BIG LUMBER MILL AT HUTTON IS BURNED

BARON BYNG OF VIMY, GOVERNOR GENERAL, TO MAKE SHORT VISIT HERE

Big Lumber Mill at Hutton is Destroyed by Fire Valued at $300,000: Planing Mill Saved

At a loss of approximately $300,000, fairly well covered by insurance placed through Vancouver agents, the big lumber mill of the United Grain Growers at Hutton has been destroyed by fire as well as a warehouse and three Canadian National cars which were standing on the siding.

The fire started late yesterday afternoon and was burning when the westbound passenger train passed through. The train was run through to Giscombe and a locomotive was sent back with men and equipment to fight the flames.

The company's planing mill, which was located some 300 feet west of the sawmill and the adjoining lumber yard with approximately fourteen million feet of lumber it is thought were saved. In the planing mill the water system was installed.

No Communication

The telegraph service at Hutton went out of commission after the fire had been burning a couple of hours and late this morning it was impossible to get any word through. It is the opinion of railway officials that the system has simply been disorganized. If the planing mill were destroyed the telegraph office would go with it and, having received no word of the loss of the telegraph office, the deduction is that the planing mill has not been destroyed.

The plant was one of the largest in the district and the company had made arrangements for a big cut this summer, having about 15,000,000 feet of logs decked along the railway and in the bush. If the fire is held to the sawmill the loss of the company will not be very heavy, as it is believed the mill was well covered by insurance.

Men Out of Work

The fire will have an appreciable effect upon the lumber output of the district as the company produced on an average 80,000 feet of lumber a day, furnishing employment to 500 men in the bush during the winter and half that number around the plant when operating and in the summer camps.

As there is considerable snow in the bush to the west of Hutton, it is not thought the fire will occasion any great damage to standing timber.

It is said that the site of the plant could be changed with advantage. All the logs had to be brought to it by rail and no advantage was taken of water transport.

The company is not an extensive holder of standing timber and can doubtless dispose of the past season's cut of logs to advantage if there should be delay in the matter of rebuilding.

MONEY COMING FOR NEW WARD

Place for Children in Hospital Will be Provided if all Help

Interest is now well awakened in the children's ward at the hospital and money is coming in. The difficulty is to overcome the natural inertia of the average person and get him to step in, either to one of the banks or to the Daily News office and leave the money.

One feature of the morning donations was the receipt of the sum of $2.20 from a group of young folks Emyd Morris, Audrey Tremayne, Megan Morris, Billy Brooksbank, Jack Cade, Bob Parker and Frances Tremayne. It is these little amounts that count and which will eventually make possible the new ward. It will be easy enough if all help. Following are the donations received up to noon today:

Previously acknowledged	$185.00
Group of Children	2.20
Alf. William Brown	5.00
The Skipper	$2.00
A Mother	5.00
Electric Window Bakeries	5.00
St. Andrew's Auxiliary	50.00
Loyal Order of Moose	25.00

Harry Wasson was fined $10 and costs in the city police court this morning for driving a motor car without a license.

Activity of United States in Curbing Liquor Running on the Great Lakes Causes Irritation

TORONTO, May 7.—The Mail and Empire published a story from Windsor, Ontario, today stating: "International complications will arise from the efforts of the United States to maintain a coast guard on the Great Lakes to curb rum running, it was predicted by John H. Rodd, K.C., former crown attorney.

"Rodd was emphatic in the statement that reprisals would follow if the United States pursued its announced policy of shooting first and investigating afterwards."

According to the story, 22 cruisers carrying cannon and smaller guns had been commissioned for Great Lakes service.

TRITES NOW ENIERS LARDEAU DISTRICT

Obtained Group of Claims Through A. St. Claire Brindle, Former Mining Recorder

A. B. Trites, well known provincial mining man, and Lieut.-Col. Jack Leckie of Vancouver, have taken over the Metropolitan group of claims in the Lardeau district north of Kootenay Lake. The deal was handled by A. St. Claire Brindle, Victoria mining engineer, who recently became associated with Mr. Trites and who was instrumental in the transfer of the Gold Cliff mine at Stewart from William Dunn to Mr. Trites. It is interesting to note that Mr. Brindle was at one time mining recorder at Front Lake which is the headquarters of the Lardeau district.

SOAP KING HAS PASSED AWAY

Viscount Leverhulme Had Interesting Life During Which He Accumulated Millions

VICTIM OF PNEUMONIA

Had Big Clash with Late Lord Northcliffe and Won Out in Libel Suit

LONDON, May 7.—Viscount Leverhulme, one of England's greatest industrial leaders, known as the soap king, died this morning as the result of an attack of pneumonia, aged 73.

Beginning in a small way in a soap factory he became a multi-millionaire, a manufacturer who divided his profits with his employees.

William Hesketh Lever, first Baron Leverhulme, was born in Bolton, one of the busy cotton towns of Lancashire in 1851. His father was a wholesale grocer there, and young Lever, at the age of 16, helped in the paternal business. Ten years later he bought a business for himself in Wigan, a town very similar to and not far from his native place. Seven years of hard work and hardheaded management made Lever a prosperous grocer, and then, to use his own words, "he thought he would go into soap." Although he struck the now famous trade-name "Sunlight" during the first few hours, the actual making of the soap for some time had to be entrusted to an outside firm.

To attend the installation banquet of the local Rotary Club this evening and accompany a party headed by District Governor Frank Riggs of Portland to the inauguration banquet at Ketchikan at the end of the week, a party of Ketchikan Rotarians arrived in town this morning. The party consists of Harry C. Numan, Ketchikan manager of the New England Fish Co. and president of the club there; Rev. C. M. Van Marter, Methodist clergyman; N. R. Walker, druggist, and Frank Parrish, traveling salesman and Rotarian of Seattle who represented Governor Riggs at the organization in Ketchikan.

The party arrived at 8.15 this morning on the halibut schooner Carolyn, Capt. A. J. Anderson, after a trip which took just over twelve hours. They will return north on the Princess Mary tomorrow night.

HAPPY RITCHIE OFF TO CASSIAR DIGGINGS

J. F. Ritchie, Jr. ("Happy") is leaving tomorrow on the Princess Mary for the Dease Lake country. He will be engaged for a while with the party of J. A. Stephen, public works engineer. If the possibilities of gold mining in the new field are anything like they are reputed to be, Happy says he may spend next winter in the Cassiar. He was there last year and came out by way of Hazelton.

Cold Storage Manager says that Embargo is useless to bring any Relief to the Fishing Situation

VANCOUVER, May 7.—"Relief to the halibut fishing situation in Canada cannot be brought about by the suggested embargo on American fish entering the Canadian ports but we have hopes that the president of the United States will exercise his prerogative and reduce the duty on Canadian fish entering United States." So stated T. H. Johnson, general manager of the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Company today. He said that when the report of the Hopkinson commission appointed by President Coolidge to inquire into the production costs of American and Canadian halibut was made public, the report will recommend that the president exercise his prerogative and reduce the duty one half.

Robert Forke Remains Head of Progressive Party in Commons; Whip and Chairman Changed

OTTAWA, May 7.—Robert Forke remains head of the Progressive Party, it was announced last night at the close of the third protracted caucus of the party held during the past two days. The caucuses were the result of differences which came to a head over the vote on the budget last Friday when a number of Progressives bolted from the party and supported the government of Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, thus giving him a substantial majority.

As a result of the caucuses several changes have been made in the officials of the party. G. W. Stewart, M.P., of Humbolt has replaced J. E. Johnson as chief Progressive whip and W. Stewart, M.P., of Humbolt chairman of the caucus.

Factionalism In Any Community.

Factionalism is bad in any community when it is carried to extreme. Wholesome rivalry is all right but when it comes to bitterness, such as has been a little in evidence here recently, it plays havoc with the city and makes for anything but progress. We, as a city, cannot expect to do anything unless we all pull together. Here is a little story clipped from a house journal that illustrates the point:

Two Garter Snakes That Swallowed Each Other.

"Thar war two garter snakes down in the mountains of Kaintucky, an' these two snakes hated each other worse than pizen," John Anderson Burns ("Burns o' th' Mountains") tells the story.

"An' so, one day, both o' these snakes got an idea. Th' idea was to swallow th' other snake, an' thus remove from the face o' th' earth th' other snake's presence."

"Both snakes were summit themselves peaceable enough alongside o' th' road when the idea came to 'em. An' they immediately began to carry out their joint plan."

"So, snake No. 1 reached over an' began to swallow snake No. 2, tail first. At th' same time, snake No. 2 twisted about and began t' swallow snake No. 1, tail first."

"Well, Suh, that made quite a sizable circle o' snake t' begin with, but gradually the circle grew smaller, until finally th' circle disappeared entirely. Each snake had completely swallowed th' other snake, an' thar on th' dusty road was nothin' but a bit o' mussed up dust whar th' swallerin' process had taken place!"

Program Of One Distasteful To Other.

Community factionalism is like that. Faction No. 1 decides that the program adopted by Faction No. 2 is entirely distasteful to the world at large and their own community in particular, so they proceed to "swallow" the other faction and the final outcome is only "a bit o' mussed up dust whar th' swallerin' process" took place!

Who of us has not seen these factions at work in our communities? The only difference in communities is that in some places it's worse than others.

Your town needs some outstanding civic improvement and a group of your more progressive business leaders decide that this and so should be done to bring about a betterment of that condition. The announcement that such a program is to be begun is the signal for the group of "can't-be-done-ists" to rise up and erect an obstacle in the path of the progressives — those who want to see their town grow. Old factions are brought into being. The idea probably comes to both factions that the only thing to be done is to remove the other group from the face of the earth and in the fight that ensues, the main issue is sidetracked. The improvement program is forgotten which is exactly what the obstructionists wanted to see happen!

Has that ever happened in your community? It has in most towns and cities the country over.

Value To B.C. Of Merchant Marine.

It is with pleasure we join with the Conservative member for South Vancouver in testifying to the value of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine to the industrial life of British Columbia. Before the advent of that fleet it was almost impossible for British Columbia shippers to get a vessel to carry her products to the markets of the world. Boards of Trade and other organizations took the matter up and discussed it but were unable to accomplish anything. Today either at Vancouver, Victoria, New Westminster, or Prince Rupert cargoes may be shipped if it is offering, because the Government line provides the means of transportation.

"THE WHITE SISTER" DIFFICULT TO MAKE

Company Got Involved in Rebellion in Algeria When Out on Location

One of the most exciting and dangerous locations ever used in the making of a motion picture was visited by Henry King's production unit of "The White Sister," coming here tomorrow and Saturday, which Lillian Gish stars. It was necessary to get some desert scenes, and in order to do this the company was forced to go to Algeria, where the natives were warring on the Italian government. Under military guard night and day, the actors were constantly in danger of being attacked by the wild Mohammedan fighters.

As if to emphasize the danger they were incurring, the actors and mechanical staff were treated to the sight of a troop of Italian cavalry bringing into Tripoli, the capital city, 500 prisoners who had been captured in a severe engagement the preceding day.

Have Pleasant Dreams

It was in the country where this battle had been fought that the actors were going to get color for the stirring scenes of the story dealing with the capture of the hero by Arabs.

"We could not wait for the rebellion to end," said Ronald Colman, who played the role of Giovanni, "and against the advice of Giuseppe Wolpi, the Governor General of the province, we concluded to go out to our location on the desert forty miles from the capital city. So serious was the fighting that the city was surrounded by barbed wire entanglements. Owing to the cooperation of the Italian government, though, we were given a military escort, a battalion of 500 infantrymen and 150 native loyal camel troops under command of white officers were assigned to us.

Taste of Real Thing

"It was most awe-inspiring to see the prisoners being brought in by the victors. It was a taste of real warfare. The prisoners were sullen and defiant. We took possession of the block house which had been captured by the Italian troops and there for six days, constantly being disturbed by rumors of the approach of the insurrectionists, we shot all the scenes necessary. "Regular military discipline was maintained and every precaution taken to guard against surprise. Every day scouts from the camel troop pushed into the desert to make reconnaissance. It is most inspiring to see the ungainly beasts start out. They are used on the desert because horses can not stand the going of the sand. The camels make speed that seems incredible.

Warned of Attacks

"Outposts were established and wire entanglements were stretched about our encampment. Several times we were warned that bands of insurrectionists were preparing to attack us, and the troops made ready for a desperate engagement, as the fanatical rebels defied death in their struggle against Italy. Detachments from our guard put a force to route without firing a shot, as the rebels recognized the superior force.

"All of us, at one time, or other have been locked out of our homes, but never before have I been locked out of a city. When we had finished our work in the desert we started back for the city. The journey of forty miles took longer than we had calculated. The gates of the city are locked at 9 o'clock and we found them locked against us on our arrival. We had to go back six miles to a block house and telephone in to have the gates opened for us."

FREE BEER IS A THING OF THE PAST

It takes a real old-timer to remember the olden days when upon some fete-day, free beer would be given to all who thirsted. Nowadays things worth while must be bought and paid for. But the best things of life are not always expensive. Bread, for instance. It is cheaper to buy it than to make it at home. Select Electric Bread made by the Electric Window Bakeries on Third Avenue.

HER NERVES SO BAD SHE COULD NOT SLEEP

Mrs. Grace Kitchen, St. George, Ont., writes:—"After having a severe attack of pneumonia I was left in a weak and run down condition. My nerves were so bad I could not sleep nights, and in the day time I had terrible fainting spells, caused by my heart being weak. Finally I got so bad I had to take to my bed for weeks at a time, but one day I read about so decided to try them.

After taking one box I felt a slight improvement. I have now taken five boxes, and have gained 35 pounds in weight. I am now more than able to do all my own household work as well as considerable outside work. I cannot recommend Milburn's Heart & Nerve Pills too highly for those suffering as I did."

John Dybbavn is leaving next Tuesday on a month's trip East. He will attend the annual meeting of the biological board of Canada, of which he is a member, at Ottawa next month and will also go to Montreal and possibly American cities on the Atlantic seaboard.

The passenger train, due from the East at 3.30 this afternoon, is five hours late. The train was late in reaching this division and was further delayed when the engine was taken off to rush fire fighting equipment from Giscome to Hutton where the United Grain Growers' mill was destroyed by fire. Among those coming in on the train is J. R. Cameron, of Vancouver, C.N.R. assistant general manager.

FIFTY DOLLARS FOR CHILDREN'S WARD AT THE GENERAL HOSPITAL

St. Andrew's Ladies' Auxiliary Heard Lecture and Gave Handsomely to Fund

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the St. Andrew's Society last night decided to donate the sum of fifty dollars to the Children's Ward fund which is being raised for the Prince Rupert General Hospital. This was done at the general meeting in the St. Andrew's rooms.

Following the business meeting Miss McCaul, lady superintendent of the hospital gave an interesting lecture on first aid dealing particularly with the treatment of scalds and burns, sprains and fractures, convulsions, in children, how to take foreign bodies from the eyes, nose and throat and also first aid in cases of drowning. Very enlightening instruction was also given in the preparation of food for invalids. Refreshments were served and music was enjoyed, the soloist being Mrs. William Millar accompanied by Mrs. D. C. Stuart. Mrs. James Irvine presided. The hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Howard Steen, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. McArthur and Mrs. Dowther.

BOOK ON HAIDA INDIANS MAKES MARK ENGLAND

Long Reviews Given of Work of Charles Harrison Formerly of Massett

TIMES SPEAKS WELL OF IT

Illustrated London News Has Two Page Spread With Many Illustrations

The new book by Charles Harrison, F.R.A.S., formerly of Massett, Queen Charlotte Islands, "Ancient Warriors of the North Pacific," is receiving a great deal of favorable notice in England. The Illustrated London News has a two page review of the book with fine reproductions of some of the illustrations, mostly totem poles. It is one of the features of that number of the magazine.

The London Times also has a review which follows:

It is stimulating to learn that there is still an island where Englishmen may be referred to as "King George Tilikum," but a little disappointing to find it less inaccessible than such a sumptuous and outlandish phrase leads the lover of islands to expect. It was at Massett that the author of this book was greeted on landing as King George Tyhee—the salutation of a courteous and unsophisticated people, for tyhee means chief and Mr. Harrison was a stranger—but Massett is less than a hundred miles from the terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway at Prince Rupert. It is at the north end of the Queen Charlotte Islands, which are an extension of the ridge that rises farther south to make the Island of Vancouver.

Tells About Haidas

The native inhabitants of these islands are Indians known as the Haidas. It is to be inferred from the Preface that Mr. Harrison went among them as a missionary, but it is not in that capacity that he discusses them but as an ethnologist. He is concerned with them as the heathens that they were in the early part of his forty years' residence in their villages—with their origin and their laws, customs and legends. In this antiquarian field he may claim to be a pioneer, for though the islands were known to Europeans certainly from the middle of the eighteenth century, they did not attract the scientific investigator. The Haidas were regarded as the most powerful and warlike nation on the Pacific coast, and that re-

New

THIS new kind of laundry soap makes a thick soap-suds solution. Pour this into your tubs, boiler or washing machine. Use it instead of bar soap.

USE enough Rinso to get good-lasting suds that stand up after the clothes are put in. These rich soap-suds SOAK dirt out. No more harmful rubbing!

SOAK clothes an hour—overnight if you wish. Then rinse. Because Rinso dissolves completely, it rinses out thoroughly leaving clothes snowy white.

Rinso is made by the makers of Lux to do the family-wash as perfectly as Lux does all fine things. Get Rinso from your grocer today.

is careful not to state dogmatically what happened on land-bridges in Pleistocene times. The morality which they evinced for themselves in their seclusion has much in common with Christian ethics:—

"Children were commanded to obey their parents and they were early taught to be unselfish and kind to each other, and that in every condition of life it was better to be silent and listen than to speak."

Theft Was Rare

The poor were to be helped, and not only that but respected; hospitality was inculcated. There does not appear to have been any element of self-mortification at the root of these precepts. The right to possess was recognized, and "before the advent of the Europeans theft was very rare"; the old chief declared it a most heinous crime—so heinous, apparently, that it was in the public interest to pass the offence over if possible:—

"If the person who lost an article suspected anyone, he would during the night place a wooden dish or tray on the doorstep of the suspected thief's house, and if his suspicion was well founded he would go for his tray on the night following and thereon find his lost property. Having received it nothing further was said and the matter ended."

The characteristic form of hospitality was the pollatch, at which the chief gave away his property to his guests; he had his own methods of recovering it, and seems to have been actuated mainly by the desire of showing that he had property to give. The order of society was aristocratic; and the medicine men exercised as much authority as the chiefs.

Medicine Men

The medicine men and their ways offer Mr. Harrison a subject of which he avails himself fully. He gives considerable space to religious beliefs, which are too involved to be summarized, and points out that the totem-poles of which he writes at length are not religious emblems. The theory of the totem pole need not, perhaps, be expanded to cover the use to which it was put by Chief Edenshaw, for he was a convert to Christianity. He had been entertained by the first Governor of British Columbia; and on his return laden with presents "he caused his followers to erect another totem in front of his house, and the totem pole was a splendid likeness of the Governor in his frock coat and high silk hat. This totem is still to be seen, covered with moss and lichen, standing grimy and grey in front of the ruins of the old warrior's house."

WILL ELIMINATE ALL LISTENING IN WHEN PATENT IS PERFECTED

Simply Press a Button and Other Phones are Cut off Party Line

REGINA, Sask., May 7.—Elimination of "listening in" on rural and party line telephones has been successfully achieved by a device on a circuit on the South Regina Telephone company.

By simply pressing a button, the caller of the rural or party line telephone system, equipped with the apparatus, can prevent any intrusion upon their private conversation.

This device which is the invention of Harry B. Sherman, construction engineer of the Saskatchewan government telephone system, is designed to insure the secrecy, long desired, in the operation of rural and party line service, and if the invention proves successful under further trials, it will have a far-reaching effect upon service of this kind throughout the entire world, it is said.

Like most successful inventions, the "lock out" device, as the telephone engineers call it, is simple in construction and can be installed at a nominal cost.

NO MORE FOOLING

NOWHERE did Abraham Lincoln show his shrewdness of judgment to better effect than in that famous utterance which ended, "You can't fool all the people all the time."

In the past, there were a few misguided advertisers who thought they could sell their wares better by misrepresentation. But those advertisers have long since gone out of business or mended their ways. Hard experience taught that Lincoln was right. Untruthful advertising doesn't pay.

Other advertisers proved that the only way to advertise successfully, make regular customers and build up public good-will was to tell the absolute truth about their goods.

So, you can be sure that every consistently advertised product is good. The advertising test has proved it. The very fact that it is advertised is your best warranty of satisfaction and true quality.

The concern that tells you frankly what it is doing is a good concern with which to do business. That is why it pays to read the advertisements, to patronize advertisers, and to buy advertised merchandise.

It's mighty good business

BAZAAR FOR RIDLEY HOME

Affair in Metropole Hall Today Promises to be as Successful as Ever

The annual bazaar for the Ridley Home, which was opened this afternoon in the Metropole Hall at 3 o'clock by Joe Greer, gives promise of being as distinctly successful affair as any in the past which have consistently proved most popular. Ladies of most all denominations in the city have been working in co-operation for the general cause by taking charge of various departments. The result is that the hall presents a very pleasing appearance with a wide offering of articles to attract many patrons.

ONLY ATHLETES SAFE IN ROME

Streets Crowded, Very Narrow Sidewalks and Taxis Drive Fast

ROME, May 7.—The municipality of Rome has begun a series of innovations in street traffic regulation which, many Holy Year visitors to the Italian capital hope, will have the effect of lessening the dangers presented to the co-existence in Rome of perhaps the most reckless motor car drivers in the world and the narrowest sidewalks of any of the great capitals.

Safety first in New York, London and Paris is largely an admonition to avoid jay-walking, and the careful pedestrian is safe if he follows the rules of the road and trusts to the traffic policeman. Here, however, the only sure way lies in ducking into a hallway during a particularly busy movement of traffic.

Many of the most important squares and thoroughfares of Rome have merely nominal sidewalks for pedestrians or none at all. For most of the length of the Corso Umberto, the city's busiest artery of traffic, no more than two or three people can walk abreast on the sidewalk, while the Via Condotti, Rome's Bond Street, is about 30 feet wide, including the two narrow sidewalks. The Piazza di Spagna, the city's tourist center, has no sidewalk at all and is a mad helter-skelter of traffic.

Despite the narrowness of the streets Rome's taxicabs, and they are by far the most luxurious and fastest in the world, dash along at a breakneck speed, the chauffeurs sounding their old-fashioned horns every few seconds to terrify the pedestrians who are unable to crowd onto the sidewalks.

EXODUS TO UNITED STATES DECLINING

(Toronto Globe)

The statistics published by the United States authorities show a gratifying reduction in the migration of Canadians to the United States. Up to June, 1924, and inclusive of that month, there was an increase. Since that time there has been a decline, as shown by the following table:

	1923	1924
July	16,310	7,814
August	16,685	10,154
September	16,674	10,973
October	15,858	10,143
November	20,962	12,321
December	17,559	11,733

The improvement continued during the present year. In January, 1925, there were 9,159, as compared with 15,513 in January, 1924, and in February, 1925, 5,680, as compared with 13,993 in February, 1924. Should this improvement be maintained, the migration for 1925 will be little more than half that of 1924.

CASSIAR LIKELY TO BE A NEW KLONDYKE

(Edmonton Journal)

The prediction is being made that a new Klondyke will shortly be discovered in the Cassiar country in northern British Columbia, just south of the border of the Yukon. The ice in the Stikine usually goes out about the first of May and a large number of prospectors have been waiting in Wrangell, Alaska, for this in order to go in and try their luck. While their route involves the shortest overland journey, the field is tributary to the Mackenzie river system. The spot where the finds were made, that are responsible for the present excitement, is thirty miles northeast of Dease Lake, from which the Dease river flows into the Liard, which joins the Mackenzie.

A BARGAIN

"See that chap with the fur collar getting into his car?" said Smith.

"What about him?" said Fraser.

"He's the chap that bought The Evening Herald."

"My word! What did he give for it?"

"A penny," said Smith.

Word was received from Terrace today is to the effect that the fire on the railway grade east of there which interfered with the telegraph lines yesterday is now under control.

HAD BOILS ALL OVER HIM

There is only one way to get rid of boils and that is by going right to the seat of the trouble—the blood—as the bad blood must be made pure before the boils will disappear.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

cleanses the system and removes all the food matter from the blood in a way that few medicines will do.

Mrs. Chas. Rankin, Bulver, Sask., writes:—"A few years ago my husband had a terrible time with boils. On one arm he had 16 between his elbow and wrist; five on the back of his neck, and several more on different parts of his body. He tried everything he could think of, but got no relief until he took Burdock Blood Bitters, and to his surprise it completely relieved him of his boils, in a very short time."

B.B.B. has been on the market for the past 46 years; be sure you get it when you ask for it; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
