Mr. Perry was speaking in the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

BAGLEY GIVEN TEN YEARS AND TWENTY LASHES

Extra Time Because he Was Gunman of Party that Looted Nanaimo Bank

NANAIMO, Nov. 6.—William Bagley of Seattle, charged at the trial with complicity in the Royal Bank robbery here on December 12, was last night found guilty by a jury and sentenced by Mr. Justice Murphy to ten years in the penitentiary and twenty lashes.

Bagley was the sixth suspect in the robbery case and four of them, Harry Stone, H. Johnson, Alfred Castro and Edward Gorman who were previously convicted were given eight years and twenty lashes each. Bagley as the gunman got two years more than the others.

CHAMPION OF DOUKHOBORS

Despard Twigg, Conservative Member For Victoria, Takes up Their Cause

VICTORIA, Nov. 6.—A new champion for the Doukhobors has arisen. He is J. Despard Twigg, Conservative member for Victoria in the Legislature. In the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne yesterday he attacked the Attorney General for his action in forcing them to pay fines imposed on them for disobedience to the School Act. Mr. Twigg demanded that Mr. Nelson should be suspended until a complete investigation had been made into the seizing and selling of the Doukhobors' good and chattels. Mr. Twigg is a Victoria lawyer who served overseas. On his return from overseas he abjured law as a profession and went into the insurance and brokerage business.

DR. GRANT LEAVES WITH HIS FAMILY FOR FORT WILLIAM

Escorted to Train by Alex. MacDonald With Bagpipes

Escorted from the Manse to the C.N.R. depot by Piper Alex. MacDonald who played evensong Scottish airs, Rev. Dr. H. R. Grant, for eleven years pastor of the First Presbyterian Church here, was farewelled by a large number of friends this morning when he and Mrs. Grant and their daughter, Lorraine, left by train for Fort William where Dr. Grant has accepted a new charge. The adieus as the train pulled out were marked with a distinct air of regret. Many prominent citizens were on hand to bid the doctor and his family goodbye. Perhaps Prince Rupert has been called upon to lose no more generally beloved and respected citizen. A place has been left vacant that only a long period of time may see adequately filled.

Effort Was Made to Hypnotize Wong Foon Sing to Secure from Him Confession Smith Murder

(Special to Daily News)
VANCOUVER, Nov. 6.—Important new revelations amid a mass of old evidence repeated in the abduction charges at the trial here of Oscar Robinson and his son William in the abduction charges, included the admission by V. W. Norton, who has already pleaded guilty, that attempts were made to hypnotize Wong Foon Sing in order to procure from him a confession of the murder of Janet Smith. The outside doctor brought in for the purpose was unable to get Wong into a trance.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 6.—That Wong Foon Sing, after being seized at the Baker Home at Shaughnessy Heights on the night of March 29, was taken for a 90 minute ride around Point Grey "in order to give him the impression he was being carried to the United States" over a route said to have been marked out by chief of police John Murdoch and from which district the police had been removed so that there would be no interference with the kidnapping plan, Verity W. Norton, self confessed participant in the abduction testified in the case against Oscar B. V. Robinson and his son, charged with abducting the Oriental.

SALMON EGGS ARE RETURNED

Ten Million Sockeye Being Sent from Pemberton Hatchery to Lakelse

Ten million sockeye eggs will be transferred next week from the Pemberton Hatchery on the Fraser River to the Lakelse Lake hatchery in the Skeena River watershed announced Major J. A. Motherwell, chief inspector of fisheries, who returned to Vancouver aboard the Malaspina this morning after a trip of inspection which brought him as far north as Prince Rupert. The eggs now being brought north will replace a similar number which were taken early in the year from this district to the headwaters of the Fraser.

DAILY EDITION Friday, November 6, 1925.

Special Reports On Legislature.

The Daily News has made arrangements for special exclusive telegraphic reports in regard to the proceedings of the Legislature at Victoria. The first of those appeared yesterday and will be published from day to day. They will not be lengthy but they will give a new and independent viewpoint on the happenings in the House. The service will be rather costly but as everyone is interested in the doings of the British Columbia Legislature a point has been strained to get this special news feature for the paper.

Following Out Constitutional Plan.

Premier Mackenzie King is following the constitutional procedure in deciding to meet Parliament and take a vote on whether the members will support his government or not. That is the custom followed in England, a country which has always blazed the way in regard to parliamentary practice.

Of course Mr. Meighen disagrees with that decision. If King had resigned Mr. Meighen would also have been inclined to disagree. So far as we know there never was any action taken by the Liberal Premier that Mr. Meighen did not object to. He is a perennial objector.

King may be often wrong but he must be sometimes right. Judging by the leader of the opposition, however, he is always wrong.

Electric Oil Car Should Be Useful.

The electric oil car used by the Canadian National should prove a useful adjunct to any railway system. A car of somewhat similar type has been used on Vancouver Island for some time and seems to have been successful. Never before, however, has a car been used in a long run like that completed at Vancouver Wednesday.

Compliment Paid To Prince Rupert.

Prince Rupert has every reason to feel complimented when Vancouver feels that she is a rival. Until now this has been a railway terminal without any outlet, a port without any foreign shipping. We have been looked upon with something akin to contempt as a place that some day may become a port but its not that now.

A week or two ago the first sign of a change in outside attitude came when the grain commissioners were charged in Vancouver with advertising Prince Rupert and omitting the greatest of all ports. This was followed up yesterday by the mayor scolding discrimination in our favor and expressing himself forcibly in regard thereto.

We know nothing about any discrimination but the little teapot tempest will help advertise us.

Quebec Member Died Yesterday.

Yesterday Premier Mackenzie King lost one of his supporters in the House of Commons in the death of the member for Bagot, Quebec. Without knowing anything about the circumstances, this would seem to be a seat that the Premier might fill with dignity and without disturbing any other member. Failing him, there are several other ministers without seats, any one of whom would doubtless be pleased to serve the French Canadian constituency and thus be enabled to continue their places in the councils of the country.

PROSPECTS IN ATLIN DISTRICT

Resident Engineer Tells of Work Being Done in the Country as Seen by Him

BRIGHT OUTLOOK

"As a result of development work carried out this year, mining prospects in the Atlin district are brighter than they have been for years," states G. A. Clothier, resident mining engineer for the provincial government, who returned to the city this week after paying his annual visit to the northern part of the province.

Mr. Clothier reports that the famous Engineer mine is now being put in shape for steady production. All summer a crew of 125 men has been employed on this property completing the camp, adding to the power plant and mill capacity and doing underground development. Development work will be carried out all winter and it is expected that next summer will see the property on a basis of steady production. The gold bullion will be conveyed from the mine to Carcross and thence outside.

Surface development work has been carried out during the summer on the Gleaner property which adjoins the Engineer mine just above it. During the winter a crosscut tunnel one thousand feet in length will be driven. In the Atlin country placer mining this season has been about normal. Mr. Clothier reports. The New York company which has the Engineer has installed a hydraulic lifting outfit on Pine Creek and everything is in readiness to start working as soon as winter breaks up next year.

The Atlin Silver Lead Mines under J. M. Ruffner carried out some good development work on high grade ore this summer and a small smelter test was made. Work will continue all winter. This property is located on Fourth of July Creek about twelve miles from Atlin.

Mr. Clothier was unable to make the trip into the Dease Lake section that he had planned this year.

HUNCHBACK OF NOTRE DAME HERE TONIGHT

Victor Hugo's Immortal Classic is Here This Week for Two Nights

"The motion picture art is today undergoing the same transformation as the arts of literature, painting and music in the great renaissance of the fifteenth century in Europe," declared Carl Laemmle, producer of "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," which is to be seen here tonight and tomorrow.

"For years the cinema has been foundering in a wilderness of experiment, growing and ripening. Today it stands on the threshold of a new birth. The film 'classic' has arrived."

"Hitherto, all of the pictures shown in the theatres, with very few exceptions, have had their little run—or their big run—and then relegated to the storehouse forever. Many of the film dramas have been excellent in their way, but the onward march of the screen art has been so rapid that the best productions of a former season have been so far surpassed following that most of the pictures of a few years ago would make but a sad showing in the theatres today.

"The repeated success of 'The Hunchback of Notre Dame,' in all parts of the world has proven that there can be such a thing as a film classic, just as there are literary classics, pictures that people want to see over and over, pictures that are loved more with every new presentation.

"It is not unusual for this picture to be shown from three to five times, even in small cities. In the city of Des Moines, with a population of 150,000, it has recently finished its seventh successful presentation, and the eighth is now being arranged!

"The widespread praise and appreciation which has greeted this gigantic production of the Hugo masterpiece in all cities, no matter how many times repeated, has proven that a picture costing a million and a half can be worth every penny of its cost."

FAMILIAR BOAT IN PORT AGAIN

Norco, Formerly Tilamook, is Discharging Frozen Fish From Alaska at Ocean Dock

A familiar vessel in this harbor under a new name is the motorship Norco which reached port shortly before 9 o'clock last evening from Ketchikan with 1,409 boxes of frozen halibut and salmon for transshipment over the Canadian National Railways to the United States.

The Norco was formerly the Tilamook which several years ago plied between Ketchikan and Prince Rupert in the service of the G.T.P. Coast Steamship Co. When the Jones shipping bill came into effect, the Tilamook, of Canadian register, was not permitted to operate and for several years she was tied up at Vancouver. A few months ago she was acquired by the Strong interests of Ketchikan. Her registry and name was changed and she is in service again. It is the intention to run her regularly between Alaskan ports and Prince Rupert in the freight and passenger business.

The Norco is in command of Capt. Len Williams, formerly master of the motorship Bellingham. She is discharging at the Ocean Dock and will return to Ketchikan this afternoon.

THE MAN IN THE MOON

THE way to make yourself popular is to grouch, I don't think.

ANOTHER way to be popular is to talk about yourself and your ills, Nixie.

LET'S work up a boom. I have some lots to sell.

"Uh Huh" is a good answer when you wish to be rather non-committal.

DON'T be like eider. The older it gets after reaching its prime the sourer it becomes.

YES, we have no bananas. If we had, we'd sell them and blow in the money on something else.

MY wife's tory, I'm a grit. We voted so last week. And now we wonder which has won.

Our quarrels fairly reek.

If you know anybody who can get out of a difficult situation, better than Right Honorable William Lyon Mackenzie King, P.C. C.M.G., LL.D., defeated member for North York, prime minister, secretary of state for external affairs, and president of the privy council, just trot him along and I will give him the once over.

TURKEYS will be high this year if they are kept too long.

HOWLING for better treatment! never made anyone great.

HERE'S to good old turkey. Eat him down. Here's to good old turkey. Eat him down. He may be tough as leather. When denuded of the feather. Add for sauce the dew of heather. Eat him down.

THE bobbed hair girl was once unique. As odd a picture. As you could seek; But today she sits. In the barber's chair. As if she was born. And raised right there.

She is seen also. Ah, there's the rub. In every place. Except the club. And soon I fear. She'll get there too. It'll be a sad day. If ever she do.

Here and There

"Canada has the greatest opportunity of any community on the face of the earth," stated St. Loe Strachy, editor and proprietor of the London Spectator, in the course of a recent address before the Canadian Club. He stressed the advantages the country enjoyed in her large wheat area, electrical energy, wood pulp and mineral assets.

Between 20,000 and 25,000 men are expected to work in the forests of the Province of Quebec during the coming winter, according to the chief forester of the province. It is anticipated there will be a good season in the pulp and paper products, but that the cut of lumber will not be so heavy owing to the low price prevalent for sawn lumber.

Cordial relations between the ports of Quebec and Liverpool were emphasized recently by the exchange of cables by the respective Chief Magistrates of the two cities. The occasion was the Civic Week Celebration at Liverpool when the Lord Mayor, Thomas Dowd, sent Mayor Joseph Samson, of Quebec, greetings to which the latter responded.

A record for October weddings was established at the Windsor Station, Montreal, early in that month, when twenty couples invaded the Concourse on their way to Boston, Quebec, Ottawa and Toronto. Two of the bridegrooms were bounced following time-honored custom. It used to be the fashion to subject brides to this usage, but since the advent of short skirts the practice has been frowned upon.

Establishing what is easily a world record for movement of wheat, grain poured into Port William and Port Arthur elevators at the rate of nearly thirty bushels a second for the whole of the 24 hours of October 5, from Canadian Pacific Railway cars. In all, 1,704 cars were unloaded during the day and each carries an average load of 1,500 bushels, representing a total of 2,556,000 bushels.

Driving into stationary trains on level crossings seems to be a favorite sport on the part of a number of motorists judging by reports coming in recently from different sections. The latest is from Galt, where an automobile, in broad daylight, ran into a freight train consisting of 18 loaded and 15 empty cars standing in plain view on a crossing. Fortunately no one was hurt, but the instance is another of gross carelessness on the part of motorists.

The Grand Challenge Cup, emblematic of the First Aid championship of the entire system of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was won by the Weston Shops team, of Winnipeg, champions of the West, against McAdam, N.B., team, champions of the East and last year's winners, after a searching test of the two teams conducted at the Place Viger Hotel, Montreal, recently. The margin between the two teams was so narrow as to be in doubt to the last moment. Weston took 507 points out of a possible 672 and McAdam had 499.

Tourist traffic development throughout Canada has reached such proportions as to equal the value of a fairly good wheat crop, and such development has only just begun, is the opinion of Colonel Phil Moore, of Yoho Valley, B.C., interviewed recently. He thought that an estimate of three hundred million dollars spent by tourists annually in Canada was not too high. Growth of interest in the Canadian Rockies was very noticeable and although the majority of tourists there were Americans, yet Canadians, too, were beginning to discover them, said the Colonel.

The great bloom of sweetpeas, chrysanthemums, pansies, mignonette, nasturtiums, daisies and marguerites at the gate at the Dry Dock has been exciting comment from out of town visitors to the big plant about the climate of Prince Rupert. Residents from both north and south of B.C. have expressed their envy of weather conditions so favorable for horticulture at this time of the year.

TELLS OF FAR NORTH COUNTRY

Major Burwash After Fifteen Months Among Eskimos Makes Report

Knowledge concerning Canada's Arctic regions increases each year, and it is of value to learn from competent observers that the picture of life there that rises to the mind's eye of outsiders is usually too sombre. Life, it is true, is strenuous but the natural resources of the land and the sea provide a living in return for hard work.

The natives of the Far North are the wards of the nation and, in its efforts to protect the Eskimo from any adverse effects of advancing civilization, such as the depletion of wild life, the Department of the Interior through its North West Territories and Yukon Branch, sends out officers from time to time to investigate and report on conditions. One of these officers, Major L. T. Burwash, exploratory engineer, spent fifteen months among the Eskimo of Baffin island and the following account of sea life in the Arctic is taken from one of his reports.

Abundance of Life. Arctic waters do not differ greatly from those of more southern latitudes, as the low temperatures affect little more than the surface and there is an abundance of life in most of the forms in which it appears in more promising surroundings.

The sea mammals are the mainstay of the country. Without the various types of seal, the white whale, narwhal and walrus, even the Eskimo could not hope to exist. At many points along the coast line these animals are found in sufficient numbers to guarantee a living for the native, while in a number of areas they exist far in excess of present day needs.

Seal Most Useful Of these the seal is by far the most important. From it the native secures a large part of his meat supply, summer clothing, boots, kayak and topek covers.

dog harness, cordage and numerous other requirements, not the least of which is oil for fuel. Types of seal found are the jar (Phoca hispida), square flipper (Erignathus barbatus), harp (Phoca groenlandica), grey or freshwater (Halichoerus grypus), and hood (Cistophora cristata). The jar seal is found in much greater numbers than the other types. This is fortunate because it supplies choicer meat, better light skins for clothing and better oil for fuel than do the others. The square flipper is generally associated with the herds of jar seal and is a very necessary factor in native life, for it supplies cordage and heavy leather for boots and kayaks. The harp seal is fairly plentiful in the most southerly waters and, if need be, could replace the square flipper in supplying Eskimo needs. As the fresh water seal is scarce it is considered somewhat of a luxury, supplying as it does, a skin much sought after for ornate clothing. The hood is also somewhat rare. It is used for the same purposes as the square flipper.

"Piece de Resistance"

Where seals are plentiful the Eskimo is not greatly concerned about walrus, white whale or nar-whal. Owing to their great size, however, the latter animals can be made to supply large quantities of meat for winter use while the skins of the white whale and the nar-whal are considered a delicacy and often form the "piece de resistance" in Eskimo hospitality. Years ago the walrus was a necessity on account of the ivory secured from its tusks from which were made many of the native hunting implements and other tools. The coming of the white trader, however, with his supply of iron and steel tools has made the walrus, in a sense, less necessary to Eskimo existence. Nevertheless it cannot be questioned that the sea mammals are the backbone of Eskimo life.

Plant life is found in profusion and a complete description of it is beyond the bounds of a short article such as this. It may be said, however, that it supplies part of the food of all the sea mammals and water-fowl and that forms of kelp or dulse are used by the Eskimo to vary their diet.

Crabs do Well

Mussels, clams, shrimps and sea crabs are all found in Arctic waters. With the exception of the crab they are all somewhat under-developed, due perhaps to the darkness of the long arctic night when they are more or less dormant. They are found in large quantities and form an important part of the food of the sea mammals and are used largely by the natives. The crabs when full grown measure as much as 14 inches over all.

Fish are not so abundant. It is true that a variety of salmon or Arctic trout is taken during the summer season in sufficient quantities to supply the seasonal needs of the natives and that cod is known to frequent at least one area in the waters around Baffin Island, but the seas as a whole cannot be looked upon as fishing grounds of more than very local importance.

CASSIAR LAND DISTRICT.

Recording District of Telegraph Creek. TAKE NOTICE that John Jacob Fowler, of Great Glacier, Stikine, rancher, intends to apply for permission to purchase the following described lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of the Stikine River, near the Great Glacier, at southeast corner; thence running north 20 chains; thence in a westerly direction 20 chains; thence in a southerly direction 20 chains; thence in an easterly direction 20 chains, to commencement post.

SMOKER GIVEN TO DR. GRANT

Rotary Club Hold Rather Unusual Entertainment and Make Presentation

The Rotary Club at its luncheon yesterday put on a rather unusual entertainment, taking the form of a smoking concert, with Rev. Dr. Grant as the guest of honor. At the close the doctor was presented with a fine smoking set as a little token of remembrance from the members.

The presentation was made by Dr. W. T. Kergin, acting president, who said the club had sought to bring happiness rather than sadness on the last meeting their member would attend. Dr. Grant had always been a cheerful and pleasant companion in Rotary meetings and elsewhere and now their ways were parting and the club was to lose him. The good wishes of the club went with him. He asked him to accept that small gift from the club and he hoped it would call to mind the many happy hours they had spent together.

Dr. Grant in reply said he was thankful for the kind thought which prompted the gift and he would try to be cheerful. He would prize the gift but would not need it to bring to mind the members of the club. He also thanked Harry McLeod for a large photograph of members of the club. He was leaving the West. He had always been among people such as were here but in Prince Rupert he thought he had met the best west. He said he had always tried to cultivate a spirit of cheerfulness and that had kept him young. He liked to pass the prescription on. He was sorry to leave the good fellows he had met in Rotary.

A number of members and others took part in the program. The Westholme orchestra played selections; vocal solos were given by Mrs. Jarvis McLeod and Mrs. McMillan; stories or brief speeches were offered by Consul Wakefield, F. G. Dawson, George Rorie, Harry Rochester and Cyril Orme. H. F. Pullen presided.

CRUSADERS FORMING SOCIETY AGAINST TRAFFIC IN DRUGS

VANCOUVER, Nov. 6.—Active organization of a crusade against the narcotic drug trade and a campaign of education against the use and distribution of narcotic drugs is to be undertaken in Vancouver by the International Order of Crusaders, the first local branch of which will be initiated on November 9.

The new order has no connection with the Ku Klux Klan or American Crusaders, although within the order it is intended to conduct a fraternal secret society in all its branches.

World Wide Movement

The movement, which is world wide in scope, says it has for its objects the establishment and fostering of a spirit of friendliness between the members of the Caucasian race by fraternal and social intercourse, and the organization and conduct of a crusade all over the world for the suppression of narcotic drugs.

A publicity and propaganda campaign which will reach every home in North America is the first step in the campaign, which in time will erect and maintain homes and sanitariums for the care and cure of addicts and their re-establishment in after life.

Organizers Busy

Bishop A. U. de Pencier, Brig-Gen. V. W. Odium, George Bell, Rev. M. Lascelles Ward and J. W. Spencer, of Victoria, are on the advisory board for British Columbia. Organization headquarters have been opened and a strong local committee is now organizing the new order.

The girl you leave behind you

Just stop a moment and think about the way she spends her day—that girl you leave behind you. While you are working she is at home working with her hands. Perhaps washing the same cups and saucers that she washed yesterday and will wash on many tomorrows.

Perhaps doing the week's washing. In YOUR work is variety—interest—growth; in hers only dullness—sameness—stagnation.

Talk it over with the girl you leave behind you. See how glad she will be to say farewell to wash day.

A fair trial of our family services will give your wife many new hours for her family and herself.

Have her phone The Canadian Steam Laundry and you'll be coming home to more cheerful welcomes from a fresher, happier girl.
