Fishermen Take Vote on Strike

Union, Operators Deadlocked
On Fall Chum Salmon Prices

Salmon net fishermen will take a strike vote at tomorrow in the Civic Centre, it was announced today by the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union.

If a strike is approved, it will start at midnight Sunday. Union officials said the vote follows failure to settle fall chum prices to fishermen. It affects all net fishermen in B.C. The UFAWU and Fisheries Association of B.C. held a fruitless meeting in Vancouver yesterday.

Union said the canners offered 5½ cents a pound for chums, compared with last year's prices of 11 cents in Johnstone Straits and the Fraser River, nine cents in the central and northern areas, and eight cents in the Queen Charlottes.

CHUM STARTING
Homer Stevens, secretary-treasurer of the UFAWU, said: "The fall chum season is just starting. The run will be at its height within the next week. Our men have no choice. It is impossible to meet costs, let alone make a living at present fish prices."

The canners claim much of last year's pack is still unsold and that they cannot afford to pay 1951 prices. Fishermen in southern centres are voting today.

QCI Areas Open For Fishing

The south and central Queen Charlotte Island areas will be re-opened to salmon purse seiners and salmon gillnet fishing this Sunday, the fisheries department announced today. The two areas have been closed for two weeks for conservation of pink salmon.

—WEATHER—

Synopsis
Wind velocities of fifty miles per hour with gusts as high as sixty-five miles per hour are being reported from the Queen Charlotte Islands this morning. This is in advance of a very active Pacific storm which will pass over the north coast this morning and the south coast tonight.

Rain has already spread over the north coast and northern Vancouver Island and will spread over the whole coast by evening. Showers will reach the northern interior this afternoon and the southern interior tomorrow.

As the storm moves inland some improvement in weather will follow but actual clearing will be slow so that most of the province will be cloudy and showery Saturday.

Forecast
Gale warning in effect. Cloudy. Rain this morning, showers this afternoon and Saturday. A little cooler. Winds southeast (35) shifting gradually to southwest (25) by evening and decreasing to southwest (20) Saturday. Low tonight and high tomorrow at Port Hardy, Sandspit and Prince Rupert, 55 and 60.

Best Achievement of All Times' American Journalist Marvels at Alcan Project

Object of his journey, which started about three weeks ago, was to obtain background information for his newscasts and writings.

DECIDED ON CANADA
Mr. Kaltenborn, who was accompanied by his wife, said he could have made a trip to Asia or Europe "or any other place but because Canada is so much in the public eye and with a war-threatened world before us, we decided to stay closer to home and make a survey of your country."

Describing his visit to the Alcan sites, he said "creating of a townsite for a possible population of 50,000 people is a tremendous endeavour, although it is quite incidental to the main project."

Both he and Mrs. Kaltenborn noted particularly a sifting machine which is making giant stockpiles of gravel to be used in construction of roads and buildings.

A WET DROP—The 27 paratroopers of the Royal Canadian Artillery (Light Battery) end their mass parachute drop in Lake Ontario at the waterfront of the Canadian National Exhibition. All three armed services took part in the drop with the RCAF providing troop transport planes and the RCN the rescue craft to pick up the men who landed in the water. Capt. Wilfred Snell of Paris, Ont., in charge of the drop, made the first jump to test the wind. Before landing in the water the paratroopers pull a cartridge which inflates their lifebelts before touching. (CP from National Defence)

Canada Favors Korean Truce, Says St. Laurent But Must Be 'Peace with Honor'

VICTORIA—Canada favors a negotiated truce in Korea along the present battle lines provided it can be a "peace with honor," Prime Minister St. Laurent said today.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the Victoria Women's Canadian Club, St. Laurent said:

"We recognize that the United Nations action took on a different aspect with the intervention of China. To gain unification of the entire peninsula for Koreans would now require such a large deployment of forces and energy that our defences against Communist aggression elsewhere in the world would be seriously weakened."

"More important yet, the Chinese intervention has brought the risk of the Korean action developing into a full-scale war. If that were to happen—and we pray it won't—our purpose for intervention in Korea in the first place—to punish aggression and by so doing prevent a global war—would be defeated."

"For these reasons we favor a negotiated truce along the present battle lines provided it can be a peace with honor."

St. Laurent discussed not only Korea but also Canada's relations with Japan and Southeast Asia.

FISHERIES TREATY
The Prime Minister said his government intends to submit the Canada-U.S.-Japan fisheries agreement to Parliament at the next session.

"We have, we hope, worked out a scheme whereby certain types of fish—salmon, halibut, herring—which mean so much to the livelihood of many people who live in British Columbia, will not be taken by the Japanese in the eastern Pacific near Canadian shores."

Allied Naval Display Warns

OSLO, Norway (CP)—More than 160 allied warships, including eight big aircraft carriers, begin manoeuvres off Scandinavia next week, warning Russia that the West is ready to defend the seas even up to the Arctic Circle.

Officially known as "Operation Mainbrace," the 13-day war games will be one of the largest displays of allied naval might since the Second World War. Canada's aircraft carrier Magificent will participate.

The couple will live in Pte. MacMillan's hometown of Medicine Hat.

Pte. MacMillan is one of six Canadian soldiers who have married Japanese women.

Bennett Asks Federal Aid for B. C. Growth

VANCOUVER (CP)—Premier W. A. C. Bennett Thursday called on the federal government to assist in the development of British Columbia by building the Pacific Great Eastern Railway into the Peace River country.

He also urged the federal government to pay one-third the cost of the new Marpole bridge, a vital link with Vancouver's International Airport, and aid Britain to buy B.C. lumber, fish and fruit.

He listed a six-point program, and said he wished to speak out for the people of B.C. while Prime Minister St. Laurent, now on a tour of the province, is here to listen.

"Ottawa must realize there has been great expansion and population growth in this province," Bennett said. "B.C. has attained new importance in this country, and it's up to the federal government to participate in further development."

Public To Meet Premier At Navy Hall

A highlight of Prime Minister St. Laurent's visit here Sunday will be the public reception held in his honor at the Navy drill hall, under the auspices of the officers of HMCS Chatham.

The public is invited to come and shake hands with the Prime Minister and stay for tea which will be served in the drill hall annex.

"This is strictly non-political, we want to give Prince Rupert people a chance to meet their Prime Minister," said Lt. Cdr. T. A. Johnstone, acting commanding officer of Chatham.

Churchmen Vote To Retain Name

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The General Synod of the Church of England in Canada on Thursday voted 119 to 106 to retain the name of the church. An amendment would have changed the name to "Anglican Church in Canada."

LT.-COL. ROBERT H. RAMSAY, 36, of Toronto and Ottawa has been appointed to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters in Paris. A supply expert, Lt.-Col. Ramsay is the first Canadian officer of his rank to be named to the headquarters of the Supreme Commander Allied Power in Europe. (CP Photo)

Afire, Naskeena Sinks at Metlakatla; Total Loss

Two men escaped death or serious injury late Thursday when an explosion and fire destroyed the 48-foot Department of Indian Affairs cruiser Naskeena off Metlakatla wharf.

The explosion is believed to have been set off by an overheated oil stove in the galley of the ship while the men were on the wharf.

Ken Richardson, who was in charge of the $50,000 vessel, and a deckhand, whose name is not known, rushed aboard and attempted to douse the flames but were driven back.

Both suffered sore throats from smoke but did not require hospital treatment. The flames shot more than 50 feet into the air and could be seen for several miles.

The charred and still burning hull was rammed by a seine boat in order to sink her on a sandbar and douse the fire. The cruiser is believed to be a total loss.

The Naskeena went to Metlakatla, on the mainland about six miles north of Prince Rupert, earlier in the day with an RCMP constable to investigate a report that two natives are missing off a seine boat.

She was tied up alongside several seiners when the explosion occurred.

Fishermen rushed to move their boats and towed the Naskeena into open water when they found the flames could not be controlled, and planned to beach her.

Shortly after they left the wharf, a second explosion, believed caused when the flames reached a can of gasoline, blew a hole through the cabin section and the entire boat became a mass of flames.

While moving the doomed vessel to shore, she sank in deep water. Then she was rammed.

The RCMP constable was conducting dragging operations nearby for Peter Hilerata, 40, and eight-year-old Gordon Leighton, who were reported missing off the seiner Invercan IV.

The Invercan IV came to Prince Rupert Wednesday for supplies and after returning to Metlakatla the crew left while Hilerata and the boy stayed behind to unload supplies.

They were reported missing about 9:30 Wednesday. Natives believe the boy may have fallen overboard and that

Theatres May Shut Down As Union Threatens Picket Lines

VANCOUVER (CP)—Possibility of a shutdown of all 48 Vancouver theatres arose Thursday from the continuing wage dispute.

Orin Jacobson, national vice-president of the Film Exchange Workers Union, said all theatres might be picketed. This would force them to close, he said, because "theatre employees would not cross our picket lines."

Some 50 union members have been picketing the Film Exchange, distribution centre for films, since August 16.

First Salmon Derby Opens Tomorrow; Watch 'Thermometer' for Prize Money

Tomorrow morning is the Big Day for anglers who want to get into Prince Rupert's big contest for big fish.

The first annual Prince Rupert Salmon Derby opens at 7 a.m. and anyone who catches and enters a heavy salmon—either coho or spring—then on or after October 13 is in line to get one or more big prizes.

The Salmon Derby committee has approved this method for announcing prize money and merchandise which will go to the winners in each of the three separate types of derbies.

Objective of prize-money is $1200. All money received from entry fees with the exception of a small percentage for advertising expenses, will be used as prize money.

The more money that comes in from entry fees, the bigger the prizes will be. Here how it will work if the objective of $1200 is reached:

1. First prize for the largest coho and the largest spring salmon in the five-week General Derby (Sept. 6-Oct. 10) will be $150. Second prize will be $75.
2. First prize for largest coho and spring entered in each of the five one-week derbies will be $25. Second prize, merchandise.
3. First prize for winning coho and spring salmon in the Grand Derby (Oct. 11-13) will be $250 each. Second, third and fourth prizes will be merchandise.

All city merchants are being canvassed for donations of merchandise prizes.

If the prize money should go over the $1200 objective, of course the cash prizes will increase respectively, says the derby committee.

A running account of the derby prize money "thermometer" will be published each day. Entry blanks beginning Saturday will be available at the weighing-in station—Bacon Fisheries at Hunt's Float, and at all major sporting goods and men's wear stores in the city.

Watch tomorrow's edition of The Daily News for a complete list of rules and regulations covering the Salmon Derby.

Let's Help Them Help Others

FOR many years about this time the public everywhere in Canada has been approached by an appeal for help to one of the world's greatest welfare welfare organizations: The Salvation Army.

Today, in Prince Rupert, is launching day for the 1952 Red Shield appeal. It deserves the consideration of every man and woman in the city.

A news story yesterday listed some of the work which was accomplished by the Salvation Army in Prince Rupert last year. This included distribution of 12,000 individual garments to needy people; forty families were supplied with groceries and other help to lift them over financial "rough spots."

The Army also specializes in a service to down-and-under men who have reached a point in their life due to misfortune, carelessness or alcoholic indulgence where they no longer care what happens to them.

More than 200 such individuals were given a lift by the Army last year in Prince Rupert. Most of them were transients, just pushing through the city without a dime. For many of them employment was found.

The Army digs even deeper. Its personnel visit the jail where they find men and women who have given up most of their decency and will to fight and often the Army is able to rehabilitate these unfortunate people into thinking citizens, just because it took an interest in them.

The Sally Ann is also well remembered by ex-servicemen who found that organization always ready to help in time of need; a bed for the soldier or airman stranded without much money in his pocket.

On the war-front itself the Sally Ann stood ready with canteens, service of all types and always a cheerful word which was often the difference between high morale and a crack-up.

Many times has the following expression been heard: "I never got anything for nothing but from the Salvation Army."

Yet all these services are not "for nothing." The service is free, given by people who have dedicated their lives to it, but the expense must be borne by the public.

We feel it is every man's duty to contribute something towards the service for which the Red Shield stands. The Salvation Army's overall work is limited to the extent with which we support it.

Taxation Reviewed by 4-Day Meeting of 1,000 Tax Experts

By FORBES RHUDE

Canadian Press Business Editor

Taxation will get a four-day going over by 1000 tax experts when the National Tax Association holds its annual conference in Toronto Sept. 9-12.

The association is primarily an American organization, but it has a considerable Canadian membership. Its executive council includes A. Kenneth Eaton, Canadian assistant deputy minister of finance, and Philip T. Clark, Ontario controller of revenue.

A number of Canadian speakers will take part in the conference discussions. Among the topics are:

How high can taxes go? Who pays the taxes? The Canadian tax structure and the economy. Comparative treatment of selected tax problems in Canada and the United States.

Alleged "tax scandals" in the United States, now under congressional and grand jury examination, will also be discussed, including a suggestion for reorganization of the U.S. Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Sessions are open to the public, who are invited to take part in the discussions which follow the formal papers, to the extent that time permits and in accordance with conference rules.

The organization's purpose is to give scientific study to taxation and finance. Membership includes federal, state or provincial, and local tax officials; legislators; tax representatives of business; professors, accountants and lawyers.

Alfred G. Buehler of the University of Pennsylvania is president.

INSURANCE MEETING

Another organization with major American membership—the Life Insurance Advertisers Association—will meet in Montreal Sept. 29-Oct. 1. The association met once before in Canada—in Quebec in 1947.

Theme of the gathering will be "Meeting Today's Challenge." Eighteen classifications of exhibit material will be entered by the advertising, public relations and sales-promotion departments of the 220 member companies.

Morgan S. Crockett of Toronto, secretary, Excelsior Life Insurance Company, will be general chairman of the meeting. George W. Bourke of Montreal, president of Sun Life of Canada, will address the opening session on "The Challenge Facing Top Management."

Pearson Takes Part in NATO Capital Talks

Flying Saucers Real?

(This is the second of several special articles on the so-called flying saucers.)

LOS ANGELES. — Here are some of the reasons why this city, known as the movie capital of the world, probably has more of the answers to the flying saucer mystery than any place else.

1. The Griffin Planetarium not only has one, but teaches in popular form the scientific facts about what is required for space-ship travel.

2. Down below in the big city hundreds of men and women are turning out large numbers of rocket-ships, or other forms of guided missiles. There is nothing imaginary, or ghostlike, about these. They are no longer military or naval secrets. They are written about quite frankly, for instance, by Major George Fielding Elliot in the American Weekly for August 24. He calls them "Bullets With Brains."

3. In this city lives Frank Scully, who wrote "Behind the Flying Saucers," published by Holt in 1950. In it he told a fantastic story of crashed space ships, manned by queer three-foot-high men, and so forth. This has now been debunked as based on a hoax—of which, however, Scully may have been a victim.

4. Here also lives a British scientist and philosopher who may have more of the answer to the still unexplained core of the mystery than anybody else.

AT LEAST four out of five people who have seen strange sights in the sky over the U.S.A. in the last few years have seen the guided missiles, made for the U.S. armed forces. They have not been eating too much lobster or drinking too much and getting the D.T.'s.

These guided missiles are pilotless aircraft which fly above the speed of sound—that is, faster than 740 miles per hour. According to Major George Fielding Elliot, these devices will destroy nine out of ten attacking aircraft in event of another world war.

As the Russians are no doubt working on the same sort of things, and as even the U.S. army and navy are fiercely jealous of their own secrets, we can easily understand why the authorities could not authoritatively debunk most reports of flying saucers.

THE MOST masterly debunking job, to date, has been done by J. P. Cahn, in the September, 1952, issue of True Magazine. It is called "The Flying Saucers and the Mysterious Little Men." It deals with the sensational book by Frank Scully, "Behind the Flying Saucers."

The book told the story of the landing, or crashing, of four "space ships." In one of these there were bodies of "sixteen little men." Readers may recall the amazing metals supposedly found.

Cahn worked for months to sleuth down the alleged facts in this book. It turned out to be a complete hoax. Final, complete exposure of the hoax came when Cahn worked a sleight-of-hand trick on the fake "famous scientist" who had supplied Scully with most of his misinformation.

Instead of being some magical and marvellously hard metal, used by the tiny "little men from Mars," or wherever they came from, the "scientist's" prize exhibit proved, on analysis, to be ordinary aluminum.

NOTWITHSTANDING such fakes, hoaxes and hallucinations, there remains a hard core of evidence that some of the things seen in the skies are real; and that they do not come from the U.S.A. itself, nor from Russia, nor from any known source on earth.

Of this, more later.

U.S. Political Scene Sees Many Changes

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Political campaign promises of an effort to end Senate filibusters are producing some knowing smiles from Senate veterans. They recall that it has been attempted many times, most recently in 1949, and has invariably failed.

Both Governor Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate, and Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, (Rep. Mass.), a booster for Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican nominee, have pointed up the filibuster issue during the current campaign.

A filibuster is simply a protracted debate or talk to prevent a vote on a controversial issue. In recent years in the Senate this usually has involved such civil-rights legislation as anti-poll tax, anti-racial segregation or similar legislation.

Under a long-respected tradition of unlimited debate, Senate rules now make it virtually impossible to end a filibuster unless at least 64 Senators—two-thirds of the 96—are willing to do this and stay on the job for long hours to accomplish it.

Technically a test of cloture—or limiting debate to obtain a vote—can be obtained if 16 Senators sign a petition.

The difficulty comes in mustering enough Senators to approve what opponents always call "a gag rule."

The Democratic platform this year—in an obvious bid for negro and other minority votes—contains some general statements about improving Congressional machinery to assure majority action.

Stevenson last week pledged that as president he would use his influence "to get the Senate to change its rules under which filibusters have killed civil-rights legislation."

Stevenson noted, however, that the "precise nature of the change" (Continued on Page 4)

Ray Reflects and Reminisces

Dad criticizes evil, but Mother notices he polishes his glasses to look at it.

Hollywood scientists appear to be giving more attention to the flying saucer than the moon just now. This is because they say they can fly to the moon any old time, but the saucer remains a problem. Ever fly to the moon? You bet you haven't. Nor has anyone else.

You can hardly blame cities in the south for describing Skeena as "northern British Columbia" when the practice was started, and faithfully continued in Prince Rupert. It's always been like that. Who ever hears of the vast, rich and beautiful territory between here and Prince George as "Central British Columbia." Yet that is what it is, actually and literally.

BEGINNING

Chances are that if today some one asked you to name British Columbia's first capital city, you'd request time, after being told New Westminster was the wrong answer. As a matter of fact, the first capital was situated forty-two miles east of what is today Vanderhoof on the C.N.R. It held that rank four or five years, becoming known as Caledonia, the date being sometime in the early fifties. Prior to this, the site was occupied by the Hudson's Bay Co. post of Fort St. James, which it still is.

One learns that a revolving fork, for eating spaghetti, has been invented. The fork has not been distributed in Prince Rupert yet, and while we have now and then enjoyed a dish of spaghetti, there is a feeling that the new fangled fork could be used.

Just the right recipe for the sauce is half the secret to successful barbecuing. One sauce is sure to make all partakers smack their lips. It's a sharp-rich blend of rosy tomato soup, chopped onion, vinegar and lively seasonings. Tastes good enough to make even an "old cow-hand" give a cheer.

Serve the barbecued pork from a handsome platter at your table. Or slice and enjoy it sandwich-style at a picnic or backyard supper.

Oven-Barbecued Pork

- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 2 teaspoons prepared mustard
- 1 can (1 1/2 cups) condensed tomato soup
- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice and vinegar
- 4 drops Tabasco sauce

Place pork in a shallow pan and roast in a slow oven (325°F.) for 2 hours. Combine sauce ingredients; mix well and pour over roast. Continue cooking for 1 1/2 hours basting frequently. Serve hot barbecue sauce over pork slices. Makes 8 servings.

SOUP SCOOPS

TRY SPICY PORK AND BEANS

Bubbling with spicy flavor is a pork and bean casserole made with chopped apple, sausage and spices. First pour one 1-pound can of pork and beans into a baking dish. Cut a medium-sized apple into bite-size pieces and stir it into the beans; add 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon. Dot the top with 1 large link sausage, cut into coin-slices. Heat to bubbling in a hot oven (400°F.) about 20 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

SPAGHETTI AND OLIVES ARE HAPPY DUET

Bright slices of stuffed olive turn the trick when you want an extra-elegant dish from cans of spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese. Open and heat the spaghetti as usual. Gently fold in about 1/4 cup of sliced stuffed olives while the spaghetti heats. The 15-fluid-ounce can of spaghetti will make 3 good servings fixed this way.

TEAM SOUP WITH MILK

Good hot soup is a perfect feature for school lunch boxes. How youngsters do enjoy a thermos filled with such a hot savory combination. And the soup teams so well with milk, another valuable item to include with lunches. The whole array of condensed soups are good bets for the thermos bottle. To prepare any of them with milk, simply blend a can of soup with a can of milk before heating.

Recipe for 'Lion's Gate Pancakes' Published by Vancouver Jaycees

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Anyone want any "Lion's Gate Pancakes?"

These are described as a distinctive dish of British Columbia in a cross-country book of recipes published by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The recipe: Two cups sifted pastry flour; one-half teaspoon salt; four teaspoons baking powder; two eggs; 1 1/2 cups milk; three tablespoons melted shortening.

Sift dry ingredients into bowl and add beaten eggs, milk and melted shortening. Mix well and drop by spoonfuls onto a hot greased griddle. When bubbles appear, turn cakes and brown on other side. Serve immediately on hot plates.

Serve with hot applesauce and whipped cream instead of the usual syrup. Sweeten the cream with brown sugar or ground-up maple sugar. Put hot applesauce and whipped cream into separate large bowls, sprinkle both with grated nutmeg and let each person help himself.

Yield, four servings.

From Quebec where "the French Canadian cuisine is the result of a dozen generations of good cooks," there comes a recipe for Laurentian family soup.

Ingredients: one small cabbage; one carrot; one-half small turnip; two onions; four tablespoons butter or margarine; salt and pepper; two cloves; two quarts beef stock; one tablespoon chopped parsley; French bread; grated cheese.

Method: Wash cabbage, peel carrot, turnip and onion; cut in small cubes. Melt the butter in sauce-pan and add the vegetables, stir. Season with salt and pepper and add cloves. Cover and cook slowly for 20 minutes. Add the stock and simmer for 30 minutes. Add parsley and a little grated nutmeg. Brown thin slices of French bread. Sprinkle with cheese. Place on top of each serving of soup or put in bowls then fill bowls with soup. Yield: 8 to 10 servings.

RECIPE RHYME

The St. Thomas (Ont.) Times-Journal recently published several rhyming recipes printed for housewives of 100 years ago. Here's one for bread pudding:

Get a dish deep and wide
And rub round the inside
With a little fresh butter or lard.
That the pudding may be,
To a certain degree,
Good in form, when turned out, but not hard.

Then of stale bread procure
Half a pound, and be sure
To reduce it to crumbs: next obtain

Four-sixteenths of a pound
Of loaf-sugar well ground.
And some lemon-peel cut up.
Again

Beat to cream five or six.
New-laid eggs, to which mix

Two half pints of pure milk by degrees;

Pop it into the pot
When the water is hot,
Boil one hour, and then it will please.

(Wonder if the housewives sang at their work 100 years ago?)

FREED FROM MENACE

JOHNNESBURG (CP) — Five years of spraying by planes against the tsetse fly has freed more than 3,000,000 acres in South Africa from the menace of sleeping sickness, it is officially estimated. The fly spreads the deadly sickness among people and animals.

BOTTLE POST

GREAT YARMOUTH, England (CP) — Favorite pastime in this Norfolk fishing port is to throw messages into the water in a "bottle post" across the North Sea. There is keen rivalry to establish the fastest time between dispatch and recovery. So far, 16 days is the record time to the continent.

Emphasis on Selling Laid By UBC Economy Professor

One of the prime reasons many stores in the United States instal vending machines with various articles is because they can't get adequate help, according to Professor Lawrence Vukelitch.

Addressing Rotary Club members here yesterday, the University of B.C. professor said that for some years emphasis was on buying goods "but it now is on selling."

Here to conduct a sales training course, he also addressed Gyro Club members and last night concluded his series of lectures to more than 70 representatives of trades in this city.

He explained the difficulties of customers in big cities to park their cars in the downtown areas and said the modern trend is to suburban stores.

A man who has worked in many kinds of stores, he said less money is going to the retailer today because of increased costs in preparation.

He said surveys show that co-operatives are a grave threat to retailers because they are able to buy in large quantities and warned against "going to the government every time something goes wrong in your business."

In his lecture to city businessmen in Booth Memorial High School auditorium, he said the customer shouldn't have to ask questions about an article he wishes to buy.

KNOW YOUR PRODUCT

"For those who devote their lives to selling, 'Know your product!' Don't let the customer have to ask you about your merchandise."

"If you tell, show and illustrate, you'll make a sale," said the professor, explaining that if people bought goods only by description "you wouldn't need a store."

He urged his audience to "build the value of your product by explaining its features."

"Don't assume that a customer hasn't got the amount of money for the value which you have built up and be specific in your selling."

He urged managers and owners to tell the clerks about sales.

"Don't let them be the last to know your business."

Before concluding last night, professor Vukelitch, who is in the Department of Commerce at UBC, thanked Mrs. Kathleen Laurie and Mr. G. P. Lyons of the Prince Rupert Retail Credit Granters' Association for their help in organizing the classes.

He also spoke briefly of the importance of the Credit Bureau and said all merchants should belong to it.

In addition to the informative lecture, films showing sales clerks in action were shown to the group before refreshments were served.

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "tired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter.

THINKING MACHINE
ges that should be made in the rules of Congress is, of course, a problem for the Congress itself as president, I could not make the decision.
Lodge promptly accused Stevenson of a "pious, insincere piece of double-talk," noting that Democrats had controlled the Senate for four years.
Lodge now is ranking Republican on the Senate rules committee and a candidate for reelection. If he wins and Republicans get control of the Senate, Lodge said that as rules chairman:
"I will fight filibusters as long as it takes to end filibusters. I never have been done and I am the boy who wants to do it."
Veterans agree that as few as eight Senators could conduct a permanent filibuster that would prevent action on any legislation.

Baltic Sea Stones Decorate Costumes

TORONTO (CP)—Amber pebbles and stones from the shores of the Baltic form the centre of attraction in the Lithuanian booth at the Canadian National Exhibition here.

Mrs. Aldona Veselkiene, booth attendant, who came to Canada five years ago, says a pair of these stones from her native Lithuania form an almost essential part of the country's national costume.

And costumes are important in Lithuania, where each province has its own symbols. No two costumes are alike and Mrs. Veselkiene says there is plenty of room for imagination. It is estimated there are 25,000 immigrants of Lithuanian descent in Canada, including many who escaped from the Communist regime which has spread over Lithuania and the other Baltic states.

Professor Talks To Credit Club

Professor Laurence Vukelich, Extension Department, University of British Columbia, opened his breakfast chat with a compliment to the Credit Women's Breakfast Club of Prince Rupert. He complimented not only their efforts in getting up for this early morning meeting, but also for their efforts in self-improvement.

In his sincere, inspiring manner, he spoke of the great future that lies in the retail credit world for the business woman of today. At the time that credit held no importance, women took on the job of establishing and running the credit departments. By the time retail credit was recognized as being the most important part of a store, and not something delegated to under the stairs, women were firmly established in this field.

"Retail credit is no longer the smallest department of a store, it is now the most important, the key department of any store," he said. "Women are peculiarly adapted to this sort of work. They have the natural facilities for educating the public to the many types of retail credit, for building customer goodwill in a tactful and humane manner."

"No longer is credit to be shunned. It is now the biggest part of the nation's business and as such offers to women an unlimited field of opportunity."

Lorraine Dell of Frizzell Motors received the birthday bouquet for the month, and Beatrice Dumas of Lyons Grocery, won the raffle prize.
A report of the recent rummage sale was given by President Jocelyn. It was a success and will be held annually.

Early Settlers Had Lively Time On Celebrations

GUELPH, Ont. (CP)—The jubilant celebrations and hard work surrounding the founding of this city in 1827 are described in a 75-year-old booklet that has just come to light.
Author Robert Thompson says in the booklet he was a 10-year-old resident of Galt, about 12 miles south of here, when on April 22, 1827, a party which included John Galt headed here. Wagons were loaded with pork, flour, whisky and other "necessary supplies."

Galt, at that time, was a "place of about 70 or 80 inhabitants, with one store, a tavern, grist and saw mill, a distillery and 10 houses."
The trip to Guelph took nine hours. Here the party slept in a log shanty, erected earlier by surveyors, and under wagons and wigwams.

"CONVIVIAL CHEER"
"They had grand jollification that night. What was lacking in domestic comfort was more than made up by convivial cheer."

The following day a giant maple was felled and surveyor John McDonald placed his compass on the stump and declared it the centre of the proposed city.

FOREST HILLS, N.Y.—It is ironic that the amateur tennis player in the country today, Vic Seixas from Philadelphia, is so little known to the public that the average fan can't even pronounce his name, much less tell you the salient facts of his career to this point.

Seixas reached the 1951 national championships, where he was defeated by Frank Sedgman of Australia.

Junior Rangers Do Useful Work In Summer Camp

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—At Garden Lake, 50 miles northeast of here, nine boys this summer developed their muscles for the football season while working for the Ontario lands and forests department.

The work was typical of forestry training camps spread throughout the province, primarily designed to lead youths into forestry work if they are so inclined. Each summer the department hires 250 boys—they generally have about 1300 applicants—to spend their summer vacations clearing and cutting brush, putting up telephone poles and doing a multitude of other jobs necessary to keep the forests and wild life of Ontario in good condition.

The boys at Garden Lake were assigned the task of clearing away brush and trees to make a tourist camping site. They were Jim Dolph of Galt, Ont., Carl Newton of Oakville, Ont., and seven from Toronto—Ed King, Bill MacDougall, Bill MacDonald, Owen Tilley, Bob McCabe, Bob Lyons and Fred Gotzman. They range in age from 16 to 18.

BRUSH-CUTTING JOB

After the camp site project, they cut brush along the local telephone line between Ranger Lake and Searchmount, about 10 miles from their camp.

The boys worked a seven-hour day. Leisure time was spent fishing, berry-picking and in other forms of relaxation. A 10-o'clock curfew got the boys to bed early except on Saturdays when a dance at Ranger Lake proved a popular attraction. The young rangers also went to Sault Ste. Marie for the annual community night celebrations.

Instruction was given in the use of tools and in equipment essential in forest-fire fighting. The camp also received instruction in the use of the gas-operated fire pump and heard a talk on entomology given by a representative of the department's insect laboratory.

Another part of the educational program was made up of visits to plants of Algoma Steel Corporation, the Abitibi Pulp and Paper Company and the modern forest insect laboratory here.

CAREFUL WORKERS

Under the experienced supervision of Ron McDonald, veteran forest ranger, and Bob Thain, his assistant, only one accident occurred. One had cut his toe with an ax and the injury required four stitches.

"I am well satisfied with the work of the boys," said Ron. "In fact they are the best bunch that I have yet had."

Cook Byron Frost had a lively appreciation of the boys' appetites.

"They are so active and ambitious that they eat like seasoned lumberjacks," he said. "They would make a good bunch of rangers."

Wild life is abundant in the neighborhood. At times the young workers came across deer, bears and foxes. Fishing was excellent and several made it a regular pastime to head for the better streams. Others became expert canoeists.

Olympic Trapshooting Medalist Began Early

SASKATOON, (CP)—Trapshooting has a comparatively small following in Canada, and yet the country owes its only gold medal from the last Olympic Games to a 17-year-old Saskatoon youth who handles a scatter-gun about as easily as most of us wind an alarm clock.

The young champion is George Genereux, six-foot, three-inch son of a Saskatoon eye-nose-throat specialist. He is practically a phenomenon in the sport world. He is to trapshooters what Marlene Stewart is to golfers, a competitor half the age of most of his opponents and twice as good as the majority of them.

Maybe the reason George is so good is because he started young. He was shooting at traps when he was 12 and collecting awards when he was 13.

REMARKABLE RECORD

Judging by his impressive record, which includes the Junior Championship at the Grand American Shoot at Vandalla, Ohio, mecca of all trapshooters, one would think George spent all his waking hours banging away at clay pigeons. But it's not like that at all, and that's what makes him extraordinary.

Unlike most competitive trapshooters who practise incessantly, George gets by on a minimum amount of practice shooting. He seldom fires more than 750 registered targets in a season before competitions start. In contrast, American trapshooters last year fired 1,500,000 shells at Vandalla.

When he isn't shooting, George is a popular student at Saskatoon's Nutana High School. His parents follow his progress as a trapshooter keenly, but they devote just as much of their interest to his academic education.

There is no special reason why George took up trapshooting, except that he used to accompany his father on shooting trips and liked the feel of a big gun and the thrill of accurate shooting.

TRAINED BY VETERAN

When George started shooting he used a .410-gauge gun, later graduated to a .20-gauge and eventually to a .12-gauge. His unusual ability soon caught the eye of veteran shooter Jimmy Girgulis of Saskatoon, who has won practically every championship available in western Canada.

Under Girgulis' tutelage, George learned the fine points of handling a shotgun. That he learned well was ably demonstrated by George, who at 13 won the Midwest International Handicap against shots from Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Ontario, Minnesota and the Dakotas. He also won the Manitoba-Saskatchewan junior championship that year and repeated for the next three seasons.

Even if he hadn't won the Olympic gold medal, George still would have a place among trapshooting's greats. Last year at Vandalla, George became the first Canadian in history to win a major competition.

BIG CONTENDER

He almost scored a double triumph. In the class championship, he was among three shooters who broke 199 clay pigeons out of a possible 200. In the shoot-off he finished second with a 24 of 25. This year George almost retained his junior title, finishing second by a small margin.

George claims Jimmy Girgulis is responsible for his success. He looks on Girgulis as a kind of a second father. At Vandalla's "Roaring Grand," George won a fine watch and he hastened to present it to his tutor. Girgulis, declined, but he was deeply touched by the gesture.

When George was shooting for the junior championship, Girgulis closed his eyes when it came for his young protegee to shoot the last five birds.

"What happened," he said weakly, after the last "bang." "He broke them all," Dr. and Mrs. Genereux shouted in unison.

Girgulis jumped to his feet and let out a wild whoop that startled the spectators. "Hurrah for Canada," he yelled.

Jet-Powered Speed Boat Hits 100-Miles an Hour in Trial

LOCH NESS, Scotland, (Reuters) — John Cobb's jet-propelled speedboat reached speeds of about 100 miles an hour on its first trial runs today.

But Cobb, British holder of the world land speed record, decided not to try today to smash the water speed record of 173.4 miles an hour held by Stanley Sayres of Seattle, Wash.

His jet boat "Crusader" made several runs across the lake and first reports were that everything was satisfactory. The craft has a potential speed of 200 m.p.h.

It is an unconventional tri-cycle-like affair skating across the water on small runners under the thrust of an airplane jet engine flaming out of its stern.

Little Change Seen in U.K. Lumber Market

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia lumbermen Wednesday forecast little change in timber sales to the United Kingdom.

"No encouragement" was the consensus among lumbermen here when commenting on an announcement in London by the Ministry of Materials that the initial 1953 import quota of 500,000 standards has been granted to United Kingdom buyers. A standard is about 2000 board feet.

The ministry removed restrictions on United Kingdom importers from buying in the dollar area and said the second 1953 instalment to permit importing of a "good amount" more would be announced later.

Giants Move Up on Brooks; But Tribe Stays Unchanged

By The Canadian Press

NEW YORK.—The New York Giants moved a mite closer to the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers last night in the National League, but the Cleveland Indians, despite the tight, five-hit effort by big Mike Garcia, remained 3½ games behind the New York Yankees in the American League.

Giants defeated Philadelphia Phillies in 11 innings 4-3 to close to within seven games of the Dodgers. Boston Braves gained their first 1952 victory over the Brooks, 6-5, in 11 innings.

McDOUGALD HOMERS

In the American League Gil McDougald led an old-fashioned Yankee power display with two home runs and five RBIs as the world champions routed Philadelphia Athletics 12-2.

Cleveland shut out last-place Detroit Tigers 2-0.

Other results:

American—Boston 2, Washington 4; St. Louis 8, Chicago 0. National—Pittsburgh 2, Cincinnati 7; Chicago 0, St. Louis 1. PCL—Seattle 1, Portland 5. (Only game scheduled.)

WIL—Vancouver 2, Lewiston 0; Victoria 7, Spokane 8; Yakima 4, Wenatchee 2; Tri-City-Salem, rain.

Flying Randalls Follow Footsteps Of Pilot Father

EDMONTON (CP)—Flying is becoming a tradition in the Robert Randall family of Edmonton.

It started with Robert Sr., a pilot with Canadian Pacific Airlines on trans-Pacific routes, and was followed by his twin sons, Howard and Robert Jr., first officers (co-pilots) with the same airline.

Poppa Randall has been flying since 1928. He started in Saskatoon and was flying for Mackenzie Air Services in 1937 when it merged with a number of small companies to form CPA.

The boys started their flying careers with the Air Cadets in Edmonton before they finished high school. Both won scholarships to learn to fly and after completing Air Cadet training they received private licences through the Edmonton Flying Club.

Movie Making Stopped by Quarrel Between Producer, Actor Lanza

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—M-G-M's quarrel with singer Mario Lanza reached a new crisis today with the studio announcing abandonment of his new film, "The Student Prince."

The studio said more than $700,000 already has been invested in the movie. A spokesman for Lanza said the singer expects the picture still will be completed.

"Most of the technical obstacles have been taken care of," the spokesman said, "but there are some artistic issues still to be settled. Lanza feels that possibly the picture will be delayed for a few weeks but that eventually it will be made and he is most anxious to star in it under the right auspices."

Reports circulated that the actor does not see eye to eye with those in charge of making the movie.

TIMES CHANGING—Threshing machines with a large crew such as this are gradually giving way to combine harvesters on prairie wheat fields in the revolution under way in grain harvesting. The old method of cutting and drying grain in bundles, hauling to threshing machines and storing in granaries for leisurely transport to elevators—all of which took a couple of months—has been replaced by combine harvesters, tractors and trucks making fast delivery to elevators. Under favorable conditions harvesting now takes less than a month. (CP Photo)

SPEED HARVEST—Combine harvesters are tackling this year's estimated record crop of 1,455,000,000 bushels of grain expected to come off prairie province fields in the next few weeks. This machine, working near Portage la Prairie, Man., can harvest a crop in one operation, speeding up the harvest from a couple of months to a month or less. Size of crop and speed of harvesting are presenting Western Canadian farmers with a serious storage problem. (CP Photo)

Fast Harvesting Adds to Storage Problem

WINNIPEG 9—A revolution in grain harvesting, which has been under way for 25 years, is a major factor in the grain storage problem confronting western farmers now as they start bringing in perhaps the biggest crop in history.

Agriculture officials here say the introduction of combine harvesters tractors and trucks in place of threshing machines, horses and wagons has slashed the harvest season from an all-Fall job to as little as two weeks.

Farm storage—an important part of the old, slow system—has been allowed to slide in favor of a speedy clean-up and fast delivery to elevators.

FLOOD OF GRAIN

Elevator and railway handling facilities, geared to an average crop, can not handle this year's estimated flood of 1,455,000,000 bushels of all grain expected to come off the prairies in a few weeks. Third big crop in a row, it bumps against 405,000,000 bushels carried over from last year.

Manitoba farm officials say that under the old system harvest started early in August and ended when the first snow fell in October. Now, with favorable conditions, it can be finished in less than a month.

Under the old method, grain was cut and tied in bundles; piled manually in "stocks" to dry, possibly for weeks; and later hauled to threshing machines for separation of grain and straw. Then the grain was stored in granaries for leisurely transport to elevators—until recent years in horse-drawn wagons.

This spread elevator deliveries over a long period.

Under today's method, a combine harvester plods through the grain fields and takes off the crop in one operation. A grain truck, shuttling from combine to elevator, can keep pace and move as much as a carload of grain—1,800 bushels—to the elevator in one day.

The speed of this method and the high cost of building granaries deterred farmers from building and replacing old storage.

Even with Canadian Wheat Board delivery quotas, designed to control the flow of grain to market, only a limited amount was kept on farms. Handling facilities could cope with an average yield.

The swing to mechanized farming which has multiplied storage problems is illustrated in figures from the 1951 census.

In 1941, Western Canada had 18,081 combines. By 1951, the total had jumped to 79,117. In the same period, the number of threshing machines dropped from 44,218 to 43,414. Tractors increased from 112,624 to 236,930; trucks from 43,363 to 113,512.

CNR Order for Diesels Total $18,000,000

MONTREAL.—An 18 million dollar order for 102 road and switcher diesel locomotives was announced here yesterday by E. A. Bromley, vice-president, purchases and stores, Canadian National Railways.

When this and previous orders have been filled, the CNR will have 448 diesels—not including 26 rail cars—in operation throughout Canada and the United States. At present there are 343 diesel locomotives running over Canadian National lines.

All diesels in this year's order—except four switchers for use in the United States—will be operated in Canada. Two 1000-horsepower switchers will be built by American Locomotive Company, and two 1200-horsepower units by General Motors.

Diesels ordered for use in Canada include: 20 1600-horsepower road locomotives from Canadian Locomotive Company Ltd.; 10 of the same type from Montreal Locomotive Works Ltd.; 40 1500-horsepower road locomotives from General Motors; six 1200-horsepower road switchers for Newfoundland from General Motors, and 22 660-horsepower switchers from Montreal Locomotive Works.

The present order brings the value of all types of equipment still to be delivered to the CNR to 67 million.

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Here's bad news for imitators of Marlon Brando: He's taking diction lessons.

The young actor's odd manner of talk has been the butt of many a jibe. His free-speaking performance in "A Streetcar Named Desire" brought TV imitations second in number only to Johnny (Sob) Ray.

Brando isn't at all sensitive about his manner of reading lines. (Why should he be? It earns him $100,000 a picture and upwards.) But he's taking diction lessons anyway. The reason for this is that he's playing the second Shakespearean role of his career.

Eight years ago when Brando was 20 and playing in a small-time summer theatre he had a small role in "Richard III." He says that he wore dyed long underwear for tights.

BIGGER THINGS

His current Shakespeare is on a slightly larger scale. This time it's a film version of "Julius Caesar" and the cast includes Greer Garson, Louis Calhern, James Amson, John Gielgud, Deborah Kerr and Edmund O'Brien. Faced with this formidable array Brando enlisted the aid of a Shakespearean teacher and a diction coach. He explained his reasons:

"I think Shakespeare requires a kind of diction which can be called stage English."

"I accepted this role because I thought it would be good experience for me, and good discipline, too. My kind of acting has always been very free. I always like to be easy and uninhibited in the characterizations I do. But it's a different matter when you do Shakespeare. You immediately have certain bounds and limits beyond which you cannot go."

Shakespeare or no, Brando will again get a chance to display his muscular frame in "Julius Caesar." Dressed in nothing more than a pair of track shorts, Roman style, he participates in a running race in the Colosseum for the picture.

"There is some justification for it," he explained. "Mark Antony was supposed to have been quite an athlete."

tion and about "500 strangers" from surrounding districts joined the fun. An ox was roasted on a wireless and this, along with potatoes, was served with "plenty of bread, hemlock tea and whisky."

Later the cornerstone of Guelph's first stone building was laid followed by a ball for notables, "some of whom consumed too much grog and started to fight."

Constable Thomas Brown was injured while trying to restore order. Later, his daughter, Letitia Brown, first white child born here, was presented with a house and lot.

Next occasion for celebration was the city's first fair. It too ended in a fight which started in Charles McTague's saloon, between the Irish and Yankees.

"The Irish, since there were more of them, won. The only real casualty was John Galt's horse. Its tail was cut off."

A barrel of whisky was bought to celebrate the King's birthday the next year.

"A popular vote chose this method of celebrating in preference to roasting another ox."

BLACK ORIGIN

ROODEPOORT, South Africa. —A "commonsense" deduction from the available evidence is that mankind descended from a black and not a white ancestor, says Dr. M.D.W. Jeffreys, senior lecturer in social anthropology at the University of Witwatersrand. The white races are bleached specimens of the original dark-pigmented primitive man, he says.

Knees Now Used to Make New Ears by Plastic Surgery

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

CHICAGO (AP)—New ears made from knees were described today to the International College of Surgeons.

The ear is fashioned around a piece of cartilage shaped like a half-moon taken from a joint in the knee. It supplies a natural half-moon shape for the ear.

The knee cartilage is obtained from knees lost through amputations, or taken during surgery to fix "trick" knees.

The cartilage is quick-frozen and kept in a bone bank until the plastic surgeon needs it to build a new ear to place one lost by accident, or to give ears to children born without them. Skin is grafted around the cartilage to form the ear.

The ear cartilage is soft, flexible, normal-looking, said Dr. Leslie H. Baker, University of Buffalo School.

New ears also can be made from rib cartilage, or things such as ivory, rubber or plastics.

None give perfect cause of difficulties in skin to give all the contour an ear. They don't affect hearing, which depends on inner ear.
