Boyd Gang Captured in Toronto Area

'Didn't Fire a Shot, Didn't Say a Word' - Police

TORONTO (CP)—Edwin Alonzo Boyd, Canadian public enemy no. 1 surrendered meekly with his henchmen to two suburban detectives last night, bringing to an anti-climactic end the greatest criminal hunt in the Dominion's history.

The four men who startled the city with a break from Don Jail eight days ago set off a "shoot-to-kill" search gave in without a shot, one of them muttering "I didn't fire a shot."
 Sgt. Steve Suchan and Wilt Leonard Jackson were armed in handcuffs from their car on an abandoned farm Toronto and thrust for the into cells in North York station pending their removal to the very cells in Don Jail from which they made their escape.

The gang surrendered to North York detectives Bert Trotter and Richardson. The men were automatically, fully loaded, "pockets full of shells," "hardened to the Cana-Press."
 "I had no idea they were out. We were just moaning and we found them in the car. They didn't fire a shot. They didn't say a thing."
 The four were interviewed yesterday after a suburban rough constable exchange-fire with a car in the same area of the capture. But there was no proof the shooting was the gang's.

 Funds totalling $28,000 were raised for the capture of the desperadoes—two of whom carried charges and all of face bank holdup charges. Trotter and Richardson entered the barn with guns as a precaution. Boyd Took Off 20 Pounds to Make Escape

TORONTO (CP)—Edwin Boyd said today he took off 20 pounds to escape through a hole cut through the bars of the death row cell block at Don Jail Sept. 8.

"It took us nearly a month to cut through those bars," he said in a first-person story in the Telegram.

"Where did we get saws? They were brought in, that's all I'll tell you."
 "How did we get out of the cells? With a key made from a spoon and tin cup handle. That key opened all the doors."
 "We had only one period day that we could use saws to cut through the bars. That was from 5:20 to 7 a.m. when there was no danger of a guard entering our cell corridor to punch a clock."
 Every morning the sawing went on. The gang was helped by the absence on holidays of the senior deputy who made it a rule to test all bars and windows and rattled the bars on cells on any inspection he made.

IWA Officials Jailed by Chief Justice

VANCOUVER—An official of International Woodworkers of America Tuesday was sentenced to three months in jail and fined $3,000 for contempt of a court injunction issued against picket action at Nanaimo during the summer lumber strike.

Fourteen other IWA members were fined $300 each.
 In sentencing Tony Poje, the business agent for IWA Local 1-80 at Duncan, Chief Justice W. B. Farris said the men "willfully disobeyed" a court injunction and termed the action "highly reprehensible."
 Counsel for the IWA said the judgment will be appealed.
 The injunction was issued on July 15 to restrain union members from interfering with loading of lumber on the motor vessel Vedby at Nanaimo.
 Chief Justice Farris said in part:
 "It appears to me that the action of Poje in refusing to obey the order was so clearly and flagrantly a contempt of court as to require no further comment..."

RCMP Heads Visits City

A man who rose from constable to commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Leonard H. Nicholson, MBE, of Ottawa, is visiting the Port Edward detachment of the force today.

Commissioner Nicholson arrived here Monday with C. E. Rivett-Carnac, assistant commissioner and officer commanding E Division (British Columbia) on his yearly inspection tour.

Jury Finds Fisherman Guilty; Man Freed of Murder Charge

Judge Directs Acquittal For Lack of Evidence

In a surprise move this morning, Mr. Justice Norman W. Whittaker directed an Assize Court jury to acquit Vernon Elgin McMaster of a charge of murdering Lorenzo Greco at New Hazelton last July 7.

Trial began late yesterday while another jury was deliberating the fate of Peter Byrne. Greco, a Provincial Public Works Department roadworker, was found with his head severely crushed near his cabin shortly after he left a cafe in New Hazelton. He died in hospital five days later.

Half a dozen witnesses were called to testify last night but none gave any concrete evidence and when court resumed today Gilbert Hogg, Crown counsel, told court he was unable to find any further evidence.

Mr. Justice Whittaker then said:
 "I have carefully considered the evidence that has been given in this case and have come to the conclusion that there is no evidence upon which you could reach a verdict of guilty."

"When the judge does come to that conclusion it is his duty to direct a jury to return a verdict of not guilty."

"I am not taking over your duties when I do that but it is simply the law that when the judge reaches that conclusion it is his duty to so instruct the jury."
 "So I now direct you to return a verdict of not guilty and you may do so without leaving the box. You may consult together if you wish in the box."

Jury foreman, J. J. Payne, spoke briefly with two of the jurors then announced the verdict of not guilty, upon which the 25-year-old former Vancouver man stepped from the witness box a free man.
 Corporal John W. Todd of the RCMP was the first witness called last night, and explained markings on a sketch map of the area that he prepared last July 17 and identified pictures he took of the area.

CASHED CHEQUE
 Joseph Arthur Willan, storekeeper at New Hazelton, testified that he cashed a cheque for $186.91 for Greco on the afternoon of July 7 although he was unable to recall the exact amount of the cheque until reminded by defence counsel John Burton that he knew the amount when he testified at the preliminary hearing in Smithers.

Harry Mickelow, a friend of Greco's, also was questioned by Mr. Burton regarding the amount of the cheque. He told court the accused man was in the New Hazelton Cafe at the same time as he and Greco.
 He testified that Greco bought some groceries and paid for his meal, the bill totalling $7.03. Greco flashed a large amount of money while in the restaurant and after paying Jack Lee,

Grain Embargo Enforced Pending Talks

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Union and company negotiators were scheduled to meet today in 11th-hour attempts to avert a strike in the Lakehead's vital grain shipping industry.

More than 1,500 grain handlers, who constitute the key part in the industry, last night rejected a wage offer of $1.32 an hour and voted to strike tomorrow morning.
 Grain workers, who asked for $1.62 an hour, now are receiving the basic rate of $1.02.

Meanwhile, the movement of prairie grain began slowing to a halt with a Federal government embargo on all further railway loading of grain for the Lakehead.

Second Murder Trial Opens At Assize Court

Trial of Duncan James Lolly, Fort Babine Indian, on a charge of murdering his wife at their Pendleton Bay cabin on Babine Lake last July 22, opened in Assize Court at 2:30 p.m.

Mrs. Lolly was found dead in her cabin with a bullet wound in her head. Lolly was suffering a bullet wound in the head also, was treated in hospital at Burns Lake and later lodged in jail there.
 Pendleton Bay is about 28 miles north of Burns Lake.

Pulp Making Hits High Mark in '51

MONTREAL (CP)—Canadian wood pulp production in 1951 totalled 9,211,000 tons, compared with 8,474,000 in 1950, the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association reported Tuesday night in a summary of the industry's operations.

Of 1951's production, 6,968,000 tons were used in Canada while 2,243,000 tons were exported.
 In a note on forest depletion, the review noted that fire, insects and disease annually consume more wood than all the Canadian pulp and paper mills combined. Despite that loss, foresters believe the annual consumption of pulpwood in Canada does not exceed the annual growth, the review said.

B.C. Polio Cases Reach All-Time High

VICTORIA (CP)—British Columbia's polio total Tuesday was at an all-time high with 316 cases reported during 1952.

The previous high, since keeping of accurate records, was 312 cases in 1947. At this time in 1947, a total of 231 cases had been reported.
 Present death toll is 21, compared to the 1947 total of 12. There have been no deaths since September 2.

N. Korean Army Chief Captured

TOKYO (CP)—North Korea's chief liaison officer with Communist guerrillas in South Korea, Maj.-Gen. Ai Ai has been captured by South Korean police. He and 16 other Communist members were captured near Pusan. One of the Communists committed suicide with a hand grenade after his arrest.

Byrne Convicted of Wounding With Intent

A 31-year-old Prince Rupert fisherman, Peter John Byrne was convicted by an Assize Court jury late last night of wounding Vera Beynon with intent to cause grievous bodily harm.

He will be sentenced at the end of the assizes by Mr. Justice Norman Whittaker.

Maximum penalty is life imprisonment.
 The verdict, reached after deliberating six hours and 50 minutes, was read to a shocked group of citizens who heard thousands of words of testimony throughout the two-day trial.

While more than 100 persons jammed the courtroom throughout the morning and afternoon sessions, less than a dozen were on hand at 10 p.m. when jury foreman Jack McRae told Mr. Justice Whittaker the 12-man jury had reached a decision.

Byrne stood solemnly, motionless in the prisoner's box as the verdict was pronounced.

After Mr. McRae announced that the jury had found accused guilty of wounding with intent, Mr. Justice Whittaker said:

"I wish to congratulate you on the painstaking manner in which you carried out your duties. I don't usually comment on decisions but I believe you reached the correct verdict."
 The jury retired at 3:05 p.m. and returned only once—at 6 o'clock—for further direction.

THREE VERDICTS
 Before they retired Mr. Justice Whittaker told jurors they had three possible verdicts: not guilty; guilty of wounding with intent to cause grievous bodily harm; or guilty of wounding.

"Your decision must be unanimous," he said, as he reminded them that their decision "must be reached on the testimony given in this court and only on your own interpretation of the evidence."
 "Remember the burden is upon the Crown to prove this man is guilty. If there is any reasonable doubt you must acquit this man."

He explained the difference between direct and circumstantial evidence and said "if your verdict depends on circumstantial evidence you must be satisfied that the evidence is consistent with the guilt of the accused and inconsistent with any other explanation."
 Mr. Justice Whittaker said:

"There is one bit of evidence that cannot be denied. Vera Beynon did suffer a severe and dangerous wound. The Crown contends accused did it...
 "If you are satisfied that accused inflicted the wound, you should not hesitate to convict him..."

The Justice, in a review of the trial said evidence is not very clear as to the amount of liquor Byrne consumed during the night of February 14, when Mrs. Beynon is alleged to have been stabbed with a knife.
 Byrne testified that he drank "between 20 and 30 glasses of beer" before joining a party at Mrs. Beynon's home, to where he took eight bottles of beer and half a bottle of rum which he helped consume.
 He said he "blacked out" after Vera struck him with a bottle shortly after her return home about 2 a.m.

Evidence of all witnesses disclosed Mrs. Beynon, Byrne, Kathy White, the baby sitter, and two male friends of hers had all been drinking beer during the evening.
 Mr. Justice Whittaker said "lack of recollection is not the same as lack of intention..."

"Recollection may be a factor to see if there was the necessary (Continued on Page 3)

Film Exchange Workers Settle 24-Day Strike

VANCOUVER (CP)—A strike which threatened to close many Vancouver movie houses was settled Tuesday.
 O. M. Jacobson, international representative of the Film Exchange Employees Union, said six firms of the Vancouver Film Exchange have agreed to wage increases ranging from $5 to $10 week plus a cost-of-living clause adjustable every six months.
 Thirty exchange workers will return to their jobs Wednesday. They had been on strike 3½ weeks.

BRIDGE BLOWN—A group of officers is ferried across the Nekong River in Cochinchina, followed by their jeep on another improvised ferry. Vietminh in the area had done a thorough job of blowing the bridge. The vegetation in Cochinchina is tropical and dense, affording excellent concealment to the Communist-led Vietminh. French troops can clear through it at the rate of only 500 yards every three hours. (CP PHOTO)

PROSPECT—Observers see a bleak prospect for Indochina. Six years of civil war has smashed its economy and the key to victory is political and not military. The key is considered not to be fashioned yet or else in the Communist pocket. Military leaders of the French, and anti-Communist Viet Namese, say they can hold their ground but hope to defeat the Communist-led Vietminh until the final factor is resolved. (CP PHOTO)

MORE PEOPLE NEEDED

In a special survey devoted to Canadian development, the London Financial Times predicts that Canadian expansion will continue but recommends a more liberal immigration policy and a greater effort to promote trade with the sterling area.

It takes this position on the grounds that, although American investment has done much to spur development in this country, Canada has at the same time become too dependent upon the United States.

"Among the causes of this dependence is the inadequate size of the Canadian population," the paper observes. "In the past, emigration to the United States has nearly cancelled the gains of immigration from Europe. At the moment immigration is severely restricted, except from the white Commonwealth countries, in order to support full employment. This is unfortunate, if politically inevitable."

Politically inevitable thought it may be, it is equally inevitable that one day Canada will have to face the fact that, while it is starving off immigrants, it is also losing ground.

Although there may be no immediate vacancies for hundreds of new Canadians, people have a way of creating work for each other. It is the basic law of business and it is the law upon which a country prospers. If we do not have people inside our own boundaries with whom we can trade, we must look for them elsewhere and this brings us right up against the problem of export.

In this connection, the Financial Times remarks:

"One way in which the independence and stability of the Canadian economy can be promoted is by greater trade with the sterling area. It would be a trade of the greatest benefit to both sides. The growth of British exports to Canada is encouraging, but much more will have to be done."

As our lumber and fishing industries have discovered, to mention only two, there is no pet answer to that brain-teaser but there is also no cause for despair. Possibly a solution will be found at the coming conference of Commonwealth Prime Ministers. At any rate, if they all agree that a solution is imperative, as they apparently do, then the agreement on detail should not be hard to arrange.

The Air Force of Tomorrow

An official air force opinion the Air Cadet League in Prince Rupert is off to a good start. When Air Commodore R. C. Gordon, senior RCAF officer on the west coast, gave this verdict on his recent visit, he did so with obvious pleasure.

No doubt one reason for this was the fact that Air Commodore Gordon was stationed here during the war and ever since has taken a special interest in the city. But in a more general way his enthusiasm must have stemmed from the realization that the Air Cadet League of today is to a great extent the RCAF of tomorrow.

As the League continues to grow under the stimulus of air force support, more and more of its graduating members are joining the senior body to make a career of flying or some associated trade.

Although they are still junior in years, many by this time have become proficient pilots, navigators or ground crew technicians, and all know a great deal about the air force.

Along with all those familiar with the organization Air Commodore Gordon believes that the League offers an enviable life to any youth who becomes a member. As the father of an air cadet who received a flying scholarship, he is an excellent authority on the subject and we are impressed by his promising prediction for the Prince Rupert squadron.

Stubbornness Pays Off; Saves Life

TOKYO (AP)—Masae Motohashi made such a fuss that her father let her go to bed without taking her medicine. After all, you can argue just so much with a three-year-old.
A few hours later a neighbor pounded on the door. He had heard a special radio broadcast. The druggist who mixed Masae's prescription for ringworm had made a horrible mistake. The dose he delivered was so strong it would kill a child.
Masae—stubborn, undosed and unharmed—slept through it all.

Reflects and Reminisces

One out of every three trees felled in Canada to make paper pulp is said to wind up in a comic strip. That, indeed, is no joke.

Everything in Central British Columbia appears to have been about forty years too early. Prince Rupert old timers cheerfully acknowledge it. Prince George also has its example. That city's first freight car over the PGE rolled into town September 12. It was only forty years behind schedule.

AND SO WE REFLECT:

Some had to be the goats. We might as well cultivate a little useful philosophy. There are those who assert age is a happier time than youth. Oh yes! We bought lots in 1911-12-13 and swore to make a financial killing after the GTP came in with a rush and a roar. You bet we did. But why repine? Scenery is beautiful! We were almost on the point of saying "so's a pension."

When Japan captured the powerful fortress of Port Arthur from Russia, around half a century ago, few had much use for the Czar, but all kinds of praise for Tokyo. Today, Russia is back. For how long?

We may as well acknowledge it. How many, a few years back, would have declined to accept United States silver, in change??

The Prime Minister wore a snappy-looking sweater at an Edmonton football game. Perhaps Mr. St. Laurent has introduced something. Old Sir John A. never put that sort of garb on. And you can gamble Laurier never did.

NO SCARCITY!

Why look toward Lake Atlin power for a smelter in Skagway? Most folks have the notion that there's a lot of water and plenty of mountains in Alaska.

Cronin Babine Steps up Production

Cronin Babine Mines Ltd., near Smithers, is now milling on a 24-hour basis from 37 to 40 tons daily. This is an increase from the initial rate of 33 tons.

This announcement was made by L. C. Creery, president, who said preparations are being made to step up the daily milling rate which will involve minor changes to the crusher but that no large expense is entailed. As a result of these improvements it is expected that the mill will shortly be in a position to handle 45 tons daily.

Operating officials report that an excellent grade zinc concentrate and a very good lead concentrate are being produced and that further improvement may be expected. As mill efficiency is now improved, a better grade of mill feed is being supplied more in line with the mine average which is considerably higher than the grade milled during the past month.

Mr. Creery says that underground work has progressed most satisfactorily with the opening of new sources of good grade ore. Two stopes on No. 5 level and two stopes on No. 3 level have been prepared for mining. Of particular interest has been the completion of No. 501 raise from the fifth to the third level. The first 130 feet of this raise was in good ore, followed by 90 to 100 feet in which the vein was out of the raise.

Latest word is that the last 75 feet was in high grade ore which widened from three to five feet and then increased to a true width of 11 feet at the breakthrough to No. 3 level. This proves the downward extension of the high grade ore body previously developed on No. 3 level and which extends up another 75 feet to No. 2 level and on up to the surface.

The entire operation is being planned on the basis of an indicated ore deposit which points to a lengthy period of profitable results, Mr. Creery adds.

Jet Pilots Killed in Air Crash

WASHINGTON (CP)—The marine corps reported six fighter pilots flew into a cloud-shrouded hillside in Korea last Thursday and were killed.

The announcement said the pilots, flying Panther Jets, were returning from a combat mission in bad weather and were trying to approach a strange landing field.

VICTORIA REPORT

... by J. K. Nesbitt

VICTORIA—One had hoped that the new Social Credit Government would bring some stability to the sadly addled public affairs of British Columbia.

This column, when the Bennett Government took over Aug. 1 said the new government should be allowed, in peace, and without undue criticism, to perform its duties in the interest of the province and its people.

But — what has happened? The new government has been monkeying-around with hospital insurance, double-talking about hospital insurance until none of us know where we are. And worse — Premier Bennett himself has been deliberately putting the province in an uproar about a general election.

It's a sad state of affairs and one regrets to see it. In recent days the government did some more double-talking about hospital insurance. Health and Welfare Minister Martin issued a statement:

"The government has decided to suspend the arrears of those persons who have been delinquent in their payment of BCHIS premiums during 1949, 1950 and 1951. . . . Persons in this category can re-establish themselves by paying the premium for the present year."

Well, now, let's look at that part of the statement. It means, doesn't it, that if we haven't paid 1949, 1950 and 1952 we can pay for 1952 and all is OK. That's what the statement says, thought it does add "it should be noted that this is a suspension, not a cancellation of arrears."

Then the statement goes on: "The government feels that some persons may be staying out of the plan due to the fact that they are unable to pay the large arrears which they have accumulated over the past three years. Persons who cannot pay their arrears, due to their low incomes, will not be asked to do so. However, it should be noted that the hospital insurance service will, through the procedure provided under the Act, continue to collect premium arrears for 1949, 1950 and 1951 from those persons who can well afford to pay, by making arrangements for installment payments, if necessary, in accordance with their means."

But what on earth does all this mean? One part of the statement says those in arrears may re-establish themselves by paying the 1952 premium. Another part of the same statement says the government will continue to collect arrears, but "only from those persons who can well afford to pay." But who are they? How does the government propose to find out? Is there going to be a general means test? One man on, say, $5,000 a year may decide he can afford to pay; another, on the same salary may decide he can't afford to pay. Where on earth is all this going to lead? There's one bright light on an otherwise rather dark stage where hospital insurance is concerned. It's now evident the government wants hospital insurance to be a success. It has no intention of going all-out on its election pledge of voluntary insurance. As this column has said before, Premier Bennett is smart enough to know that voluntary hospital insurance is no hospital insurance at all.

But, in the meantime there's cause for worry. If the government doesn't stop playing around with this most necessary social service, the people of B.C. will find that, one of these days, they haven't any hospital insurance.

It's good sometimes to get away from current politics and look a little into our romantic past. It's 90 years ago today, Sept. 17, 1862, that the vessel Tyne-mouth dropped anchor in Esquimalt harbor, the Tyne-mouth—a bride ship. She carried 62 young women who came to these shores looking for husbands. They all found husbands and most of them were happy, became well-off, mothers of fine families, mistresses of fine homes. What adventurous women they must have been!

The Victoria Colonist sent a reporter to meet the Tyne-mouth and he wrote:

"They are mostly cleanly, well-built, pretty-looking young women. Most appear to have been well raised and generally they seem a superior lot to the women usually met with on emigrant vessels. Taken altogether, we are highly pleased with the appearance of the 'invoice' and believe they will give a good account of themselves in whatever station in life they may be called to fill. . . . even if they marry lucky bachelor miners from Cariboo."

NATO Army Half of Russian Might

WASHINGTON (AP)—The state department reports that United States European allies now have more than 2,000,000 men under arms compared with Russia's 4,000,000.

The figures were cited in a 50-page report about progress made in building Europe's defences under the three-year-old North Atlantic Treaty.

The figure do not include other forces which fit into the over-all East-West picture. Not mentioned is the total U.S. strength of 3,500,000 men under arms, the armed manpower of friendly countries such as Australia, Yugoslavia and Spain, or the Armies of Russia's satellites and Communist China.

The report also referred to Russian possession of the atomic bomb as a major element of Soviet power—a reference reflecting conviction among officials here that Russia has a bomb.

Candlelight Ceremony Joins Laird-Miller at Tabernacle

Full Gospel Tabernacle was the scene last Thursday of the lovely candlelight wedding of Dorothy Ariene, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Laird of this city, and Tom William, only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Miller of Melville, Sask.

Rev. C. Fawcett officiated at the double ring ceremony assisted by Rev. L. Schindel of Terrace, B.C.

Miss Lorraine Quast, gowned in mauve-embossed organdy and carrying a lighted candle, preceded the bridal party to light the candles, after which the lights were dimmed.

The strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Leonard Quast, the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, looking lovely in a rich satin wedding gown with long train and rose buds.

The bride featured a nylon bodice with Queen Ann collar and long lily-point sleeves. The skirt flowed to a point below waistline with tiny buttons, and a fingertip veil held in place by a cap of lace-overlaid, edged in seed pearls and something borrowed her mother's double strand of pearls.

Her bouquet was of stephanotis and Talisman roses. Mrs. W. Beck was her niece's patron of honor and Miss Phyllis Hysted was bridesmaid. Their dresses of embossed organdy were fashioned alike, the former in daffodil yellow and the latter in apple green, with matching bouquets of Talisman roses and white carnations.

Cousins of the bride, Gail Larson of Terrace, and Karen Beck, gowned in blue in pink-embossed organdy and carrying bouquets of autumn flowers, were flower girls.

Brian Beck wearing a blue tuxedo with collar, cuffs and lapels made from the same material as the bride's dress, acted as ring-bearer.

The groom was attended by the bride's brother, the Rev. L. Schindel, and the bride's father, the Rev. M. Stroustad of Smilax, B.C.

For the occasion the bride's father, Mrs. Ken Laird, chose mauve and grey printed jersey with mauve and grey accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Also receiving were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Alma Carlsson of Swift Current, Sask., and her aunt, Mrs. H. N. Larson of Terrace, respectively wearing navy faconne crepe with navy accessories and black tailored suit with black accessories. They wore corsages of pink and white carnations.

For the reception the Sons of Norway hall was tastefully decorated in pink, white and green with baskets of fall flowers and a heart-shaped archway under which the bridal party received their guests.

The bride's table was covered by a hand-crocheted table cloth made by her grandmother, and centered with the wedding cake flanked by tall pink tapers. A toast was proposed by Rev. C. Fawcett, with the groom responding.

The wedding cake, baked by Mrs. Martin Fiasdet and decorated by Mrs. Rueben Scherck, was cut by the bride and groom.

Servitors were the Misses Lorraine Quast, Astrid Pedersen, Polly Bentzen, Pat Twaits, Louise, Audrey and Madeline Kalapky and Marion Valderberg. Miss Olga Ruiby was in charge of the guest book.

Entertainment included a violin duet by W. Beck and Alan Laird; a violin solo by Rev. M. Stroustad and a vocal duet by Rev. and Mrs. A. Schindel. On behalf of the congregation of Full Gospel Tabernacle, Rev. Fawcett presented the bride and groom with a chest of silverware in appreciation of the bride's helpfulness as church pianist.

Telegrams of congratulation were received from the groom's parents and aunts and uncles of the bride and groom.

The couple left by car for Saskatchewan, the bride wearing a pink gabardine suit with heavy topper and accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

intention but you (the jury) must take into consideration the amount of liquor consumed as well as all other evidence that might have a bearing on the case.

"... If you consider he was so drunk as to be incapable of committing a crime you should acquit him... Drunkenness is only a defence if he is too drunk to form the intention."

The justice reminded jurors that an objection by defence counsel Angelo Branca earlier in the day to the Crown's failure to call the two men who were at Mrs. Beynon's home the night of the incident to the stand was unfounded.

"If defence had wanted evidence of these men they could have been called," said Mr. Justice Whittaker, adding that one of the men appeared as a spectator in the courtroom on Monday.

UP TO JURY
Gilbert Hogg, Crown Counsel, in his summation just prior to the noon adjournment criticized testimony of witnesses and said it was up to the jury to decide the amount of truth in various versions of the incident.

Mr. Branca on the other hand, urged the jury to acquit Byrne because there were "so many inconsistencies" in evidence.

He said it was disclosed that Mrs. Beynon threw a lot of coke and beer bottles in the home and that the living room was a shambles.

Mr. Branca said there was no evidence that there was any blood on the knife submitted as evidence and accused Vera of lying in her testimony.

She said Mrs. Byrne tried to get her and accused to change her story. I say she was lying and suggest you cannot accept any of her evidence."

Mr. Justice Whittaker, in his review, outlined evidence of Mickey Maguire who lives six doors away from Mrs. Beynon.

He said he heard young children screaming and went to the house. That was at 2 a.m. The house was in a shambles. Vera was half on and half off a bed. He said he saw considerable blood on the floor and bed clothes and when he spoke to her he did not get an answer. He said he could not get a coherent answer from accused, who said he was going to sleep on the chesterfield. Maguire said there was no one else in the home at the time. He put the children to bed.

Byrne was charged with wounding and intent to cause grievous bodily harm after police visited the house.

Dr. L. M. Greene attended Mrs. Beynon in her home last February 15 and in testimony on Monday accused told him that Mrs. Beynon had said she fell down the stairs of her home and cut herself on a nail.

Preliminary hearing was held here on March 7 and the case originally had been scheduled for the Spring Assizes last May but was set over.

Intricate Designs Feature Quilt Contest

TORONTO (C)—Members of the Ontario Women's Institutes had to sew the finest of seams in a recent quilt competition—because cause judges literally went over each quilt with a magnifying glass.

Sixty entries with motifs varying from brightly colored autumn leaves to houses, were displayed in the offices of a tea company (Salada) which sponsored the competition.

"Yes, you can say we went over each quilt with a magnifying glass," said one of the judges, Miss Florence Wright of Terra-Cotta, Peel County.

CALL FOR ORIGINALITY
A trained designer, Miss Wright's particular job was to select the most suitable designs. One of the rules of the contest said they must be original.

"And I was pleasantly surprised at the goodness of the designs," said Miss Wright. "I think the women of Ontario have gone a long way in their quilting in the last 10 years."

The quilts were sent in from Women's Institutes in widely scattered districts of Ontario. Each was a project upon which five or six women, sometimes more, worked throughout the year. Eligible quilts will be entered in Tweedsmuir Cup competition of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, an annual craft competition.

VARIETY OF PATTERNS
The provincial and regional winners chosen at this most recent competition will be announced later this fall.

Maple leaves appeared the popular choice for quilt patterns. Trilliums and African violets also shared the spotlight.

And at least one Chamber of Commerce would be delighted with the detailed map of Manitoulin Island—intricately worked even to place names.

Considerable thought must have been spent on one quilt which attempted to explain the lineage of Canadians. At the centre is the Parliament Buildings and fanning out in all directions from this are the people who go to make up our population, a Scotsman in national costume, a French peasant, a Greek, a Chinese, Japanese, and others.

Newspaper Employees Make Tour

A happy band of employees of the Buffalo Evening News arrived here shortly after noon today aboard the Prince George on their annual Pacific Northwest tour.

The party is headed by David Peugeot, promotion editor for the paper, who is assisted by Rev. John Branscombe.

H. E. Boyer of the Northern Pacific Railway is in charge of transportation.

The party will board six special cars brought here Monday by the CNR and after a day-long sight-seeing tour leave tonight for Jasper.

It is the third time the Buffalo paper has brought its party through Prince Rupert.

Martin Nuyten Heads New CYO Officers

New president of the CYO for the coming year will be Martin Nuyten. Other members of the executive elected are Margaret Dorian, vice-president; Francis Murphy, secretary, and Stella Chaprun, treasurer.

It was decided to institute a new system of organization this year following a plan learned at the CYO convention at Banff. Business of the meetings will be kept down to an absolute minimum and four committees as follows have been appointed:

Educational, apostolic, social, and spiritual. The committees will plan activities at meetings of their own, and in that way general meetings will be more streamlined.

The Banff delegates, Martin Nuyten, Margaret Dorian and Francis Murphy, gave an account of their experiences at the convention and in addition Martin Nuyten showed slides of Banff and Lake Louise, showing scenes from all over the province.

The three Prince Rupert members returned with a trophy from Banff given to the group who contributed most to the meeting. Father Mohan, priest in charge of the Annunciation CYO, also accompanied the three local youths.

Refreshments were served by fellow members of the CYO.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Mr. Muzzy Stops To Count His Taking Tricks Too Late

When Mr. Muzzy opened this hand with a no trump bid, Mr. Champion frowned. His own hand was best suited for no trump play and there was nothing to do but raise and let Mr. Muzzy play it.

Mr. Dale led the six of spades, the queen went up on Mr. Muzzy's right and he promptly won with the king. At this point he carefully examined his own hand and dummy and counted his taking tricks several times. For this he was a little late.

Even if the heart finesse were successful he had only two heart tricks, one spade, four diamonds and a club in quick winners. There was nothing for it but to try the club finesse—and that had to be taken toward Mrs. Keen.

He led a small club, finessed the jack and Mrs. Keen won with the king. A spade was returned and Mr. Dale ran off five tricks in that suit for a two-trick set.

Mr. Champion gritted his teeth, "Muzzy," he said, "why do you have to bid no trump all the time? Open your hand with a club—or anything—and let me bid no trump and play the hand."

"You bid your hand and I'll bid mine," Mr. Muzzy retorted cleverly.

"Look, Muzzy," continued Mr. Champion with feigned patience, "you have to make a hold-up play on the first trick. Don't play your king of spades. Let Mrs. Keen win with the queen."

"What?" yelled Mr. Muzzy, horrified, "and have her lead back a spade right through my king?"

Mr. Champion's phony patience vanished. "I'm not asking you to play the JACK of spades on the first trick, man," he screamed, "You'd play your small one. Mrs. Keen's spade return would be through your king—ACK—an automatic stopper, with the queen gone."

"It wouldn't matter whether Dale won with his ace or not. When Mrs. Keen got in with the king of clubs she wouldn't have another spade to lead. Don't you see that?"

"Well," said Mr. Muzzy, ending the argument, "I still say I would have made the game if the King of clubs had been right."

JUDGE DIRECTS

took him to a restaurant and "pointed him out."

Twelve-year-old Wilfred Thomas David, in unsworn testimony, told of seeing Grecco pass over the CNR bridge and later noticing "a man with a wine-colored sweater" crossing the bridge.

Mr. Burton suggested that the boy memorized his answers and "knew all the time that police figured this was the man with the wine-colored jacket."

George Davigon of Telkwa, who was working on a road project at New Hazelton last July, told court he talked with McMaster "shortly before 7 o'clock" on the night in question and that accused walked toward Grecco's home after the conversation.

Jurymen besides Mr. Payne, were: Donald Arney, Donald Allen Delaney, Vernon B. Clicone, Arthur Herbert Alger, Clifford G. Ham, Charles P. Balagno, Helgi Peter Holkestad, Eugene F. Jacobson, Bernard Jesse Bridgen, Stan Saville, John M. Eby.

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By MURRAY ROSE
(For Gayle Talbot)

NEW YORK — Our best guess is that Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor, Australia's two tennis goliaths, will turn professional for promoter Jack Kramer immediately after they have helped defend the Davis Cup in the challenge round at Adelaide Dec. 29-31.

Kramer is so confident that the big payday is in sight that he does not even plan to return to Australia this fall to give the two world champions another sales talk.

Mrs. Nell Hopman, the charming wife of the Aussie's cup captain, says she thinks the pair will go for the money, too.

Perhaps the most telling factor of all lies in the abrupt alteration of circumstances since Sedgman accepted the $12,000 wedding gift from the Australian tennis public last January for not turning pro. At that time the Aussies felt it would be little short of a national disaster to lose their Davis Cup ace.

After the coming cup defence Frank will be able to tell them in sweet reasonableness that they no longer need him. McGregor of course, is under no obligation.

BIG CHANCE FOR JUNIORS

The big chance has come in the remarkable form displayed by the two Australian juniors, Ken Rosewall and Lewis Hoad, this summer. When we first saw the two prodigious youngsters last December in Sydney they were only a couple of promising juveniles.

The Aussie experts were not certain how far either would progress, though we were told by such former stars as Jack Crawford and Adrian Quist that Rosewall had one of the finest "tennis brains" they had ever seen. They meant he knew where to hit the ball.

Now there can be little doubt about the two kids, especially about Rosewall since his five-set victory over Vic Seixas, the No. 1 U.S. player, at Forest Hills. The little fellow with the baby face is destined for the heights. Maybe the big boy, Hoad, too. It took Sedgman to knock him out of the U.S. slugs.

At any rate, Sedgman and McGregor will be able to take their leave with easy consciences after the Adelaide matches. They can point out that by the time the next challenge round rolls around late in '53, Rosewall and Hoad will be all of 19 and fully capable of handling anything the United States appears to have coming up.

Dodgers Forge Ahead in Stiff Pennant Race

NEW YORK (CP) — Brooklyn Dodgers took a major stride towards wrapping up the National League pennant last night by defeating the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-2 after the New York Giant were humbled 9-0 by the Chicago Cubs in a day game.

As a result the Dodgers now are four games ahead of second-place Giants with each having only 10 games to play.

KANKS HOLD

New York Yankees held their 2 1/2 game lead in the American League, blanking Detroit Tigers 7-0 while Cleveland Indians had to fight for 10-inning 4-3 decision over the Washington Senators. New York has 10 games left, Cleveland has nine.

Stout relief pitching by rookie Jim Hughes, late of Montreal, and Joe Black featured in the Dodgers' triumph at Ebbets Field. Gil Hodges clouted his 32nd home run and Duke Snider hit his 20 to pace the Brooklyn attack on loser Murray Dickson.

SCORES

PCL — Sacramento 4-3, Los Angeles 1-6; San Diego 0-4, Oakland 3-1; San Francisco 3, Seattle 4; Hollywood 3, Portland 10.

American — New York 7, Detroit 0; Washington 3, Cleveland 4; Philadelphia 2-1, Chicago 1-7; Boston 11, St. Louis 7.

National — Chicago 9, New York 0; Pittsburgh 2, Brooklyn 4; Cincinnati 2, Philadelphia 4; St. Louis 8-5, Boston 6-1.

Walcott-Marciano Title Fight Forecast as Major Attraction

By JACK HAND

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A booming sale of $40 ringside tickets reflects the interest in the Sept. 23 heavyweight title bout between champion Jersey Joe Walcott and Rocky Marciano, the unbeaten challenger.

Orders for the top-price tickets are flooding the offices of promoters Jim Norris and Herman Taylor.

"We'll do better than $600,000," said Norris. "It's the biggest heavyweight promotion since the Joe Louis-Walcott return, a real old-fashion heavyweight championship promotion."

Theatre television outlets already are hanging out the sellout signs and some are charging as much as $4.80 per ticket. For the first time, drive-in theatres will be included.

Meanwhile, the fighters are stepping through their paces. Walcott, 38, does his stuff at Atlantic City where he trained for his successful defence against Ezzard Charles. Marciano, 28, works out at Grossinger, N.Y.

ANOTHER DEMPSEY-FIRPO
After watching both boys drill, former champion Jack Dempsey predicted "another Dempsey-Firpo bout." He wouldn't pick a winner.

The original 2 to 1 odds favor Marciano but there is strong support for the old gaffer from Camden, N.J.

"A man is as old as he feels," says Walcott.

"I feel young and I act young... I don't think Marciano can knock me out. I think I can knock him out. We'll see."

Marciano isn't popping off much, just quietly working his way toward the big chance of his life.

"I've seen him fight at least five times," he said. "He's a tough guy and a cutie. I'm not making any prediction. But I wouldn't be much of a fighter if I didn't think I could win." Rocky, never beaten or dropped in 42 fights, is confident he can lick anybody in the world.

Canada Must Share Riches With Others—St. Laurent

HAMILTON (CP)—Canada must be prepared to share its riches with less prosperous parts of the world, Prime Minister St. Laurent said here in the closing speech of a 16-day tour of Ontario and Western Canada.

Speaking at a meeting in celebration of the founding of the Canadian Club in Hamilton 60 years ago, Mr. St. Laurent keyed his address with a bold quotation:

"To whomsoever much is given, of him much shall be required."

The prime minister said he believed Canadians have dropped the philosophy which accepted poverty as a natural phenomenon and have demanded that their government do something to alleviate the suffering of the starving masses in other areas of the world.

It was not food or money that is needed but the technical know-how which this country could supply.

"We will not triumph in the struggle against Communism by arms and production alone, essential though they are," he said. "... we will rid the world of this modern menace only if we practice what we preach. That means we have to tolerate those with whom we honestly differ. It means we must allow creativeness and we must preserve freedom for others to say and believe what they will..."

Mr. St. Laurent said Canada will do everything possible at the Commonwealth Economic Conference in London in November to foster helpful co-operation within and beyond the Commonwealth.

HISTORY

Mr. St. Laurent's address dealt mainly with the history of Canada and its relations with the United States and the rest of the world.

Although the United States has never understood the arrangement by which Canada gained the right of self-government from London, he said, the Americans have "sensed and respected our firm resolve to be ourselves."

Prior to the dinner, Mr. St. Laurent was received by civic officials at the city hall, the first prime minister ever to be received officially by the mayor and corporation in the city council chamber. Following the reception he addressed a large crowd in front of the city hall.
