New B.C. Election Forecast in Fall

Early November Named As Possible Date

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Vancouver Sun news dispatch from Victoria Wednesday forecast a general election for early in November, second or third Monday.

It added that Premier Bennett has no intention of challenging the CCF administration. The Winch contention was reported to be a charge against the entire June leaving the fight between the CCF and Social Credit. "Some members of the government hope to win 36 to 38 seats in the 48-seat House and be in full command of the next House."

Oil Companies Spurn Offer to Answer Charges

WASHINGTON (CP)—The Senate Small Business Committee said today that none of seven big oil firms accused of monopoly practices has accepted the offer to appear before the committee and dispute the charge. Monopoly accusations, detailed in a long-suppressed report written by the Federal Trade Commission, was made public Monday.

Woodworkers, Lumbermen Sign Contract

VANCOUVER (CP)—A draft of a contract between union and operators—the final step in the 1952 negotiations for 32,000 coast woodworkers—has been signed.

Stewart Alsbury, president of International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL), announced Wednesday that the contract was signed and said:

"This year's negotiations between the union and lumber operators were the bitterest ever conducted in the history of B.C.'s labor relations." It was the final step in a wage dispute that saw the bulk of B.C.'s major industry tied up with a 45-day strike.

Malik to be Replaced as UN Delegate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—U.N. officials said Wednesday night that Russia's chief delegate here, Jacob A. Malik, is being replaced by Valerian A. Zorin, who engineered the Red Czechoslovakian coup of 1948.

Both hold the rank of Deputy Foreign Minister. Officials said they had been informed of the shift in a note from the Soviet government, but had not yet received any documents accrediting Zorin to the United Nations. The shift is expected to take place Sept. 15, just a month before the General Assembly opens its annual fall session.

Scherk Starts Second Series Baseball Game

Second of the best-of-three final games for city baseball championship is scheduled for tonight—weather permitting. The fight is between Gordon & Anderson, this year's pennant winners, and Abel & Odowes, 1952 league winners and final series champions. Gordon & Anderson trounced the Clothiers last Sunday in a 5-0 shutout in the first series game with the four-hit pitching of Vic Carolei and a sparkling display of fielding. Scheduled to start tonight for G & A is Don Scherk. A & O starter has not yet been announced.

Winch Says CCF Ready To Form Government if Called

VANCOUVER—CCF Leader Harold Winch said today he is prepared to form a Socialist government in B.C. if the call comes from the Lieutenant-Governor. He was commenting on reports that Social Credit Premier W. A. C. Bennett might call a general election for early November. Some constitutional authorities say if Bennett called an election without holding a session of legislature, Lieut.-Governor Clarence Wallace might call on the CCF to form a government.

New Traffic Laws In Force Tomorrow

Pedestrians Have Right-of-Way On Crosswalks; 20 mph Limit

Beginning tomorrow, pedestrians have the right-of-way when crossing Third Avenue, Prince Rupert's main street, in a crosswalk.

But it is unlawful for any pedestrian to cross Third Avenue from McBride to Seventh except at a crosswalk, and police will patrol the area to enforce the law.

The new change in the city's traffic by-law was endorsed by city council and is one of several innovations which take effect tomorrow morning.

Originally, the changes were effective today but time did not permit the revised by-law to be registered at the Court House until this morning.

Another major change in the by-law governing street traffic sets the speed limit on Second and Third Avenues at 20 miles an hour between McBride and Seventh Street. The limit of 25 MPH remains in force for the rest of the city.

A report that municipal authorities are not empowered to set or enforce local speed limits was brushed aside by a city lawyer today.

CITY CAN ENFORCE
Delving into the Municipal Act of British Columbia, under which the city is governed, he said section 58, sub-section 261, gives the city the power to regulate traffic within the municipality and prevent "immoderate riding or driving."

At Prince George recently, that city's first woman alderman, Carrie Jane Gray, said she was in favor of reducing the provincial speed limit of 30 MPH within the municipality but was informed that although it could be set by any municipal council it could not be enforced in the courts.

Rain Won't Dampen Soap Box Derby; Program Set For Labor Day Sports

The "liquid sunshine" that has prevailed in Prince Rupert for the past several hours will not affect the annual Soap Box Derby here on Monday. While the weatherman can't promise fine weather, officials in charge of the Derby announced this morning that "a little rain won't stop the derby." Other sports events on that day, however, will be transferred from Roosevelt Park to the Civic Centre—if it rains. The Soap Box Derby, being sponsored by the Trades and Labor Council, Frizzell Motors, representatives of General Motors Products here, and The Eastern Air Orders 50 Comet Jets

LONDON (CP)—Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker said Wednesday night that Eastern Air Lines will buy 35 to 50 Comet jet airliners if the planes can be delivered within three years.

Rickenbacker, president of Eastern, told reporters that delivery date of the 500-mile-an-hour Comets is the biggest snag. Rickenbacker proposed that the Comets be built in the United States if manufacturers—De Havilland Aircraft Company—cannot turn them out fast enough to meet Eastern Air Lines requirements.

Eastern proposed order would give the airline the world's biggest fleet of commercial jet airliners and bring to Britain about $75,000,000 in badly-needed foreign exchange.

Northern Seining Areas Closed For Conservation

By ERIC SANDERSON

Salmon canneries in northern British Columbia will close this week-end and remain shut for the remainder of 1952.

The closure will seriously hit seine fishermen whose season began several weeks after gillnetters had reaped a record catch.

Coupled with the shutdown is an announcement by the federal department of fisheries that fishing in Area 1 off the Queen Charlotte Islands closes at 6 p.m. tonight for an indefinite period in the interests of conservation of pink salmon.

STORAGE PROBLEM
While cannery operators were reluctant to announce the closure, it was learned that a huge sockeye and pink salmon pack—the two best sellers—has already been canned and with no large export orders the canneries are unable to store any more cases. Railway and fishing company warehouses are jammed.

There are no official figures on the pink pack but it is known that the sockeye pack exceeds the 1951 total of 332,000 cases by more than 70,000. One cannery official here estimates the salmon pack will set an all-time record. More than 2,000,000 cases were packed in 1951 and operators still have some of them unsold.

Another cannery official, while admitting the move will cut off employment for several hundred seasonal workers, said "the operators have no alternative but to close." He said it hasn't been a "very good season for seiners, but the gillnetters made a killing when the fish got up river ahead of the seine fishermen."

A third cannery man said pinks delivered after canning ceases "probably on Sunday," will be frozen for bait. The closing of the canneries is about a month earlier than in previous years.

The conservation orders follows a report here Wednesday by A. J. Whitmore, chief supervisor of fisheries, that pink salmon fishing in Masset Inlet indicated the best since 1930. The department also announced that salmon fishing in all major northern areas will cease indefinitely at midnight Friday.

They include the entire Bute-dale area, except Whale Channel between a line drawn to Fawcett Point and Seabrook Point on the south up to a line connecting Cape Farewell, Money Point, Gribbell Point, Cummings Point and Nellie Point on the north; and the west coast of Banks Island. Some parts of the Bella Bella area also are to be closed.

The Skeena River will remain open for coho fishing, providing fishermen do not use nets of

Penticton Beauty Wins PNE Crown

VANCOUVER (CP)—Joan Nagle's beauty brought her $1,000 last night when she was chosen as queen of the 1952 Pacific National Exhibition.

The 17-year-old brunette from Penticton won the "Miss PNE" crown over 13 other contestants in a ceremony at the show's outdoor theatre.

Joan was presented with the $1,000 cheque which she says will be used for university fees when she completes her education at Penticton senior high. And the beauty has a career in mind. She plans to become a nurse and considers marriage "a long way off."

Jet Fliers Too Busy to Watch Race With Sun

LONDON (CP)—Britain's record-breaking Canberra jet bomber nearly beat the sun across the Atlantic Ocean, but the three-man crew was too busy flying the 10-mile-a-minute craft to keep an eye on solar competition.

The crew did have the startling experience of watching the sun rise over Ireland at 6:34 a.m. take-off Tuesday, and of seeing it again just peeping over the horizon in Newfoundland at 6:38 a.m. local time.

But speeding back to Ireland again, the sleek black jet, helped by terrific tailwinds, actually beat the sun's time by about five minutes.

Two Wheels to Danger

THE back-to-school movement already is in the air and in a few days we will again see the concentration of children walking on sidewalks, on roadsides and across streets.

The bike is often a youngster's first step towards major independence. But far too often he rides his bike into traffic before he knows the rules.

For instance, the cardinal sins of bike riding condemned by the police throughout each school season which can contribute to accidents, tragic and minor, are: riding on the sidewalks, riding two on a bike, and riding on the streets two or three abreast.

Parents are urged to teach their youngsters the habits of safety, set a good example and enforce rules of safe conduct.

Motorists are urged to give the children on bikes a break. The lack of alertness on the part of the motorist is often the cause of bicycle accidents.

And parents would be wise to make sure their children have the necessary skill and experience to handle the bike before they allow them the unsupervised use of it.

Remember, accidents can be avoided. Let us all be alert for two wheels to danger.

VICTORIA REPORT

... by J. K. Nesbitt

VICTORIA.—The Bennett government has been in office less than a month. It has moved with a speed that is almost breath-taking. And, already, it has fallen into the good, old-fashioned government trap of double-talk.

On hospital insurance, the double-talk is wonderful to behold and quite impossible to figure out. Do we have to pay our hospital insurance premiums, or don't we? If we don't will we be hauled into court for breaking the law, or won't we? Nobody knows. Even the government doesn't seem to know.

Health and Welfare Minister Martin is the government's best double-talker so far. He is charged with administering the thorny hospital insurance. Because Social Crediters ran around during the election campaign saying they'd take the compulsion out of hospital insurance, Mr. Martin is on a hot-spot than Liberal Mr. Turnbull when he had hospital insurance.

So now poor Mr. Martin is trying to do away with the compulsion, and at the same time he's trying to keep it.

"The law is the law, and we are not going to flout it," says Mr. Martin. Then, doing a not-so-neat flip-flop, he says: "We will try all measures we can short of a summons to get payment. We are appealing to delinquent people to join with us in making BCHIS a success."

Well, now, Mr. Martin says the law is the law, and the government won't flout it, and then he says the government will stop short of a summons in trying to enforce the law.

"We believe encouragement is better than enforcement," says Mr. Martin. "Our basic principle will be to uphold the sanctity of the individual."

Those are fancy, high-sounding phrases. Encouragement is better than enforcement! Where will this lead? Are people going to be encouraged, rather than forced, to obey traffic rules? Is it now going to be quite legal to refuse to pay the sales tax? It's going to be nice when the day comes when we're merely encouraged, and not forced, to pay income tax. It's safe to say a lot of people just won't be encouraged.

like compulsion. But there must be compulsion for the common good. If the Social Credit government is so horrified because hospital insurance is compulsory, does it intend to take the compulsion out of education? If it does one, why shouldn't it do the other? Are we reaching the stage where we may buy an automobile licence, or not, as it suits us? Ah, happy, chaotic age—an age of absolutely no compulsion.

There's no reason the Social Credit government of Bennett shouldn't stay in power eight or 10 years. But, if it allows hospital insurance to collapse, so, too, will the government collapse with a thud even louder than the thud of the Liberal-Conservative collapse last June.

It's good to see a government of action, but so important a matter as hospital insurance shouldn't be monkeyed around with until the government is positive that what it does will not jeopardize a service that all the people of this province desperately need.

Students Get Stiff Training With Air Force

COMOX, B.C. —High school students who joined the Royal Canadian Air Force reserve have been getting rigid training here this summer.

A total of 143 boys, averaging 16 years old, are members of the technical training unit of the 19th Auxiliary Wing, and on Aug. 31 will complete the training program that began June 30.

The unit was split into several groups, each learning a different trade. Experienced men of the permanent force gave instructions on instruments, armament, radio, radar, and airplane and automobile mechanics.

Sqdn.-Ldr. W. J. Mooney, unit commanding officer, said the program is roughly 40 per cent theory and 60 per cent practice. It includes field practice three times a week.

The boys are paid $2.90 a day and are billeted in modern dormitories, getting their meals in the Airmen's mess.

As I See It

Hollywood Report

HOLLYWOOD, California. — Here we are in the city of the movie stars sitting on top of a hill that overlooks both the movie capital and Los Angeles to boot.

The Chamber of Commerce will probably shoot me for telling it, but fog lay over this city of everlasting sunshine when we got here. And it was almost as thick as we get on the B.C. coast in late November.

The first thing that struck us about this town was their wonderful markets. At the open-air variety you can get a vast variety of fruits and vegetables at dirt cheap prices. For instance, excellent cantaloupes are selling here today at four for 10 cents. Reminds me of my boyhood days in Hamilton, Ontario, where we had one of the best open air markets in all the world.

IN THE big stores, which call themselves "super-markets," the prices are higher, by our Canadian standards. We paid 60 cents for two chocolate sodas, no better than the kind I used to buy for a nickel, when I was a kid—or which we can get for 15 cents right now.

Hot dogs were a quarter at the same counter; and nearby a hair-cut cost me (even bald as I am) one dollar and a quarter.

But the store itself is really something to see. They have a counter just inside the door where the kids sit and read the comics while their parents or grandparents shop.

They even have a full sized wooden horse on which the boys sit. If they put a dime in a slot the horse really does its stuff. But otherwise the youngsters just sit—for free.

THIS TOWN is agog today at another brutal sex slaying of a 16-year-old girl. The police seem a bit philosophic about it. They say that as long as a whole host of sex-maniacs are left at large there will be more and more such crimes; and they will privately bet you that if the killer in this case is ever found he will be from a list already on file in police headquarters.

THE AMERICANS are the friendliest and easiest-to-meet folks that I have come across in all my travels. On the way down from Canada to L.A. at least six females complimented my wife on her home-made hat—made out of a left-over piece of the same blue nylon from which she made a dress. The youngest compliment was a girl about six who came up to my lady and said, "That's sure a cute hat." Needless to say, the wife was pleased as punch.

THE PAPERS here are starting to publish their pre-election polls. They say that 83 per cent of the American people believe that the most important question up for decision is "War, world peace, Russia and foreign policy."

The problem which gets the next highest rating is "Taxes, too high," which rates 21 per cent. The high cost of living gets a 15 per cent rating.

This confirms my own observation that the U.S. people are not much different from those of Britain or France. For that matter at least 99 per cent of all the people of the world, including Russia, want nothing so much as they want a stable, sane peace.

THE OFFICIAL government figures show that last year the American people spent six per cent more than they earned. That is, they dug into their savings to use up their nest eggs to pay for food, clothing, cars and other personal expenses.

Police Charge Taxi Driver For Bribery

VANCOUVER —For first time in history of the Vancouver traffic department, a taxi driver has been charged with attempted bribery.

Police charged that Melvin Eychuk offered two officers a bribe when he was halted for traffic violations July 20.

Evidence was given at his preliminary hearing Wednesday and he will be committed next Wednesday for trial in higher court.

Negro Race Superior to Whites Because of Heart

JOHANNESBURG (CP) — A South African anthropologist started a controversy among his color-sensitive countrymen when he said here that coronary thrombosis, and not "black nationalism," is a potential killer of white civilization.

Other scientists disagreed with the statement of Dr. M. W. D. Jeffreys, senior lecturer in social anthropology at University of Witwatersrand, that thrombosis, rapidly becoming the number one killer among whites here, would eliminate white men and leave the negro heir to western civilization.

Basing his pronouncement on studies at the university's medical school, Dr. Jeffreys said the negro, especially where his heart is concerned, is physically an improvement on the white man who has a less efficient "mammalian heart."

"Negro hearts have a large, extra branch from the left coronary artery," he said. "In other words, the negro heart has a better blood supply."

OTHER ADVANTAGES In addition the negro had in his blood a peculiarity known as the sickle cell, not found in whites, giving him a decided advantage in survival. Dr. Jeffreys said the white man shared his ancestor with the other mammals, as indicated by a similar bone structure. But the negro had bones of different quality and texture.

"Negro bones are lighter and stronger—they can be described as ivory type—and the negro skull is both thinner and is stronger than ours," he said. Dr. Jeffrey added: "The European heart just can't take the pace of modern living. The negro has a better heart. These are the facts and I prefer to leave it to others to draw conclusions."

Replies were immediate. A leading Johannesburg doctor, while agreeing that thrombosis is increasing among whites, could concede only that the heart peculiarity enabled negroes to excel in physical prowess. But as a short-cut to the inheritance of all—"never."

Negroes benefited by not eating as much fatty food and butter, and by not drinking as much alcohol—all of which contribute to thrombosis, he said.

SHREWSBURY, England (CP) — Entering a local tobacconist's store, New York sales manager Arthur Bernstein, 68, bumped into a man coming out. It was his 60-year old brother, John, whom he hadn't seen for 30 years. John was over from Chicago.

Sea Cadet Thrilled With 10-Day Warship Cruise

Nine tanned, happy members of the Captain Cook Sea Cadet Corps here returned yesterday from Camp Comox after a two-week summer training course.

Probably the happiest boy and the one with the best tales was Alan Davidson, whose father is captain of the lighthouse tender Alberni.

Alan was the Prince Rupert boy selected to make a 10-day cruise aboard HMCS Ontario, including a tour of escort duty for HMS Sheffield which has been visiting southern waters.

Out of the estimated 200 boys at the camp, 15 were from Prince Rupert. The remainder came from Winnipeg and Selkirk, Manitoba.

Eleven boys were chosen to spend time aboard the Ontario and Alan, one of the original boys to join the corps here when it was reorganized last year, was recommended by Lt. Cmdr. Bob Hanna of New Westminster, who escorted the boys to camp last August 7.

Six of the boys received permission from their parents to remain in the south visiting friends and relatives before returning home.

LUCKY CADET
Another lucky Prince Rupert boy was Gordon Finlayson who was selected to make a short cruise aboard the Sault Ste. Marie around Pender Harbor.

During camp life the boys were given instruction in sailing, rowing and took part in a swimming competition sponsored by the Navy League of Canada.

Following are the boys who returned aboard the Prince Rupert yesterday: Greig Forbes, Art Twaits, Alex and Frank Barton, Bill Browne, Gordon Finlayson, Tommy Moorehouse, Jack Davidson and Alan Davidson.

Remaining to visit in Vancouver and Victoria were Eric Brown, Craig Oliver, George Fleming, Roy Mostad, Paul Beketov and Jimmy Saville.

The group was escorted home by Sub-Lieutenant Ed Dawes, training officer for the corps here, who flew to Vancouver last Monday to greet the boys on their arrival from camp.

Ammonia Fixes Smelter Fumes

TRAIL, B. C. (CP)—It doesn't matter if it's a bit misty around here on calm days—it's good for the plants.

The Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company decided it's better to see what's coming out of the giant stacks and to know it's doing no harm.

In former years the chief exhaust from the factory chimneys was sulphur dioxide, which killed or damaged foliage in the surrounding country. Now the company has worked out a system of "scrubbing" the fumes with ammonia.

The exhaust from the stacks now is ammonium sulphate and steam, and experts say it's not much different from the ammonium sulphate that's sold as commercial fertilizer.

The misty effect comes when the air's moisture content is high and the wind is light.

Rebuild Air Base In Vancouver

COMOX, B.C. (CP)—Rehabilitation work is rapidly progressing on the $10,000,000 Vancouver Island base of the Royal Canadian Air Force here.
 The first Lancaster bomber landed recently and Comdr. G. W. McNeil, station commandant, expects the re-established wartime 407 Lancaster Squadron will be at full strength by the end of the year.
 The station had been out of operation since 1945. All three 5,000-foot runways, cracked by an earth tremor two years ago, are being repaired and extended another 1,000 feet. Latest types of navigational and night-landing equipment are being installed.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

Opponents Could Help Mr. Abel Make Contract

Don't use all your mental energy trying to figure out how to execute one particular line of play. This may blind you to the fact that a completely different line is available.

In today's deal Mr. Abel tried to do everything himself and then complained about his bad luck. He could have made his contract by enlisting the help of his opponents.

Mr. Dale led the jack of hearts which was permitted to win. On came another heart and Mr. Abel won with the king. He could count six winners in the red suits but where was his seventh trick coming from?

Obviously it had to be garnered from spades or clubs. Mr. Abel spent all his time trying to guess how to play one of those suits. If one of the defenders held both ace and king of a black suit, he could develop one trick in that suit.

Which black suit should he start? His and dummy's holdings in both were almost identical.

He deferred his decision temporarily and cashed four diamond tricks. Mr. Champion had to make two discards. He dropped a club and a spade. On the last diamond, Mr. Dale discarded a club.

Taking the last diamond on the board, Mr. Abel then led a club and put up the jack when Mr. Champion played low.

Mr. Dale won with the ace and the club return through dummy's queen enabled Mr. Champion to take two more tricks in the suit. In addition, the opponents won two hearts and two spades to defeat the contract.

Mr. Abel was fascinated with the question of how to play the black suits. He could have made his bid by winning the first heart trick, cashing four diamonds and then playing the other high heart, giving the enemy the lead with a third heart. If one opponent had five

Poppa's Song Used For Daughter's Wedding Music

EDMONTON (CP)—When the Marks family couldn't decide on the music for their daughter's wedding, A. L. Marks thought he would try a song of his own.

The result of his efforts, entitled "Betrothal," has become popular here and is being introduced in Eastern Canada and the United States. It was played at this year's convention of the Canadian Author's Association at London, Ont.

Lawyer and author, Marks had written the work as a poem, and it appeared destined to remain a poem. Then W. A. Halliwell, an Edmonton composer, studied the lyrics and fitted them to music.

Mr. Marks first entered literary circles in 1940 with publication of a book of poems called "Margaret Anne's Wonder Book," the inspiration being his young daughter, Margaret Anne, now 18 years old.

A member of the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Authors' Association since 1942, he has been president of the group for the last four years. He is also a member of Edmonton's non-professional song-writers' group.

Needs Microscope On Plankton Hunt

MONTREAL (CP)—Prof. Maxwell J. Dunbar of McGill University has left here on a year's "hunting trip," armed with a microscope.

He expects to find the relatives of Canadian plankton, the basic life of the sea which provides food for fish, seals and whales, and corresponds somewhat to plant and animal life on land.

Prof. Dunbar, through a fellowship, will do research work at the Danish marine biological station in Copenhagen, and is accompanied by his wife and son.

For comparative purposes, he took along a collection of plankton obtained during fisheries investigations in the eastern Arctic. Plankton varies from microscopic specks to the size of a small shrimp, and exists in countless quantities in various ocean areas.

Prof. Dunbar believes more food for a hungry world can be made available through a better use of the sea's resources. While his main work will be at the Danish biological station, he also will study the whole set-up of marine research there, with a view to widening the fundamental marine research in Canada.

Yanks Increase Lead as Berra Homers Victory

NEW YORK (CP)—New York Yankees regained their two-game lead over Cleveland in the American League pennant race Wednesday, winning a 12-7 slugfest from St. Louis Browns while Philadelphia Athletics were administering a 6-5 defeat to the Indians.

The second-place New York Giants reduced Brooklyn's National League lead to 9½ games, edging out Pittsburgh Pirates 5-4 while Chicago Cubs were battering three Dodger hurlers for a 10-5 triumph.

Yogi Berra's two homers were the big blows for the Yankees, who overcame a 5-2 deficit with a 15-hit attack to end their recent batting slump.

Berra's homer's, his 26th and 27th of the season, tied him with Cleveland's Larry Doby for the lead. The first, which snapped a 6-6 tie in the sixth inning, was the Yankees' 100th of the season, the 29th year the Yanks have reached the century-mark.

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK.—The college football season is beginning, and permit me to be the first to give you fans the happy news that there is going to be a whistle-tooting this year than ever before.

It is that they've now to hang a whistle on the field, from the linesman right through the referee. This means that our whistles were only used before. In some cases, where spectators especially lucky, it means behind the influx of the primary, to try to sharp reduction in the rough play which notorious last fall. It the game a good deal of welcome publicity, and who make a living from are determined to put makes right now.

"ONLY KIDDING"—When Junkman Harry Haigh of Victoria, B.C., bought a 12-room Tudor-style mansion next door to the Lieutenant-Governor's house, he announced he would make it a home for down-and-outers. There was an immediate outcry. Haigh then said he was "only kidding" and that he would add apartments in the top floor later when the B.C. city gets around to changing a zoning by-law which now prohibits alterations to homes in the area. Haigh, unsuccessful mayoralty candidate last December, faces a charge of illegally storing junk at his other residence. (CP PHOTO)

Britain's Prison Conditions Appalling, Survey Shows Overcrowding, Under-Staffed

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Hard-pressed in other fields, Britain now finds herself in urgent need of more prisons.

The disclosure, made in a recent parliamentary report, has brought a demand for improved accommodation and a full-scale inquiry into allegations of "appalling" conditions of overcrowding, under-staffing, lack of discipline and violence in the country's penitentiaries and jails.

The survey, prepared by a House of Commons select committee on estimates, places the present prison population at about 25,000—highest for more than 60 years. Available accommodation, however, normally would house no more than 12,000 offenders.

In February of this year, 1500 male prisoners were sleeping three together in cells designed for one, a practice condemned by witnesses as "unhealthy and disgusting." At Wandsworth jail, which reported the severest overcrowding, more than 500 prisoners were sleeping three to a cell.

"While there is no evidence that this situation has resulted in any deterioration in health, the danger of rapid spread of epidemics grows more acute as overcrowding increases," the report says.

The committee discloses that the cost of operating the country's chain of prisons during the current financial year will come to some £7,000,000. It recommends, however, that new prisons should be built without delay. Pending their completion and as a temporary expedient, it is suggested military huts should be taken over and converted into prison camps.

The Home Office has agreed to test the plan.

It was found that in most prisons there is a hard core of trouble-makers, diagnosed as "aggressive psychopaths." Special security measures were necessary to cope with breach of discipline encouraged by these ring-leaders.

LIFE TOO ATTRACTIVE

As a result the working week in some prisons was reduced as low as 18 hours with an inevitable drop in production.

E. Wathall, secretary of the Parkhurst Prison Officers' Association, reported that special privileges were extended to some prisoners under an old act. Their cells, he said, were not locked until 8 o'clock at night and they were allowed what is called a "fry up," from meat and potatoes saved from meals served during the day.

Evidence was given that prisoners spend as much time in leisure, just sitting around, smoking, playing cards, listening to the radio or reading the newspapers, as they do at work.

"Prison life is far too attractive," Mr. Wathall observed.

The governor of Parkhurst Prison, P. A. Marriott, said that flogging had never been abolished in jails. It was rarely ordered, however, and the "regular boarders" were aware of that.

Asked if attacks on the staff had become more frequent as a result, he replied: "Yes. Prisoners now would not hesitate that would have hesitated before."

Police Use Syringe to Detect Purple Gasoline

All RCMP detachments in British Columbia are being supplied with clear glass syringes to be used in attempts to detect motorists using "purple" commercial gasoline.

The use of syringes is not new in this area, officials here said today, adding that several motorists have been caught using this type of gasoline which is sold to fishermen, farmers and loggers for use on highways.

Tax on purple gasoline is only one cent a gallon, compared to 11 cents for highway gasoline.

It is believed that in some cases persons buying gas for fishboats or farm machinery are using it in their private automobiles and selling it to their friends.

Trucks and cars are spotted-checked at various times along the highway. Because of the purple color, illegal gas will be easier to detect in clear syringes. Under the Gasoline Tax Act, penalty for the first offence is a fine of not less than $50 or more than $100, or in default 15 days to three months in prison.

Youth Rally Opens Congress at Citadel

Young people of all religious denominations are invited to a youth rally which opens here on Friday at the Salvation Army Citadel on the first night of the annual native congress meetings.

Commissioner W. R. Dalziel, accompanied by Senior Captains E. Parr and Ken Rawlins arrive in Prince Rupert Friday morning to conduct the meetings.

They come direct to Prince Rupert from Old Orchard in the state of Maine, U.S.A., where they have been conducting a youth fellowship camp for young men and women of the eastern U.S.

Commissioner Dalziel is the leader of The Salvation Army in all Canada and a man who has great faith in young people. He has been concentrating on the appointment of young men and women to responsible positions in The Salvation Army in Canada, since he took command in June, 1951.

Captains Parr and Rawlins are excellent musicians with outstanding personalities. Their combination of the soprano E flat cornet and piano accordion is unique and they are called upon for many large youth rallies sponsored by Youth For Christ and similar organizations in eastern Canada.

Veterans Can Help, Says Canadian

Understanding, Unity Needed for Peace

VANCOUVER (CP)—A. J. Wickens, a lawyer and second vice-president of the World Federation, is head of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans Association in Canada. He said here: "Canada was invited to the Federation's organizational conference two years ago in Paris, but we declined. We were afraid it was just another false peace front organization. However, we investigated thoroughly and found it was anything but that. It is anti-communist, has no governmental strings and is concerned solely with the welfare of the individual."

Forest Areas Around Towns Can Hedge Against Inflation

VANCOUVER (CP)—Establishment of municipal forests as "a hedge against inflation" was urged by Leander Gray, an executive of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, in an address here. He said such forests could triple the municipality's investment in 30 years, while earning a steady income. In Europe where communities have large forest holdings for their own use, he said, reserves of standing timber are held just like bank assets. These reserves are obtained by under-cutting, and can be expanded at a time when timber values are high and the municipality is in need of a new public building or improved utilities," he said.

Few Bad Spots On Hart Road Unpopular

VICTORIA (CP) — Three extremely bad stretches on B.C.'s newly-opened 265-mile John Hart Highway will bring the road much deserved criticism, in the view of Senator Richard L. Neuberger, of Portland, Ore. "From a tourist standpoint, it would have been well for the government to delay the opening until next year or open only as far as Pine Valley," Sen. Neuberger said here today. He had high praise for the 135 miles from Prince George to Pine Valley but felt American tourists might give the route bad "word-of-mouth" publicity because of the three rough spots. They are five, seven and eight miles in length, he said. "They are dusty when dry and like Hungarian goulash when wet," the Senator grinned.

Sabotage Suspected Greenwood

VANCOUVER (CP) — RCMP said investigations of "sabotage" with several RCMP officers at Greenwood, N.S., air base has revealed no indication of sabotage "in the narrow sense of the term as being caused by a foreign power." A spokesman said investigations are still going on and can be no elaboration on what they have disclosed to date. He said all RCMP wanted to do was to clear suspicion from Greenwood. Investigations began after rags and other material were found in air intakes of several port planes at the Greenwood base.

Coal Mine Hums While African Lions Roar

WANKIE, Southern Rhodesia (CP)—The roar of lions and the trumpeting of elephants are lost amid the clatter of modern industry as miners seek to expand production from the Wankie colliery, one of the richest coal deposits in Africa.

Eighteen degrees south of the equator and 2000 feet above sea level, this mining town of about 18,000 white and native inhabitants is hemmed in by the African bush.

Coal was discovered in the area late in the last century by A. Giese, a free-lance prospector, and in the first full year of production in 1904 Wankie produced 51,599 tons of coal. Last year production was 2,401,596 tons, and it is hoped that by the end of 1955 production will have reached 5,000,000 tons annually.

WATER PROBLEM
To combat the problem of water supply, the company recently spent about £700,000 on a scheme to pipe 2,500,000 gallons a day from the Zambesi River. This is the first time the waters of the great river have been used for important industrial purposes.

Two collieries now are being worked, and preparations are being made to sink a third shaft. But because the coal is mined at a depth of about 200 feet, the Wankie mines lack the familiar pit headgear. Miners here descend to work on a gentle incline, and the coal is brought to the surface by a conveyor belt or on small trucks.

The main conveyor belt system in Number Two colliery, installed a few months ago at a cost of about £100,000, is 8330 feet long.

FULLY MECHANIZED
Underground, all manner of machinery is used to help increase production at the coal face. Mechanical cutters carve great slits in the coal walls and big electric drills drive deep holes in which explosives are placed to blast out the coal. Mechanical loaders fill the conveyor belts.

The miners do a shift of 8½ hours underground, and are provided with transportation to and from the mine. Off duty, the miners live in large, airy houses, built by the Wankie Colliery Co. These are of uniform design, costing between £2000 and £3000, with an electric stove as standard equipment.

India-Japan Sign Peace

NEW DELHI, India (CP)—India and Japan today formally ratified a peace treaty ending their Second World War hostilities by an exchange of diplomatic documents.

FARMING COUNTRY
Israel is primarily an agricultural country, the growing of citrus fruit being its most valuable industry.

Hard-Luck Couple Leave Homestead, Try Long Trip to Prairie Farms

BRIDGE LAKE, B.C. (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Fred McDonald, whose northern British Columbia farm recently was flooded out, passed through here on the first leg of a 1500-mile trek to the prairies.

The McDonalds were married only a short time ago, and settler on pre-empted land near Vanderhoof, 300 miles north of here. Spring thaws and summer rains turned the valley in which they had settled into a lake, so with no farm work available they set out for the prairies to find work there.

Egypt's Strong Man's Career Is an Open Book

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt's strong man, Major-General Mohamed Naguib, behaves in public like a man running for office. But he isn't looking for votes. The Egyptian army's tanks and bayonets are energetic enough to keep him in office.

Son of an Egyptian police officer and a Sudanese mother, he is a pre-Soviet democrat. He likes people, thinks they are intelligent, patriotic and instinctively good. He doesn't have this feeling about the vast majority of politicians, though.

Naguib, a devout Moslem, told the attractive Mrs. Doria Shafik, Islam's most energetic suffragette, that women can be trusted in the army driving cars, trucks and performing other types of services.

The army is not in politics, he has reiterated since his coup d'etat which led to Farouk's abdication July 26. Politics should be left to politicians, he insists. However he forced Farouk to accept the man of his choice—Aly Maher—as premier when he sprung his coup.

Naguib has said he is only interested in the reconstitution of the army on a level commensurate with its value to the nation.

However he's let it be clearly understood that the army has a great interest in the purge of the corrupt politicians and public servants from the Egyptian administration.

He says the army will keep a close watch on how well the purge and social welfare programs get along. Colonel Mohamed Rashad Mehanna, a trusted adviser, was simply an army career man when the coup came about. In a week's time he was elevated to minister and then to the three-man regency council.

Naguib wanted one of his own men on the council, a certain way of keeping posted on what transpires at the highest political event.

Yet there has been no indication that Naguib is trying to dictate to premier Maher's government.

Of course Gen. Naguib is not alone in the "army movement". He is surrounded by a corps of young senior officers. Their identity is kept highly secret.

Efforts to learn any information about them generally end in failure. It is generally agreed that the young officers group represents a good cross section of Egypt.

Naguib is stern, although not a martinet. British officers who have worked with him describe him as a man of integrity and ability.

After his successful coup, Naguib was riding down a principal street in his open car while thousands of persons cheered him and jammed around the vehicle.

He spotted someone in the crowd, got out and walked directly to an old woman struggling to get close to him. He leaned over and kissed her hand.

Father of three children, Naguib leads a simple home life. His salary is $287 a month. He lives within that salary. Soon after the coup he ordered all the fancy automobiles owned by the army for senior commanders sold. Jeeps are good enough, he said.

He speaks Italian, French and English. While a junior officer he earned two degrees at Fuad University.

Five times a day he turns toward Mecca and prays. During the holy month of Ramadan he rigidly holds to the rigorous fasting schedule which prohibits a Moslem from even taking a drink of water during the time the sun is in the sky.

Less Food in Europe; Yugoslavs Feel Pinch

LONDON (AP)—Europe's larder won't be so full this winter. Summer weather upsets have trimmed most harvests, but outside Yugoslavia and some Cominform countries food will not be scarce.

For Yugoslavs things look tough. A 10-week drought has slashed one-third off most crops. However, reserves from last year's big harvest probably will stave off a return to ration cards.

Already Premier Tito's government has banned exports of grain and fodder and is looking for ways to buy or borrow wheat. The government estimates harvest losses at 100,000,000,000 dinars (more than $350,000,000).

Here is a country-by-country roundup:

Britain—A £5 subsidy for every new acre broken put more land under the plow than ever before. But granaries will be no fuller than last year due to the drought.

Austria—Most yields are down due to the drought but reserves will tide the country over.

Belgium—Normal harvest despite the weather.

Bulgaria—The Communist-controlled press admits the wheat crop is poor in quality.

Czechoslovakia—Minister in charge of buying farm products forecasts a bumper harvest.

Denmark—Grain and fruit yields will be well above normal.

France—French farmers beat prolonged drought and foot-and-mouth disease to turn in average to good yields. Wheat harvest is estimated at 14 per cent up from last year.

West Germany—Drought has cut crop yields and sent milk and butter prices soaring. Current forecast: wheat normal, fruits normal or better, vegetables poor to good.

East Germany—Grain harvest likely to reach 90 per cent of official estimates. Rationing will continue.

Greece—Good yields will keep prices down.

The Netherlands—Farms survived spring frosts to turn in crops better than last year.

Italy—Grain returns are reported good.

Norway—Fodder output is slightly above average but vegetables, grains and fruits are down.

Portugal—Grains are up.

Romania—Crops are reported good but the Communist-ruled farmers aren't happy about it. Communist newspapers show hundreds have been jailed on charges of sabotage or withholding crops from the govt.

Tourist Slumps Strike At Nova Scotia Resort

CHESTER, N.S. (CP)—The character of this Nova Scotia vacation resort is changing because tourists don't come here any more. Both hotels, which once catered to throngs of tourists from the United States, Canada and other countries, are for sale.

The sea-skirting golf course is no longer smooth and well-trimmed. Weeds are pushing through the tennis courts. Yachting has diminished.

The "Riviera of the East"—so dubbed by the Board of Trade—is looking for industries. There is a feeling of concern among the some 1,000 permanent residents.

BOOM YEARS

While the community was prospering during the war and pre-war years, real estate soared. A small lot sold for thousands. The buying was exclusively by wealthy folk, mostly from the United States.

Leonard Giddy, president of the Board of Trade, says the lack of tourists has had a serious effect on Chester and "it will be worse this winter, too, when everybody finds they have not the money they did in previous years."

Shop keeper William Clarke says "things are very, very quiet this year—almost dead. Unless there's a terrific change in the next few years this place is just going to die out."

"Another said: "At one time all we thought about was the tourist trade. Everybody lived well and happy on the money the tourists left. But today they are looking for industry because the village is going to seed."

A stranger, whose motive still puzzles the community, turned up recently and told citizens he had come to establish a large textile factory.

He arranged to take over the closed Hackmatack Inn and ordered daily meals for 40 technicians at another place. But no technicians came and he disappeared.

"There was a terrible let-down feeling," said Mr. Clarke.

PRODUCTION DECREASE

Canada's 1951 output of 305,964,000 pounds of butter was the lowest in 20 years and 65,000,000 pounds below 1941's record production.

Drilling Oil In Jungle Rugged Task

CALGARY (CP)—William Holdrinet, 41-year-old Dutch oil man who arrived recently to work in Alberta, will find oil drilling less complicated than in the Indonesian jungles where he spent 21 years.

In Indonesia the oil men had to respect native rituals.

"We used to take part in our native laborers' religious ceremony to keep bad spirits away," he said. This ceremony performed before drilling started involved the ceremonious sacrifice of a cow.

Holdrinet came here from Pendopo in Sumatra, a native village where 200 oil men live amid tropical forest.

Retired Engineer-Scientist Named 'Grand Old Man' of Car Industry

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT. — If there is a "grand old man" of the auto industry he's Charles F. Kettering, noted engineer-scientist, whose 75th birthday was observed last year with one of the biggest parties ever held.

Younger in spirit and physical capacity than many persons 20 years younger by the calendar, "Boss Ket," as his friends call him, deserves that "grand old man" designation on several counts.

One of the best liked persons associated with the auto industry, no other living man has contributed as much to the industry's development.

Kettering developed the self-starter that did away with hand cranking and many broken arms and jaws; he perfected the process of painting a car in a few hours instead of weeks; he gave the industry ethyl gasoline and high compression engines; he developed the two-cycle diesel engine that led to diesel electric locomotives, and he blazed the way for many refinements in other fields of scientific research.

There were, for instance, his artificial fever therapy for the treatment of certain blood diseases; his participation in the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research; his development of a new type of refrigerants and many other advances.

Long head of General Motors research laboratories, Kettering "retired" in 1947 to continue as consultant with GM, but he operates pretty much the same today as he did before.

He maintains an office in the GM research building but spends considerable time in New York, Miami, Dayton, Ohio, his home town, and in Detroit. He travels mostly in his personal plane, which he is licensed to pilot himself.

He is deeply interested in "time and the sun" as two of "our chief resources." He "wonderful age," he says, "will come when man learns to draw directly upon the sun for power." The use of solar energy as automobile fuel, he adds, still is a distinct possibility.

"Boss Ket" feels there "isn't any mystery in the world; everything is simple provided you have the proper understanding."

Science, he says, "is merely finding out how nature does things—it's just as simple as that."

"The world has nothing to fear but stupidity and nothing but stupidity can cause trouble. As long as the sun shines we'll be all right."

A high compression engine he is working on is well on its way. Kettering has said it will some day save American motorists $1,000,000,000 a year in fuel costs. At least once each year Kettering gets a new degree in science, engineering or philosophy. He already holds some 30 of these, and about as many more citations, awards and honorary and life memberships in scientific and humanitarian organizations.

"We'll believe 'Boss Ket' was retired when the last mystery of the universe has been solved," say his friends. "Even then Key would be off to find a new universe."

Back Seat Drivers Of Some Use

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Want an antidote for getting sleepy while driving?

Take along a back-seat driver. Medical Examiner G. C. Mann says the back-seat driver can play a prominent part in reducing the high fatality rate. By keeping up a stream of chatter, says Mann, the back-seater helps keep the sleepy driver awake.

Getting More Than Gambled For

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—Four county police recruits started a penny ante card game yesterday during a break in their training program.

A veteran officer saw them. Result: suspension and recommended dismissal from the force, and formal charges of gambling against the four.

Detective Russell L. Runyon made the arrest and confiscated the card game's pot—39 cents.

SASKATCHEWAN HARVEST—A record crop of 656,000,000 bushels of grain has been forecast for Canada's 1952-53 crop year. Holiday in Britain Satisfies Canadians

by JACK GOLDING
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON — Britain expects 750,000 visitors from other countries during 1952 and she hopes they will spend some £120,000,000 while they are here.

The British travel and holiday association, which sets out these estimates, meanwhile is trying to find out what pleasures or displeases visitors from abroad. With this in mind, it has devised a system of stamped and addressed cards to be filled out by tourists when they leave. Thousands of replies have been received from people of many nationalities, but the association says that Canadians do not send many.

On the basis of replies received it appears that most Canadians spend about six weeks in the country and generally liked what they found. Complaints were few although it is believed some who used to spend most of their time in the United Kingdom now go to the continent to get away from Britain's austerity. Their trips, fares included, cost them about $1,000. They found the prices of food, drink and commodities what they had expected, if not cheaper. Their general impression was that the cost of living is lower in Britain on many items—though they did not comment on the scale of wages and salaries.

A visitor from Leaside, Ont., found hotel rooms too cold. A Toronto man said he thought the food much better than he had been led to believe from newspapers. A Halifax school teacher said she found the price of a cup of coffee much higher than in Canada and a Newfoundland visitor said he could think of better countries in which to have his shirts laundered.

Most Canadians indicated they were anxious to return to Britain—particularly for the coronation. One Ottawa visitor was critical about tipping and a woman from Winnipeg deplored the lack of coat hangers in hotels. Various opinions concerning the courtesy and lack of same in cab drivers was evident. And a Toronto man wanted to know why he couldn't have water served with his meals.
An official of the travel and holiday association said the most critical visitors are the French. The most complimentary are the Americans. Asked if the Americans didn't offer any chilly observations about Britain's coffee, he said: "well, yes but usually in a light-hearted manner. One man from Kansas City told us we ought to make the sale of bad coffee an offence punishable by death." Asked how he felt about this, the official said: "well—as a matter of fact, old boy, I agree."
But it took a Dutchman to offer a fine point of warm philosophy. He wrote: "We love England. But after all, food isn't everything."

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What is happening to the star system? This question was put to Don Hartman, production head at Paramount studios, which has pared its list of stars down to a bare minimum recently.
Hartman's reply was that nothing has happened to the star system, but a big change has come over the movie business.
"We don't make as many pictures as we used to," he explained. "Supposing our studio makes 15 pictures a year. You start with a couple of Bing Crosby pictures, a couple of Bob Hopes, the same number of Alan Ladd and Bill Holdens. By the time you add those commitments up, you don't have many more pictures to make."

STILL NEW FACES
"That doesn't mean we aren't adding any newcomers. But we have cut down the number of stars. We don't have to pay out $4000 and $5000 a week to stars who aren't working.
"And it results in better pictures. We don't have to rush pictures through merely because we have commitments with talent. By preparing a backlog of scripts, we can get big stars."
Recently, both Ladd and Betty Hutton left Paramount, where each was long identified. Hartman said both departures were mutually beneficial.
"Ladd wanted a percentage of the profits, which we were not prepared to give him," the executive said.
"Hutton was a problem to find vehicles for. With every three or four stories that were put in the works for her, one might pan out. She wanted freedom to do stage appearances, so we let her go."

Batten down the hatches and anchors aweigh, mates for MGM's "Skirts Ahoy" which opens tonight at the Capitol Theatre.
With Esther Williams, Joan Evans and Vivian Blaine on the loose as three fun-happy U. S. Navy Waves, "Skirts Ahoy" unfolds a rollicking tune-filled story of the gals who become sailors. Barry Sullivan, Keefe Brasselle and Dean Miller are the men in the three Waves' lives.
Academy award winner for his role in this picture, Humphrey Bogart, re-enacts John Huston's enthralling adventure drama, "The African Queen" which opens at the Folem Theatre.
Katharine Hepburn stars opposite Bogart. The story concerns a strangely inspired couple on an African expedition who undergo one of the wildest adventures ever told on the screen.

38 Wounded In Korean Prison Riots
MONTREAL (CP)—Claimed to be the most modern and best-equipped in Canada, Montreal fire department's rescue squad performs a multitude of tasks, the most common being rescuing people from tops of buildings and reviving firemen overcome by smoke.
Since its inception in 1938 the big wagon with "Rescue Squad" emblazoned on its side has showed up at every important fire. Operated by an officer and three men, it carries equipment capable of handling almost any problem.
This includes a gasoline-powered air compressor, hydraulic jack, circular saw and acetylene torch, portable transmitting and receiving radios, resuscitators, anti-gas and anti-acid suits. The equipment is valued at about $50,000.
The squad was created by director Telesphore Oulmet in 1938, first of its kind in Canada.

SOUL, Korea (CP)—United Nations guards slightly wounded 38 Communist prisoners of war in quelling three prisoner-of-war demonstrations within five days on Koje and Cheju islands, the United States Eighth Army said tonight.
Casualties occurred in the first incident on Koje Aug. 11. The army announcement said guards fired into demonstrating Communist prisoners with riot guns after prisoners replied to tear gas grenades with a rock barrage.
Two days later, in another Koje compound, guards used tear gas in breaking up a military training and marching demonstration.
