SEALING MAY BECOME A LOCAL INDUSTRY

VICTORIA WINS FIRST OF WORLD SERIES HOCKEY GAMES VS. CANADIENS

Sealing May be Again a Profitable Industry for Ports of Pacific

Possibilities of Business with an Account of How It is Carried On and What It Means

(By C. H. Gibbons)
About this time next year a fleet of fifty or more new British Columbia schooners will put to sea to follow and take tribute of the migratory fur seal herd of the Pacific on its annual trek. It will be like turning back the hands of the clock of years, to the golden days of pelagic sealing before it was worried and regulated out of existence by international prohibitions and restrictions incident to persistent depreciation of the herd.

ZANNI MAY BE HERE JUNE 1

Expected to Leave Tokio May 1
For This Coast in Fokker
Plane

VANCOUVER, Mar. 23.—Major Zanni is due to arrive at Prince Rupert in his Fokker seaplane about June 1, if the plans of the state are carried out. He will make longer hops than Major MacLaren and consequently will make better progress, it is thought. His machine, which is propelled by a 150 h.p. Napier engine, has a longer cruising radius than former planes traveling by the same route. Major Zanni expects to leave Tokyo on or about May 1. His seaplane, which has been lying in bond here for some time, was shipped to Japan last week and piloted by D. Murphy. Zanni's plane is endeavoring to charter two vessels, one of which will go to Yokohama and the other to the Aleutians with supplies and fuel. A land plane is also here in bond to be utilized for the land flight. Zanni, it is said, is confident he can cross the Pacific in three weeks, with any reasonable weather conditions.

ROME, Mar. 23.—The sixth birthday of Fascism was celebrated yesterday when Premier Mussolini made his first public appearance since his recent illness. He addressed a wildly enthusiastic crowd estimated at 30,000 from the balcony of his house.

Reports of Mussolini's severe illness, together with hints as to the possibility of his not recovering, had caused a great deal of worry to his followers.

CHINESE BOY DISAPPEARS

Police Search For Ong Sing

VANCOUVER, Mar. 23.—Police are searching for Ong Sing, the houseboy at the home of Richard Baker, where Janet Smith was shot to death in July last.

It is rumored that the Chinese boy was abducted by sheet-clad persons Friday night, who wanted to question him regarding the murder of the Scottish maid. He is believed to be on a vessel bound for China.

FINE REDUCED JARVIS CASE

Appeal Court Makes Change But Imprisonment Stands as Before

TORONTO, Mar. 23.—A reduction of $65,000 of the fine of $600,000 levied against Melius Jarvis Sr. who was found guilty along with Peter Smith, former provincial treasurer of Ontario of defrauding the province in connection with the purchase of Ontario provincial duty free bonds, is the decision of the appellate division of the Supreme Court of Ontario handed down this morning.

No alteration is made in the six months jail sentence imposed on Jarvis unless payment of the $65,000 fine is not made. If this fine is not paid a term of five years is given, to be served at the completion of the present sentence.

Creosoted Lumber and Piles for Elevator Due to Arrive Here Tuesday on C.P.R. Barge

The first consignment of creosoted piles and lumber to be used in the construction of the elevator wharf here is due to arrive tomorrow. W. C. Orchard, C.P.R. general agent, has received a wire that his company's tug Qualicum, Capt. Gill, left the Vancouver Creosoting Co.'s plant at North Vancouver on Friday having in tow Transfer Barge No. 4 with the cargo on board. The message stated that the vessel was due here on Tuesday.

The cargo will be unloaded at the lumber wharf and the piles will be floated to Digby Island where they will be kept until they are needed on the work. Albert & McGaffery, local agents of the Vancouver Creosoting Co., are the consignees. There is a total of 300,000 feet of creosoted lumber, 85,000 lineal feet of creosoted piles and 10,000 lineal feet of green piles to be delivered here for the elevator. This will necessitate the Qualicum and her barge making another voyage north after the present one.

Victoria Wins First of Hockey World Series Defeating Canadiens

Several Free Fights on Ice as Result of Heavy

(Special to Daily News)
VICTORIA, Mar. 23.—Never before has there been such a scene of excitement in this city as at the Willows rink Saturday night when Victoria won the opening game of the world hockey series defeating the pick of the big Eastern teams, the Montreal Canadiens, five goals to two. The Frenchmen did not get properly going until well on in the third period, the defence of the Victoria team being effective throughout the earlier part of the game. Checking was heavy throughout and was so violent at times that it was resented by opponents who did not hesitate to use their fists on occasion, causing great excitement to five thousand fans present.

PETERSEN LINE WILL NOT HURT PACIFIC PORTS

Will not be in Competition in Grain Trade but Handle
Other Produce

OTTAWA, Mar. 23.—It is announced here that the aim of the government in subsidizing the Petersen line is to cater to the export trade in connection with fruit, vegetables and dairy products, particularly, and also to handle cattle and beef. The Petersen steamers are not likely to carry grain as the grain ships are not in direct competition with the other freighters and come under a different class. For this reason the subsidized line will not be in competition with the wheat ships sailing through the Panama Canal from the Pacific Coast ports of Vancouver and Prince Rupert.

Kelly for delivery of logs and has also bought several million feet from the Abbotsford Logging Co., which is operating at Alice Arm. The arrival of Davis rafts in the harbor may be expected to be a regular thing from now on. It is expected that the mill will start cutting early in April.

Sealing Treaty

Should Be Abrogated.

An article written by G. H. Gibbons on the sealing industry of the past and the prospects for the future should prove of particular interest just now when there is talk of abrogating the treaty with the United States. Prince Rupert should be particularly interested in this matter as with the treaty out of the way Prince Rupert people could benefit by the presence of the seals off this coast.

There seems to be no good reason why sealing should not be allowed on the high seas. All the benefit Canada gets from the seals today is a paltry ten per cent of the males that are butchered at the Pribyloff Islands. The money is paid to Great Britain and then goes into the general fund of Canada. The people who lose the business as a result of the treaty are the people of the Pacific coast towns but they are in no way paid for the loss.

Benefits From Open Sealing.

The benefits from open sealing are very clear. In the first place seals are apt to be cheap just about the time when the hunting is good off the coast and if the halibut fishermen were allowed to do so they might bring home many a pelt to help out with the season's work. Also boats might be outfitted here especially for the sealing. Part of the catch would be marketed here and would make business for local fur buyers. Retailers could sell the seal pelts to tourists and others and make money that way.

Another way of looking at the business is that at present the seals eat quantities of salmon. If the seals were destroyed the salmon fishing would improve.

Being Sacrificed For United States.

At present it would seem that the Pacific coast towns of Victoria, Vancouver and Prince Rupert are being sacrificed for the benefit of the United States. The butchery at Pribyloff Islands is kept up at our expense. To this we take great exception. While we are trying to build up business, to develop our resources, and to keep the wolf from the door while doing so, the government by treaty with the United States is depriving us of one of our lawful means of making a living. Against this we should protest most vigorously. The sealing should be thrown open to everyone and all should get an equal chance at it. Then Prince Rupert would be able to add a little to her prosperity.

Present Situation Is Outlined.

The treaty took effect on December 15 and was to extend for a term of 15 years or until abrogated. Provision was made that notice of abrogation could be given 14 years from the date of coming into effect, which would be next December. That would mean that it could not become effective until a year from December. This differs a little from the information in the article written by Mr. Gibbons, unless there has been some modifying circumstance of which we have not been informed. The treaty includes Russia and Japan and provides that Canada get ten per cent of the Japanese catch at Robben and other islands and fifteen per cent of Russia's catch at Commander Islands. We do not know whether these have been paid or not. What we are particularly interested in are the Pribyloff Islands and the herd that passes our door off Queen Charlotte Islands.

ROMANCE OF FISHING

TOWN IS TOLD IN THE PICTURE HERE TONIGHT

"Women who give" is the title of a picture to be shown here which tells of a romance of a fishing village on the East Coast. The life of the fisherman on the Atlantic is clearly shown. Going to set the operators encounter several of the severest storms of that notorious storm section but they "shot" some of the most realistic scenes ever caught by a motion picture camera.

Messrs. Barker, Frazer and Hilburn were taken aboard a chartered fishing schooner on their arrival at Newfoundland. They sailed out to the Grand Banks where ten other schooners were taking in a "big catch."

Many thrilling events were photographed here, among them a battle with a 600-pound swordfish, and after many weeks spent with this fleet they joined the other members of the company on location at Cape Cod.

Among the scenes photographed at the Grand Banks were a storm at sea, taken aboard ship, action scenes on the deck with the fishing fleet as a background, and the many exciting incidents in the lives of the men who make a living by going down to the sea in ships.

"I once had a great longing for the much sung 'joyous' life of a sailorman," said Robert Frazer in speaking of his experiences after his return to Hollywood "but that was before I went swordfishing in the North Atlantic. Life on the open sea may be a continuous round of pleasure in the eyes of song writers and poets, but it is tough on an ordinary citizen."

THE FAST WORKER

WEEK END OFFERING

Picture to be Shown Here Friday and Saturday has Plenty of Movement

In action as well as in name the week end picture shows plenty of speed. In it Reginald Denny in the role of a man who agreed to pose as the husband of his friend's wife to allow the other man to wage a financial fight incognito. Complications came fast and furious when he finds a "family" wished on him, and then falls in love with his "sister-in-law." There are a few battles, a sensational automobile chase, a mad dash to board a steam yacht and other thrills with uproarious comedy angles.

The cast is one of special note including besides the two principals, Ethel Grey Terry, Lee Moran, the noted comedian and former partner in comedy of Eddie Lyons; Muriel Frances Dana, the child star; Richard Tucker, noted as a leading man and character actor; Margaret Campbell; Betty Morrissey; Mildred Vincent; John Stepping, the character actor; T. D. Crittenden and Clarissa Selwynne, directed by William A. Seiter.

THREE KINDS OF MEN

EVERY WOMAN'S LIFE

Picture at the Mid-week Hero Illustrates this and is Theme of Drama

How should a woman choose a husband? There are all kinds of men who come into every woman's life.

First, there is the man she should marry. Usually he offers little more than love. He is probably young and has not had the experience necessary to make love after the fashion of a man of the world.

Second, there is the man she could have married. He is the man-of-the-world type and probably has much money in addition to having the fascination of experience.

Third, there is the man she married. Seldom is he the perfect man—the combination of the first two. Nevertheless, she married him for one reason or another and her life will be happy until she meets the man she could have married and the man she should have married.

How this works out in every woman's life may be seen in the picture "In Every Woman's Life." This theme, coupled with dramatic and spectacular scenes, makes the picture one of interest to everyone. It shows what will happen when the three men come into one woman's life at the same time.

ABOUT THE COUGHS AND COLDS OF THE CHILDREN

It is hard to keep them from taking cold; they will run out of doors not properly clad, or have on too much clothing, and play too hard and get over-heated, and cool off too suddenly, get their feet wet, kick off the bed clothes at night, and do a dozen things the mother can't prevent.

ASKING AID FOR NAAS RIVER SETTLERS BOTH DOCTOR AND MAILBOAT

People Cut off Half the Year and Poor Transportation in Summer

AIYANSHI, March 23—Petitions have been sent to the Provincial and Dominion Governments for an improved mail and passenger service from the mouth of the Naas River, and also for a doctor to be stationed here.

No influx of settlers can be expected unless conditions in these respects are improved. For six months of the year the district is completely cut off from all medical aid and at the best of times the trip from Mill Bay to Aiyansh necessitates one night in the bush, the gas boat stopping wherever night overtakes it.

Last year Henry Derby put a fast boat on the river which made the trip from Mill Bay to Aiyansh in five hours, but he claims he cannot operate without more financial assistance than the fares provide if he is to maintain a regular weekly service during the season of navigation.

ALL EYES ARE ON THE SENATE

Possibly it may precipitate an election this year by refusing to pass bills

TAKING LIFE EASY

No other reason in sight for going to country at present time

OTTAWA, Mar. 23.—There is only one reason why there may be an election this year and that is the prospect of the Canadian Senate refusing to sanction expenditure of money on the Peter- ship subsidy or the Peace River Railway.

At present the Senators are taking things easy, having adjourned until after the Easter holidays. At the same time the Conservative Senators are said to be consulting with party leaders and politicians generally with a view to deciding on a course of action.

On matters of general policy, the Progressives are backing the King Government and there is likely to be some kind of an arrangement between the parties for election purposes which will prevent three-cornered fights.

SEALING MAY BE AGAIN A PROFITABLE INDUSTRY FOR PORTS ON PACIFIC.

Sealing in Siberia

Further, it is reported that sealing actually has been resumed already off the Siberian coast. And American fishery interests have begun to arraign the seal, as well as the sea-lion, as inimical to their enterprise, charging it with consuming or mangling the salmon on its inward run, and to a limited extent working damage to nets and gear.

The maximum estimated total of the Pribyloff herd when first it claimed commercial and governmental attention was slightly over three millions. Professor J. W. Elliott "took a census" at his rookeries in 1873 and placed the seal population then at 3,193,120. Inasmuch as the herd twice previously had been all but exterminated during the Russian tenure, this probably was the volume of Alaskan seal supply at its peak. Dependable information in the trade, based on rookery reports, is that it is quite as large today.

Although international action for the restoration to strength of the seal squadrons was taken on the initiative and upon the insistence of the United States at every stage of proceedings, the curious anomaly presents itself that the Washington government itself retained the right to slaughter at the hauling-out grounds "in such manner as should not retard development and natural increase" (permissible quantity being at the discretion of the beneficiary nation) a solatium of 15 per cent of the sales' return to be paid Japan and 10 per cent to Great Britain in compensation for extinguishment of the open ocean sealing of their nationals. And should the United States, as it has in few years only, not avail itself of the privilege of rookery harvesting, compensation was provided for in the amounts of $15,000 for Japan and $10,000 for Britain in each such year.

B.C. Offered

The sufferers by suppression of sea sealing were British Columbia and Japanese business houses, sailors and hunters. The compensation for the extinction of their sources of maintenance was taken into the consolidated revenues of the respective nations. Great Britain in practice admitted the equity of passing on the money, annually transferring it to the Dominion Treasury. But it got no further than Ottawa. It never will. In some things authority is true to the British tradition of "what we have we'll hold."

What changes in fleet construction and equipment and in operation methods the new era of seal hunting may bring are matters of widely varying conjecture. In the actual hunting, conditions of the chase preclude any radical innovations. One inexperienced hunter is seeking to interest prospective operators in a new light model harpoon-gun, for which he claims the advantage of a lower percentage of losses in sunken and wounded escapee seals. Old hunters smilingly tell him to wait and show them, as true Missourians, how he strikes his seal. For deadly efficiency with either rifle or shotgun sealing demands closer and faster shooting than pursuit of the wily deer or the breaking of clay pigeons.

The average tonnage of the schooners will be higher in the new days than in the old. Prior to the suspension of hunting the trend was manifestly in that direction. A power vessel will be employed, co-operating with the fleet and connecting its units at established points of rendezvous on the north coast, to receive their off-shore catches for the owners and thus permit the hunting to proceed to Bering Sea without time loss. The suggested provision of diesel or similar type engines in hunting schooners emanates with someone lacking practical knowledge of the game. A seal is inordinately timid, with remarkably acute hearing or intuition. Disturbance of the water by a vessel's screw (admitting the possibility of a noiseless engine) would clear the sea of all seals within a ten mile radius.

"They may put power in some schooners and clear them for sealing, but I doubt if they do any sealing or mean to," is the way one veteran hunter goes on record. "The coming in of sealing will make it harder to check up the rum-running fleet; it is bound to bring new complications in that direction. You can look for howls, too, from legitimate sealers, of illegal interference with them on suspicion of their being whisky craft."

WATER NOTICE.

USE AND STORAGE

TAKE NOTICE that Massett Timber Co., Limited, whose address is 708 Pacific Building, Vancouver, B.C., will apply for a licence to take and use 500 cubic feet per second, and to store 75 M. acre-feet of water out of stream known as An River, which flows southerly and drains into Massett Inlet, about one and one-half miles easterly from Buckley Bay, B.C. The storage-dam will be located at the outlet of An Lake or at a point below the said outlet, to be determined after surveys have been made. The capacity of the reservoir to be created is about 15,000 acre-feet, and it will flood about 15,000 acres of land. The water will be diverted from the stream at a point about the location of the storage-dam, namely the outlet of An Lake, and will be used for power and industrial purposes upon the land described as Lot 1437 or on Lot 1444. This notice was posted on the ground on the 27th day of February, 1925. A copy of this notice and an application pursuant thereto and to the "Water Act, 1924," will be filed in the office of the Water Recorder at Prince Rupert, 1925. Any objections to the application may be filed with the said Water Recorder, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C., within thirty days after the first appearance of this notice in a local newspaper. The date of the first publication of this notice is Monday, March 2, 1925.

aircraft, the fleets of schooners being provided with one or more air-boats, employment of which for the location of a moving herd would largely eliminate the speculative element in the business. It also would mean inevitably larger catches than in former days, with augmented danger of herd extermination, a lower market, and short life for the suscitated industry. General feeling among the sealers is against the use of air boats.

"It would mean quick fortunes for a few and death to the game that, if prosecuted on common sense lines and with reasonable thought for conservation of breeding stock should add two millions a year to British Columbia's business turnover—and that indefinitely"—summarizes the negative argument.

The Grand Tour

The great mystery of the seal is vested in its yearly migration and the unvaried route and timing of the ordained grand tour. The herds spend two-thirds of every year at sea, making a sweeping circuit of six thousand miles without once touching land. The Pribyloff Islands are the only spots of terra firma on which those of northern waters ever will haul out, and then only in obedience to mating instinct and to have their young. To these breeding places, rookeries, hauling-out grounds or nurseries, they resort by their millions in the summers of ancient days. Less important rookeries are those of the Copper and Robben reefs off the Siberian coast.

At all times the land habitat of the fur seal is one of these small groups of North Pacific Islands. If the herds are not there they are on the open sea, moving from the Pribyloffs south-easterly down to the 35th parallel of latitude and thence northerly up the American coast to their islands again. Each summer the advance guard puts in an appearance at the rookery during the first fortnight of May, the breeding season being over by mid-September and the herd again moving on their winter cruise to southern waters not later than November.

The American and Asiatic seal herds in their annual ocean pilgrimage cover the vast area between 34 and 60 North Latitude, the former herd travelling virtually twice as far as the latter. Their migration extends not merely through the twenty-six degrees of latitude but through fifty-six degrees of longitude, from 119 to 175 West; while the Asiatic squadron has but about thirty days in which to cover from 141 to 171 East. The extreme range of the American herd seldom has been less than 3,500 miles.

Both herds appear to reach and to leave their summer habitat in Bering Sea simultaneously, but there resemblance in their migratory habits begins to diminish. What ocean temperatures, currents and the prevailing winds encountered along their respective migration routes do to affect their progress is quite unknown; but the American herd, covering a vastly greater circuit, always is first to reach the southerly limit of the trek, about latitude 34. That herd's movement for the ensuing six months is slowly northward to the summer hauling-out grounds, reached by the adults but a few days in advance of the beginning of the mating season. The juniors arrive somewhat later. The Asiatic herd, contrary minded, lingers in the winter habitat until the breeding season is near, its northern movement being sudden and exceedingly rapid.

Method Adopted

In pelagic hunting boats or canoes were usually lowered at daybreak and consistently worked to windward, sailing if possible (as less likely to alarm the quarry and to save the boat-pullers), all boats taking stations a mile or two apart, their schooners following them up and riding hard on them. To secure the seal it had to be surprised while sleeping, travelling or feeding seals, being wary. Seals invariably sleep on the surface (in any but rainy weather) and could be approached from leeward, the shooting being at 30-40 feet. All prizes had to be quickly retrieved or they sank and were lost. The best catches naturally were made in smooth water, the seal sleeping thereon sounder. Wastage in sunken or wounded escapees was by no means as heavy as represented by American critics of pelagic

Took Too Sharp a Turn on Way to Metlakatla

As the result of taking too sharp a turn around the second buoy in Metlakatla Passage yesterday afternoon the power boat Shawatlans, skippered by A. R. Nichols, slid up on a rock taking a bad starboard list on a receding tide. The boat was successfully righted last night on the rising tide by the launch Oh Baby, Laurie Lambly, and came in under her own power. No damage was done. A. R. Nichols accompanied by Norris Pringle, Milton Gonzales and S. W. Taylor were on their way to Metlakatla when the mishap occurred.

Shop-windows on parade

IN THE quiet and comfort of your home, newspaper in hand, the shop-windows of the town's best stores pass in review. Look at that charming little hat—just the style you have been looking for, and so reasonable!

And say, isn't that coat a darling? . . . Not only do you see illustrations of the merchandise, but you are told in detail of its merits and prices. A passing panorama that may be halted and started and halted at will. A shopping trip at home!

How long do you suppose it would take you to reverse the process—to go up one street and down another, until you had visited personally every worth-while store in town? And how exhausted you would be, physically and nervously.

There's no doubt about it. The modern way to shop is to read the advertisements, then make notes of the stores and the particular offerings that appeal to you. What a lot of time and bother such a method saves. You know beforehand what you want to look at, who has it, and what you will have to pay.

Read the advertisements. Make it a daily habit. The regular reader of advertisements is better informed, makes the family budget stretch further, has more time for recreation, gets more value for her money, and profits in many other ways. Advertisements are frequently the most interesting news in the paper.

Every day these shop-windows are lined up for your inspection in this newspaper

SILVER FOXES NOT EXPENSIVE

Returns From New York Sale Show Prices Averaged Only $101 a Skin

A detailed report of the New York February fur auction shows that silver fox pelts are not really as expensive as is usually thought. The highest price realized for a skin was $155, while the very lowest had hardly any value. The average of over two thousand skins was $101 each.

Blue foxes, such as are raised on the fox farms of Alaska went all the way from $15 to $112 each, a decline of twenty per cent on previous sales.

Marten fetched $10 to $60 for the very best dark pelts but for dark B.C. skins the price was $36 to $42 and coast varieties sold for $21.50 to $25 for the best, grading down to as low as $16 or less.

Dark Eastern mink fetched $21 to $25 for best grade and B.C. mink sold for $14.50 to $17.50 down to $8.25, according to quality.

Muskat fetched $1.30 to $1.10; wolf, $18 to $20 with extra fine timber wolf skins going up to as high as $44.
