OTTAWA, March 2.—Eastern Canada and the New England states and districts as far south as Kentucky were shaken an earthquake Saturday night, which was the severest in the history of the Dominion Observatory and which authorities claim was the worst in two centuries.

The centre of disturbance is said to have been at the mouth of the Saguenay River in Quebec, in the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

So far one death is reported as a result of the tremors, that of Mrs. Eugene Bureau, 25 miles from Three Rivers who, falling unconscious from the shock, died shortly afterwards.

CHURCH FIRE AT MONTREAL

St. James Injured from Blaze Sunday Morning Result of Earthquake

MONTREAL, Mar. 2.—St. James Basilica, the episcopal seat of Roman Catholics here, was threatened with destruction Sunday morning, when a fire broke out and damaged the building to the extent of about $50,000. It is thought that the fire may have been caused by oil leaking from the heating system. A pipe was broken by the earthquake on Saturday evening, and caught fire from the furnace room.

HOT BROTHER BECAUSE DYING

She Put Him Out of His Agony But Was Arrested

LEICESTER, Eng., Mar. 2.—Under special circumstances' ever present the taking of human life. This question has been revived in a case reported in Hungerford Vicarage where William Bellison was found this study yesterday morning in the head with a rifle bullet. His sister sent for a doctor and then returned to her brother's side, refusing to let anyone else to enter the room.

A little later another shot was fired in the study and Miss Bellison screamed out and said: "I asked if he would live and he did not, so I put him out of his agony."

Those Interested Throughout This Region to Meet in Seattle

DISCUSS HATCHERIES

British Columbia Representatives to Attend as Well as From Alaska

SEATTLE, March 2.—A meeting is planned to take place here two weeks from today of all those particularly interested in the salmon industry on this coast. It has been called by E. A. Sims, chairman of the Washington state board of fisheries, and all important bodies are expected to be represented there. Among those attending will be Henry O. Madley, U.S. commissioner of fisheries; W. A. Found, director of fisheries of the Dominion of Canada; William Sloan, commissioner of fisheries for B.C.; and J. P. Babcock, his deputy; F. P. Kendall of the fish commission of Oregon; N. B. Schofield, in charge of the commercial fisheries department of California; J. R. Heckman of the Alaska Territorial Fish Commission.

Among the important matters to be discussed will be the value of hatcheries and the alternative of improving the seeding beds on the upper waters of the streams. An attempt will be made to arrange a unified program for the whole Pacific Coast dealing with the practical problems affecting the industry.

Important matters which will undoubtedly be discussed will be the further study of the life history of the salmon and tagging as a means to that end. The menace of the fisheries through the construction of dams and the harnessing of waterpowers; also deep sea studies. Possibly the subject of fish culture will be the most important of all these subjects for it is one that has lately been probed in various quarters and with differing and widely varying results.

URGENT INCREASE OF RED ARMY

Russian War Minister Wants More Than Half Million Men for Defense OFFICERS FROM MASSES

MOSCOW, Mar. 2.—War Minister Frunze in warning Russia against the danger of an attack from European powers urged the enlargement of the territorial forces. "The red army of 562,500 men is insufficient for mobilization purposes in the event of an attack," he declared in an address before the conference of communistic members. In the army he insisted it was necessary to have officers from the masses who are loyal to the Soviet regime and the communistic party.

DEPRESSION IN GREAT BRITAIN

Trouble Said to be Brewing in Three Key Industries According to American View

LONDON, Mar. 2.—The American Chamber of Commerce in its February summary of conditions says there is trouble brewing in three British key industries, mining, engineering and railways, and points out that unemployment figures jumped 77,000 over the same month the previous year and now aggregates 4,239,000.

Shipbuilding is much depressed, only thirty per cent of the available ships being operated. The stock of coal is large and the export demand slow. There is a suggestion of a Government bonus of half a crown a ton to consumers.

CONNECT POWER AT SAW MILL TODAY

The Seal Cove sawmill is having its power connection with the city lines hooked up today. Half the connected load or about 300 horse power is being given at this time. This will enable the machinery of the mill to be turned over. The full load of about 800 horse power will be required about April 1 when it is proposed to resume cutting at the mill. It was in the fall of 1921 when the mill's power was last disconnected, the period since then marking the time of idleness at the plant.

NO PACIFIC BONUS FOR THIS YEAR IS OPINION AT OTTAWA

OTTAWA, Mar. 2.—It is understood here that no bonus will be voted for this year for shipping on the Pacific Ocean but the Government will first see how the Atlantic bonus works out. It is said that Peterson freighters will not engage to any extent in the carrying of grain but will devote their attention particularly to cattle and dairy products and general merchandise.

Salmon Hatcheries Still Discussed.

The value of salmon hatcheries is still a matter for discussion and it will be one of the chief subjects for consideration at the meeting of fishery experts at Seattle this month.

The difficulty in dealing with this question is that the hatchery people who get their living from the business are all apparently biased in its favor. To do away with hatcheries would be to do away with their occupation. They have been trained to believe that the method they employ is the best and they must muster every possible argument to bolster up their case.

Socks Are Important And So Are Menders.

It seems a trivial thing to discuss in a newspaper such a subject as the mending of socks, and yet it is extremely important to everyone and especially to the large number of unattached men who reside in a place like Prince Rupert.

If an investigation were made it would probably be found that there are something like half a million pairs of socks stored away in the cupboards, drawers and recesses of the dwellings in and around this city, which need mending. As it is they are useless. If they were mended they would be useful.

It is not the intention of this article to try to interfere with the men's furnishing business by inducing the bachelors to wear their socks longer than they do but simply to point out to some of the ladies who are looking for fruitful occupations that these socks need mending and that the said bachelors would be willing to pay for the service if they only knew where to get it. Today there is many a blistered toe caused by holes in the socks which the deft fingers of a woman could have prevented.

It has been suggested that laundries should institute such a service and doubtless they are best qualified to undertake it.

Monkman Pass Route To Peace River.

The Monkman Pass route to the Peace River seems to be the same that is known to some as the Wapiti Pass route. It is the most southerly route for crossing the mountains north of the Yellow Head Pass through which the Canadian National runs.

The announcement that this route is favored by a reputable engineer who has surveyed it and who has prepared plans, specifications and profiles, came somewhat as a surprise when a special despatch telling about it was published in this paper Saturday. According to Engineer Robert Jones it is the shortest and cheapest to construct of all the routes, even including that by way of Brule. It would be better for both Vancouver and Prince Rupert to have the road built that way than by the more easterly outlets.

Peace River Pass Seems Favored Here.

The Peace River Pass seems to be the one most favored here. It would open up a much better country than the other but it would cost a great deal more and cost is a very important thing just now. Mr. Jones says it would cost $9,000,000 to build by Monkman Pass; $12,000,000 by Brule, and $14,000,000 by Pine Pass. While he does not mention the Peace River Pass route it is known that it would cost a great deal more especially if it came out by way of Hazelton. No matter what the House of Commons might do, the Senate has to be reckoned with in connection with this railway building and the Senate is today opposed to large expenditures.

GODDESS OF LOVE SEEN IN PICTURES

Play This Mid-week is Story of Romance and Flirtations

Fanny Randon was a wife who believed that running a household should be conducted on a business-like and efficient basis. She had a clock in every room, in order to time her work and to keep on schedule. She had no time for fun or recreation, because, somehow, in spite of her "efficiency expert" methods, her house claimed her whole attention.

Her husband, Lee, on the other hand, believed that every person was entitled to get as much fun out of life as possible, and he tried frequently to induce Fanny to go to the theatre, dances and parties with him. But she consistently refused. Lee's conception of married life being a continuous romance was constantly stifled by Fanny's prosaic attitude.

So it was little wonder that one day when Lee met a pretty little maiden he tried to convince her that he was not an "old man" by dancing with her, and behaving generally as a college sophomore. And he went home carrying on his cheek, in rouge, the outline of a pair of arched lips.

Even that did not awaken Fanny to the folly of her ways. The break came when Lee met a woman whose features had been enshrined in his memory as his "ideal." Up to then she had been a vision. Now she was a reality, and Lee found himself powerless in the grip of this new love.

What happened to Lee is an amazingly dramatic story which can be seen in "Cythera," Goddess of Love, at the Westholme Wednesday.

THE FIGHTING SAP IS TO BE SHOWN TONIGHT

Story of a Nebraska Mine With Plenty of the Wild West

Charles Richmond is the owner of several mines in the West. His son, Craig, is interested only in the theory of mining, and is a "nut" on the subject. He is forever poking his nose into a book on mineralogy, or looking around for rocks that he might inspect for mineral deposits. Craig is a very mild looking, handsome boy, but when driven to a certain point, can turn hell loose!

His father, who had owned the Black Leopard Mine and had abandoned it some years back, has left a caretaker, Waller Stoddard, in charge. Stoddard has been writing him of the new veins that had been opened and of the pay product they were getting out of the mine. Richmond believes him insane, especially inasmuch as the men that are supposed to be working the mine are doing so without pay.

Charles Richmond sends Craig to investigate. We next pick him up at the mine with Silver King, his best pal.

Smitten With Daughter Stoddard welcomes him and introduces him to his daughter, Marjorie, who is smitten with Craig at sight. He finds that the men working for Stoddard are a band of the worst looking eggs ever assembled in one crowd, each with a price on his head and each working with Nebraska, the leader, until there is sufficient bullion for all of them; and then they plan to make their getaway.

Craig looks around for the lost mineral deposit, and Nebraska, who has been following him, believes Craig to be an inspector of the law. Nebraska orders the men after him, and a great chase takes place - over the mine shafts, houses, pits, etc. Finally, the men capture him, tie him, and place a large can of dynamite near the tree, and light the fuse. When they leave, Craig whistles for Silver. The horse works his way out of the corral, runs to his master, rolls the can of powder over the hill and un- ties Craig.

The men hear the explosion and consider that is the last of the intruder. The powder, upon exploding, had thrown rocks all around Craig who in turn starts to inspect them and discovers that the explosion had uncovered the lost vein.

Brilliant Rescue Nebraska returns to the office and there finds a letter to Stoddard from Charles Richmond stating that he is due at the mine on that day. Nebraska plans a quick get-away. Nebraska opens the vault, and as he does so, Stoddard and his daughter step in the office. A short scuffle, and the old man is thrown into the vault. The girl, to protect herself against Nebraska runs into the vault, closes the door behind her and then throws the bar, which automatically locks the vault from the inside. Nebraska, who has the combination to the safe, starts off with his men. Craig chases them, knocks Nebraska out, gets the combination to the safe, opens it, and revives Stoddard and Marjorie.

Richmond Sr. realizes that his son is a hot-man, after all, and is delighted when Craig presents Marjorie with a little rock - set in an engagement ring!

JACKIE COOGAN ONCE MORE IN MOVIELAND

This Time He is the "Boy of Flanders," a Human Story Full of Pat Pathos

Wide as was the appeal of Jackie Coogan in "Long Live the King," "A Boy in Flanders" will exert an even wider circle of appeal - it is so human, so homely, so full of those touches of tenderness and pathos, that make the whole world kin. It will be seen here at the week end.

Throughout the story, even in the moments of its mischief and fun - and they are many and reassuring - the characterization given by little Jackie is imbued with a fine spirituality of infinite appeal alike to children and grown-ups; it is chastening, ennobling and truly elevating.

Tells Whimsical Story Gone are the formal, braided and militant garments of "Long Live the King"; gone too the aristocratic environment and the patrician sense of life in the palaces of princes and kings. Instead there is little Nello in the poverty-stricken hut of Jehan Daas, who ekes out a wretched living as a carrier of milk from the small farmers of St. Agneten to dealers in Antwerp, a league or two distant.

The picture is replete with scenes of inspiring beauty. Homeless Nello (Jackie) wandering aimless in the face of a blinding snow-storm constitutes one of the most poignant episodes on which the eye of a motion picture camera was ever turned. No one that witnesses the rescue by the dog, Patrasche, of his little master, will ever forget the tear-evoking power of this episode.

BABY'S COLDS

Children's delicate digestions are easily disturbed by too much "dosing." Still, the little ones' cold troubles cannot be neglected.

At the very first sign of croup, sore throat, or any other cold trouble, apply Vicks VapoRub over the throat and chest. There is nothing to swallow—you just rub it on. Colds go over night, croup is usually relieved in 15 minutes.

Mrs. N. of Westminster

Something over two year ago Mrs. N. (now living in New Westminster) moved up the coast where fresh milk was unobtainable. She had never tried canned milk, but being compelled to use it decided to try some of every brand. Pacific came first and she says it was a surprise. Then all the others had their opportunity, only to have her come back to Pacific, which she continues to use even after getting back to town.

We are grateful for such letters as Mrs. N's.

This week will see the close of the team billiard championship series that has been in progress for the past several months and the commencement of the annual individual elimination series. Tomorrow night the final tournament of the second division will take place between the Prince Rupert Billiard Parlor and the Great War Veterans. There is little chance of the former team being beaten so badly that it would be knocked out of first place in favor of the St. Andrew's team, runners-up. Entries for the individual city championship series close on Wednesday and the first round will start on March 12, the date being set at a meeting of the billiard league executive held yesterday.

The games of the Prince Rupert Cribbage League are being followed with a good deal of interest. Two more sets of games are scheduled—one tonight and the other on Monday next. Seven of the nine teams are still in the running for the season's honors with the preference lying with the Regiment, Orange Lodge, Dry Dock and Elks who are sharing first place. Of course, the St. Andrew's, War Veterans and Sons of Canada also have a chance, they being tied in second place but one game behind. Tonight the following teams will meet: St. Andrew's vs. Dry Dock; Loyal Orange Lodge vs. Regiment; Great War Veterans vs. Elks; Grotto vs. Sons of Canada.

The Prince Rupert High School girls won the first basketball game from Anyox by a score of 17 to 14 on Friday night but the boys lost by 38 to 25, according to word received by Douglas Frizzell. The results of the second games on Saturday night have not been learned. The teams will be home on the steamer Cardena tomorrow.

The many friends of Mrs. David H. Hays, formerly a resident of Prince Rupert, will regret to know that she is still quite ill. Mrs. Hays is now in a small sanitarium at 911 East Villa Street, Pasadena, California where she likes to hear from her friends, notwithstanding her inability to write in response. Mrs. Hays is fortunately able to take short rides.

WESTERN MANAGER

THE rapid expansion of the colonization work of the Canadian National Railways in Western Canada, and the excellent results obtained during 1924 under the direction of Mr. E. A. Field, Land Commissioner, have justified the formation of plans for the active extension of this work during 1925, and some staff changes. Formal announcement is now made that dating from January 16th, 1925, Mr. Dan M. Johnson is appointed Western Manager of this department with headquarters at Winnipeg, an appointment which will meet with very general approval throughout eastern and western Canada where Mr. Johnson is favorably known as a first class agricultural, stockman and business executive.

Born on the Kincadesky farm at Henshingly, near Winnipeg, in 1884, which farm was at that time managed by his father, Mr. Johnson in his early years received a very thorough training in agriculture, both theoretical and practical. His studies were pursued at Upper Canada College, Toronto, Ont.; Wycliffe College, Gloucestershire, England; Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Ont., and Toronto University, from which institution of learning he graduated in 1908 with the degree of Bachelor of Scientific Agriculture. From this date until 1913 he was busy on the land as a practical farmer at Myrtle, Ontario, and North Battleford, Saskatchewan, gaining in that period irreplaceable experience of the farmer's problems as they are encountered in actual operation. Having by this time acquired a reputation as a stock raiser, he was in August, 1915, appointed Market Representative of the Dominion Live Stock Branch at the Union Stock Yards, St. Boniface, and in 1918 Superintendent of Stock Yards, charged with the enforcement of the Live Stock and Live Stock Products Act of 1917, and further promoted in 1920 to be Chief of Stock Yards Service for the Dominion Government.

On July 1st, 1924, Mr. Johnson resigned his position with the Dominion Government to become Agricultural Agent for the C.N.R., and was appointed General Agricultural Agent on Feb. 1st, 1924. His wide experience with agricultural matters, and extensive acquaintance with those directly interested in such matters, will be of considerable assistance in the performance of his new duties, which, in view of the immense importance of active colonization work to western Canada and the Canadian National Railways, affords almost unlimited scope for his activity. Among other features of the work receiving Mr. Johnson's personal direction is that of the Employment Service for farm help which the Colonization Department has organized as a matter of placing newly arrived immigrants in farm labor.

Alex S. Millar, well known Smithers mining man, returned to the city on the Princess Mary Saturday afternoon after having spent a couple of months at Ketchikan. He will proceed to the interior on this evening's train.

The temporary power line from Alton Avenue for the elevator has been completed and electricity was turned over the line on Saturday. The connection is only temporary and gives a load of 25 horse power which will be used during construction of the elevator.

No irritation for baby's skin

Do this and keep his clothing soft, pure and comfortable

Nothing is so sensitive as baby's skin! Even the slightest roughness in his diapers, shirts and bands will inflame and irritate it.

Much trouble is directly due to washing diapers with harsh soap—soap containing free alkali. The alkali clings to the little garments in the form of a fine, white powder—almost impossible to rinse out. This causes "diaper rash."

To save baby's skin, use Lux for washing all his clothes. It is the mildest, purest, gentlest cleanser in the world. Lux contains no free alkali, and the pure suds rinse out completely. Lux keeps baby's garments soft, clean, comfortable and safe!

How to wash diapers

Remove solid matter at once and soak diapers in cold water. Whisk two table-spoonsful of Lux into thick suds in a tub of very hot water. Let diapers soak a few moments, then dip up and down, pressing suds repeatedly through them. Rinse thoroughly in three waters.

BOYS WERE IN CHARGE OF METHODIST CHURCH SERVICE LAST EVENING

In connection with the Father and Son Week which is now being observed, there was a special service in the Methodist Church last night with the Tuxis Boys in charge. W. J. E. Barrie was in the chair, the scripture lesson from Luke II, "Christ Lost in the Temple" was read by Jack Stevens who paralleled this incident with the modern boy lost today to society, physically, to his parents and to the church, and Henry Heilbroner gave an address, "What Will a Father Give for His Son?" Special hymns were sung for the occasion with the regular choir leading and Cliff Cameron presiding at the pipe organ. A good sized congregation attended the service.

INAUGURATION OF COOLIDGE

Ceremony Takes Place Wednesday and Will be Simple as Possible

TAFT ADMINISTERS OATH

Speech Will be Broadcasted to Thousands Who Are Unable to Attend

(Associated Press) WASHINGTON, March 2.—The inauguration of President Coolidge at Washington next Wednesday will be characterized by that simple frugality which long has been a traditional trait of his native New England, and a watchword of his own political career.

Although selected to the chief magistracy in his own right by the largest popular plurality in history, he will begin his new term of office with an absence of pomp and ceremony reminiscent of the earliest days of the republic.

In conformity with his own desires, the inaugural parade will be shorn of many of its features of previous years and the elaborate celebration usually carried out by residents of the capital will be omitted entirely.

Take Four Hours

The whole ceremony probably will occupy less than four hours. An hour or so before noon a congressional committee will call at the White House to escort the President to the Capitol, and before mid-afternoon he expects to be back at his desk, proceeding with business as usual.

While the Sixty-Eighth Congress is completing its session preparatory to final adjournment at noon Mr. Coolidge will pass

Taft Will Officiate

Then the entire company of dignitaries will file out to the east portico of the Capitol, where, facing a special stand built to seat 8,500 people, Mr. Coolidge will be administered the oath of office by Chief Justice Taft and will deliver his inaugural address. Amplifiers will carry his words to those far out on the Plaza who have been unable to obtain seats, and for the first time the entire inaugural ceremony will be broadcast by radio.

The inaugural parade that will escort the President and Vice-President back to the White House along Pennsylvania Ave. will be composed of two sections only, one including about 8,000 soldiers, sailors and marines on duty in this immediate vicinity, and the other made up of a score of state governors with their staffs.

From a small stand facing Lafayette Square Mr. Coolidge will review the parade as it passes, and when its last unit has filed by the inauguration will be over.

GRAZING
Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partly free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.
