' Pilots Both Die in Crash

TORONTO—Two pilots on opposite sides in the last war, nose-dived their falling two-seater plane into a tiny back yard in the thickly-populated Toronto area Saturday and perished in the flaming wreckage.

The small aircraft, about five minutes out of the city's downtown island airport, didn't hit a house or a building and crashed only a mile from a crowd of some 200,000 who jammed into the Canadian National Exhibition grounds.

The two men, waving and screaming for help, died seconds after their light aircraft burst into flames.

Victims are Charles McKay, 38, pilot, and John Pretner, 30, both of Toronto. McKay flew with the RCAF during the Second World War.

Pretner, a native of Yugoslavia, was a pilot with the German Luftwaffe.

New Method of Frozen Fish Shipping Likely if Test Proves Successful

Shipping of frozen fish from the west coast may be revolutionized and "much better and bigger markets" may be the result of a test in refrigeration being carried out from this railroad terminal.

The latter is an entirely new and untried type of refrigeration car.

Prince Rupert was chosen as the site for the test to begin because it is the only fishing centre with enough cold storage fish for the experiment.

FIVE-CAR TEST

Five cars in all were loaded with frozen fish destined for eastern markets. Companies who supplied the fish are Atlin Fish Co. Ltd. and Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative Association.

Refrigeration, ordinarily paid for by the fish dealers, will be borne by the experiment. Even the car with the ice-and-salt method will cost nothing to the shippers for refrigeration, although both companies are paying the regular freight charges.

The "ordinary" car is used for comparison. Enroute to Toronto, a constant watch will be kept of the car temperatures by means of the electric thermometers and readings will be compared at the end of the test.

DISEL METHOD COLDEST

When the train left Saturday at 5 p.m., the various temperatures were as follows: Ice and salt, 10 above; ammonium nitrate, 8 above; dry ice, zero, and mechanical, eight below zero.

Back to 3 Weekly If Not Paying

Passenger train service into Prince Rupert will revert to the former three-day-a-week schedule if investigation proves the present operation not economically sound.

This was announced here this morning by John Pullen of Montreal, vice-president of the Canadian National Railways, who is making his annual inspection trip throughout the west.

But at the same time he said he is "deeply impressed" with the great improvement "all along the line" and expressed the opinion that the current boom in industrial expansion will continue for a long time.

"Developments like the Aluminum Company of Canada and Columbia Cellulose are going to attract supporting industries that will mean further expansion of our services."

"What interests me greatly is the attraction of other industry and the great advance in trade it will mean to our line."

Mr. Pullen said that while he had not checked the amount of passenger and express business on the Jasper-Prince Rupert run "if we find the six-day operation unound we will have to go back to the old schedule."

Accompanied by his assistant, H. W. Craig, Mr. Pullen met local CNR officials at the station and planned a day long inspection of the line's operation in this territory.

He will visit the Columbia Cellulose plant and also visit fish plants and the Canadian Fishing Company, Limited, cannery.

Speaking of business generally on the line, the vice-president said there has been such an increase that the CNR has appointed a travelling freight agent to handle the volume.

"We've been paying a lot of attention to this line," said Mr. Pullen, "and we are going to pay a lot more. I have noticed a great improvement in service and I believe there is a tremendous opportunity for continued prosperity in this part of the country."

Mr. Pullen could not say when actual construction of the line from Terrace to Kitimat will begin.

TERRACE-KITIMAT

"Our engineers are still on the job in that area and we expect a report from them shortly.

"As soon as we get that, tenders will be called."

(George Vincent, public relations officer for Alcan, told delegates to the annual convention of Associated Boards of Trade of Central B.C. at Smithers last Thursday that the rail line will be completed by September, 1954.)

Mr. Pullen indicated that construction of the rail line will also bring additional business to this city and in particular to northern and central British Columbia.

"The contract will be let as soon as possible and if there's any choice after bids are in, B.C. people will be favored."

Noting that the Dominion Government Grain Elevator here has been in operation since last spring after being idle for many years, he said, "I think you'll find it will be pretty well used to capacity all year because of the record grain harvest forecast on the prairies."

While he did not single out any particular development on the CNR line from Jasper, he said he noticed "a great improvement in service and traffic all the way through."

Nothing But a Hoax

LITTLE men from Venus or Mars have just suffered a serious setback at the hands of earthlings. Two years ago a book was put out by a reliable publishing firm stating authoritatively that men three feet tall had made at least four sighted landings on earth in their flying saucers.

Now it seems that the visitors have been restored to their place in the sky or someone's imagination. In the current issue of True Magazine the book is described as "one of the greatest hoaxes to hit the country since the old Cardiff Giant was rooted out of the soil of the Onondaga Valley in 1869."

Frankly we are disappointed. We are tired of having our nervous systems shocked by the mundane activities of our terrestrial antagonists.

Unfortunately, although the Communists also seem to be indulging in some kind of hoax (our mere accusation to this effect does not make them disappear).

Pain in the Neck

A DOCTOR claims that man has a new malady—television neck. It's supposed to come from keeping the face glued to a low TV screen, or from gawking sideways.

TV now is making its big entree in eastern Canada. In a few years it is slated for Vancouver, all on CBC. But as television transmission follows the "line-of-sight" principle there will be little market for TV sets here until a transmitter is built in this neighborhood.

Meanwhile, if we want to vie with Vancouver and other modernized sections of Canada we can still acquire that pain in the neck. Haven't we been listening to the odd bad radio program, seen the odd off-standard movie? And how long is it since we started to pay taxes?

● LAND OF THE GIANTS

UKIAH, California: At Grant's Pass we face the decision, to drive straight south, by the shortest, hottest route for San Francisco or whether to swing west, to the coast.

In what we thought was a weak moment, we chose the longest, coolest route.

When we left Grant's Pass the thermometer was well into the nineties. But when we finally reached the coast, at Crescent City, California, we were shivering, and so was everybody else in town.

WHEN you travel you learn the folly of generalizing. We Canucks have a legend that the Americans are a nation of boosters or downright boasters.

Don't you believe it. There are few boosters in Crescent City. "You'll need the electric grate before morning" our landlord told us with sad insistence.

"It's cold here," my wife remarked to the restaurant keeper.

"It's always cold here," he replied, with a bitterness that was most apparent.

"We're different," he added, with caustic resignation.

YET on the longest way around you go through the giant Redwood forests. I just don't see how anybody in all the world could be a genuine atheist after one real look at those Redwoods.

It always makes me humble when I roughly count the rings on some fallen tree trunk and see that it had lived well over 1000 years.

And it always makes me mad, and ashamed, when I think how carelessly we use or misuse something that took even the Almighty over 1000 years to produce.

Prudent Logging Preserves Timber

VICTORIA — Forest fires such as those in central British Columbia this month are only one phase of the problems facing the B.C. Forest Service. It is constantly experimenting on ways of conserving valuable timber stands.

On Vancouver Island the service recently demonstrated an experiment on salvaging vast areas that had been depleted by the older methods of logging.

In the experiment, the Forest Service cut 41 percent of timber on a 300-acre tract without damaging the remainder.

"The principle of thinning is to send the available nutrient in the ground to the best trees," said George Warack of the experimental station.

Maintaining Exports Main Canadian Business Problem

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canada's major problem for the next few years, possibly a decade, will be maintenance of exports, says a letter from the Canadian Exporters' Association concerning its annual convention, Oct. 27-28, at the Seigniory Club, Quebec.

The letter adds: "Solutions to questions which confront us are not easily found. But there are many and various ways of approaching the subject and getting results, and that, of course, is what the convention will attempt to accomplish."

One session will consist of a panel discussion, with officials of the Department of Trade and Commerce on hand to answer questions.

Guest speaker at the annual dinner will be George W. Wolf of New York, president of the United States Steel Export Corporation. Alex Gray, Toronto, is president.

FOREST WEALTH The Canadian Pulp and Paper Association has issued a 10-page booklet on the forest industry, entitled "The Pulpwood Harvest." The booklet comments, in part:

"Directly and indirectly, the forests generate a quarter of the income of all Canadians. And the pulpwood harvest is the basis of more than half of all the economic benefits which flow to Canada from her vast woodlands.

"The forests need no definition, but pulpwood is the wood that is, or that can be used in the manufacture of pulp and paper, an industry which creates more new wealth for Canada than any single element in the economy.

"Pulp and paper, but a single sector of the forest industries, alone creates more national wealth every year than all the mines or all the grain crops of Canada.

"There exists no sharp line for dividing trees for pulpwood and those used for lumber.

Sioux Chieftain Plays Many Parts

REGINA @—A great-grandson of Chief Sitting Bull of the Sioux tribe, who was a dancer in Broadway shows, a movie actor and a touring opera singer before becoming an evangelist, appeared on a musical program at a tabernacle here recently.

He is big Chief White Feather Sitting Bull of the Pine Ridge reservation, South Dakota.

Born in Iowa, the son of Chief Jim Many Rains Sitting Bull, White Feather spent his early childhood attending reservation schools. He started his musical education at Dartmouth College and went to New York, Germany and Italy to continue his studies. He is fluent in five languages.

He toured in grand opera and returned to New York to play Broadway. Red Feather later went to Hollywood where he appeared in a number of silent pictures and some talkies.

On becoming a Christian, he left the entertainment and went back to college. He now holds a Bachelor's degree in arts, a Master's in music and a Doctorate in theology.

Since 1940 he has travelled between Cuba and Canada, ministering mostly to Indians. White Father became chief in his own right in 1935 on the death of his father. On his death the tribe will give up the ancient traditions of chiefs.

"We are full citizens now," said White Father, "there's no further need of a chief in our tribes."

Funeral Held Tomorrow For Mrs. Clausen

Funeral will be held tomorrow for Mrs. Anna Clausen, 63, of 438 Eighth Avenue West, who died early Sunday morning at the home of her daughter after a lengthy illness. Rev. H. Olsen of the Lutheran Church will perform the service at Grenville Funeral Chapel.

Mrs. Clausen came to Prince Rupert 37 years ago. She was the wife of well-known fisherman John Clausen. Other survivors are three daughters, Mrs. L. S. Veitch, Mrs. C. Fossum and Mrs. Norman Iverson; and one son, Ingver Morse. All are of Prince Rupert.

Mrs. Clausen's departing wish, said her son, was that all contemplating sending floral tributes, make donations instead to the Cancer Society fund.

Pallbearers will be Don Fitch, Joe Greissel, Dave Abel, Oscar Olsen, Knut Halberg and Eric Hjelm. Burial will be at Fairview Cemetery.

Woman Falls Watching Drill

Word has been received here that Mrs. Estelle Marshall, mother of the head film librarian at Paramount Picture Corporation in Hollywood, is resting comfortably in Maynard Hospital, Seattle, following a fall aboard the Prince George last Wednesday.

Mrs. Marshall, her daughter, Hazel, who has been with Paramount for the past 25 years, and her sister Mrs. Doris Dashiell and daughter Barbara, passed through here last Sunday on the Prince George on their annual vacation-trip to Alaska.

Mrs. Marshall was injured in Skagway when she slipped on deck while watching the crew perform boat drill.

She was treated in Skagway and when it was discovered her injuries were serious Captain Ernest Caldwell headed for Juneau where Mrs. Marshall was rushed to hospital.

"I can't praise Captain Caldwell too much," said Mrs. Dashiell, adding that he had arranged for an ambulance on arrival in Juneau and then "waited two hours while we got mother settled."

Ship's officers said it was raining hard in Skagway at the time Mrs. Marshall was injured.

Green And Black Taxis Cover City

Two young men who have been taxi drivers here for the past two years, today own one of the largest and most modern fleets of cabs in Prince Rupert.

Ivan McGhan and Tony Klamut—operators of 99 Taxi—the snappy green and black fleet that "covers the city" took over from the well-known sports promoter Art Murray only three months ago.

The new owners, reluctant to tell about themselves, are among the most popular drivers in the city and have a fleet of cabs that ranks on a par with those in Canada's largest cities.

Murray, 36-year-old Irish-born city resident, who now operates the limousine service to the airport, bought the business from Stan Moran in 1940 and immediately organized a business that flourished from that time.

Moran had operated the company alone from 1929 to 1940, having become sole owner when his partner of four years, Tom Dybhavn, sold out his interests.

Founder of the company, the late Fred Miggins, started the company in 1920 and he in turn sold it to Moran.

When Murray took over in 1940, he saw the opportunity to expand and before many months had passed, increased the fleet from one to five cars.

He also owned and operated a bus service to Port Edward, which he sold in 1942 to the present operators.

However, as the years rolled by, Murray enlarged his company and soon formed the present owner-operated system with radio-telephone-equipped cars.

After 12 years in operation, Murray, who continued his promotion of various sport events in the city, sold his interests to the present owners—Ivan McGhan and Tony Klamut.

He retained only the limousine business.

Mr. Murray is well known to both young and old in this city. He recently contested the provincial election as Social Credit candidate and carried out a colorful campaign which closed with an open air rally—first of its kind in the city's history.

fibre panel which is smooth, splinter-proof and dent-resistant. A panel an eighth of an inch thick does the trick.

First of all remove the old covering and any remaining adhesive or nails. It is also wise to tighten up the framework with corrugated fasteners and check the hinges. Then both sides of the screen section should be covered with this pressed wood.

For a change in pace you can try a leatherwood type of panel which has an embossed surface similar to Spanish grain leather. This can also be given a tone-on-tone finish and for further

Family Study Room Makes Easier Living

In many homes the study room is the most under-appreciated part of the house—but if it's properly fixed up it can add more livability and convenience than any other room.

A quiet retreat where any member of the family can go for concentration provides the double advantage of peace for the one who must work and a free rein for normal activities on the part of the rest of the family.

Whether the room is specially planned in a new house, or converted from a spare bedroom or attic area, it should not be "just another room," according to Jerlyn Madison, consumer consultant.

The study room needs special consideration in decorating and equipment to make the most of its possibilities.

Wall treatment is especially important to provide good light reflection and not tire the eyes. Choose a light colored paint, or a light wallpaper with a small pattern. A "busy" pattern or stark white should be avoided since they are distracting under artificial light.

For the study space itself a flat top desk placed flush with the wall or in a corner is best. A table of desk height may also be used. The working area of the desk should be at least two by four feet, and free from clutter. If many reference books are needed, provide a shelf either on the wall directly in front of the desk at the side.

Writing supplies, rulers, scissors and other paraphernalia should be kept in drawers where they will be out of the way. A desk pen of the reservoir type that will not spill if tipped over is the best choice for an all-purpose pen.

The finish on the desk should be dull if possible, and light in tone. Where dark wood is used, a light colored blotter may be added.

Lighting, of course, is most important. If possible the desk should be placed so daylight comes in from the back or left side. Since this is not possible in many rooms, be sure to provide good-artificial light. A wall or table lamp is preferred, with semi-direct lighting and light colored translucent shade.

BUILDING DEMANDS
STOCKHOLM (CP) — Sweden's consumption of cement, about 800,000 tons in 1942, more than doubled last year and still is increasing, official trade figures show. Skanska cement, leading producer here, is increasing its capacity by 300,000 tons annually.

BUILDING A HOME?

Your home is an investment in the future. It is perhaps the biggest single step that you will take.

That is why you should not go at it haphazardly, but check systematically from the plans of your house to the proper construction.

One-Color Plan Simplifies Home Decoration

One of the simplest and most effective home decoration plans is to build a color scheme around a single hue. This is called a mono-chromatic color scheme. Either in a single room or throughout the entire house, it has many advantages.

It permits lavish use of a favorite color; eliminates possibility of an inharmonious color scheme; unifies the decorative elements; and makes the room or house appear larger than it actually is.

Both spacious and restful in appearance is a bedroom with medium beige walls, lighter beige bedspread, tawny wood furniture, pale beige chair, sand carpet and drapes shadow-triped in shades of beige.

In any monochromatic scheme the neutrals—black, white and gray—can be used freely to lend variety or to tone down the effect of a brilliant hue like red.

In building a one-color scheme for a room, either use a single shade of the color for ways carpet, drapes and upholstery, accenting with one or two secondary colors to avoid monotony; or use as many tints and shades of the hue as can be found.

Colorizer paints, giving a choice of 1,322 different colors, provide scores of subtle variations of every color. This makes it possible to develop a varied and interesting scheme based on any color that the homemaker chooses.

THROUGHOUT THE HOUSE

In carrying a monochromatic scheme through the entire house, choose one or two supporting colors for variety, then vary the importance of the supporting colors from room to room.

Continue in this manner all through the house, letting green shades dominate, and playing off variations of yellow and brown against each other.

NHA Good Plan For Own Homes in Rupert

A leading home building contractor today said excavation and clearing of property is one of the biggest headaches in construction work here.

Asked to explain why there are so few homes being built here under the National Housing Act, he said that while new citizens here wish to own their own homes, view property is expensive and "invariably many obstructions are discovered during excavation work that cause delay and extra cost."

He expressed amazement, however, at the small number of citizens who take advantage of NHA loans.

While a qualified builder is required to take charge of the construction, a homeowner may work on the project and turn in his time as part of his loan payments.

In dealing with NHA loans the first step is to write to the Loans Manager of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation in Vancouver.

A questionnaire, along with application forms and pamphlets containing information about the housing scheme is sent to the applicant.

One of the chief requirements asked is that 23 percent of the applicant's gross income is sufficient to cover principal and interest payments on the loan, taxes and insurance.

"In other words," said the builder, "23 per cent of the applicant's income, but not including that of his wife, represents the amount that must go to provide shelter."

When the applicant's income and credit rating has been established, he submits plans and specifications of his proposed house and if these meet requirements laid down by NHA, Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation appraise the plans and set the price.

After inspection and approval of the building site—which the applicant must own—the loan may be granted. No work on the three months is allowed for construction is permitted until the loan is authorized and then construction to get under way.

Central Mortgage and Housing finance their own loans in communities of 5,000 or less and only for persons wishing to build homes for their own use.

Recently a CMHC official visited Prince Rupert and said there are a number of locations here that would be approved for NHA houses.

He explained, however, that greater benefits were available under joint loans authorized by life insurance companies and suggested a new sub-division might be obtained through the efforts of some local group.

In such a scheme restrictions could be set in order to keep buildings up to standard that

Pennant Winners Take First Game of Finals

Behind the four-hit pitching of Vic Carolei, this year's pennant-winning Gordon & Anderson Sunday shut out 1951 baseball champions Abel & Odowes 5-0 in the opener of the best-of-five final series.

With almost faultless team support, Carolei picked up his sixth win against two losses while the Hardware Nine slammed 10 hits off big Dick Letourneau.

Four of the winning runs were responsible for the erring of first baseman Danny Bill. Death-knell for the Clothiers rang in the fourth inning when with two away, first baseman Sid Scherk and rightfielder Ray Spring each got on by an error at first. Monkman's single and third baseman Don Hartwig's triple followed to tally three runs.

First-run for the winners came in the first inning when a long single by Don Scherk brought home Hartwig who got on via the free route on balls. A throw from Bill Lambie in right field was intercepted by Bill and the relay was too late to catch Hartwig pounding home.

Winners' fifth run came in the seventh in a combined error and surprise play.

Hartwig singled, then went to second when Bill let a ball pass. Stan Cornwell, G & A playing manager, pulled a switcharoo as he bunted clean along the third base-line on his second strike, catching both the pitcher and Cliff Dahl on third base dead by surprise.

Cornwell made first easily, and while Letourneau and Dahl watched the ball spin itself out, Hartwig stole home in a flying gallop.

ONLY THREAT
Only threat to spoil the shut-out was in the fifth inning. With one out, Letourneau drew a walk and first baseman Bill singled in a scramble that followed. Letourneau narrowly made third on an error. But neither Hodgson or Gordiano who followed could come through with a hit. Hodgson's long low fly into centre had all the markings of an extra bases hit when outfielder Ralph Enridge made the spectacular running one-handed catch.

Another long hit hauled down on the run by the young high school rookie was a solid tag by veteran Jack Lindsay in the first inning which followed Bill Lambie's single with two out.

Lindsay singled in the sixth in the eighth for the only other and Hodgson looped out another hit off Carolei.

ABEL RETURNS

Dave Abel was back behind the plate for A & O, turning in solid catching after half a season's holiday but he was little help at bat as he flew out twice to centre, grounded out once and gained first on the second and only other error by the winners. Shortstop Don Scherk caught Abel's pop-up but second baseman "Monk" Monkman wanted it, too. The infielders collided and Scherk dropped the ball.

Cornwell, who picked up two singles at bat, made up the battery with Carolei for the winners.

Next game of the final series is scheduled for Thursday at 6:45 p.m. with Abel & Odowes as home team.

Yanks Blast Indian Lead; Giants Fall

NEW YORK (U)—It was a great day for league leaders Sunday as New York Yankees boosted its American League margin to two games over Cleveland and the Brooklyn Dodgers opened up an 8½-game spread over St. Louis Cardinals in the National.

Third place Giants fell to nine games behind the Brooks. Yanks picked up a game on the Indians, coming from behind to defeat Detroit Tigers 4-2 while Indians dropped a 16-inning 9-8 decision to Washington Senators after making up an early 8-2 deficit.

Giants split two games with Cincinnati. Reds rallied for two runs in the ninth inning to capture the opener 5-4, but Giants came back to win the nightcap 6-3. Dodgers cooled off the red hot Cardinals 10-4 to snap the St. Louis eight-game streak.

Remember When

Brooklyn Dodgers and Chicago Cubs were both without managers at the finish as the Cubs gained a 6-2 victory 11 years ago today in a turbulent contest. Leo (Lippy) Durocher of Dodgers and Jimmy Wilson of Cubs suffered banishment after lively discussions with the umpires.

NHA GOOD PLAN

would prevent the lowering of the value of all homes in the sub-division.
Hon. Robert Winters, federal minister of resources and development, during his visit here a short time ago said "the machinery is there under section 35 of the NHA to solve Canada's housing problem."

"But," said the minister during his tour of CMHC homes under construction here, "we can't initiate it. It's up to the municipalities to work it out with the provincial government and then come to us."
"We have the money—and we will pay 75 per cent of the cost of low-rent housing projects but we can't go over the heads of the provincial governments."

Mr. Winters was referring to rental projects although it was learned here last week that CMHC officials during their visits here have looked over sites in Section Two which they would be willing to support in a "housing project."

FAMOUS BORE

A two daily phenomenon at Moncton, N.B., is the tide on the Petitcodiac River, often reaching a height of five feet.

TENNIS STAR—Dick Savitt, temperamental tennis star from Orange, New Jersey, Sunday easily won the Canadian Tennis championship conquering Kurt Neilson of Denmark 6-1, 6-0 and 6-1 in the men's singles and then combined with the Danish ace to take the men's doubles title.

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK—Letter to Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick:

My Dear Ford:

This is getting plumb ridiculous, the length of time they're taking to play the average big league game nowadays. The other day the Giants and Dodgers dragged out a normal nine-inning contest for approximately 3½ hours. That is cruel punishment for the seat of the pants.

I fully realize that the problem does not come within your province. But our understanding is that the Commissioner has broad powers to act in almost any matter where the good of the game is concerned, and this sure comes under that heading.

A number of friends who got caught in a couple of these post-midnight dillies tell me if they have to watch a pitcher posture and pose for a minute or two between each throw and watch the rival managers demand an examination of the ball every time one of their batters swings and misses, why they'll do it at home from an easy chair.

What you might do is have signs put up in each dressing room and dugout reminding the players and the managers that they still are being paid primarily to play baseball for the paying customers and not to put on an act for the television audience. Come to think of it, you might have a sign tacked up in the umpires' dressing rooms, too. You might find it difficult as an old-time baseball writer to believe that the current crop of athletes, especially pitchers, are out there mugging and strutting for the wives and kiddies.

FOLDING SCREENS

dress up, decorative tacks can be used.

But if you prefer a perfectly smooth panel which is easily decorated with paint, enamel, wax, stain, wallpaper or decalcomanias, use the standard pressed wood type of hardboard. After cutting the panel to the exact size of the framework, bevel the edges slightly with a file, plane or sandlock. Fasten the panels by using a good grade of adhesive; the same you'd use for attaching hardboard panels over old plaster walls. Clamps will assure a good bond. And if the renewed screen is to be prepared, be sure to size the pressed wood panels first.
Now if you just follow the suggestions made here, the Home Mechanic in your house can construct the folding screens from scratch. The framework is made of one by two inch lumber and the cross supports should be placed sixteen inches on centre.

SCREEN ★ FLASHES

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Some joker cently tacked on Joel McCrea's dressing room a sign reading "Millionaire's Row." McCrea joined in the laugh.

It's possible that he is a millionaire, since he has been making good money for 20 years. But one thing is certain: he doesn't act like a millionaire. Nor has he brought up his two boys to act like a rich man's sons.

They have been so shielded from the limelight that only this week did McCrea allow the first picture of one of them to be published. The reason for the photograph was that the oldest boy, Jody, 17, is appearing with his pop in "Lone Hand."

FIRST MOVIE

"That's true," Joel confirmed. "There haven't been any pictures of the boys published since they were babies. The only photos we have taken of them were for the family album. My wife (actress Frances Dee) had a theory about that."

The McCreas seem to have done a good job along those lines on Jody and David, 16. They purposely kept the boys out of the social whirl, where they would be competing with other film children. The McCreas have spent most of their lives on the ranch learning the cattle business.

ACTING BUG

After years of indifference about his father's profession, Jody suddenly has expressed a desire to get into it. Joel gave him a chance to break into the game on "Lone Hand."

The proud father agrees. "He's all excited about it," said Joel. "Now he plans to enroll at Pomona College and take the same drama course that Robert Taylor and I took there."

Joel admitted that neither son is a great fan of his.

"They like me better than Randolph Scott but not as well as Gary Cooper," he shrugged.

Famed director John Ford has made his first picture under the Republic banner. It is the stirring story of the U.S. Cavalry, "Rio Grande," which opens at the TOTEM THEATRE today.

Two top-notch stars, John Wayne and Maureen O'Hara, enact the thrilling scenes on the screen.

At the CAPITOL today "My Six Convicts" opens with a warm story based on the best-seller of the same name by Donald Powell Wilson.

The star which offers a new slant on prison life is told by a prison psychologist who went "inside" to study the inner workings of a group of criminals.

John Beal is cast as the psychologist.
