BOMB OUTRAGE IN CATHEDRAL KILLS MANY

BRILLIANT ADDRESS GIVEN BY BISHOP DE PENCIER TO THE ROTARY CLUB

Terrible Outrage at Sofia when Bomb Exploded Funeral Service Assassinated Bulgarian General

SOPIA, April 17.—The ancient cathedral of Sveti Krai was scene of a terrible outrage Thursday. Members of the Bulgarian cabinet and hundreds of leading political personalities and citizens and many military officers assembled at the funeral of General Gerochieff who was assassinated, when in the course of the services a bomb or bombs exploded causing widespread death and destruction and partly wrecking the building. None of the ministers were killed but several were wounded. It is believed that 149 persons, including 20 women and 10 children are dead, many of the bodies not having been recovered.

SOPIA, April 17.—(Later)—Six generals and thirty officers were killed in the explosion. How, why, or by whom the bomb was placed is unknown but the theory circulated is that the outrage was the work of agents who sought to create a state of anarchy. Martial law has been read throughout Bulgaria but no disturbance has been reported.

POLITICAL JIBE IN PARLIAMENT

General Whip Taunts Opponents When Wembley Expenses Criticized
TOTAL COST WAS $42
Conservatives Were Always Crossing and Re-crossing Atlantic
OTTAWA, April 17.—The House of Commons last night witnessed a revival of the old political battle. George W. Brown, chief liberal whip, was on the stand. Kyle was one of the parliamentary delegates to Wembley last year and in denouncing the payment of the expenses of the trip from Conservative criticism carried war across the floor. The total of $42 paid for commissions to Wembley, Kyle explained, was being paid by Conservatives as the latest scandal of the administration. Yet, between 1912 and 22, Mr. Kyle continued, enough members of the Conservative administration had crossed and recrossed the Atlantic to give the effect of a shuttle through a pin.

Fruit Combine
Grote Stirling, Conservative, said that steps be taken to end fruit combine in Western Canada. It was no advantage for the producer or the consumer, he argued, for B.C. apples to fetch $3 a box on the prairies if the producer was getting only 30c.

LIVER IS KEEN FOR PEACE RIVER RAILWAY

Will Favor the Province Offering Any Reasonable Inducement to Build
VICTORIA, April 17.—Premier Oliver declares that if the Dominion government decides to build a railway into Peace River this year he has another card up his sleeve which he will play. He wants an immediate decision and an early start on the work. He says he favors the province offering any reasonable inducement to insure a line being built to connect with the coast.

MINISTER OF RAILWAYS NOTHING YET TO SAY

OTTAWA, April 17.—"There's nothing to say at this time," said Hon. George Graham, minister of railways, yesterday afternoon at the conclusion of a long consultation with the railway heads on the Peace River project.

PRETENTIOUS BOOKLET HAS BEEN PUBLISHED

Tells of Peace River Route and of Resources and Activities of Prince Rupert and District
The most pretentious booklet ever prepared has just come off the press, having been prepared by a joint committee of the city council and the Board of Trade under the chairmanship of John Dybbavn. It contains a number of new pictures, one in particular taken from the air last summer giving a better idea of the city than any hitherto seen. A double page spread in the centre of the booklet is from a map showing the routes from Peace River to the coast prepared gratuitously by A. E. Wright and H. C. Black. The booklet contains much detail in regard to Prince Rupert with statistics brought up to date. There were also pages prepared by the boards of trade of Smithers, New Hazelton, and Vanderhoof, outlining the routes in which they are particularly interested. One page has a table of distances from points in the Peace River to Prince Rupert and also to Vancouver. The typographical work was done by Rose, Gowau & Latta of this city.

PREMIER WILL OPPOSE TREATY

Mass Meeting of Old Time Sealers Will be Called to Meet in Victoria

VICTORIA, April 17.—That strong opposition will be made by British Columbia at Ottawa against any renewal of the Pelagic sealing treaty is contained in the announcement that Premier Oliver will support the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and City Council in opposition against any renewal of the treaty. Premier Oliver has announced that it is his intention when he visits Ottawa shortly to urge strongly that it be not renewed. He will be backed up by all old-time sealers of this city and other British Columbia coast ports, and in fact by sealers all along the Pacific seaboard. For fifteen years this treaty has banned the sealing industry in North Pacific waters, and since that treaty went into effect the herds have been increasing rapidly. Last year's census showed that there were approximately 250,000 seals in North Pacific waters and their numbers may even be more as the census has not yet been taken for this year. What this industry means to Victoria can be gained from the following facts: During the old sealing days the industry meant an income of $1,000,000 a year from products of sealing alone, while the money that would be spent in outfitting and building of vessels for the business would easily bring the total to the $2,000,000 mark. A mass meeting will be called shortly of all old-time sealers to discuss this question, and representatives from as far south as San Francisco are expected to attend. The treaty was signed by Japan, Russia, Canada and the United States.

DIRIGIBLE IS SAFELY MOORED

Had Perilous Voyage in Gale Over North Sea and Holland Coast
PULHAM, April 17.—The runaway dirigible R-33 is safely moored in her hanger once more this afternoon following a perilous trip over the North Sea and the coast of Holland last night and this morning. The fierce gale in which the great airship drifted abated today. The opinion is expressed that the mishap in which the vessel blew from her moorings yesterday was due to deterioration of the metal mooring arm during the five years the dirigible has remained unused. The Gardington hangar of R-33 has just been reconditioned.

Prince Rupert as Base for Stikine Exploration by Geo. Platzer Party

VANGOUVER, April 17.—The second expedition into the unknown regions north of the Stikine River will leave Vancouver the latter part of April headed by George Platzer, who claims to be familiar with the area. It is planned to fly from Prince Rupert in an airplane capable of carrying several persons besides a ton of freight. The first expedition under Frank Perry is already on the outskirts of the unexplored territory. It is reported that both projects are backed by American capitalists anxious to develop the natural resources of the virgin area. The Perry expedition is also cosponsored by Hon. Charles Mackintosh, former governor of the northwest territories.

ELEVATOR MATERIAL IS NEARLY ALL HERE

Tug Tepic Arrives With More Fir Lumber—Local Dealers to Promote Sale of Local Products
The tug Tepic arrived here this morning with two scows of fir lumber consigned to Albert & McCaffery. This makes a total of approximately one million feet of fir that has been brought here by the firm within the last two months. The most of it is being used on the elevator foundations. The C.P.R. tug Qualicum and ear barge are due here about Monday from the south with the balance of the cross-tied lumber and piles to be used in the elevator wharf. With the arrival of this shipment, practically all the material for the elevator substructure will be here. Regarding the importation of fir, Albert & McCaffery advised that they have entered into an arrangement with the Prince Rupert Spruce Mills to market their products. Fir will be sold only on special orders.

THREE CANDIDATES GERMAN ELECTION

BERLIN, April 17.—Three candidates are in the field in the second election for president of Germany, the election for which is to be held on Sunday, April 26. The men are General Von Hindenburg, candidate for the United Right; Dr. Marx of the People's Bloc; Ernest Thaelmann of the Communist Party.

NEED OF MEN

In speaking of some elements of success for the nation as for the church, he spoke of the value of the individual. For progress, it was necessary to have men worth while. In the old days the world was ruled by the knight on horseback and by the priest with the book. One was able to hold them in terror of the curse. However, a new era sprang up with the invention of gunpowder and the printing press. The use of the gun destroyed the power of the knight and the printing of books destroyed the power of the priest. Then individuality appeared among the people. Other inventions developed individual powers and it was discovered that combination was necessary and so there were combinations in every walk of life. They were essential to meet the demands of the world, and with them began to dawn the community spirit. People realized that all were members one of another. Combined effort was as essential as individual effort. There was need for both elements to be recognized. Clubs such as that before which he was speaking sprang up which recognized the value of the individual and also the value of community effort. With the realization of interdependence came the realization that if one of the nations of the world goes wrong all suffer. The isolation of nations has been overruled. Interdependence is the most self-evident and obvious thing in life. There was also interdependence between the natural and supernatural. Community Spirit
In Canada the community spirit was highly developed. This was seen in the towns on the coast. Every town was so obsessed with its own importance and possibilities that people (continued on page five)

Combined Effort Shown Necessary to Success by Bishop De Pencier

Says Canada is Criticized in United States for Allowing Liquor Export to that Country

The necessity of developing the individual and teaching him the value of working in harmony with other individuals, of communities working with other communities and of nations working in harmony with each other was emphasized by Bishop De Pencier, in an address to the Rotary Club at their luncheon yesterday. Incidentally he referred to the tendency to break laws and especially the liquor laws. Bootlegging was one of the most flagrant breaches of the laws. The Bishop said he recently spent three weeks in the United States going as far south as the Mexican border and he found most severe criticism of Canada because of their allowing shiploads of liquor to be exported, ostensibly to Mexico but really to be used in breaking the prohibition laws of the United States. This he said was not playing the game.

COOLICHAN RUN ALMOST OVER

Natives Now Boiling Down the Reeking Fish and Extracting Grease at Naas River
FISHERY BAY, Naas River, April 17.—The coolichan fishing is practically all completed now except the smell. It is still here and gets worse continually. Just now oil is being extracted from the semi-purified mass that has been piled up for a week or two on the banks of the stream. Part of the process of oil extraction is leaving the heaps of fish to become stale and ready for boiling. Rendering the oil is a smelly process with the fish in bad condition. However, the Indians here do not mind it. There is a good catch and during the coming year coolichan grease will be used in quantities. It takes the place of lard and butter in the culinary operations of the natives. When taken from fresh fish it is clear and almost tasteless, but does not then taste as good to the Indians.

Develop Individual For Communal Life.

Two things are necessary to national progress, development of the individual and development of the communal idea. Both go together in the ideal community. That was the idea conveyed by Bishop De Pencier's address to the Rotary Club yesterday.

The tendency of socialism or communism is to suppress the individual. The tendency of the old individualism is to forget the community and think only of the individual. The half way method is the best. To have success the individual must be developed and given opportunity to express himself, but also for his fullest development he must learn to work with other individuals for the common good. Some day, possibly, individuals may develop to a point where communism may be possible if found desirable.

Possibly the most complete individualism would be under a system of scientific anarchy where every man did what pleased him, living without law because law would be unnecessary, in the most highly developed condition of the race. Each man will then do right because he knows it is right and does not need guidance of law. That is true Christianity or as some call it scientific anarchy. Love will be the ruling principle pervading all actions.

It is not necessary to consider such a condition just now because it will probably be a few thousand years before we have developed to such a condition. It is ideal but not at present real.

World Federation Not Impossible.

A world federation is not at all an undesirable or impossible ideal. Possibly young people now living may see the day when all nations will work together as closely as do the provinces of Canada one with another. When that time comes there may be no customs duties, no immigration officers, no braggadocio speeches and no competition in armaments. Each country will feel responsible not only for its own actions but for the action and welfare of every other. We shall work together for the common good of the whole world. The tendency is strongly in that direction.

Cleanup Week Begins Monday.

Cleanup week begins next Monday but there is nothing to prevent people commencing the work today or tomorrow. All that is required is that by Saturday of next week all lots shall be clean and present such a spick and span appearance that tourists and other visitors will remark upon the wholesome appearance of the town. The removal of as many as possible of the old stumps would also add to the appearance of the city.

Now that the visiting Bishop has been advising us to work for the common good, this will be an opportunity to put into practice some of the precepts. Also the law, with Dr. Cade wielding the big stick, will be a powerful aid in the campaign. Here's for a clean city, one of which all citizens may be proud.

Not Necessary To Be Specific.

A letter has been received from a lady asking that some lots on Fraser Street be cleaned up. This doubtless will receive the attention of the authorities and the owners of lots. Filth should no more be tolerated on Fraser Street than on any other. It should no more be tolerated on a lot owned by the city than one owned by a private individual. All must work together for the common good. We all need a little urging in this matter. The health officials backed by the police and the city fathers can do excellent work next week if they enter into the spirit of the occasion by insisting that the regulations be carried out.

CHU CHIN CHOW OPENS TONIGHT

Famous Musical Play Made for Pictures is Story of East

The story of "Chu Chin Chow" which opens here tonight is founded on the theme of Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves, and was evolved into a tale of romance and thrills by Oscar Asche and Frederic Norton. It concerns the love of Zahrat, the desert flower, a beautiful slave, and Omar; and the intrigues of Abou Hassan, the robber king, whose fascinating disguises make him a villain as delightful as Robin Hood.

Their Marriage Halted

Just as Zahrat and Omar are about to be married in the public square, Hassan raids the village, and carries off the desert flower and her lover as captives. Hassan sees in her a wonderful decoy for his operations. After trying unsuccessfully to win her himself, he sells her to the merchant Kasim, with the idea of using her as a spy in laying the plans to get the wealthy man's riches.

This is accomplished when Hassan, disguised as Chu Chin Chow of China, by a ruse gets possession of Kasim's slaves and property. So he is again the owner of Zahrat, and in order to punish her for revealing him to Kasim's wife, he imprisons her in the robbers' treasure cave. In the meantime Omar has escaped, but is caught again, and also bound in the cave.

When the robbers bring Omar to the cave, however, Ali Baba, Kasim's poor brother, hears the password "Open Sesame." After they have gone away he tries the password, and so finds his way to the treasure chamber. He promises to bring help to Zahrat and with his pockets full of gold, departs to enjoy his new prosperity.

Kasi's Greed Fatal

Ali rescues Zahrat, but not until Kasim has met his end trying to duplicate his brother's good fortune. Chu Chin Chow's return has brought this about, and he places Omar this time in an underground cavern, which can only be opened with an amulet which hangs around the robber king's neck.

Then with dramatic swiftness, the story comes to a climax, when Chu Chin Chow tries to gain control of Bagdad by means of hiding his men in oil jars, so they can spring out at the opportune moment to overthrow the governor. Zahrat frustrates this scheme, however, killing the thieves in their jars by pouring boiling oil over them. Then when Chu Chin Chow calls for his men they do not appear, and he is at last killed in the frenzy of the crowd.

Zahrat gets the amulet and releases her lover, and the two go back to their idyllic life on the edge of the desert.

IMMIGRANTS ARRIVE WINNIPEG FROM EAST

Many of Them Bound West including Some Britishers

WINNIPEG, April 17.—Another large party of immigrants arrived at the Canadian National depot here this morning by special train from the steamships Andania, Columbia, Canada, Orbita and Scythia, which docked at Halifax on Sunday. The 386 passengers included 12 families brought out under the Imperial land settlement scheme and another family was detained at Halifax by the illness of a child and will come west later. Of this party, 68 persons, in all eight families, are leaving on today's train for the west, six to Saskatchewan, one to Alberta, and one to British Columbia. The other four families are remaining in Manitoba.

In addition to the above there were 60 other British immigrants on the train for the west, 105 Jugo-Slavs, 69 Czecho-Slovaks and representatives of ten other European nations.

Whether the price of wheat is high or low, Canada never fails to produce the best quality in its great annual cereal. Canadian hard Spring wheat is known the world over for the quality of the flour it yields. When testing flours for quality, the most satisfactory test is to bake the flour into bread. The baking test tells the whole story. Electric Bread is made from Canadian-milled flour. Its quality and flavor is the direct result of the good wheat which is its origin.

OBJECTION TO PREDATORY CAT

Washington Government Department Issues Report Against Pussy

WASHINGTON, April 16.—If birds could be protected from the predatory house cat, they would materially reduce the $1,600,000,000 loss caused annually by insects and grubs which destroy agricultural crops, in the opinion of the Biological Survey.

The cat, estimated to be 25,000,000 strong in this country, is not, however, the only enemy of the wild birds, says the survey. The boy with his air rifle, the man with his gun, squirrels and other small animals, and the elements are all taking their toll. But tabby is said to be particularly attentive to the feathered singers at this time of the year, which is the nesting season.

Insects, the survey says, each year eat $800,000,000 worth of seed and crops, and a like sum is spent to get rid of the pests. Farmers, fruit growers and orchardists share the burden. They depend upon the birds to help keep down the overwhelming hordes of insects.

To protect the birds, the survey recommends building nest boxes and planting shrubbery to make up for the disappearance of the hollow trees and young wild growth in which nests once were built. It urges provision of bathing and drinking water in the summer and food and shelter in winter.

Regarding the cats the survey further says it is not necessary that householders part with their pets, but they "should be kept from unduly increasing if they are to be prevented from killing the song birds."

"During the nesting season especially," says the survey, "watchful care is needed, particularly at the time when the fledglings, unable to make full use of their undeveloped wings, flutter to the ground. The sight of helpless young birds hopping across the lawn excites the predatory instinct of even a well-fed house cat."

Church and State Fight in Oregon said to be due to Activity of Ku Klux Klan

WASHINGTON, April 17. — In educational and religious circles keener and wider interest is being shown in the attack upon the constitutionality of the Oregon public school law than in any other controversy which reached the Supreme Court in recent years.

Like most states, Oregon has a compulsory education law which requires children to attend school, and prescribes the course of study. The right to enforce such regulations has not been seriously questioned in the courts. But in 1922 the voters of Oregon, 115,506 to 103,685, went a step further, and enacted a law under which children between the ages of 8 and 16, with some exceptions, would after September, 1926, be required to attend "public" schools.

Opponents to this step charged that the law was due to the activity of the Ku Klux Klan. Suits were promptly brought in the federal district court by the Society of the Sisters of the Holy Names of Jesus and Mary, conducting parochial schools, and by the Hill Military Academy, a private school. Enforcement of the law was restrained, and the state appealed to the Supreme Court.

Joint Opposition

Joined in opposition to the new law eventually were a number of religious organizations, Jewish as well as Christian, and many educational institutions, colleges, and universities, as well as private and parochial schools. The broad contention was that should states be permitted to monopolize the education of children up to the grammar grades, the next step would be the taking over of education in the higher grades.

The new Oregon law proposed that all children between 8 and 16 physically able and living within reasonable distance should attend public schools, unless educated at home by private tutors under state supervision. In the lower federal court the question of property rights was controlling in the decision of the constitutional questions presented. The private and parochial schools contended with success that the state law under which they had been incorporated constituted a contract, which must be respected and could not be broken; that under the contract they had acquired property rights through the erection of schools which could not be confiscated or seriously impaired without violating the federal constitution; that teachers in such institutions had employment rights which must be protected; and that it was an inherent right of parents and guardians, guaranteed by the federal constitution, to decide where their children should be educated, subject to the right of the state to require them to be sent to a public school provided they were not adequately educated elsewhere.

Teach Allegiance

Alleging a purpose to promote patriotism by large public school expenditures, the state contended that with an increase of facilities attendance in the primary grades should be increased as proposed in the new law. The state asserted that it was its duty to teach children their true allegiance, and to impress upon young minds that the claims of the government were superior to those of any religion. The authority to require children to attend school embraced the right, the state insisted, to compel them to go to the public schools.

Education, important in building up good citizenry, came within the police powers of the states, under their general welfare jurisdictions, Oregon further asserted, insisting that in such matters the federal government had no right to interfere. It was for the state courts and the people at the polls to remedy any defects which might develop, it said; and not for the federal courts, because local conditions must always control in such matters. Insisting that "some vestige of sovereign power" should remain with state governments, Oregon gave warning that should its law be held invalid, a movement would be started at once for a constitutional amendment.

Church and State

Summarized, Oregon's argument was that the national government was founded upon the theory that church and state should be maintained separate, a principle to be closely guarded in the education of its youth; that the right of state to control a minor when public welfare required had been thoroughly established in the courts and included control over their education; that private and parochial schools are not superior to public schools, therefore the new law would not deprive them of any rights or privileges or subject them to any disadvantages; that the opposition came from those who wanted children given sectarian religious instruction; that the fight involved the survival of the public schools; that it had been consistently held in the courts that states could at their pleasure amend or cancel such charters without encountering any constitutional prohibition; that the new law would not interfere with religious liberty; that those who desired to send their children to parochial or private schools could do so during hours when their attendance at the public school was not required; that children in public schools would be excused under the new law a certain number of

THE COUGH OR COLD THAT SETTLES ON THE LUNGS IS HARD TO GET RID OF

These are the kind that are dangerous: the kind that weaken the lungs, the kind that allow the germs of consumption to get a foothold in the system.

Mr. John E. Lutoff, Golden Lake, Ont., writes:—"Last year I had a cold, and a cough which seemed to stick on my chest. I tried different preparations, but they did not seem to help me any. I was advised, by a friend, to try and when I had taken a few doses I began to feel that it was doing me good, so I kept at it and inside of a week I was relieved of my trouble."

hours each week for such religious instructions as their parents or guardians might desire; and that the religious views of some parents could not be permitted to destroy the effectiveness of a salient law.

Filed a Brief

The Protestant Episcopal Church, the Seventh Day Adventists and the American Jewish Committee each filed a brief as friend of the court in support of the position taken by the parochial and private schools. Opponents of the new law declared it a serious menace. They attributed the weakening of the moral fiber of the time to the lack of religious and moral training, particularly in children, declaring that unless present tendencies were restrained, conditions here would be worse than those in Soviet Russia. Oregon's idea of separation of church and state would mean, they declared, no church but only state, because if schools could be prohibited from teaching religion and morality, all religious instruction would be brought within the control of the state.

The parochial schools took the view also that the most effective religious training could be accomplished as a part of the daily education of children. They denounced the new law as not only extremely unwise but arbitrary, revolutionary, oppressive, and violative of rights which since the foundation of the government have been considered essential to liberty.

Not Unpatriotic

Furthermore, the opponents of the new law stated as a fact that no private or parochial school in the state had been deficient or delinquent in any respect; that none had taught objectionable or prejudicial subjects or unpatriotic doctrines; that if they were inferior in any respect to public schools the remedy was not in legislation which would destroy them, but in acts to regulate them; that the new law would not result in broadening the educational field or in correcting evils, or in promoting the general welfare of the people.

They denounced as without foundation the charge made by friends of the new law that the increase in crime among children was due to private schools, and that such schools were conducted by bolsheviks, communists and syndicalists. Never before had a state, they declared, attempted to prohibit a distinctly useful business, whose beneficial effects had never been questioned. If private schools could be prohibited, they said finally, any lawful business in which the people may be engaged, could be destroyed at the will of the state.

living in it could not see the rights of others. If not carried too far this civic pride was good. It was necessary, however, to recognize the rights of others and the value of interdependence.

The Bishop said that he recently made a visit to his home province of Ontario after fifteen year's absence. He was surprised to see the advancement they had made. What were villages when he knew them had developed into towns and cities, largely through the development of the hydro-electric power, and through the development of the west. People in the west, he found, were just as ignorant of the east as the east was of the west. The old province of Que-

BETTER THAN RICHES

Under the dome of the Board of Trade in Manchester, England, is this inscription: "A good name is rather to be chosen than riches." The thought is considerably more than mere sentiment. It is good business.

A good name is recognized as the biggest individual asset a business can have. It is the very keystone of modern industry. Business today is done on such a broad scale--every merchant and every manufacturer has such a long list of customers--that it would not do to have a reputation for "slipping something over"

Advertising has standardized almost every article you can buy. You don't have to bargain and dicker and haggle to know that you are getting as good as you give.

That's why it pays to read the advertisements and to buy advertised goods. A product's advertising is the best guarantee of its faithful performance and lasting usefulness or of definite value. The advertiser would not dare risk his good name by advertising an unworthy product.

If you value satisfaction--if you want to get your full money's worth every time--READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS and buy advertised merchandise.

Take advantage of the advertisements and get real value bec was not a whit behind in modern development. The need of knowledge on both sides was apparent with recognition of the claims of each.

"On the Pacific will be the great development of the century," was the Bishop's prophecy. World happenings will centre here. China with her four hundred millions were awakening and the population of Japan and her dependencies now number eighty-seven millions. These nations were in close contact with Canada, and there was interdependence between them and ourselves.

Obeys Laws

The Bishop then mentioned the need of obeying all the laws of the country. When a law was passed, even if the individual was not in sympathy with it, it should be respected. Changes should be brought about only by constitutional means. This applied particularly to alcoholic liquor laws. These laws were most flagrantly broken. It must be remembered that others had a right to think. He felt Canada was not playing the game in allowing export of liquor designed to break the laws of the United States. The rights of all had to be recognized. International interdependence was founded on good will. Refusal to recognize the rights of others was reverting to a state of savagery. It was impossible to make the laws of the jungle ours. The motto of everyone he hoped was service, which someone had said was "the rent we pay for our room on earth."

The charge against Dan Brophy of stealing an accordion was dismissed in the city police court yesterday afternoon. Brophy declared that he bought the accordion from another party whose name he could not remember.

ORGANIZING KU KLUX KLAN IN WINNIPEG CITY

WINNIPEG, April 15. — The Ku Klux Klan has made its appearance in Winnipeg. While the organization of the hood and fiery cross has not taken definite shape here, petitions for membership have been circulated.

High speed salesmen are in the city putting across a brand of "pure patriotism" to which they alone claim to have the key, at $10 per pul. They also take. No address except "the authorities" is given on the petition.

Included among the questions, which must be truthfully answered is one: "Does your father speak the English language fluently." Your telephone number and wife's religion also appear to be important. Whether you have been divorced and why, the color of your eyes, your present church affiliation, your weight and height, and others.

Meanwhile His Nibs, the Grand Imperial Wizard of the Order, from his secret Kave in Atlanta, Ga., waves his embroidered robes wildly and holly announced that the Canadian organizers are "the bunk" and have no connections with the old firm.

LOSS OF DIRIGIBLE DUE TO RADIO WAVES

That is Theory of Dr. Terada of Tokio University

TOKIO, April 17.—Dr. T. Terada, science professor in Tokio University, says that the destruction of the dirigible SS3 last March with the loss of her crew, was caused by a broadcast radio wave.

Dr. Terada was a member of the board appointed to investigate the explosion, and after it had ended its labors without finding a theory, he continued his experiments. Coating a miniature of the airship with the aluminum paint that was used on the SS3, he found that radio waves directed against it produced sparks measuring nearly an inch, and while he has not fully disclosed the nature of the experiment and its results, he expresses his conviction that he has found the cause of the disaster.

ONLY ONE CURE FOR GARLIC ODOR

WASHINGTON, April 15. — The best method of eliminating the odor of garlic from the breath is to refrain from eating it, Department of Agriculture scientists have determined after a long study of the question.

The inquiry was instituted after several parties had appealed to the department for a solution of the problem of a garlicky taste in milk from a cow which had eaten garlic. Now the experts announce that the only thing to do is to keep the cows away from the weed, in which they revel.

HUNGRY RATS REBEL AT DIET OF VITAMINES

BERKELEY, Cal., April 17. — Some white rats, under observation for the effects of a newly discovered vitamine, recently tipped over their cages in search of food and, seeing nothing else handy, started in to devour the record book of their activities made in the household science department of the University of California.

When the class conducting the experiments gathered next day, the record book was found in bad shape. Several valuable pages had been chewed out. The rats were still milling around looking for something more edible.

A STRANGE PROPOSAL

A young Scotsman fell desperately in love with a charming girl, but could not screw up enough courage to ask her to be his wife. One day a brilliant idea occurred to him. He took her to the local churchyard, and, pausing before a large tombstone, said:

"Jean, my grandfather is buried here, my father is buried here, my mother is buried here—in fact, all my folks lie here. Would ye not like to lie here too?"

The lady said she "wud!" So they were married.
