PRINCE RUPERT'S ELEVA-
TOR

Rumors continue to come from Vancouver that powerful influences there are at work to try to prevent the elevator being built at Prince Rupert. All sorts of interests are said to be working against it and the delay in opening the tenders is said to be part of the move to stop the construction proceeding.

It is said that further delay will be asked and that an effort will be made to have the work set over until after Parliament reassembles.

While it is difficult to believe that such influences will affect the issue, we all know that they have been effective in the past and what we want to do is to see that there is no recurrence. We cannot have the elevator snatched from our grasp just at a time when it seems to be ours. The situation must be watched carefully and any move headed off.

Among those tendering is a local firm with good financial standing. It is understood that the morning paper bought out the World and changed it to the Evening Sun the idea seemed structural man who is well able to prevail that the Province and the Sun would fill the newspaper field here. However, a third Seattle.

P. P. Giff of Seattle is secretary-treasurer of the Union for the coast, he having jurisdiction over all the local branches.

The next step was an apparent attempt on the part of the Sun to put the new paper out of business. The price of the older paper was reduced to one cent, leaving the province as the only five cent paper in the city.

While the Province gave much more news than either of the others and was worth a great deal more it lost some of its circulation simply because of the price. The Province management hesitated to enter the fray for some time as it meant losing much money but it has announced that the fight is on, and that it too will reduce its price to compete on equal terms with the other two. It is also understood it will publish a morning edition.

With its new plant there is no limit to what it can do mechanically and it has the facilities for giving everything in the way of news and features.

The result of the pitched battle will be watched with interest throughout British Columbia. General Odlum has control of the Star, and Robert Cromie of the Sun, while Frank Burke manages the Province on behalf of the Southams, who recently purchased a controlling interest in it from the Lieutenant Governor.

Views Exchanged by British and French on Payment Allied Debts

PARIS, Jan. 7.—The British chancellor of the exchequer, Right Hon. Winston Churchill, exchanged views unofficially with the French finance minister Clement today, setting forth the well known British standpoint that Britain must receive from the war debtors sums equivalent to those she must pay the United States.

Clement replied that France likewise could not forgive her debtors while obliged to pay creditors. He expressed a willingness to participate in the debt conference suggested by Mr. Churchill but thought it would not be likely to produce results in the absence of representatives from the United States.

The services of an expert of Dominion wide renown have been already retained by the company with respect to the elevator work. He will assist in making the company's tender and will take charge of the work if the local men get the job. Later as business expands, it is the intention of the company to engage a permanent general manager.

VANCOUVER, Jan. 7.—Five Northern Indians from the headwaters of the Peace River who are awaiting trial at the next assize court at Prince Rupert on charges of murdering a young boy by hanging him by the heels, are now accustoming themselves to prison surroundings. Remarkable Career of Woman Buried Today at Victoria; She Grubstaked Many Millionaires

VICTORIA, Jan. 7.—The career of a woman who commanded the respect of the rough and ready element which prospects for gold from Arizona to the Arctic regions and from California to Alaska closed today when the body of Miss Nellie Gushman was buried here.

In 1877 Miss Gushman went to Arizona, following the lure of gold. In the early eighties she grubstaked several of Arizona's present millionaires. Later she used the money returned by these men to finance a trip to Alaska where she outfitted and mushed into the interior seeking for gold.

Miss Gushman served as a nurse at many mining towns at the same time staking her own claims. Only last year she mushed from Koyukik to Seward, Alaska, over 750 miles, and spent some time in Northern British Columbia.

While the new company has submitted a tender for the foundation of the local grain elevator and will tender on the construction of the elevator proper, it will continue as a permanent institution irrespective of this work.

Having as its directors prominent local citizens who have been successful in various ventures of some magnitude, the company is financially strong and its directors state that it will be able to compete for and handle any work in this district which may be offering. It also has the advantage of being thoroughly conversant with local conditions.

The services of an expert of Dominion wide renown have been already retained by the company with respect to the elevator work. He will assist in making the company's tender and will take charge of the work if the local men get the job. Later as business expands, it is the intention of the company to engage a permanent general manager.

Owners of Diesel Fishing Boats Want Larger Share of Catch but Are Turned Down by Fishermen

By a practically unanimous vote, the local branch of the Halibut Fishermen's Union last night turned down a proposition from the Boat Owners' Association of Seattle respecting the operation of diesel fishing boats. Owing to expenses of operation being reduced by the installation of the new engines, the owners proposed that the fishermen should participate to a greater extent in the expenses. They suggested increasing the boat's share in trips from 20 per cent to 25 per cent or, the 20 per cent share of the trip remaining as at present, lost and condemned gear be charged against the crew. The fishermen considered that the owners were already reaping increased benefit from the new type of motive power and voted the proposition down. There were 111 at the meeting and 108 voted against the proposal, the odd six not being qualified to vote.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT HIMSELF

Rudolph Lewenberger Brought From Pitman Spur on Railway Snow Plow Last Night

Weak from loss of blood and in a rather serious condition after having accidentally shot himself in the groin, Rudolph Lewenberger was brought in last night from Pitman Spur on a Canadian National Railway snow plow and was admitted to the Prince Rupert General Hospital where he is under the care of Dr. H. E. Tremayne.

According to the provincial police report, Lewenberger, while hunting goal near Pitman Spur which is 20 miles east of Terrace, was clearing away a brush obstruction with the butt of his rifle when the weapon accidentally discharged. A .303 soft nose bullet entered his right leg about three inches below the groin and his thigh bone was shattered. Fortunately, the injured man was accompanied by his partner, J. Wildi, who took him out of the bush. He was put on the snow plow and brought to the city.

Lewenberger arrived at Terrace recently from the prairies in quest of work. He is a Swiss and is 23 years of age.

EARTH TREMOR FELT IN EAST

North Atlantic Towns Were Shaken by Quake This Morning

BOSTON Jan. 7.—An earth tremor lasting for fifteen seconds jarred Gloucester, Marblehead, Salem and other North Atlantic cities this morning. It was followed by a heavy rumbling noise. In Swampscott stove lids were dislodged and in Nahant, pictures were shaken from the walls.

The proposal aims to safeguard business interests in the province in the event of a gold rush this year. United States cities profited largely by Canadian gold rushes in the past and it is argued that efforts should be made to prevent a recurrence of this.

Immigration To Canada Discussed.

A correspondence has been going on in the London Times in regard to the need of immigrants in Canada. Someone who signs himself "A Canadian" leads off by stating that Canadians are just as well off without immigrants. He says:

"Sir Evelyn Cecil in his letter says that the essential need of Canada is suitable population. That seems to be a very widespread opinion, but I wonder if the holders give it very much thought. After all, when we speak of Canada and its welfare we mean the welfare of the present inhabitants, but would Canadians be better off if they had a population of a hundred millions like their cousins to the south? If so, why is the average individual in the United States not better off materially or socially than the present inhabitants of Canada, for that they are not is an acknowledged fact?"

Answer Given By Another Correspondent.

This is followed by another correspondent, Denis Crane, who says:

"In contending that immigration will lower the standard of living for Canadians, and in citing the experience of the United States by way of example, your correspondent, "A Canadian," overlooks an important consideration.

"Here are two countries of approximately the same area with roughly equivalent natural resources (though, as a matter of fact, Canada is 700,000 square miles larger and in some important respects richer than her neighbor). But America has more than 106 millions of people to support, whereas Canada, according to figures just published, has only 9 1/4 millions — a number quite inadequate to develop her natural wealth. Double, treble, by assimilative and selective methods, the Dominion's present population, and by all the laws of economic progress and until the point of diminishing returns has been reached the material and social status of her citizens is bound to advance.

"The comparison is false in another respect. The population of the United States has increased since 1900 by nearly 30 millions; that of her neighbor by less than 4 millions. Canada's growth has been slow and sure, for her newcomers are carefully sifted; America's has been fast and not over-fastidious, for it is only lately that she has made distinctions and imposed a quota."

Main Point Is Missed By Both.

The main point in the immigration question is missed by both correspondents. They forget that the populating of a great area like that now existing in Canada is more than a national problem. It is a world problem and concerns every other nation. This point of view is gradually being taken and will be more so in the future. While Canada has the right to control her own affairs, she has no right to interfere in such a way as to interfere with the well-being of the rest of the world.

The world today needs the great open spaces which exist here and some nations need them more than others. China and Japan need them very badly and unless they are settled with whites, the time will come when the Japanese and Chinese will demand the right to use them. At present we are in no position to contest those demands, except through the force of the British navy. We have no means of defending ourselves. As long as we do not pit ourselves against the stronger countries, there is no danger of invasion, but migration is a very important question and one in which Japan is particularly interested today. So the question simmers down to this, that we must either populate those vacant lands with white people or the Japanese will some day populate them for us. Viewed in any light, it is an offense against society to keep vacant the fertile lands of Canada when they are needed by people of other countries for settlement purposes.

NEW YEAR DANCE OF ELKS AT ANYOX WAS SUCCESS THIS YEAR

ANYOX, Jan. 7.—Staging the annual New Year's dance with their usual success, the Elks were paid many compliments by the dancers who thronged Recreation Hall for the occasion. Representing considerable labor on the part of a big committee the hall was extremely pretty, the decorations being most appropriate to the season. The dance continued from nine until three, supper being served at 11 o'clock. Throughout the evening, crackers, confetti and serpentine were much in evidence and jollity was the order of the evening.

The Elks orchestra, of course, performed, the members being Stuart Steele, Paul Stevenard, Ed. Waterman, S. Armstrong and Jack Austin. The members of the dance committee were: decorations, Messrs. Thorley, Nickerson, St. Clair, Jack Cody, Jack Goertson, Jack Smith, Pete Wishart, Neil Forbes, Archie Morton and Sam Down. The refreshment committee consisted of Chas. Gray, Mike Cranley and Ed. Waterman; Jimmie Thompson was in charge of the kitchen.

The new Fleishhacker swimming pool in San Francisco, 1000 feet long and said to be the largest in the world, will be dedicated when the National Amateur Athletic Union swimming championships are held in that city next April. The tank, which is now under construction near the ocean beach at Ingleside, will have a maximum depth of twelve feet. It is an outdoor pool but the temperature of the water will be regulated.

The property involved is owned by the city and the pool will be open to the public. Another dedication, that of the new municipal stadium at Golden Gate Park will mark the track and field events of the National Athletic Union to be held at San Francisco in June. The stadium, being built this winter, will seat 22,000 people. Careful attention is being given the racing track so that it may be one of the fastest.

RUGBY POPULAR AS SPORT IN VANCOUVER

Rugby is particularly popular as a sport in Vancouver. During the recent visit of a California team the weather was cold and for the first match the ground had to be covered with straw to prevent injuries to the players because of the hard frost. Yet the grand stand was packed with fans and there was a good line of spectators around the lines. It was also noticeable that the majority of the spectators were young men and the accent of the English college man was very much in evidence.

In the centre is Shorty Russick, with his 1924 winners, which finished the 200-mile non-stop run in the record time of 23 hours 32 minutes. The lower photograph shows a sledge loaded with 100 pounds weight, ready for the two-day freight race, which is an added feature of the 1925 derby.

DOG mushers in Northern Manitoba are out on the trail every day grooming their teams for the eighth annual 200-mile non-stop dog derby, which is being held on February 3rd, 1925. Although the race is still some time away, more than 100 dogs are being given their daily stint of trail work in preparation for the grind. Several new teams, composed of young, well-bred wolf-bound huskies are being trained and this introduction of new blood is expected to lead to a new and startling pace being set in the 1925 contest.

This year the teams will race over a new course, the Herk Lake gold camps having been set as the turning point. The starting point will be at the Hudson Bay Railway bridge over the Saskatchewan River, and the teams will follow a route which is served with telephone communication so that frequent progress reports will be available.

A five-dog team freight race has been added to the programme this year to provide a new feature. In this sledge will be required to carry a load of 100 pounds and the team will race 30 miles each day for two days. The object of this is to promote the breeding of good freighting dogs.

The Carnival Queen contest is already attracting much interest with entries having been made from several western cities and towns. The queen and members of her court are the young ladies who secure the highest number of votes and these have all their expenses paid to and from the derby, and are also guests of honor during the entire week that the carnival is held.

Claims of Indians to Lands of Province are Disputed by Charles Harrison in Article

By C. Harrison

When I first came to the Queen Charlotte Islands, the Indians only valued their fishing streams and hunting grounds and, even in regard to these, they oftentimes quarreled among themselves. These difficulties continually existed among them and, on January 15, 1898, I received the following authority from one of the officials of the Indian Department:

"I do hereby depute and authorize you to hear and determine in a legal and just manner any and all disputes arising amongst Indians on the Queen Charlotte Islands respecting their conflicting claims to certain hunting grounds and fishing streams beyond the boundaries of Indian reserves."

"To this end all Indians are enjoined to comply with the spirit and letter of your judgments respecting the same."

"Given under my hand and seal this 15th day of January, 1898."

Preserving Peace

Acting on this authority I considered their grievances carefully and also obtained the opinion of their chiefs and councilors regarding these matters before I gave my decision. The councilors generally gave the head man of any river or hunting ground a note stating that he was rightfully entitled to these privileges, and I also did the same. The following is a copy of each of these papers that did so much in the olden days to preserve the peace amongst the Haidas:-

"The council forbids anyone to hunt on Jallon River without Du-wat's consent."

"By order of the Massett Councilors."

"Massett, January 21st, 1898."

"To all whom it may concern:

"Du-wat is the recognised chief of Jallon River and hunting grounds. Anyone hunting there without his consent, especially in the district where he has set his traps, will be prosecuted."

"G. Harrison, J.P."

"Massett, B.C., Jan. 24, 1898."

Indians Not Farmers

Formerly these small districts and streams were the only properties of any value to the Haidas. They have never gone in extensively for farming and, with the exception of a few scattered gardens located in localities where little work was required to prepare the ground, they have absolutely made no use for all the first class agricultural land contained in their reserves. They might cease to make any use whatsoever of the land set apart for them, as is the case with some of their reserves at the present time, but under the law these Indians are protected in regard to these acreages, and the reservations remain.

The Indians are not taxed, and consequently pay none while living on their reserves, yet they are well looked after by officials of the Indian Department, and have schools and teachers provided free of all cost for their children, and medicines, hospitals and doctors for their sick.

Whilst receiving all these benefits and advantages provided for them by the whites, yet they are not asked to bear any part of the expenses incurred. They are infinitely better protected and looked after than their ancestors were one hundred years ago and are at liberty to hunt and fish in any part of the province not in the actual possession of the settlers. They can roam where they choose, and their freedom has never been tampered with, save where the land was required for settlement by the people who are providing all these benefits for them.

Indians Get Benefit

The settlers do not get their land for nothing, and the money they pay to the government to obtain these lands is also for the Indians' benefit as well as for the benefit of the whites, for it is used to provide roads, bridges and all the accessories of civilization, which can and are being used by the Indians as well as the whites. The whites, therefore, have taken nothing from the Indians, but on the contrary have assisted them generally in all matters, and they are as well protected as the whites, yet at absolutely no cost to themselves.

A writer has said there is absolutely no mutuality in the arrangement between the government and the Indians, and there never was, for what the Indians are supposed to have surrendered was something they never actually had, for freedom to rove over a country can hardly commence rehabilitating the he called a right, especially when that freedom led to constant warfare with others claiming equal freedom.

Another writer has said in respect to Indian reservations: "It is of the utmost importance that the rights of the province in respect to these shall be finally determined."

Editor's note:— This is the ninth of a series of articles on the Queen Charlotte Islands by Mr. Harrison. The tenth, also dealing with Indian land matters will appear in an early issue.

JUNEAU FISHERMEN FORM ORGANIZATION

JUNEAU, Jan. 7.—The boat owners and halibut fishermen of this city have organized and served notice on the buyers that they must be paid better prices for their fish and that these prices must not be lower than one cent a pound below the prices obtainable at Ketchikan and must be equal to the prices paid at Wrangell and Petersburg.

The new organization, which is known as the Juneau Fishermen's and Boat Owners' Association, elected officers for the coming year as follows:

President, Olof Larson;
Secretary, Paul Jensen;
Executive, Paul Jensen, John Jackson, Harry Larson, John Lowell, and Olaf Winter.

COLD STORAGE AT WRANGELL REOPENS

Closed Down Years Ago When German Market Collapsed During War

WRANGELL, Jan. 7.—E. A. Albright, well known refrigeration and construction engineer, who has recently gone to Mexico where he will install a plant for a firm in that country, is expected to return here in February to re-open the cold storage plant.

Is your wife wiser than you?

IF YOU read only the stock and sporting pages, and your wife is like other women, she is wiser than you. She reads the shopping news.

She likes to hear you jingle money in your pockets. She likes to stretch money to the limit, so she won't have to ask for more. She likes to shop strategically. Know what she does.

Comfortably at home in a cushiony armchair, she scans advertising columns. She compares, judges and selects the goods she desires; maps her route; with least effort and minimum time, goes direct to the planned store and buys.

She obtains what she wants at the lowest price it is offered. She is certain of full satisfaction, for she knows advertised goods live up to their claims. She saves time and steps, and returns sufficiently alert to enjoy new advertisements--and to prepare you an appetizing dinner.

These advertisements are written for your benefit too. Read them. Help her help you save.

buildings, wharves and mechanical appliances of the Columbia & Northern Gold Storage Plant. The Columbia & Northern Gold Storage Plant was constructed by Mr. Albright several years before the war and was in constant operation until the German markets which it served were cut off. The plant was then closed down awaiting a favorable opportunity to re-open. Mr. Albright has just completed a thorough inspection of every thing connected with the enterprise and expressed himself as being highly pleased and surprised with the conditions found.

for himself, George Eastman, president of the Eastman Kodak Company, has given away his last $15,000,000 of stock of the company, retaining only enough to have a voice in the management. This makes $30,000,000 he has given away. Massachusetts Institute of Technology gets $4,500,000; Eastman School of Music, Rochester University gets $3,000,000; University of Rochester Medical school $1,500,000; Hampton Institute, $1,000,000, and Tuskegee Institute $1,000,000.

THE COUGH OR COLD THAT SETTLES ON THE LUNGS IS HARD TO GET RID OF

These are the kind that are dangerous, the kind that weaken the lungs, the kind that allow the germs of consumption to get a foothold in the system.

Mr. John E. Luoff, Golden Lake, Ont., writes:—"Last year I had a cold, and a cough which seemed to stick on my chest. I tried different preparations, but they did not seem to help me any. I was advised by a friend, to try and when I had taken a few doses I began to feel that it was doing me good, so I kept at it and inside of a week I was relieved of my trouble."

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP

"Dr. Wood's" has been on the market for the past 35 years; you don't experiment when you buy it; put up only by the T. Mihurn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

SOUTH AFRICA FLOGGING CASE

Girl Who Ran Away Home
Fetched Back by Farmer and Beaten

WAS TIED BY NECK

Died Either From Terror of Rats or Result of Blows Received

CAPETOWN, Jan. 7.—A terrible case in which a girl was flogged by a young Dutch farmer named Labuschanga of Standerton, is arousing the native people of South Africa, and with other cases in different parts of the country is causing much discontent with conditions on the part of the blacks.

In the case of Standerton the native girl left her employment and returned to her kraal. The young farmer drove to the kraal, brought the girl back to the farm, flogged her, then tied her by the neck to a beam in a rat-infested waggon-house, giving, it is admitted, three inches of "play" to the reins with which she was tied up to the beam. An hour later the girl was found dead, and, according to medical opinion, she had fallen forward in a faint, thereby tightening the reins round her neck and causing suffocation, the fainting being caused either from the flogging or through sheer terror because the rats came and gnawed off the tips of her fingers and thumbs. The farmer in question was charged with homicide, tried before a white jury, and given six months' imprisonment for assault.

Oury Goes Up

The outcry in this case has been without precedent in South Africa—newspapers of differing shades of opinion have written vigorous "leaders" on the subject, political and church associations have denounced the atrocity and the sentence, a protest has been lodged with the minister for justice in the name of 10,000 white women, the Bishop of Pretoria and other leading white men have publicly protested. The natives are raising a fund to make it a test case, claiming 5,000 pound damages under Lohola (a customary native law).

The Bishop of Pretoria, denouncing the Standerton case, said: "The recent outcry against injustice towards the native had his wholehearted support."

Profoundly Shocked

The "Rand Daily Mail" dealt with the subject in two leaders, and said: "The Church is taking action not a moment too soon. The public mind has been greatly disturbed and the public conscience profoundly shocked." The "Johannesburg Star" has had three leaders on the subject, and, protesting against the Standerton case, stated that the girl in question was "scarcely more than a child," and that the case has shocked the feeling of every decent-minded man and woman." The "Natal Advertiser," in an editorial, says: "We say deliberately that a jury and judge who can view such a horror as this with indifference are equally unfit to weigh up and administer the law to subject peoples, and that it is at our peril we entrust these functions to them."

Meeting of Protest

At a great native meeting of protest held in Capetown the chairman stated what, of course, cannot be denied:

"They had British justice and fair play during the Victorian era. No longer were non-Europeans able to send their grievances to Great Britain, because their organisations had sent about four delegations and Great Britain had refused them a hearing." Professor Thaeler then concluded: "We cannot appeal to Great Britain, we cannot appeal to the churches, because we do not trust them any more. We cannot appeal to Heaven, because the justice of the Almighty God takes its own time. We have not got any trust in the white man, along either political, educational, or religious lines. The salvation of the non-European lies in himself."

SMOTHERED TO DEATH UNDER STRAW STACK

SASKATOON, Sask., Jan. 7.—Arthur Vempes, 11, was smothered to death on a farm near the city when he was pinned under a huge stack of straw. The lad crawled into a deep hole in the side of the stack and the overhanging mass toppled on him when his companions jumped on it during their play.

IT DIDN'T SAY SO

A New York man bought a parrot, and had it sent to his home, where there happened to be an Irish cook, who, to the horror of the family, served the bird up for dinner.

"That wasn't a bird to be eaten; that was a bird that talked," exclaimed the indignant gentleman.

"If the bird could talk, why didn't it say so?" retorted Biddy.

"I feel awful anxious about my wife," said Jones to his friend; "she's out in this downpour of rain."

"Oh, she'll be all right, old man," answered Brown; "she'll find shelter in some store."

WARNED OF ALCOHOL

KOENIGSBURG, Germany, Jan.

6.—The Board of Education is behind a series of lectures, given in the smaller villages, on the evils of the drink habit. Children particularly are invited and asked to relate the experiences their communities have had with drunken persons. The poisonous nature of alcohol is then explained and volunteers are sought to help in combating the use of alcohol.

RAILROADS OVERMANNED

WARSAW, Jan. 7.—Polish railroads are expensive to operate because of the large number of employees. This averages 13 for each kilometer of track, as against seven in France and five in the United States. It is declared by experts that Poland could dispense with 50,000 railroad employees and thus save $30,000,000 a year.
