Great Britain Returns to Gold Standard Today Announces Right Hon. Winston Churchill in Speech

Deficit of Nine Million Pounds on Excess Profits and Corporation Taxes but Increase on Others

EXPORT OF GOLD TO BE ALLOWED

LONDON, April 28.—Right Hon. Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, announced in his budget speech in the House of Commons today that acts prohibiting the export of gold bullion would be allowed to lapse on December 31 next.

The most important announcement in the speech was that the gold standard would be restored, dating from today. By special license the Bank of England would be allowed to export gold bullion.

The chancellor characterized the yield from internal revenue as satisfactory. Excess profits and corporation profit taxes showed a deficit of nine million pounds sterling over what was estimated, but these were "moribund" and were counterbalanced by the yield from income tax, super and death tax.

Sir Broderick Harkwell Tells People he Duped of Failure to Successfully Land Liquor

LONDON, April 28.—The Daily Mail, which recently told of Sir Broderick Harkwell's misadventure in whiskey running off the American coast, now says Harkwell has circulated to his supporters to the effect that he lost everything in the debacle. Of 61,000 cases in shipment, American authorities are declared to have seized more than 32,000 and it is problematical whether the balance can be disposed of owing to the risk of seizure.

Approximately 6,000 cases were disposed of.

Prospects of Action on Peace River Outlet This Year Said to Vanishing

SETTLERS LEAVING

Ottawa Correspondent of Winnipeg Paper in Rather Pessimistic Mood

WINNIPEG, April 28.—The Manitoba Free Press prints the following from its Ottawa correspondent:

"Discouraged by the vanishing prospects of immediate relief and by the complete absence of agreement between the various governments and railroads, the settlers in the Peace River district are abandoning their holdings and going to the United States." This is a statement made here today by George Mills, M.L.A., in the Alberta Legislature for the constituency of Athabasca, who is a member of the delegation of citizens from Peace River who is in Ottawa.

After surveying the situation, members of this delegation, while they would not say so, appear to have given up hope of obtaining an outlet to the Pacific coast this year.

Mr. Mills made the statement that to his own knowledge 1,000 settlers left the Peace River country during the past five years and if nothing was done this year, half of those left would be gone by this time next year.

Arrivals and sales were as follows:

ENGLISH EXCHANGE GOES UP A CENT RESULT OF BUDGET

NEW YORK, April 28.—Demand sterling advanced one cent on the stock exchange today to $4.83, the highest it has been in ten years. The announcement of the advance came ten minutes after news of Great Britain's return to a gold standard was received.

Public Meeting Thursday will Discuss Fisheries and Drydock and Other Public Matters Here

On suggestion of Ald. Gasey, whose motion was seconded by Ald. Larsen, the city council decided last night to call a public meeting on Thursday night at which will be considered matters affecting the welfare of the city including the halibut fisheries situation and the operation of the dry dock.

Ald. Gasey said that there were several citizens who were desirous of having a public meeting held to consider the fisheries question. The mayor had proposed a couple of years ago to call public meetings of the citizens to go into matters affecting the well-being of the city.

Such a meeting he deemed it would be advisable to call now. The situation was such that, if continued, it looked as if in another year there would be no Canadian halibut fleet operating out of Prince Rupert. A great disaster seemed to be impending for the fleet and the community.

"Delinquency in the matter of operation of the dry dock," was another thing that Ald. Gasey felt should be discussed by the public. Formerly it had been deemed that there could be no remedy for this situation when the dry dock was a "government institution in the hands of enemies to the city." Since then the administration had changed to one described as "a friendly government." Since the transformation of the government, however, there had also been a transformation of business. Repairing of large vessels here had meant to carry out the promise, been discontinued and it was now found that the C.N.R. was doing all its repair work elsewhere. Instead of building a new boat here as had been intended, the old steamer Prince Charles had been purchased in the Old Country. Alterations which it was expected would cost some $80,000 were to be made to the vessel and it was proposed to do the work in Vancouver. The Prince George, Prince Rupert and Prince John had been overhauled in Vancouver this winter. The citizens were be-

Little Else but Talk at Ottawa Among Members on Both Sides on Budget; No Election This Year

OTTAWA, April 28.—The prolongation of the debate on the budget from week to week with about one-third of the members of the House of Commons taking part in it is probably due to two main causes. There is the evident determination of the Conservatives to prolong the present session as late as possible to make it very difficult for Liberals to assist in the provincial general elections this summer in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick and for the Progressives to have a hand in the provincial contest coming in Saskatchewan. Second, there is the attitude of private members generally in the House that whether or not there will be a Federal general election this year they will take no chances and are, therefore, getting "on record" this session for campaign purposes whenever the contest comes.

No General Election

All this fear of a Federal appeal this year is in the face of various indications that the King Government is apparently mak-

Chairman of the Railway Committee Urges in Strong Terms Amalgamation of C.N.R. with C.P.R.

OTTAWA, April 28.—W. D. Euler, independent Liberal member for North Waterloo, chairman of the House Committee on National Railways and shipping, in the budget debate strongly advocated the amalgamation of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways. He mentioned that under such a scheme there would be a saving of one hundred million dollars. This figure was given him by "as high an authority as we have in this country."

Euler said he believed the people of the country would destroy any government that dared to hold the National Railways in opposition to a privately owned corporation. The union of these two systems would give the country and not the C.P.R. the benefit of savings affected. This, he said, would enable the government to reduce taxation by one third or at least one quarter.

It would restore confidence and encourage the Canadian people to go ahead knowing that light was breaking on the financial horizon. It would stimulate trade and lower the cost of living, encourage enterprise and lead to more rapid development of the natural resources of the country. It would solve the general rates problem and on it could be based a practical scheme for extinction of the national debt.

NO DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE SOON SAYS PREM. BALDWIN

EDMONTON, April 28.—Hon. V. W. Smith, minister of railways, will continue to represent the Alberta government on the directorates of the E. D. & B. C. and Central Canada railways. All the officers and directors of the two roads were re-elected at the annual meetings, which were held in Winnipeg and from which Mr. Smith has just returned.

A deficit on operating account of $58,918 was reported for the calendar year 1924, as compared with $158,175 in the year preceding.

This loss is absorbed by the Canadian Pacific Railway under the terms of its agreement with the government.

No action was taken at the meeting in Winnipeg in regard to any future change in the management of the northern roads, this being left to await the results of the negotiations now pending in Ottawa.

Expenditures on maintenance and capital accounts of some $310,000 for both roads were authorized, on condition that ways and means of financing them can be found. These are for such items as ballasting, tie renewals, straightening steel fencing, sidings and miscellaneous improvements.

Should Not Fail To Hear Lecturer.

From those who have heard Charles G. D. Roberts, the well known poet, novelist, nature student and historian it would seem that the lecture he is to give here Wednesday evening is something to look forward to with interest. It is not often opportunity is offered to meet a famous author but here it is and those who do not take advantage of it will probably regret it later.

Mr. Roberts is a Canadian, a member of a family of writers, and the most famous of them all. Many Prince Rupert boys will have read his stories of animals, which he studied in their native haunts in New Brunswick. His "Heart of the Ancient Wood" is an entrancing tale of a girl and bear in which the girl learns the ways of the wild things and becomes on good terms with a big bear. The stories while to some extent imaginative, are true to life and excite the sympathies of the reader for the animal as against the hunter. He sees the poetic side of animal and bird life.

The day following the lecture Mr. Roberts will be the honored guest at a luncheon given by the Canadian clubs of the city at which he is expected to deliver a short address. To appreciate the address it will be necessary to hear the lecture.

Flight Of Zanni Across Pacific.

While the glamor of the transpacific flights has been taken away by the success of the Americans in getting across successfully, yet the length of time they took doing it and the difficulties they met indicate that there is yet much to learn about long distance flying, which the flight of Zanni may help to elucidate. Until an airman can land on the opposite side of the ocean in a few days after leaving the opposite side, flying cannot be considered a success. If flying takes longer than travelling in a steamship, why fly?

Zanni will be leaving Japan soon and is expected to make a stop at this port, if he gets this far. We shall look for the Argentine with almost as much expectancy as we looked for the arrival of the American planes which passed north or the McLaren plane which failed to arrive.

There Is Nothing To Do;
Let Us Go And Fish.

The trout fishing season has opened and from now on at week ends and holidays those who are attracted by the lure of the streams will be away fishing. Nothing ever tires the fishing enthusiast. He rises early, makes long boat trips and tramps for miles through the muskeg in order to whip the stream or dangle the bait in the hope of bringing home a few small speckled fish.

The poets have pictured the angler as a drowsy person who idles away his time on the bank of a stream. As a matter of fact he must be a person of superabundant energy or he does not bring home a very big basket.

There are a number of people in the city who are new to the place and who have not had the opportunities for enjoying the sport that offers. For the benefit of these and others who have not yet taken advantage of the inducements here, it might be worth while saying that there is no place on the continent from which so many fine fishing resorts can be reached. They are not easy of approach else the fish would not be there, but they are available to the person with a reasonable amount of energy and determination and a modicum of skill.

"Exhausted Nerves and Palpitating Heart"

Mrs. L. Whiting, 202 King St. West, Brockville, Ont., writes:

"I took very sick with my nerves and stomach, and seemed to be all run down. At times my heart would flutter and palpitate so and I would take such weak spells in the pit of my stomach that I sometimes thought I would never get better. I tried several doctors, but it seemed nothing they gave me helped. I had almost given up hope when a friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I tried it, and can say it certainly has done wonders for me. I did not stop until I had taken twenty-five boxes."

SPIDER GROUP
AGAIN BONDEDProperty Formerly Worked by Algunican Syndicate is Taken Over by Joe Green.

After bonding the Spider and Webb groups of mineral claims at Stewart, Joe Green of Hyder, Alaska, was a passenger going south on the Prince Rupert this morning to make arrangements for the working of the properties.

The Spider Group, which is one of the best known properties in the Stewart district, was bonded by Mr. Green for the total price of $50,000, a substantial cash payment being made.

This property, situated in the Upper Salmon Valley, was located by Charles Larson and William Hamilton and was bonded in 1920 by the Algunican Syndicate who later relinquished it on account, it is said, of the high rate of exchange on Belgian money.

The Webb group, which is owned by W. R. Tooth, Kenny McLeod, Pat McBride and Jack Howse, consists of six claims which may ultimately be of some value in connection with the development of the Spider.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR
VISIT OF AUTHORCanadian Club Executive Decides That Each Member May Take Guest to Luncheon

At a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Club at the Court House last night, President W. S. Fisher in the chair, final arrangements were made for the Canadian Club luncheon to Charles G. D. Roberts, the famous poet and novelist who is to lecture in the Booth School tomorrow night and incidentally will be a guest of the club Thursday at luncheon in the Boston Hall.

It was decided that each member of the club in good standing should be entitled to bring one guest and members of the Women's Canadian Club had already been invited by the president and the action endorsed. Musical arrangements were left in the hands of the president.

Mr. Fisher mentioned that the main object of the visit of Mr. Roberts was the lecture to be delivered Wednesday evening in the Booth School auditorium and he hoped members of the club would attend it. Mr. Brady who had charge of that event had kindly co-operated in making the luncheon on Thursday possible. The address on that occasion would be quite different from the lecture. Members of the club did not want the luncheon to overshadow the other event or to interfere with the attendance at it.

COMMUNICATION ON WATERFRONT ROAD

Letter From C.N.R. Superintendent Says it is up to Government to Build it

In reply to a letter sent to the railway company regarding the possibility of having a road built to connect the G.T.P. and government wharves, the city council last night received a communication from L. A. McPherson, C.N.R. superintendent, in which the view was given that, inasmuch as the removal of the Manson Way overhead crossing by the government had created the necessity for such a road as asked for, the building of such road should be looked after by the government. Hon. T. D. Patullo, on a recent visit to the city, told the council that the road asked for would pass over railway property and, therefore, the railway should be approached with a view to having it built.

In the last Sunday Province appears a special article by Aubrey Robertis on the activities of the Jericho Beach station of the Royal Canadian Air Force. The patrol of the salmon fisheries out of Prince Rupert is referred to and the illustrations include pictures of Squadron Leader Tudhope and Flight Lieutenant Earl MacLeod. The latter, who is well known here, is given credit with having done fifty per cent of the flying from Jericho Beach, his duties having included some hazardous pioneer work.

How to Play Football

Simple rule for avoiding being offside---doubtful goals(By "Andy" Ducas, Manager of Fulham Club.)
(Reprinted from "Greenock Herald".)

"Off-side!" is the favorite shout of football spectators. You can always start an argument with the man standing next to you on this point. Yet forwards who follow this law—keep behind the ball when one of your own men has it—need never fear being off-side.

You cannot possibly be off-side if your opponents have the ball. When your own men are in possession, you need to be behind the ball when it is kicked. Where you are when you take a pass doesn't matter. One of the finest things in football is to see five forwards going down the field—all of whom just the necessary distance behind the man with the ball.

Where the off-side rule is most often violated is immediately after a forward has given a pass. He now dashes forward to receive the return, and at once places himself in an off-side position. This brings us back to the rock-bottom principle that you must keep behind your own man who has the ball.

If he kicks the ball forward you can dash ahead and take it, provided you were behind him when he kicked. The mere fact that you are standing in an off-side position does not warrant the stopping of the game. You are doing no harm to anybody. Should you, however, hamper an opponent or advance towards the ball you must be penalized.

You need never fear being off-side from a corner kick. The same applies to a goal kick or a throw-in.

Can you be given off-side in your own half? This is a subject of immense controversy. Occasions do arise when a man is justly given off-side though he takes the ball in his own half. You may be standing in an off-side position in your opponents' half; so long as you don't interfere, the referee cannot say a word. The moment you make for the ball, however—even if you run back into your own half—you were off-side if you were in Deliberate breaches of the law—very few of these occur, happily—are usually done with the player's hands. He holds the ball in both, but—at the most important moment, as he actually throws—he uses only one. You need a strong referee or linesman to put a player up for this. It is so easy for him to say that he was using both hands. Since he took care to give this appearance to the throw, it is hard to contradict him. Such tricks as this, fortunately, become less frequent every season.

You are instructed by the laws to throw the ball over your head. This does not mean that you must control yourself to deliver the ball from behind with a sort of double handed bowing action.

So long as the ball is above your head as you throw it, no referee can object.

Goals that are Doubtful

Unless the ball is completely over the goal line no goal is the pre-war outlay. A racing scored. The referee needs to be shell could be built for $325 nimble to get up in time to have prior to 1914, now it costs $650, a clear view of a ball in this Oars also, now cost about $10 doubtful position. It isn't enough whereas they were $5 before the to say that the ball was more war. The actual implements of than half way over. If any part still overlaps the goal line no goal is scored. Many referees—finding a complete lack of agreement in eye-witnesses' accounts other necessary expenses which—usually give a prompt decision runs to about $7,500 each for the defence in their best "don't argue" tone.

Referees when the ball is the boat race is an entirely free prompt with the whistle. I once saw a clear case of deliberate handling on the part of a back. The ball went through the goal, but because the referee had blown his whistle, the defence claimed that a penalty kick, not a goal, was the correct decision.

The attackers got their penalty kick and lost their goal.

Penalties for Jumping

You can jump at a chance, but if you jump at an opponent the modern referee may award a penalty against you. You can jump at the ball, but if an opponent has possession of it at the moment you jumped, the referee may decide that it was the man you jumped at, not the ball.

Jumping at opponents—like charging them in the back—must be deliberate before it can be penalised. The player who merely jumps to reach the ball is quite different from the one who jumps with the intention of hurting an opponent.

Referees tend more and more to become stricter in their definition of "a fair charge." Since each man has his own opinion on this subject and it is the referee's decision you must follow and not mine, it is no use my giving examples of what I consider fair and unfair charges.

Every time a ball touches an opponent it is not necessarily a case of handling. When you try to get out of the way of a ball that is kicked straight at you, and fail, you should not be penalised. Referees often incur the wrath of crowds by ignoring accidental breaches of the handling law.

Penalty-kicks are not considered as taken until the ball is actually kicked. You must not move over the penalty line as soon as the whistle blows. Wait till the kick is taken.

Sport Chat

Organization for summer sports is well under way at Anyox. The annual meeting of the Tennis Club has been held and games have already started. The annual meeting of the soccerists has also taken place and interest taken indicates that soccer is going to have a big year—possibly the biggest in Anyox. Baseball in the smaller town, like it also is in Prince Rupert, seems at this time to be an uncertain quantity. Only one complete team can be accounted for in the town at present and, to make a three team league, it will be necessary to make some readjustments or even import some pitchers.

The recent Oxford-Cambridge boat race in England cost the two University clubs about $15,000 which is just about double over the goal line no goal is the pre-war outlay. A racing scored. The referee needs to be shell could be built for $325 nimble to get up in time to have prior to 1914, now it costs $650, a clear view of a ball in this Oars also, now cost about $10 doubtful position. BETTER THAN RICHES

Under the dome of the Board of Trade in Manchester, England, is this inscription: "A good name is rather to be chosen than riches." The thought is considerably more than mere sentiment. It is good business.

A good name is recognized as the biggest individual asset a business can have. It is the very keystone of modern industry. Business today is done on such a broad scale—every merchant and every manufacturer has such a long list of customers—that it would not do to have a reputation for "slipping something over."

Advertising has standardized almost every article you can buy. You don't have to bargain and dicker and haggle to know that you are getting as good as you give.

That's why it pays to read the advertisements and to buy advertised goods. A product's advertising is the best guarantee of its faithful performance and lasting usefulness or of definite value. The advertiser would not dare risk his good name by advertising an unworthy product.
