Outlook for Timber Business in Northern B.C. Looks Good 1925

Leading Exporters Expect to See Activity in Shipping and Demand Improving Already

The outlook for timber business in 1925 in Prince Rupert district is very promising and, unless unforeseen circumstances develop, it is anticipated that production will equal if not exceed the 1924 output, states P. S. Bouney, district forester. Perhaps the most encouraging feature is the prospect of several of the larger mills of the district such as those at Prince Rupert, Buckley Bay, Port Clements, Granby and Swanson Bay resuming operations.

Leading exporters of the coast are expecting that the coming spring will see activity in the shipping of hemlock and spruce "baby squares" to the Orient. This would greatly encourage production. In fact, it would mean the difference between stagnation and healthy operation as far as the smaller interior mills are concerned and would be of great assistance to the mills on the coast although they can operate without this market.

ALLIES AGREE ON FINANCES

Distribution of Dawes Annuities Determined, U.S. to be Paid in Full

PARIS, Jan. 14.—All the powers in the allied financial conference today signed the agreement regarding the distribution of the Dawes annuities, bringing to a close the most successful inter-allied meeting since the armistice.

The agreement liquidates the Rohr occupation, limits the future outlay for Rhineland occupation and determines the proportions of Germany's payments each nation is to receive.

A clause limiting United States war damages to $350,000,000 was eliminated, thus assuring the latter nation payment of her entire claims besides the occupation costs at the Coblenz bridgehead.

MURDERER IS TO BE HANGED

Chong Sam Bow After Five Trials is to Die Tomorrow Morning

VANCOUVER, Jan. 14.—Chong Sam Bow, Chinese, who shot to death J. Clayton Jones on July 18, 1923, will be executed at New Westminster, Thursday morning. The federal government has declined to intervene in the death sentence.

Bow has had five trials, two new trials being granted, one at which the jury disagreed, one in which the case was taken from the jury and the fifth and final trial resulting in the death sentence.

WING WONG IS OUT OF JAIL

Liberated on Appeal by Mr. Justice Macdonald at Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Jan. 14.—Wing Wong, convicted by Magistrate McClymont, Prince Rupert, of violation of the Narcotic Act, yesterday escaped serving six months in prison when Mr. Justice Macdonald quashed the conviction, which he declared irregular, though he opined that the prisoner was guilty.

Six animals from the government bison reserve at Wainwright Park, Alberta, were recently shipped to Toronto for slaughter, where their steaks provided a delicacy for many gastro-nomical adventurers.

NO MORE DOLES FOR SINGLE MEN

Vancouver to Provide Them With Relief Work at a Dollar a Day

VANCOUVER, Jan. 14.—The annual sealing report of the district forester, which has just been issued, indicates that there was increased production in 1924 as compared with the year previous. The total production for the year just closed including saw logs, ties, piling, cedar poles and other minor forest products equalled 225,000,000 board feet in round figures as against a total of 217,000,000 board feet in 1923. This increase is accounted for by the fact that 1,116,000 hewn ties were produced which is an increase of about 49 per cent over 1923 tie production. The larger total is further explained by the heavy increases in pole and piling production. Saw log production both in the interior and on the coast was lower in 1924 than in 1923 due to account of sawmill operations being reduced. The total production of saw logs for 1924 was 174,500,000 board feet as compared with 183,000,000 board feet in 1923.

Export of Monkeys from India Arouses Ire of Native Papers who are Campaigning Against it

LONDON, Jan. 14.—Native extremist papers in India are starting a campaign against the wholesale exportation of monkeys, which has reached remarkable dimensions. It is thought the propaganda will arouse anger among the Hindus, millions of whom worship monkeys.

Huge shipments of monkeys have been forwarded lately to zoos in all parts of the world to meet the demand for monkey glands for medical purposes.

One editorial says: "The European craze for rejuvenation is denuding India of monkeys, the sacred animals being slaughtered so that the senile and debauched may win back the problematical youth."

MANY TOURISTS TO VISIT THIS CITY IN COMING SEASON

Prince Rupert may expect a bumper tourist traffic this year declares R. F. McNaughton, C.N.R. district passenger agent, who returned this morning from Winnipeg where he attended a meeting of western passenger representatives. Indications are that there will be more tourists than ever coming through here this year and already several large parties are being lined up. Among those attending the meeting at Winnipeg were G. A. McNicholl and Reginald Beaumont.

Mr. McNaughton reports that the weather on the prairies lately has been cold but not excessively so. Winnipeg seems to be in a flourishing condition.

S. K. Campbell, manager of the local branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, is expected back this afternoon on the Prince Rupert from a holiday trip south.

C.N.R. steamer Prince Rupert, Capt. S. Donald, is due this afternoon on time at 3 o'clock from Vancouver and wayports.

Candidates for Municipal Honors Heard in Empress Theatre Last Night on Topics of Local Interest

An audience which practically filled the Empress Theatre to capacity gave an attentive hearing last night to the speakers who appeared at the meeting in support of Mayor S. M. Newton, candidate for re-election. A. W. Edge occupied the chair and Esides His Worship, who gave a discourse of about one hour's duration, speakers were John McKechnie, W. M. Brown, Oscar Larson, Ald. George B. Casey and G. W. Kerr, candidates for aldermen; Robert McCarthy, Alexander Mackenzie and James Coombs, candidates for the police commission, and Ald. S. D. Macdonald who is retiring. Ald.

Collart, candidate for the mayoralty, was invited to attend and made his appearance at the opening of the meeting to thank the mayor for his invitation and explain that he was not feeling well enough to give an address on this occasion but would invite the audience to his meeting tonight. He also extended to Mayor Newton a return of courtesies inviting him also to participate in the meeting tonight. There was applause when Ald. Collart taking the platform, Mayor Newton warmly shook his hand.

W. M. Brown

W. M. Brown, the second speaker to be called upon, stated that he was an old timer having resided here continuously since April 1909, except for four years he had spent at the Front. Referring to wages for labor paid by the city, Mr. Brown expressed the opinion that 50¢ per hour was not a fair living wage and would not be approved if the majority of the voters had their say on the matter.

He was in accord with the present program of street grading and emphasized the necessity of a better sewerage system. Were it not for the heavy precipitation that the city had, there would undoubtedly be epidemics. He felt that sewer extensions could readily be effected in connection with the present system of street grading. He approved the decision that had been taken by the present council to reduce light and power rates. He would make no promises as to what would be done if he were elected because that was something that would necessarily be governed by the predominating influence in the council.

John McKechnie

John McKechnie spoke briefly and humorously. It was not his intention at this late date to attempt to change the way anybody was going to vote. Such a course would be ill-advised for him anyway for he was sure that everyone was going to vote for him.

Oscar Larson said that he had come to Canada as a young boy and to Prince Rupert in 1907 as a young man. He was now 42 years of age. It had been said that he was the Swede candidate but he wished to make it clear that he did not wish to be elected at all if it was not as a Canadian citizen. In view of the fact that 65 per cent of the ratepayers were small property owners and belonged to the laboring class, he felt that it was but fair that all four Labor candidates should be elected.

There was nothing for him to gain by being chosen as an alderman, but he had been asked by a large number of private citizens to run and had then received the endorsement of the Trades and Labor Council. He asked for support but stated that he would have no regrets if he were not elected.

Ald. Casey

Ald. Casey opened by submitting reasons why he felt that Labor representatives were as LONDON, Jan. 14.—Some misgivings have been aroused by a Pretoria despatch stating that the government of the Union of South Africa intends to introduce a bill into parliament dealing with the question of South African nationality and creating a South African flag. It is believed that if the measure is passed it will create a South African nationality.

OTTAWA, Jan. 14.—The Ottawa Citizen says Mrs. Nellie McClung and Judge Emily Murphy, both of Edmonton, are being boomed for appointment to the Senate to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Cale. The paper does not believe either will be appointed, however, as P. L. Lessard seems the most likely candidate for the position.

Member of Audit Bureau of Circulations.DAILY EDITION  Wednesday, Jan. 14, 1925.Who Should Care For Unemployed.

While it does not seem to be quite correct to provide unemployment relief at exactly the same rate per day or under as favorable conditions as regular legitimate employment, it is offensive to all right thinking men that people in this civilized country should go hungry when there is food in abundance everywhere. The difficulty with humans is that they are lazy. Most people are as lazy as they dare be. Most of us lie in bed as late as possible in the morning and put off our work until it must be done. Most of us do not work because we like it but because we have to work in order to live. We are lazy by inclination, but our environment makes it necessary to work, so we work.

Laborer Much Like Other People.

The laborer is much like other people, only probably rather worse. Many people who are not laborers are those who, by their own exertions have lifted themselves from that position to one of greater affluence. Others by saving their earnings have managed to improve their position. The ones who remain are those who are inclined to accept things as they are and not worry.

The laborer is about as lazy as the rest of us and if he sees an easier position than the one he now has, he usually takes it. That is human nature in the average. Because of that it is not desirable that employment should be provided for the unemployed in cities at the same wages and under just as good conditions as in legitimate productive industry.

Who Shall Finance
The Relief Work.

Grant that every man is entitled to work that will provide him enough money to tide him over, the question arises who shall pay for it. Take Vancouver for instance. That is the place where the average man turns when he is out of employment. He takes his money with him, in most cases, and spends it there. Vancouver people benefit from being the industrial distributing centre for labor in British Columbia. It is because it is such a centre that it has grown to be a large city, so large that it tries to dictate to the provincial government what shall be done.

If Vancouver gets most of the benefit from being a distributing centre, it should pay for at least a large part of the seasonal unemployment. And what is true of Vancouver is true of other places.

Unemployed Will Be Always With Us.

There will always be unemployment more or less in this province in winter. It cannot well be otherwise. So many of the occupations are seasonal and there is such a coastward drift from the prairies in the winter, that unemployment must be expected. As there will always be some who spend their money as fast as they get it, distress is bound to occur unless governments take steps to prevent it. These governments must be one of the three—federal, provincial or civic. It is the cities that benefit from the gathering of people in the congested areas and they are the ones that should pay the greater part of the bill. Very soon Prince Rupert will be in that position. As the city grows and becomes the distributing centre for the north, there will be seasonal unemployment and periodic hard times. During those times men have to be fed and it is best to let them earn their living at such time, but the city must pay.

ENFORCEMENT DEDUCTIONS

Retiring Police Commission Recommends that new Board Try to Reach Agreement with Government

At yesterday afternoon's meeting of the police board, Commissioner Montgomery brought up the matter of deductions that had been made by the provincial government from liquor profits for administration of the dry laws and was successful in putting through a resolution recommending to the new commission that it take steps towards obtaining with the provincial government an agreement where duplication of efforts in the matter of liquor law enforcement might be avoided.

When the matter was first broached by Commissioner Montgomery, Commissioner Cameron was inclined to think that the question was one for the city council and not the police commission to take up. Commissioner Montgomery, however, took another attitude on the matter in view of the fact that it was the commission's office to decide upon expenditure that was to be involved in law enforcement. Thus he also felt that the commission should try to prevent duplication of effort through obtaining co-operation between provincial and municipal police departments. Commissioner Montgomery also made the claim that Prince Rupert had been assessed more than its share for liquor act enforcement and that the liquor board had not done work during the past year commensurate with the deduction that had been made.

After some further discussion Commissioner Montgomery moved and Commissioner Cameron seconded that a recommendation be sent to the incoming commission that an effort be made to get together with the provincial government on the matter of enforcement.

QUIET MONTH FOR POLICE DECEMBER

Twenty-Eight Cases were Tried in Police Court and Collections Totaled $425

The month of December was exceptionally quiet as far as police work was concerned according to the report covering that period submitted by the chief at the meeting of the commission yesterday afternoon. Twenty-eight charges were laid in the police court resulting in 23 convictions, two dismissals and three withdrawals. Collections had totalled $425 including $48 for keep of provincial prisoners.

There had been three burglaries and in each case the guilty persons had been apprehended and convicted. Drunkenness was the heaviest item on the classification sheet, there having been eleven cases.

There had been three convictions for supplying liquor to Indians and heavy penalties in each case had been imposed. Weights of coal and bread had been tested and found correct.

In reply to a question by Commissioner Montgomery, Chas. Vickers stated that it had been the practice of the department on some occasions to place drunks in the jail for safe keeping without laying charges when there had been no disorderliness involved.

The payroll for the month totalling $1,005 and accounts were passed for payment.

The chief reported that there had been two applications for positions on the force. There were, however, no vacancies.

Ten Years Ago

January 14, 1915.

Little excitement marks the annual municipal election which is in progress today. This is no doubt due to the fact that there is no mayoralty contest, S. M. Newton having been returned by acclamation.

The local Knights of Pythias installed officers last night as follows: Chancellor Commander, R. Mackay; vice-chancellor, Rev. W. W. Wright; prelate, W. Hume; master of works, R. M.

much entitled to hold the reins of government as the business men. Labor men realized the responsibilities involved, he felt, just as fully as did any other class and the affairs of the city would be just as safe in their hands. If the electors felt that he had served them long enough and did not choose to return him to office that was all well and good but he appealed for support, at least, for the other three Labor candidates.

Ald. Casey also dealt at some length with problems that would probably face the 1925 council. With promised industrial expansion in prospect, the question of providing more power would arise and with it the question of whether or not municipal ownership of the electric light utility was to continue. It was stated that, for an expenditure of $200,000, power production from Woodworth Lake could be increased from one thousand to six thousand horsepower. Expert opinion would have to be sought on this and, of course, such a project would have to be submitted to the people. He was still a supporter of municipal ownership in view of the fact that the utilities had proven vor to do his best to carry out themselves a great asset to the city and had piled up surpluses from year to year. If Woodworth Lake power supply could be extended as was stated then, in his opinion, it was a project to be supported. Ald. Casey also referred to the road work that had been carried out during the past year and expressed approval of the decision that had been made to use local rock instead of from Smith Island. In closing, Ald. Casey urged that support be given the Cow Bay closing plebiscite and the Park Avenue grading and power extension bylaws.

Park Avenue Grading

A. H. McPherson rose to inquire if J. F. Duthie would not benefit largely from the grading of Park Avenue road and, if such was the case, why he was not required to pay a larger share of its cost.

To this question, Mayor Newton replied that he did not believe Mr. Duthie's holdings abutted on the Park Avenue road. It had been deemed by the council that it would be a benefit to the citizens generally to have this work done. In view of the fact that property adjacent to the road was not of sufficiently high value to bear the cost, the decision had been made to relieve them of paying the whole cost by raising the money by debentures and spreading the cost over a number of years on the city as a whole.

G. W. Kerr, after explaining that he had been induced at the last minute to become a candidate, declared that, from his five years' past experience on the utilities committee, he did not think it was necessary to bring in another expert to determine the possibilities of extending Woodworth Lake power supply. Mr. Ross, the Seattle expert, had already reported that it could be enlarged to 6,000 horse power which would meet the requirements this year. While the present council was to be congratulated on the road work that had been done this year, he felt that there was no complaint to make about Smith Island rock. He inquired why slag had been put on the streets during the past summer.

Police Commissioners

Robert McCarthy briefly explained that, at the request of a large number of citizens, he had decided to become a candidate for the police commission. His policy would be clean, moral civic administration and on that platform he asked for support.

Alexander Mackenzie declared that, if elected to the police commission, he would faithfully serve the city and do his best for the community as a whole. Last year, when he sought election as an alderman, he was a few friends short. He hoped that he would renew their acquaintance on this occasion.

James Coombes said that it was the first time in the history of the province that fisherman had had the nerve to stand for public office. He had no criticism to offer the present administration and felt that good work had been done with the number of men at hand. He felt, however, that the fishermen, who mean

DO YOU COUGH, COUGH ALL NIGHT LONG?

Terrifically distressing and wearing on the system is the cough that comes on at night and you cough; cough all night long and can't get to sleep.

DR. WOODS NORWAY PINE SYRUP WILL GIVE YOU RELIEF

Mrs. John Lyman, Enterprise, Ont., writes: — "After having had whooping cough I contracted bronchitis, and for days and nights I coughed continually, and could get no rest or sleep, but after taking one bottle of Dr. Woods' Norway Pine Syrup I found great relief, and after having taken several bottles I was relieved of my trouble."

so much to this city, should get at least a small measure of protection. There was a great area along the waterfront and he had been here since 1912 but never once had he seen a policeman there except to meet a boat or answer a call. The fact that he had some police experience himself was one reason that he was such a project would have to be offered himself as a candidate for the commission. His policy would be sound administration ownership in view of the fact of police affairs with the end that the utilities had proven vor to do his best to carry out themselves a great asset to the city and had piled up surpluses from year to year. If Woodworth Lake power supply could be extended as was stated then, in his opinion, it was a project to be supported. Ald. Casey also referred to the road work that had been carried out during the past year and expressed approval of the decision that had been made to use local rock instead of from Smith Island. In closing, Ald. Casey urged that support be given the Cow Bay closing plebiscite and the Park Avenue grading and power extension bylaws.

Mayor Newton

Mayor Newton felt that, after having given the citizens two years of good administration, he had no apology to offer in seeking re-election. Apparently there was general satisfaction with the administration during the past year and little or no serious criticism had been directed against him personally. At the solicitation of scores and scores of citizens who had pleaded with him to continue the work that had been started by the councils of the past two years he was again appearing as a candidate. He only asked for re-endorsement if it was felt that his past services warranted a renewal of confidence and that the interests of the city would be further enhanced by returning him for another year.

His Worship went at some length into the difficulties that had been met in coping with police affairs. It was easy for citizens to make complaints but it was seldom that those making such complaints would come forward to give their evidence in court. The police was governed by certain laws and it was a dangerous policy to proceed with prosecutions if there was no concrete evidence to back them up. The city solicitor had been giving the police good advice on such matters, and wherever there had been tolerably fair evidence to be obtained, Mayor Newton

Bob Hanna Questions

Robert Hanna inquired if the decision was made to fill in Cow Bay where other adequate protection for the fishing fleet was had been tolerably fair evidence to be obtained. Mayor Newton to support charges, the (mayor) had not once fallen down in having them laid. He would continue such a policy. "I would like to ask you," continued His Worship, "if we really have such a vicious city after all? With the limited police force can you expect that much better results can be obtained?"

Mayor Newton then launched into a defense of the action taken by the council in reducing light and power and telephone rates. Whatever conditions might arise, assurance had been given that surpluses would still be shown even with the reductions. This being the case, he felt that there was justification in giving at least a part of the benefits derived to those people who were residing here and developing the city, especially in view of the fact that rates had been higher here than in almost every other place in the province. There would likely be a howl raised that the small resident property owners would suffer through an increased tax rate. He would state, however, that, with the reduced charges for light, the small property owner would still come out at much the better end of the deal as against any increased tax rate that might be imposed.

Cow Bay Plebiscite

After briefly recommending that the cemetery road and power line extension bylaws be approved, Mayor Newton at some length gave his reasons for asking that the Cow Bay closing plebiscite be also approved. There was a need for landing facilities for district residents coming to the city and for those engaged in the fishing industry. The provincial government had agreed to obtain from the federal government for the city 200 feet of waterfront just east of the Yacht Club in return for permission to fill in Cow Bay. He (Mayor Newton) had been willing that the portion of Cow Bay inside of the railway bridge be filled but had only recently ascertained that the proposal of the government was to fill in across the mouth of the bay from the Georgetown wharf. This being the case, 450 feet of waterfront would be secured by the government. In view of this, he felt that the city should be given more than 200 feet in exchange but recommended that the plebiscite in the meantime be supported, leaving negotiations for more waterfront to the incoming council. It was his desire, however, that the issue should be fairly and squarely laid before the electors so that none could later say that he had neglected to explain it.

"I have always striven to be straight with the people who elected me," concluded His Worship, "and that will continue to be my aim. I have always striven to do my best, to be true to the trust that has been imposed in me and you can depend that my future endeavors will be along that line."

Is your wife wiser than you?

IF YOU read only the stock and sporting pages, and your wife is like other women, she is wiser than you. She reads the shopping news.

She likes to hear you jingle money in your pockets. She likes to stretch money to the limit, so she won't have to ask for more. She likes to shop strategically. Know what she does.

Comfortably at home in a cushiony armchair, she scans advertising columns. She compares, judges and selects the goods she desires; maps her route; with least effort and minimum time, goes direct to the planned store and buys.

She obtains what she wants at the lowest price it is offered. She is certain of full satisfaction, for she knows advertised goods live up to their claims. She saves time and steps, and returns sufficiently alert to enjoy new advertisements--and to prepare you an appetizing dinner.

These advertisements are written for your benefit too. Read them. Help her help you save.

WILL PROCEED
WITH STATION*Building to be Erected for use of Biological Board Soon as
Plans Ready*HATCHERIES DISCUSSED*Scientific Body will Probably be Divided Says John Dybhavn
Just Returned

Arrangements have been definitely completed between the provincial and federal governments for a site on the provincial government wharf and the building of the biological station here will be proceeded with just as soon as the plans are in shape announced John Dybhavn today on his return from Ottawa where he attended a meeting of the Biological Board of Canada of which he is a member. The building will be of two-storeys measuring 55 by 56 feet and will be of frame construction. The equipment which it will house will be largely of a scientific nature.

Dr. Clemens, director of the biological station at Departure Bay, near Nanaimo, will be in charge while the local station is being built and equipped and it is expected that an officer to take permanent charge will be appointed by the biological board at its May meeting.

One of the first uses to which the Prince Rupert station will be put will be as headquarters for an expert from the University of Edinburgh who has been appointed by the biological board to follow up studies of the Pacific coast salmon which heretofore have been carried on by Dr. Gilbert for the provincial government. This expert, who will arrive here in the spring, will be attached to the local station.

HATCHERY PROBLEMS
The recent meeting of the biological board was called more particularly to consider the hatchery problem on which a great deal of varying opinions have been expressed. Mr. Dybhavn states that the board decided to recommend to the department that a scientific investigation of the problem be undertaken to determine the actual results from the hatcheries. As the salmon are known to run in four year cycles, it will probably take that long to complete the investigation, if it is undertaken.

Just before this meeting of the board, Dr. Hutchinson of the University of B.C. was appointed a member and he attended the meeting. There are now three members of the board from west of Winnipeg, the third being Professor O'Donnell of the University of Manitoba.

MAY DIVIDE WORK

Since the scope of the board has been enlarged to include commercial research work for which the new stations at Prince Rupert and Halifax are to be particularly erected, it was felt by most of the members of the board at the recent meeting that it would be advisable to divide the board into two sections—one for the Pacific Coast and the other for the Atlantic. This matter was discussed at some length but no definite action was taken. It is considered likely, however, that such a division will be put into effect for it is apparent that more effective work could thus be carried on. It would be concentrated so that those familiar with particular matters would be able to deal with them more effectively and economically.

Friends in New York

Besides Ottawa, Mr. Dybhavn visited Toronto, Montreal, New York, Chicago and other cities on business. In New York he was with W. E. Williams and J. R. Morgan. The latter went to the metropolis accompanied by Mr. Williams to seek special treatment for his sight. Mr. Williams will remain in Ottawa until the elevator tenders are opened and dealt with on January 19.

Mr. Dybhavn experienced very cold weather throughout the last and is glad to be back here where it is so agreeably mild.
