The weatherman won't promise anything too bright for tomorrow but everything else is settled for the visit here of Canada's Prime Minister—the Hon. Louis St. Laurent.

Big-3 Agree To Meet Russ Demands

MOSCOW (CP)—Britain, United States and France Saturday proposed to meet with Russia in London Sept. 29 to discuss the new draft of a peace treaty for Austria.

To meet Russia's demands, the Big Three western powers agreed to limit Austria's armed forces to 53,000 troops and police once the four-power treaty is signed.

The three western governments also agreed to Russia's insistence the specific guarantees be included in any treaty providing for basic freedoms, free elections and dissolving of any Nazi-like organizations.

The British-American-French proposals were delivered in informal notes to the Russian foreign office. The western move represented a joint effort to prod Russia into agreeing to the Austrian pact.

First Baby Born Over Pacific Ocean

VANCOUVER (CP)—Flight 306 came in today from Hong Kong with an extra passenger—a Chinese baby born over the Pacific Ocean.

A barrage of exploding flash bulbs welcomed the baby girl as she was carried in a wooden box makeshift cradle from the big Canadian Pacific Airlines plane.

Her Chinese mother and father and 24 other passengers followed her into the immigration office. She was born at 9 a.m. Sept. 6, one hour before the international dateline but the plane landed at Shemya airport in the Aleutians at 12:50 a.m. Sept. 5.

Born to Wong Yuk Tong, 21, wife of Daniel Yuk Kai, 31, of Heppner, Ore., the log showed the baby's place of birth as "co-ordinate 48 degrees north, 162 degrees east at 9,000 feet aboard C.P.A. flight 306."

The crew claimed a new honor—the tiny Chinese girl is the first baby born over the Pacific.

Tanker Split At Sea, 13 Feared Lost

CHARLESTON, S.C. (CP)—The Honduras tanker, Foundation Star, battered by heavy seas split in two about 130 miles southeast of here today with the possible loss of 13 men.

Coast Guard reported that the 5,500-ton tanker carried a crew of 30 men. It said 17 had been picked up by the Norwegian ship Emu.

At Miami, the Coast Guard said it had accepted a navy offer to divert four destroyer-type ships to assist in the search for the missing men.

Two crew members refused to leave the wreckage, the Emu reported. Under Maritime law, a wrecked ship can not be claimed as salvage prize as long as crew members remain aboard.

He is leaving the CNR at the end of this month to assume his new post as a member of the board of directors of the B.C.-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

His appointment was announced several weeks ago by Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

Pilgrims Perish in Indian Trek

NEW DELHI (CP)—Newspapers reported today at least 350 pilgrims perished and many others are missing in a fierce storm that caught them on a trek toward the Sacred Seat of Hindu gods on the high glacial slopes of the Himalayas.

A spokesman for the Indian government said he doubted if an accurate count of the dead was possible, however, because pilgrims were scattered over many miles of mountain trails when the post-monsoon snows overtook them.

They were struggling toward the headwater region of the Holy Ganges river for the annual Mani Mahesh festival.

PGE Nears Completion

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—The Quesnel-Prince George extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway will probably be completed by Sept. 18, an inspection party said Friday.

George Murray, member of parliament for Cariboo and Alderman Harold Assman of Prince George said only 100 feet of uncompleted bridge and several thousand yards of gravel stand in the way of the first official Prince George-Quesnel train.

Just returned from a survey of the extension, the two men said a 100-foot gap in Abha Creek bridge about 60 miles south of here needs to be closed. Tracks will not be ready for regular traffic for some months yet, they said. It will take that time for a crew to level and line the tracks.

Famed British Pilot Killed In Supersonic Flight Crash

FARNBOROUGH, Eng. (CP)—A De Havilland 110—Britain's new wonder jet fighter—exploded in a supersonic flight before 120,000 spectators at Farnborough air show today, killing its famed pilot. Seven spectators also were reported killed.

Pilot was John Derry, first British aviator to exceed the speed of sound and live to tell about it.

After three violent blasts apparently occurring as the plane broke through the sound barrier, it blew to pieces in a blinding flash directly over the crowd.

Dozens of pieces spiralled to the earth. The fuselage crashed into a hillside and police said both Derry and a companion not identified were killed instantly.

Shaw Refused Merit Order; No Need For Publicity

LONDON (Reuters)—George Bernard Shaw, the late Irish dramatist and socialist, was "more than once" offered one of Britain's highest distinctions—the Order of Merit—but refused it each time, his former secretary said today.

"I need no publicity... either I shall be remembered as a playwright as long as Aristophanes and rank with Shakespeare and Moliere, or I shall be a forgotten clown before the end of the century," Miss Blanche Patch quoted him as once remarking.

The order is limited to a living membership of 24 Britons, plus "honorary members" of foreign countries.

Greeting to the PM

TOMORROW Prince Rupert will welcome its distinguished visitor, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

Because of a full itinerary his visit must be a short one, but we appreciate nonetheless the interest he is showing in coming north and taking a look at this thriving part of the province.

There is no point in reminding the Prime Minister that among northern B.C.'s better known products are the outstanding Liberals it has given to Canadian politics. He will be aware of the territory's record in this respect.

What we would point out is that this country up here is making increasing contributions to the economy of Canada. No doubt the Prime Minister is aware of this also, but he may not be fully cognizant of the handicaps under which it is being done.

Although existing transportation services are performing to their lasting credit in providing the life stream for our development, Prince Rupert and district are still much too isolated from the rest of the country. Principally, we need more and better highways and we need an airport.

During his trip Mr. St. Laurent will not have an opportunity to study this matter in detail, but we hope he returns to Ottawa with a clear impression of northern B.C.'s increasingly important place in the Canadian economy and its need to be more closely knit into that economy.

It is not our wish, however, to have our hand out to the Prime Minister except in welcome. He is unquestionably one of the finest leaders that any country has today. He has a rare combination of humanity, intellect, courage and vision and, as one of our brothers of the French tongue, has an invaluable part in fusing together the country's two great national elements.

We extend to him our warmest greetings.

Biggest Prosperity Hits Cape Breton Since War

By The Canadian Press

All is not peaceful between Cape Breton industry and its workers, but labor disputes are being worked out against a background of the greatest prosperity since the peak days of the Second World War.

National Employment Service figures tell a story of rising employment sparked by commercial and industrial expansion. The number of registered jobless in the island is 1660, or 500 less than at the same time last year.

Ideal summer weather and a broad scale program of major construction have contributed to what is almost certain to be a record industrial year.

One thing which could upset the trend would be an eruption of the contract battle between the Sydney local of the United Steel Workers of America and the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation, operators of the giant Sydney plants.

As things stand, the negotiations are critical but not hopeless. At odds over wage demands, the company and the 4700-member union have asked a conciliation board to delay its report while they explore other possible avenues of agreement. Operations at the plant have continued to run at a brisk pace in spite of the labor differences. A modernization program is in full swing and a multi-million-dollar expansion job is under way at the coke ovens.

Job openings have soared so quickly that skilled labor is at a premium. A bricklayer working at the coke ovens can earn as high as $2.50 an hour.

Other big construction jobs are taking their share of skilled tradesmen and keeping employment at a record height. These include two hospitals, two junior high schools and group housing projects.

Many workers soon will be absorbed by construction of the Strait of Canso causeway, a mighty three-year job which will see a mountain pushed into a deep, wide trough of angry tidal waters.

Flying Saucers Real?

(This is the third in a special series of articles.)

LOS ANGELES. — The man who knows more about the mystery of the flying saucers than anybody else able and willing to tell is Gerald Heard, British scientist and philosopher now living in Hollywood.

Many of us in Canada remember Heard away back about 20 years when he was a regular broadcaster over the BBC on scientific subjects. He came to America in the early thirties to take the chair of historical anthropology at Duke University, but soon came on to California. He has written a long list of books, including "Is God in History?" and "Pain, Sex and Time."

But he has also written the liveliest and most authentic book about the flying saucers. It is

IS ANOTHER WORLD WATCHING? published by Harper at $2.75 in U.S.A.

BEFORE I discuss Heard's explanation and attempted solution of the flying saucer mystery, here is a word about the man. I heard him speak yesterday morning at the Vedanta temple. This perfect little gem of Hindu architecture sits on a hill above Hollywood.

It was a sizzling hot Sunday morning but the place was packed out well before 11. Heard appeared sharp on the hour and spoke for one hour, less two minutes. It was a learned discussion on "Play" in all its numerous different meanings.

Heard is tall, thin, in early 60s. He still has brown hair on top of his head and a sharpish beard of a Van Dyke type. He has the most delicate, expressive hands I have ever seen, and penetrating, blue eyes which, however, never for a single moment look at anybody in his audience, but pierce above, behind and beyond the listeners.

Rumor around Hollywood says that Heard earns fabulous sums of money as the author (under another name) of popular detective stories. His lectures in the Hindu teaching centre are obviously a labor of love.

IN HEARD'S BOOK on the flying saucers he deals with the best authenticated reports on this mystery airship business. He shows that since the year 1947 there have been over 400 cases of eyewitness reports of what are popularly called flying saucers.

I was interested to note that not a single one of the cases mentioned by Heard falls within the "phony" or hoax class which have been exposed (as I showed in previous articles in this series).

He deals with the case of June 24, 1947, where Kenneth Arnold of Boise, Idaho, reported encountering "nine objects flying like a line of geese" around Mt. Rainier; with that of January 7, 1948, where state police, airport executives and air crewmen all saw an immense "space ship" over Fort Knox, Kentucky; with that of June 23, 1948, when an Eastern Airlines plane encountered a "super-giant torpedo type" craft with which they almost collided over a regular airline; also with the fantastic episode at the U.S. rocket proving grounds at New Mexico, April 1949. There the U.S. Navy experts themselves reported they saw an unexplained and unidentified "space ship" take a close look at their own rockets, in flight. The strangers were travelling "some eighteen thousand miles per hour."

There is a place for every thing except your knees under some of the short tables in restaurants.

NOT A COPPER

Coronation approaches and as usual, there will be all sorts of criticism, sometimes unjust. For example, the sums paid for the maintenance of the Queen or King. It cannot be denied salary and allowances are paid out of revenue from royal properties, accumulated over a period of a thousand years. Out of this the government makes a handsome profit. Upkeeping of the Royal family does not cost the British taxpayer a single cent. But how many, so eager to make unsupported charges, are aware of this?

SECRET IS OUT

It was Mark Twain, who on reaching his seventieth year, announced: "I made it a rule never to smoke while asleep, never to stop smoking while awake and never to smoke more than one cigar at a time."

When one thinks how many people there are that one does not in the least want to marry, and how many there are that do not in the least want to marry one, and how small one's social circle really is, any marriage at all seems a miracle. Quoted in McCalls.

HERE And NOW

By LARRY STANWOOD

TERRACE. — There is a bustle of activity in this settlement which appears to be heading only to one objective: growth.

Building is going on everywhere, in the village and on the farms. While there are few older homes in the district that have any modern exterior appearance, the new houses are designed and built according to high standards.

Farm homes under construction are in several cases elaborate, while others are of compact but of as modern design as those in the village.

Often a small shack, a trailer or even a tent is pitched on a lot with a visible household activity going on therein, while nearby under construction is the permanent home.

The average farmer here has perhaps 10 acres and on it he is convinced he can grow anything.

Joe Rolison, for instance, has a five-acre holding but he is negotiating for five more. An easy talking and easy going sort of chap, he can't praise Terrace enough after eight years of living there.

Joe and his family—he and his wife have two children—came from northern Saskatchewan.

"We are very happy we came here. We could have moved to a city, but you wouldn't catch me living there."

"The farm is the only place for kids in the first place. And I, why—cities are just too fenced in for me."

The Rolison farm raises a lot of good potatoes, big-eared corn, cucumbers and carrots; beets and apples. Then there are chickens, pigs, a cow and guinea hens.

But like many other farmers around Terrace, Rolison cannot depend on his farm for a livelihood. He has a car and commutes daily to work in a sawmill. After a full shift at the mill, he tends the farm.

"Sometimes it seems a little like hard work, but I never saw anybody who got anything without working for it," says Joe. "It would seem to me that a lot of young fellows could make a good thing out of farming around here if they wanted to work a little."

"Of course, you'd likely have to do a double job for awhile, but I think the future would be worth it."

Joe believes that Terrace farmers, if they go at it in the right way, can become major suppliers for Prince Rupert's needs in vegetables and hard fruits.

Holding a couple of giant-sized potatoes in each big hand, he said:

"I don't think you can grow them better anywhere."

He also said that the top award for Canadian apples was taken by a Terrace farmer.

Anybody want to buy a farm? There are a few for sale, says Joe. Going around $100 an acre and that's a pretty big lot for $100. In the Fraser Valley, the average piece of farmland sells for 10 times that amount.

Communism Enters Radio, TV by Party Line Writers

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A senate sub-committee report said today that pro-Communist script writers are spreading "subtle" propaganda over radio and television airwaves in the United States.

"The thing is subtle," the report of the Senate Internal Security sub-committee quoted script writer Ruth Adams Knight as testifying at closed hearings.

Miss Knight said pro-Communist writers stop short of "laying down the party line" in their scripts, but skillfully weave into them "a constant derision of the capitalist system."

In testimony quoted by the sub-committee, Miss Knight and Welbourn E. Kelley denounced Ira Marion, a one-time script writer for Voice of America anti-Communist propaganda broadcasts beamed to Israel. Both swore that in private life Marion is an identifiable pro-Communist.

The sub-committee in its own findings, however, treated the Voice broadcasts cautiously. It said simply that members of the Radio Writers' Guild, of which Marion is a former president, "write for the Voice of America and the United Nations radio section," and that the guild "is controlled by the pro-Communist faction."

The report came on the heels of one the sub-committee released recently alleging Communist infiltration of youth work—including the boy scouts—and dropped a hint that the sub-committee also is studying "use of sex" in the Communist underground movement.

It quoted a statement by Richard Arens, the sub-committee's staff director, that the group planned "interrogation respecting Communist tactics which will involve interrogation of the question of patronage (job dispensing), use of the blacklist against anti-Communists, use of sex."

Slated to retire on June 30, 1953, Rev. George A. Little, editor of Sunday-school publications, will make his final report to general council at the forthcoming session. The committee on vacancies has nominated Rev. Peter Gordon White, now an assistant editor in the department, to succeed Rev. George A. Little. Mr. White was formerly field secretary for the board of Christian education.

Also slated for retirement, on June 30, 1954, is Rev. Archer Wallace, associate editor of Sunday-school publications, and author of many boys' books. The name of Rev. Wilbur K. Howard who is now field secretary of the board of Christian education in the Manitoba conference, has been suggested by the vacancies committee.

Renewed Zeal Needed, Says Churchmen at Annual Synod

LONDON, Ont. — Renewed religious zeal is needed in these times when "all conflicts of the 20th century seem to be moving rapidly towards a climax," the primate of the Church of England in Canada said here.

The Most Rev. Walter Barfoot, Archbishop of Edmonton, told the first session of the 18th general synod here the "church has as an essential part of its Gospel, creation of a kind of society in which man can live in freedom. This issue will probably be lost or won in this century."

Owens-Haughland Vow Nuptials in Terrace Church

A lovely wedding was solemnized in Knox United Church at Terrace when Irene Agnes (Honey) Haughland, daughter of H.M. and Mrs. Emil Haughland, became the bride of Andrew (Andy) Owens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Owens of Prince Rupert.

The ceremony took place before the flower-decked altar with Rev. A. C. Dukelow officiating.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a gown of white satin and lace, her shoulder veil hanging gracefully from a halo headdress. She wore a strand of pearls, gift of the groom.

Bridesmaids were Pearl Haughland, sister of the bride, who was dressed in a lovely gown of figured blue nylon, and Miss Doreen Mutrie of Vernon, whose gown was of yellow nylon.

Junior bridesmaid was little Judy Kerby who was daintily attired in a floor-length dress of pink with a pink veil hanging from her blond curls.

Ray Judd was best man and George Haughland and David Owens were ushers.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Odd-fellows Hall where Mrs. Haughland, in a gown of figured green nylon with hat to match, and Mrs. Owens, in a dress of blue with matching accessories, received the guests.

Among toasts proposed at the reception was one by Mr. Owens, Sr., to Mr. and Mrs. Emil Haughland who were celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary on the same day.

The newly-weds are spending a honeymoon at Lakelse Lake after which they will take up residence here.

Return From Training Eastern Navy Station

With the exception of Marian Hopkins, members of the detachment at HMCS Chatham have returned to the city after a two-week training at HMCS Cornwallis.

The bride's parents' wedding anniversary was the date chosen by Dorothy Mabel Smith and Paul Maslenki when they exchanged marriage vows in St. Peter's Anglican Church on Thursday.

Archdeacon E. Hodson officiated at the candlelight double ring service for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Smith and the son of Mr. Peter Maslenki of Winnipeg.

The bride entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin played by Mr. J. E. Davey. She was accompanied by Mr. Oscar Smith, who later gave her in marriage.

The bride's gown was of white satin in princess style. The bodice was fashioned with lace matching the front and back panels of the skirt and featured a Peter Pan collar and lily point sleeves. A Juliet cap of satin encrusted with pearls and orange blossoms held the embroidered fingertip veil. The bride carried a white prayer book crested with a mauve orchid and tulle. She wore a triple strand of pearls and ear rings, the gift of the groom.

Mrs. Frank Froese, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, was gowned in medium blue tulle with picture hat to match. She carried a Colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations.

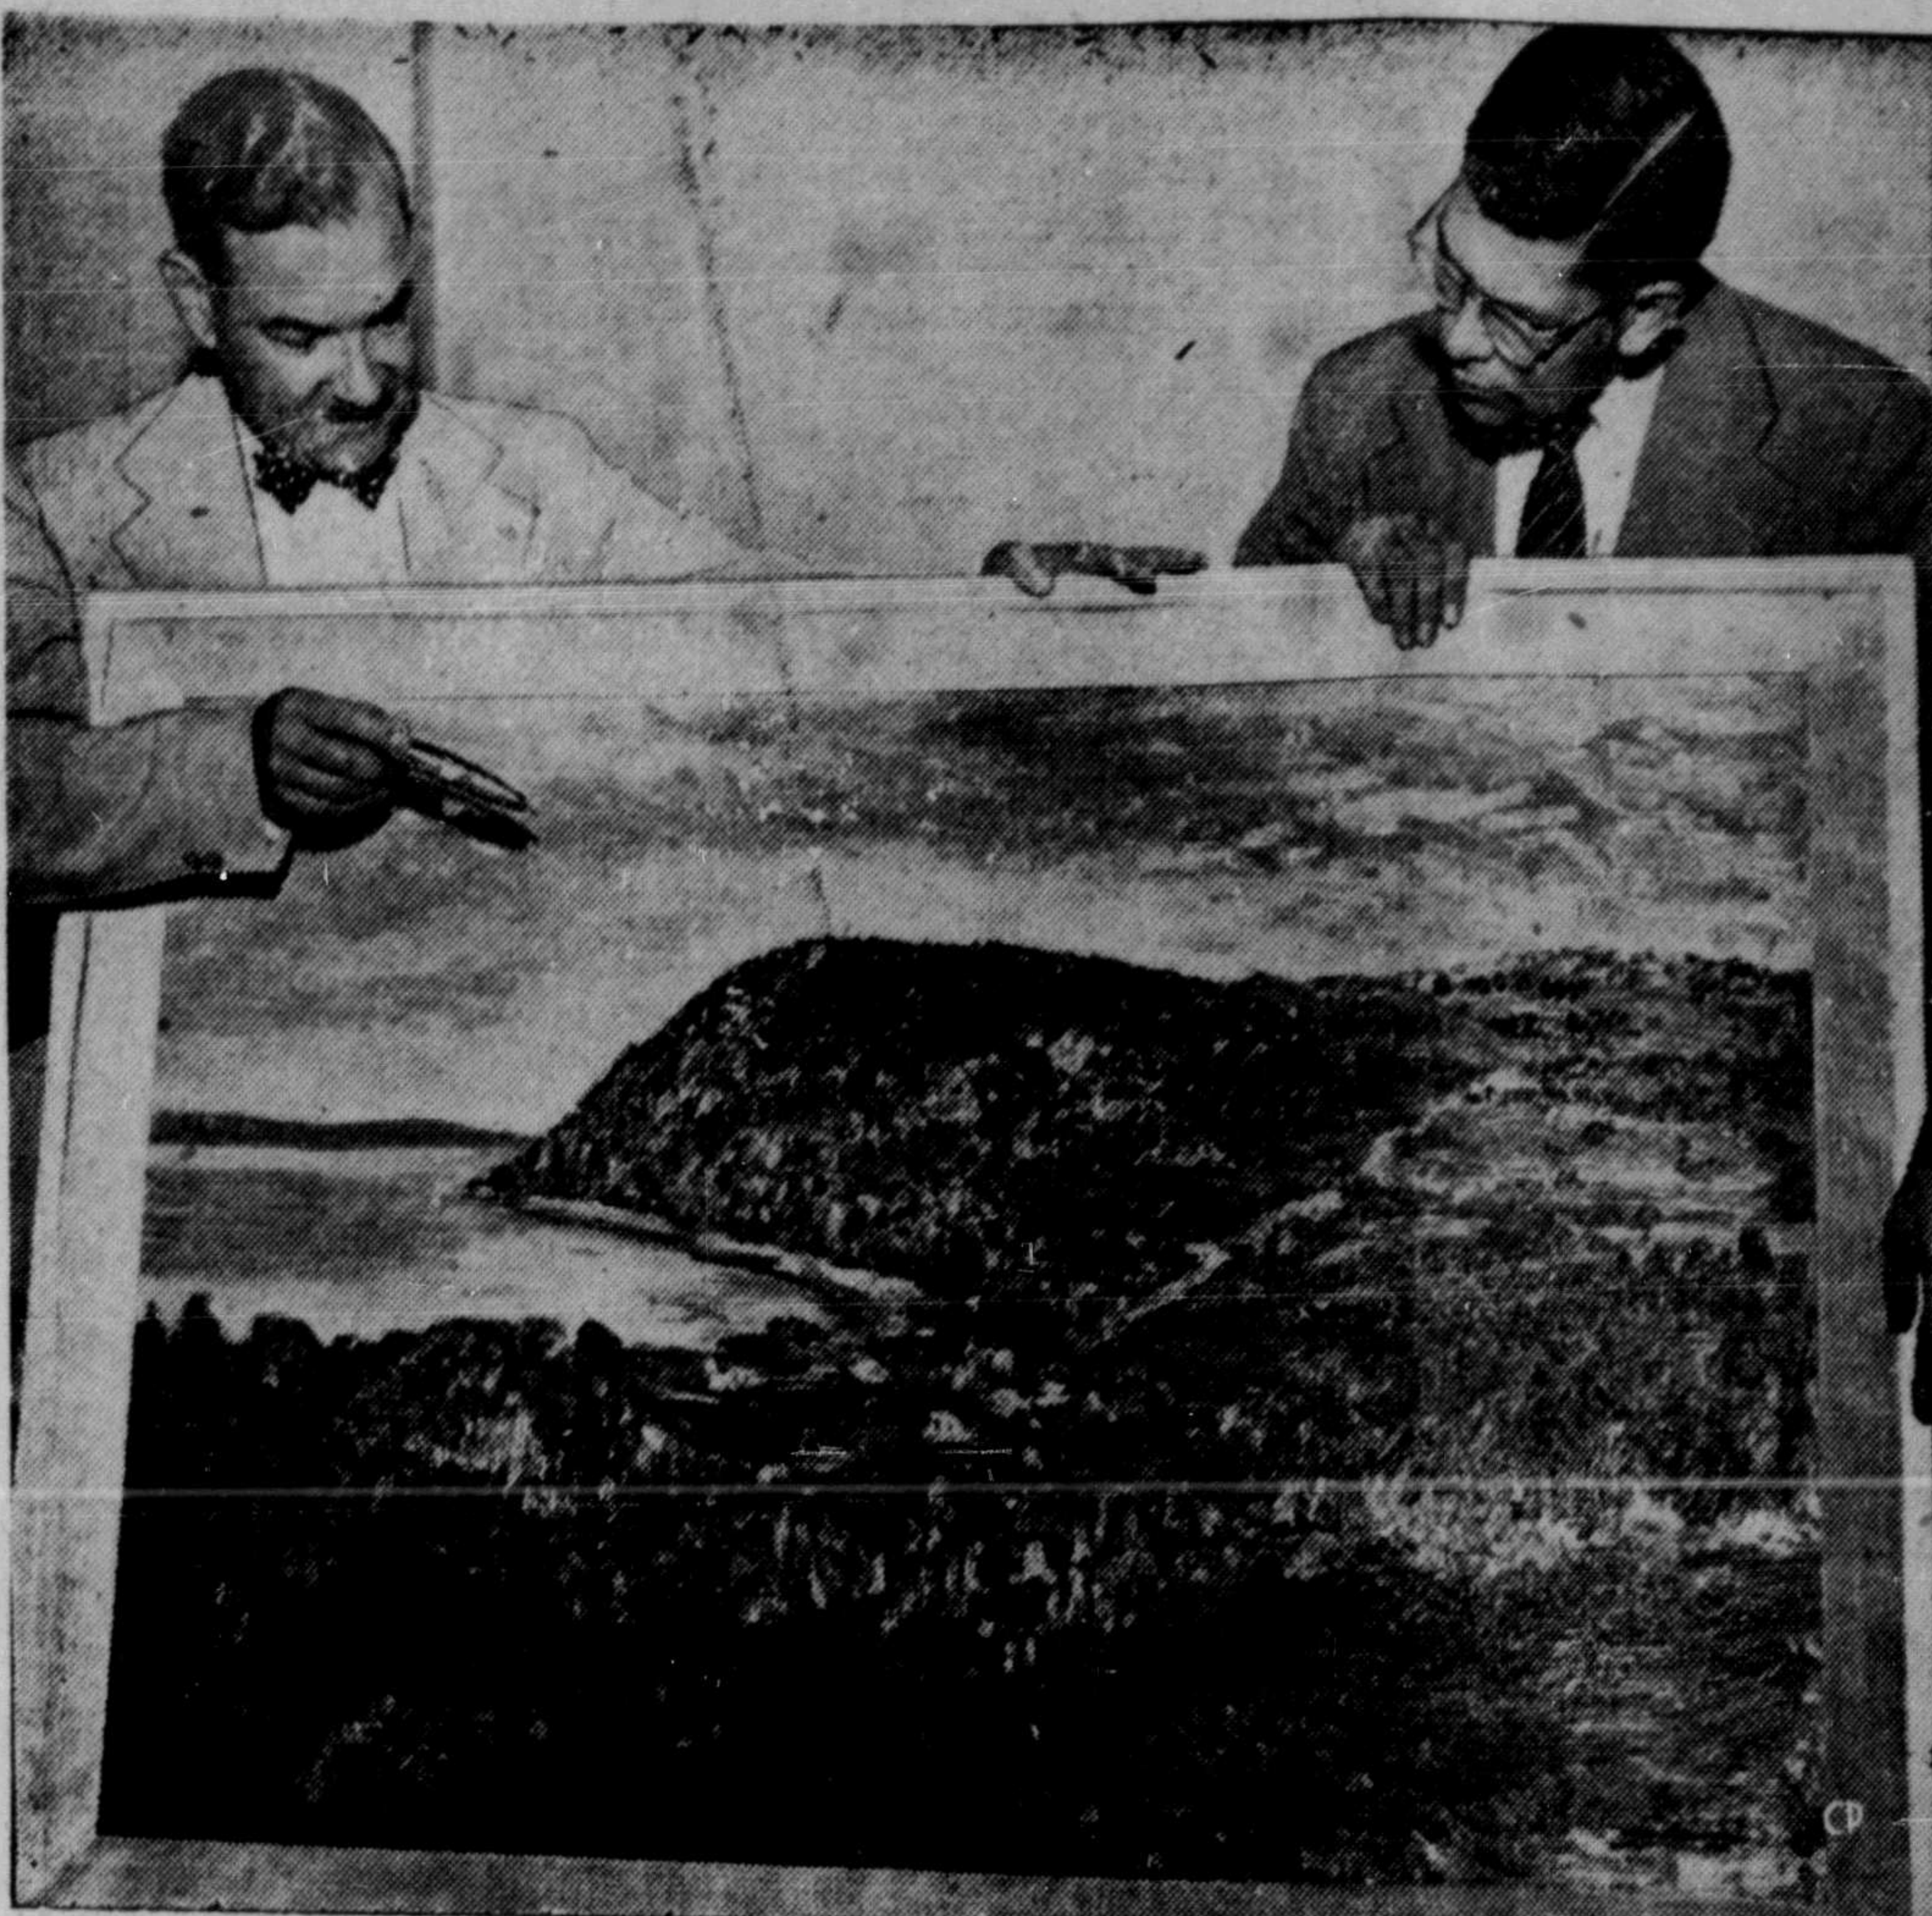

The groom was attended by Ronald Stewart. Frank Froese ushered.

During the signing of the register, Mr. Davey sang "I Walk Beside You."

Following the ceremony a reception was held at St. Peter's Hall. The room was attractively decorated with pink and white streamers. Guests were received by the bride's mother who was gowned in navy dress with navy and white accessories and corsage of yellow carnations.

After the reception the couple left on the Prince Rupert for a honeymoon trip south. Her corsage was a mauve orchid.

The bride until her marriage was a member of the staff of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, Prince Rupert, and the groom is associated with Greer and Bridden.

Inexpensive Furs Mark Fall Fashions

By MURIEL NARAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Fall fashion shows in London and Paris have turned the winter spotlight on fur. Not mink and sable; but common mole, natural fox, brushed beaver, lamb and seal-skin.

Throughout the world, it seems, the best customers are the working millions. So for myriads of women in London, Paris, Rome and Frankfurt, the winter fur trimmings are those that do not boost the price of garments out of reach of a moderate bankroll.

Pierre Balmain of Paris and Hardy Amies of London show the glamor effected by cheaper furs.

Mink, chinchilla, sable and lynx are used in both cities, but none achieve the unanimous popularity of mole and sealskin and the slightly more expensive Persian and Indian lamb.

Top designers in both countries use these furs for linings, collars, cuffs, peplums, hats and trimmings. Hardy Amies, designer to the Queen, lines a black corded velvet swag with black moleskin. Balmain lines a big-sleeved, loose grey tweed coat with yellow lamb, and Peter Russell uses moleskin linings to tone with materials.

Canuck Scientist Famed in Britain For Wartime Work

By JACK GOLDING

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Sir Charles Goodeve, the Winnipeg-born scientist who took much of the terror out of enemy minefields in the Second World War, gives the University of Manitoba a large share of credit for his achievements.

Sir Charles was recently awarded £7,500 by the Royal Commission on Awards and Inventions, for his efforts against the menace of magnetic mines. But the slender, 47-year-old scientist, who sailed for Canada aboard the Empress of Scotland on Aug. 26, says he could not have perfected his system known as "wiping" if he had not studied water and electric current at the University of Manitoba. At that time he was studying for his Master's Degree in science.

In an interview, Sir Charles said he would like to get one thing straight—there is no truth in the reports that he invented the "degaussing" method of demagnetizing vessels.

MINESWEEP VICTORY

What he did do was develop the "Double L" (longitudinal) sweep, whereby minesweepers could detonate enemy mines harmlessly. That was early in the war. The Germans didn't catch on until 1943, and some scientific journals claim this anti-mine weapon was the Allies' first major victory over the Germans in wartime science.

Sir Charles got an O.B.E. for this.

Then, on his own time, he produced an economical method of degaussing ships in the days before Dunkerque. In four days, 40 small ships were fitted with the anti-mine device. This is said to have saved the British government more than £10,000, and brought Sir Charles his £7,500 award.

"But I did not develop the degaussing gear for ships," Sir Charles said with modest emphasis. "I did produce the word 'degaussing'."

"It happened one night, after a very good dinner. The term 'demagnetization' had been selected to describe the magnetic mine antidote but I felt the Royal Navy would never accept it."

"FRIVOLOUS SIGNAL"

"After all, the army had its 'degaussing'—so I coined the word 'degaussing' (from a man named Gauss who developed physical theories regarding units of magnetization). I sent a frivolous signal to the Admiralty—and they accepted the designation."

Sir Charles obtained most of his scientific background at the University of Manitoba, leaving there in 1927 to go to Britain "because it was the centre of the scientific world." He was created a knight in 1946 and now is director of Britain's iron and steel research association.

He sailed from England this week to attend the first meeting of the Faraday Society ever held in Canada. About 20 top scientists from Canada, the United States and other countries are attending the two-day session in Toronto as guests of Canada's National Research Council.

Their subject is "The Reactivity of Free Radicals," which doesn't mean a political study. It concerns the actions of fragments of molecules.

Quebec Officials Say Driving Test Would Cut Losses

MONTREAL (CP)—Speed, negligence and Quebec's method of issuing driving licences without tests are blamed for 92 deaths and 4,900 injured in 10,661 traffic accidents this year in Montreal and district.

That was the toll here a week before the Labor Day holiday week-end. For the whole of 1951, the count was 89 deaths and 6,421 injured in 20,866 accidents. Deputy director Hilaire Beauregard of the provincial police says motorists are careless. "They pay little attention to road signs and think every highway is a straight thoroughfare with no turns and crossings," he said. City police say the main cause is speeding.

NO TEST NEEDED

But Jean-Claude Provost of the Quebec Safety League says failure to give driving tests or physical examinations makes it possible for anyone to get a driving permit. And he believes the Quebec driver, besides needing education in driving, has little courtesy on the road.

G. A. McNamee, manager of the Royal Automobile Club, blames the failure to impose driving tests, but says that education also plays a major role. "Many people don't know how to drive, even though they have licences," he suggested. "Education is the only way to stop such accidents. Sane and practical law enforcement would also help."

Polio Claims 7th Victim In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Infantile paralysis has claimed its seventh victim of 1952 in the Greater Vancouver area.

Dead is a four-year-old North Vancouver girl—the 21st victim of the disease to die in B.C. this year.

At Hope, 90 miles east of Vancouver, where six new cases of polio were confirmed and five others are under observation, schools and places of entertainment, except taverns, have been closed.

HITTING THE LURE is this big one who might easily have been a winner in the Prince Rupert Salmon Derby which opened today at 7 a.m. Three derbies rolled into one end with the Grand Derby Oct. 11-13.

Test New Process To Preserve Wood

QUEBEC (CP)—Laval University scientists this autumn will begin anti-decay experiments on wood by applying modern engineering techniques to a century-old method.

They hope to find an economical way of applying creosote under pressure to lumber used in railway cross-ties, power line poles and wooden bridges. Creosote-treated wood resists the effects of humidity four or five times longer than untreated wood.

Creosote long has been known to protect wood from decay but until fairly recently the chemical was always applied like paint. Now there is a "pressure" process for which improvements are being sought by technicians at a new laboratory in Laval's school of Land Surveying and Forest Engineering.

Under this system, thoroughly-dried lumber is placed in an airtight cylinder with creosote. Pressure of more than 100 pounds per square inch is applied and the dark, oily liquid is forced into the wood. M. A. Bourget, director of the laboratory, said the process at present is too expensive for wide industrial use but experiments are continuing.

Bette Davis Picks up Threads In Rehearsal of Broadway Show

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP). — Bette Davis was preparing to leave next week for New York, where she will begin rehearsals in a revue, "Two is Company." It will be her first Broadway show since she came to Hollywood for a distinguished career that has lasted more than two decades.
"Of course I'm nervous!" said the actress, who generally speaks with exclamation marks. "Who wouldn't be nervous? But I'm not worried. It's a fine show and I'll do my best to help make it a hit. Ogden Nash has written some wonderful material."
Will she sing in the show?
"Certainly I'll sing! It's a musical, isn't it?"
Is she practicing a time step for the dance numbers?
"Now, really, how long has it been since you've seen a time step in a revue? Jerome Robbins is doing the choreography, and he's the best in the field!"
Is she concerned about facing a live audience after all these years in movies?
"Of course not! Oh, the first night in New York may be tense. But there's no difference in the mediums. If you're an actor, you're an actor! It doesn't matter whether it's stage, pictures, television or radio. You're still acting."
"This matter of 'going back' to the stage is ridiculous! You don't 'go back' to the stage. It's merely a matter of geography; acting is acting in any medium."
Miss Davis added that she will stay with the show as long as she is needed. That could mean two years, if it's a hit. Is she worried about being off the screen that long?
"Not in the least! The only way to get good things done in this business is to take chances. That's the trouble with Hollywood—it forgot how to take chances."

repair work is still being performed on the Danube, an Alaskan craft that ran ashore on the Queen Charlotte Islands after her owner and operator was stricken with illness some time ago. Eventually the Danube was salvaged and brought here for general overhaul.
The movement of salmon packers from Ketchikan to Prince Rupert continued active through the week, there being full shipments and the boats, the Sydney, the Dagney and the Robert Eugene. There's a huge total of salmon on this part of the coast as a result of this season's catch, as well as earlier ones.
Until she is fit to resume, the CPR steamer Princess Maquinn, for 39 years on duty, will be off routine on the south coast. The CPR is negotiating for a replacement ship. For the time being, the Union SS Co. boat Chilliwack is providing a stop-gap service on the west coast run. Of late, the Princess Maquinn's boilers have been leaking.
When Prince Rupert first began to be heard of, it was noticed that on British Admiralty charts, there appeared a small notice to the effect that the coast data, approaching Hecate Straits, the Queen Charlotte Islands and Dixon Entrance was provided by fishermen.
Conversion of the day beacon on Sloop Island at the north end of Masset Inlet, Queen Charlotte Islands, into a lighted automatic beacon has been announced by the Department of Transport. The new beacon shows a flashing white light and is visible for five miles.
The freighter Ocean Venus, which arrived from the Orient not quite a week ago to load barley at the Prince Rupert elevator, may not sail for another few days. This is the vessel that has an English captain with a Chinese crew. The next vessel coming here for barley is not looked for until the passing of about another week.
It was suggested in this column a week ago that the Chinese crew of board the Ocean Venus was possibly the first ever seen on a liner doing business at Prince Rupert. However, local port history discloses that prior to the completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific one came here from the Orient with a shipment of cement. This vessel had a crew of Chinese, the cargo being consigned, in part, to the contracting firm of Foley, Welsh & Stewart and the Canadian Fish and Cold Storage Co.

TAKES CHANCES
Bette is certainly a gal who takes chances. She has gambled at many turns in her career. After playing ingenues, she took a flyer on the unattractive role of Mildred in "Of Human Bondage." It started her on the road to being the screen's top dramatic actress.
She changed a secondary role in "The Man Who Came to Dinner" because she felt she needed a comedy. While most other top names shunned television, she did a comedy show with Jimmy Durante and even helped out on the commercials.
Right now she's finishing up "The Star," another example of her taking a chance. It's a bit of a story of a Hollywood star who hits the downward trail. No connection with Bette Davis.

NORTH BAY, Ont. — A provincially-owned railroad is sailing its own freight and passenger fleet through a scenic lake area of northern Ontario. Its 24 craft range from a 247-ton diesel excursion boat on Lake Nipissing near here to eight canoes on James Bay up north.
The Ontario Northern Boatlines was organized in 1944 as a subsidiary of the province's Ontario Northland Railway.
At Timagami, 65 miles north of here, 14 boats provide twice-daily service for 5,000 residents plus thousands of summer visitors. These craft include two army-type landing barges ferrying supplies to summer resorts.
The 101-foot Chief Commanda, pride of the fleet, plies Lake Nipissing and the French River on sight-seeing tours carrying about 210 passengers.
Six freight canoes and two portage canoes make up the fleet on James Bay. Four of the freight canoes work from the O.N.R. goose-hunting camp at Hannah Bay and the others link Moose River, Moosonee and Moose Factory Island.
