Verdict of Not Guilty in Case Against Claude Vincent Symes in the Assize Court Yesterday

The jury at the Supreme Court Assizes yesterday afternoon returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Rex vs. Claude Vincent Symes who was charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Norma Munro who was run down by a motor car driven by him on February 12 last. The jury, which returned to the court room at 4.30, was in retirement exactly one hour. When W. H. Derry, foreman of the jury, announced the verdict to the court, Attorney General Manson, who had conducted the prosecution, asked that the jury be polled. Each jurymen on the panel, when his name was called by the registrar, answered "aye" in agreement with the foreman's announcement. Mr. Manson then moved for the discharge of accused. The defence was conducted by L. W. Patmore.

Eloquent addresses to the jury by both crown and defence counsel and a charge by Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald, which could by no means have been said to contain undue sympathy for the accused, featured the proceedings. Mr. Patmore ably interpreted the evidence on behalf of his client, stressing the view that he had taken all necessary precautions under the circumstances and had done all in his power to avoid the unfortunate occurrence.

Eloquent Address

Mr. Manson's address was one of the most eloquent that has ever been delivered to a jury in Prince Rupert by a crown prosecutor. It was not bitter but it was clear. He put the situation plainly before the jury. If they desired to make the law governing the use of the streets by children the responsibility was theirs—just as much as it was that of the judge or the crown. It was their function to decide whether the driver in this case had exercised the responsibility of care and caution devolving upon him. Personally he could not believe that the driver had fulfilled that responsibility and at length he went into the evidence to support his contention. His Lordship, in his charge, while warning the jury that it was up to them to form their own conclusions from the evidence regardless of what he might say, impressed upon them that it was their responsibility if they decided that the driver was not liable in this matter. Personally he did not think that the driver had taken due precaution as he approached the scene of the accident though this might not have applied at the actual time of the accident. This was an important point. Had he taken all the care that he should have? He had seen the child in front of him at a considerable distance. Did he bring the car under the control that was warranted by the child's tender years?

Motorist's Duty

Pressing home to the jury that it was its function by law to draw its conclusions from the facts presented, His Lordship emphasized that a motorist (continued on page three)

SMITHERS, June 13.—Word was passed around Thursday afternoon that the Shriners of the Bulkley Valley, who arrived at 7 p.m., had accepted Mayor Orchard's invitation to make a stop here and practically the entire population of Smithers was at the railway station to greet them. The band gave a concert that was most enjoyable. After the concert the spokesman for the Shriners thanked the audience for its appreciation and welcome. L. S. McGill then, on behalf of Mr. Orchard and the citizens of the Bulkley Valley, thanked them for their entertainment, telling them it was the first time a brass band had given a concert in Smithers and in a number of instances it was the first time the children had ever heard one. The speeches were followed by three cheers all round, and to the accompaniment of blasts of their steam siren the happy tourists continued the journey after a stop of 45 minutes.

Arthur Stewart, Essington Indian Guilty of Wounding With Intent to Harm

Guilty of wounding David Douglas with intent to do grievous bodily harm, accompanied by a recommendation for mercy, was the verdict of the jury this afternoon in the case of Rex vs. Arthur Stewart at the Supreme Court Assizes. Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald passed a sentence of one year at Okalla Prison Farm, stating that he felt this was a very light sentence. The jury was out about one hour, returning to the courtroom shortly before two o'clock. This case concluded the present docket and His Lordship again reminded the jurors that the court was only adjourned until August 19 and that their services would be again required then in connection with the Liard River Indian murder cases.

Help Of All Asked To Study Halibut.

Professor W. F. Thompson of Stanford University, who is at present here engaged in work leading up to a detailed study of the Pacific halibut, asks that fishermen, fish dealers and others co-operate with him in his work in order that proper means for conserving the supply may follow. The banks to the south are practically fished out and the Hecate Straits banks are partly depleted. To prevent the work of depletion continuing to a point where fishing becomes unprofitable is the work of this scientist and his assistants. All will doubtless be glad to help him in carrying it on in the best manner possible.

Canadianism Being Urged.

Everywhere in his country there is a movement toward greater loyalty to the country. In other words Canadianism is being developed. In all these patriotic movements there is a lot of talk and bluster and with it all some achievement, because a lot of people are influenced by talk and bluster.

The real thing is very often obscured in any national movement. What might be a worthy aim would be to make Canada the best land in which to live.

If we have any love for Canada, we can best show it by actions rather than words. What have we done, individually or collectively, to make Canada a great nation? Have we done anything? Is there any action to which to point that is worthy of emulation?

The first thing of real value is to make a good home, to raise a fine family, to take part in public life, to help beautify and cleanse the city, to help produce or educate, to create worthy ideals for ourselves and our children and to exercise care that no action of ours tends to disgrace the country or delay its development. That is Canadianism.

CONTINUOUS PHONE SERVICE ON PLANES

When 4,000 Feet in Air Keeps in Touch For 110 Miles at Chicago

CHICAGO, June 13.—Telephone communication between airplane pilots flying 4,000 feet in the air and radio station WLS., was maintained clearly over a distance of 110 miles during the military show here recently. When the army flyers descended at Chanute Field the reception was still strong, indicating that intermittent talking might have been continued over a greater distance.

The previous record for communication between a land station and an airplane by radio was 40 miles. Spectators at the show were listeners in during the tests, the radio station re-broadcasting the conversations. This was another feat said by radio engineers to have been successfully performed for the first time. The army planes used a 50 watt master oscillator sending set, with three 50 watt tubes, an oscillator, modulator and speech amplifier, in addition to a 5 watt amplifier. The radio station used a neutrodyne receiving set while the army men used an army

8-tube super heterodyne for receiving. A two pound lead weight held down the antenna. Within the city limits the planes had a 50 foot wire over the side, which was extended to a 200 foot aerial as they got farther away. The officer in the front seat of the airplane, by means of ear phones, could hear both conversations, the talking of his companion and the conversation from the land station.

TELLS ABOUT CONVENTION

Mrs. Bowen Colthurst Lectures to People of Terrace on Women's Work

COUNCIL OF WOMEN

Big Questions of Day Discussed at International Gathering Recently

TERRACE, June 13.—The Terrace-Kitsumgallum Parent-Teachers' Association had the great privilege of hearing Mrs. Bowen Colthurst, a delegate to the recent quinquennial convention of the International Council of Women. She explained the aim and object of the organization which is pledged to no particular propaganda. There are no restrictions of color or creed. Their motto is "do unto others as you would have others do unto you," and all who subscribe to this are welcomed to the league. Forty-two nations sent delegates this year. Ireland, Guatemala, China, and Palestine have joined recently.

Resolutions were all made in English, French and German. Various standing committees presented conclusions to which their discussions have led on such subjects as law, suffrage, peace, child welfare, trades and professions, etc.

Nationality of Women

Under law for example, come such subjects as proposals for an international agreement on the subject of the nationality of married women. Lacking an international agreement, complications are constantly arising. One case, as an illustration, was cited of a Danish woman who, according to the law in Denmark which is similar to that of Canada, lost her nationality as a result of her marriage to an American. She is not an American citizen because, according to the law of United States, she did not assume her husband's nationality. When she wished to join her husband in the States she found it impossible to get a passport from Denmark which had east her off and equally so from United States, which would not accept her. She finally secured one through a personal friend from the Italian government.

Question of Peace

Inevitably the question of peace and of the League of Nations came up. The American papers had a very suspicious attitude toward it, fearing propaganda. Peace is essential and vital. All reforms and advancement along other lines will be swept away unless a foundation of peace is secured. The old peace program of asking people to stop fighting and urging them to love one another was weak in the very fact that the good responded and the bad did not. At present the league is seeking some means by which force may be put on the side of right. An international committee may be appealed to and a nation may have justice done if. The proposition must be worked at and remodelled. But it should have the sympathy of the nations and they should never feel they will lose prestige or individuality by it. It is often regarded as impossible but the stopping of duellin, was regarded as that at one time. We are surrounded on all sides by scientific inventions which have been looked on as utterly impossible when first dreamed of. Pre-eminently, peace must ever be of interest to women.

Under education, it was decided to encourage the widest possible exchange of teachers and students.

The necessity of good history books was dwelt on. Children should learn of other countries from a sympathetic, not an antagonistic point of view. Foreign lands should be presented from earliest childhood as intensely interesting—never as ridiculous.

Members of the educational committee, of which Mrs. Colthurst is a member, were entertained at lunch. Each member gave a three-minute talk on characteristic features of education in their land. One striking statement was that Finland has no compulsory system of education but none are allowed to marry till they can read and write.

Sex Morality

It was urged sex morality be taught, approaching it from the study of natural law. Nature study and biology should occupy a prominent place on the curriculum.

The work of the League of Nations should be taught in the schools of all the nations and the council of women pledged itself to endeavor to see that this is done.

It is often asked what can the council of women do? They have no legislative power. Laws are passed after public opinion demands it and the council of women can be and have been, instrumental in forming it. Take for an example of their work the growth of public opinion against child labor and see how much has been done along this line.

Mrs. Colthurst was for some years at the head of the Irish branch of the Parents' National Education Union and by special request gave some account of their work, which is similar in some respects to that done by the P.T.A.

Letter From Mrs. Donaghy

At the beginning of the meeting a letter was read by Mrs. Sundal from Mrs. Donaghy, a former Terrace resident, on the work being done by the P.T.A. Association in Los Angeles, of which she is a member. Of outstanding interest was the fact that Western Ave. School, in which she is interested, had adopted a school in the foreign district and provided funds to serve every child attending the poorer school with porridge every morning. They also had taken very definite steps in sponsoring better films. Saturday matinees were given at which only better films were shown.

R. W. Smith, son of Mary Ellen Smith, M.L.A., arrived from Prince George on Thursday evening and sailed last night on the Prince Rupert for Vancouver. Some months ago he was seized with a stroke on the Yukon Telegraph line and since then he has been at Prince George for some time. He is still quite a sick man.

At the conclusion of the present session of the Supreme Court Assizes, Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald and W. E. G. Johnson, the official reporter, will sail this afternoon on the Princess Louise for Vancouver. It is expected that another judge will take the adjourned Assizes opening on August 19, for the trial of the Liard River Indians charged with witchcraft murder.

C.N.R. steamer Prince George, Capt. Harry Nodden, is due from Vancouver and wayports at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning with regular passengers and tourists, mail and freight. She has a good list of tourists, some of whom will make the round trip to Stewart and others remain in the city before proceeding East on Monday morning's train. The Prince George will sail for Stewart at 12 noon tomorrow and for Vancouver at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. While in port on Monday, the vessel will be docked for cleaning and painting. The regular steamer schedule will be resumed next week, the tri-weekly service commencing the week following.

The Man in the Moon SAYS—

HERESY is another word for minority.

SOME people put their property in the wife's name and others would like to do the same with their reputations.

LIKE the poor, the taxis we have always with us.

THE objection to June weddings is that people have to pay their income tax that month.

THE chief hope of preserving Christianity is to teach it to savages. Christian nations are too hardened in sin to be affected by it.

IF you're waking, call me early.

Call me early, mother dear;
For after being up late tonight I shall not wake, I fear.
Call me early in the morning
Ere the sun begins to show,
For I would join a fishing party
And I dearly wish to go.

SOME people are so absent-minded that when they find themselves in bed they forget to go to sleep.

IT'S terribly difficult to keep optimistic when the bills are coming.

IT'S easy enough to be happy
When the bills have all been paid,
But the man worth while
Is he who can smile
At fortune, the fickle jade.

IT'S easy enough to be pleasant
When people say happy things,
But the girl worth while
Is she who can smile
While enduring envious stings.

should always bear in mind the lack of judgment of a child of immature years. This particular case was different from what it would have been if the child had been one of 12 or 14 years. Local conditions should also be taken into consideration.

He asked the jury to visualize the scene of the accident that afternoon. It was but a narrow street. By accused's own evidence he had said that he had shut off his gas and proceeded down the grade by gravity. He had seen the children go to either side of the street. Accused's counsel had said that drivers had to take chances but His Lordship thought that was a slip. The young man probably thought he was going to get past but should he have been going slower at the time? That again was a matter for the jury to decide upon.

What Was Situation?

It was difficult to lay down standards for individual circumstances such as this. Was the situation such that the driver could have avoided running into the child? As far as the statement of Mrs. Manson that the driver had done all he could do to avoid the accident was concerned, if her judgment was to be accepted then there was no necessity for a jury.

After all it must be settled beyond a reasonable doubt whether or not the accused had taken the care and precaution that would relieve him of criminal responsibility. If there was a reasonable doubt, then the accused should get the benefit of it. However, that doubt should be a real and not a fanciful one and not one conceived by the jury to relieve it of its responsibilities. It should only be such a doubt as would operate on the mind and control actions in the serious business of every day life.

Tonight's train from the East, due at 3:30, is reported on time.

CALLIES BEAT ENGLISHMEN

Hard Fought Football Match But Losers Play With One Man Short

In a game that was featured by hard fast play all the way, the Callies defeated the Sons of England two to nothing in last night's city championship soccer match.

The Sons of England, who were one man short right through the game, won the toss and elected to kick down hill in the first half. The play was even throughout the period and no scoring resulted. Both sides missed good scoring chances and there was too much heavy kicking.

With the grade in their favor in the second half, the Callies had the best of the play except for a few dangerous breakaways which, however, the Sons failed to finish to advantage. Jimmie Hamilton scored the first for the Callies and B. McDougall the second from a penalty.

Considering the state of the weather, a good crowd was in attendance.

W. Murray refereed the game in the absence of Tom Jones who was called away on account of his child having sustained an accident. A. Clapperton and George Waugh were the linesmen and the teams took the field as follows:

Callies — W. Hamilton; J. Hamilton and M. Andrews; J. Harris, S. Currie and R. Woods; A. Mitchell, R. McDougall, W. Mitchell, J. Hamilton and J. Andrews.

Sons of England — R. Howe; H. Hanson and G. Kelsey; P. Cameron, A. Bales and Dr. E. S. Tait; G. Howe, J. Johnson, A. Dickens and J. Farquhar.

The league standing to date is as follows:

HEART TROUBLE SHORTNESS OF BREATH

Mrs. Geo. E. Bowman, Morrisburg, Ont., writes:—"I am writing you a few lines to let you know of my experience with Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Two years ago I became very poorly with my heart and nerves and whenever I took the least little bit of exercise my heart would start to jump and flutter. I could not walk up stairs without having to sit down and rest before I was half-way up, on account of my breath becoming so short.

I commenced taking

and in no time I felt a great improvement, and can now heartily recommend them to all those who are troubled with any affection of the heart.

HELEN KELLER ON THE AIR

Voice to be Heard Round the World on Radio Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13. — The voice of Helen Keller, created by herself after years of patient effort, will be radiated over the Pacific Ocean tonight, June 13, at 11.50 p.m., and heard by millions on the other side of the earth. This feat will be accomplished by the world's most remarkable blind and deaf woman speaking softly before a microphone in the San Francisco studio of KGO, the General Electric Pacific Coast Station.

Sensitive Fingers

Recent practice before KGO microphones showed that Helen Keller's voice over radio was even more distinct than when coming through the air direct from her mouth. While speaking she laughed the vibrating discs of radio head-phones and felt the rhythmic pulsations of her own voice. Her sensitive fingers even detected the difference between speech and music. When her name was pronounced three times over the air she recognized it twice—saying with the KGO announcer, "Helen Keller, Helen Keller." With her face beaming she declared: "It will help me to speak!" Sounds like "d," "e," "h," she said "felt" much alike to her. But with practice it was said she believed a difference might be detected.

Several years ago, at the suggestion of Thomas A. Edison, Helen Keller began practicing talking into a small cedar box, ceiling the vibrating wood, in her struggle to form mental pictures of different sounds and then make the sounds herself. Just the small practice in the KGO studios, it was declared, improved her voice, giving it more natural rhythmic qualities.

8,000 Miles in Instant

Owing to the difference in time, listeners on the other side of the earth, will hear Helen Keller's voice in the evening of the day before she speaks at KGO. However, it was explained by engineers, the actual energy radiated from the KGO antenna will reach Australia, 8,000 miles distant, in one-fifth of the time between ticks of a watch.

Ann Sullivan Macy, life-long friend and teacher of Helen Keller, will also be heard. She will tell the story of Helen Keller's life, and explain how she taught her to understand "the swaying of trees," "the strength of a lion," and many other interesting things, seemingly impossible to communicate to a person who could neither hear, see, or at the time, speak a word.

LAKE KATHLYN DANCE PROVED ENJOYABLE

Young People Visited Mrs. Birnie's Summer Camp Over New Road

SMITHERS, June 13. — A pleasant dance was held at Mrs. Birnie's summer camp at Lake Kathlyn on Tuesday night when a number of young folks motored from town and enjoyed several hours dancing in the hall on the lake shore.

Mrs. Birnie's camp is now in full swing and as she is prepared to serve refreshments to campers it should make holidaying at the lake very popular this summer.

The new road is now open for traffic and the Auto Club is planning to put in a number of improvements in the way of recreation grounds and more

CRICKET DYING IN ENGLAND

Leading Journal Deplores Lack of Effort to Develop Young Players

LONDON, Eng., June 12.—(By Canadian Press). — England's vain attempt to wrest the cricket laurels from Australia in the test matches last winter has brought out considerable criticism from numerous sportsmen, many of whom express the opinion that the national game has not the hold on the British public that once was the case. The necessity of fostering the spirit of the game is put forward by representatives of practically all the country clubs and many have established "nurseries" where youthful aspirants to first class honors are given every opportunity to attain proficiency in all branches of sport.

"In an article published recently "The Field," England's leading sporting journal adds its voice to the demand pointing out that opportunities for youthful cricketers to realize their ambition of one day playing for "the county" are decreasing as the years pass.

"How far have we drifted since the days of the all England elevens may be easily discovered from a brief examination of the history of the game," says the writer of the article.

Doings of the Mosquito Fleet which is the chief source of Prince Rupert's prosperity

Generally speaking the amount of halibut landed and the amount of commercial business done on the waterfront this week has been well up to the average for this time of the year. There is a lot of work being carried on at the local shipyards while the machine shops and electrical supply houses are doing their fair share of business. The carpenters are getting into the season's stride and much repair work, of a mechanical nature, is being carried out in the city.

While some of the skippers, who have been fishing on the northern banks, report fishing to have been good and weather fine, others have stated that the fish have been "patchy" and the weather not all that one might look for in the summer. These reports have emanated from different northern fishing points. Capt. H. Haram of the American schooner Democrat which landed 21,000 pounds on Thursday, and who has been fishing off Cape Spencer and Fairweather, stated that so far as his last trip was concerned the weather was O.K. and the volume of fish caught came up to expectations. On the other hand Capt. P. Pearson of the schooner Majestic, with a total carrying capacity of 55,000 who has been fishing on the Portlock banks off Kodiak Island, stated that he had run into bad weather on the entire trip and that the fish were "patchy." The Majestic arrived with a light catch of 25,000 pounds on Thursday morning.

of tides it is expected that the run will considerably improve. The Cold Storage salmon packer Chief Zibassa, Capt. Bert Hanson, came in from the Hippo Island trolling grounds on Tuesday and returned on Wednesday night. The salmon run in that district is steadily improving.

A Painting Fiend

If you have any old piece of furniture lying around the house, but preferably something that floats, and you need it painted a nice brilliant white, just phone up George Bryant who will seize his paint pot and brush and report immediately for duty. George was not only anxious to give the good ship Harla a coat of white on Sunday but also indulged in painting Alex. McRae's skiff. The skiff chanced to occupy an advantageous position on the Yacht Club float and George, having accomplished painting his liner, started in upon Alex's skiff without permission. The genial secretary went out to Shawatlans with his skiff, not noticing that it was painted again, with the result that himself and dog got beautifully plastered with the latest manufacture of white paint. While Alex's canine pet likes to look clean it does not appreciate being dolled up in a coat of white paint without first being consulted on the matter. The motto is—Watch your step when wandering around the line—Harla, unless you carry a bottle of turpentine for hand cleaning purposes.

Salmon Run Light

Skipper Bert Wearmouth, who is packing salmon with the Narwhaling from the Dundas Island trolling grounds, arrived in port on Wednesday. Speaking of the salmon run in that district he said that it was not very good at present, but that with the change

Purchases Echo

The latest amateur skipper to join the happy band of engine winders of the Yacht Club is W. E. Mack, of financial fame, who has recently purchased the speed boat Echo from C. L. Heindel. The Echo showed up in bright colors during the recent club regatta and if the alterations, which her new owner contemplates, are carried out it will be odds against other boat owners enjoying enough water to enable their boats to float. It would seem a wise procedure to get one's boat away early in the day before Mack gets the 3,000 rev-

Rode a Halibut

In case there should be any question raised hereafter as to the credibility of this story we do not mind, as a special instance, quoting as the source of information none other than Capt. Angell, skipper of the schooner Alaska. Cap tells the story with solemn countenance and far be it from us to doubt its veracity. The story has to do with Dave Nash, an old timer in the halibut fishing, when out in a dory hauling in the halibut. Dave was seen from the accompanying schooner to be straining every muscle to haul in something, which judging from the amount of pep he put into the operation, was something in the nature of a sunken steam roller. After many heaves and groans Dave brought up the head of a huge halibut so large in fact that the halibut in refusing to get into the dory pulled Dave into the water. Just as Dave was leaving the dory he grabbed a gaff hook and managed to jab it into the marine monster by mounting on its back. This made the fish sore and with the speed of Benson's boat it swam away with the nautical jockey astride it. However, Dave did not lose his presence of mind, or his bank roll, but using the gaff as a steering device he managed to guide the halibut several times around the schooner. After several rides around the boat the jockey eventually managed to bring the monster fish alongside the dory again when his mate, who had surmised the sequel of their hero's tactics, grabbed both man and fish and pulled them from the salt chuck.

What you you think of that? The fish packer Nortonia, owned and operated by the Tingley Brothers, called in for supplies this week. The Nortonia is packing salmon from the Hippo trolling grounds to Butedale cannery.

The 45 foot halibut boat for Capt. John Wicks, is nearing completion on the McLean ways. The Vickers-Peters engine has been installed and everything will be in readiness for the final plunge on Monday or Tuesday of next week.

The next boat for building is a 40 foot halibut boat for Capt. Havmoller. This keel will be laid immediately the Wicks' boat is launched.

The schooner Marguerite, Capt. "Scotly" Reid, has been up on the ways this week for cleaning and painting.

Capt. J. C. Scott has had his power boat Maiven on the ways to get the engine lined up, the stern bearing re-habbed and the hull re-caulked. The Maiven has been commissioned in the fish packing for the Miller cannery.

What a Life?
(Dedicated to Andy McDonald who mourns the absence of his wife) Andy leads the "single" life since wifey went away, in fact he's started out to dance by night as well as day. He goes to all the movie shows when Mack Sennett's on the bill, in fact his friends will tell you that he's hitting down the hill. He'll tell you all the girls' names and what it's all about but walks in backwards to the shows and they think he's going out. Of money he has plenty and like a regular guy he loves to go into the bank and make the dollars fly.

The teller, he will tell you just how liberal Andy is for Andy puts 'em through the cage but that's nobody's bis. At night time when he's lonely and wants a bit of life he'll light his pipe in Ma's best room, you could cut smoke with a knife. Sometimes he's feeling kind of gay, and just to make things hum he'll wind the bloomin gramophone and put it on the bum. But Sunday is his great big day, and Andy's no one's fool, he doesn't rise for breakfast to get kids to Sunday School. He lies and sleeps all through the day till hunger gets him up when he rises and goes in next door and there sits down to sup. He's never late for business though, of that you may be sure, and if he is late for bed at night his bed's the office floor. On Saturday night he makes things hum by sauntering up the street, you can always tell it's Andy by looking at his feet. But jokes aside, he's awful queer a' keepin bachelors' hall, he never used to quite act so and sit around and stall. Cheer up old man, you'll soon be dead, there's better days in sight and wifey now will soon be back to set all wrong things right. But take the tip, of one who knows, and keep the hens well fed for we'll celebrate when "she" comes home as sure as lead is lead.

A New Schooner
The latest Canadian schooner to arrive in port is the Cape Beale, a 65 foot boat recently completed in Vancouver for Capt. John Olson and Associates. In addition to installing a seine winch Matthew Hill has just completed putting a new 8 h.p. Vivian engine in his boat. The Inverness cannery Horse-shoe, Capt. F. Dudoward, is having her clutch overhauled and new piston rings.

Demonstrating Engine
The Ward Electrical Supply house, Cow Bay, has recently received a 9-10 h.p. Vickers-Peters engine from Vancouver which has been erected in the shop for demonstrating purposes. These engines are becoming increasingly popular, several of which have already been installed in boats this season. To anyone desiring to see the engine in operation Mr. Ward extends a cordial invitation.
