Boyd Gang Case Moves Into Courts

TORONTO (CP)—Case of the Boyd gang now moves into the courts for a long round of trials on charges of murder, bank robbery, attempted bank robbery and escaping custody. The murder trial of Steve Suchan and Leonard Jackson will open Monday in one court while a series of bank robbery trials involving Edwin Alonzo Boyd starts the same morning. Suchan and Jackson made a brief appearance yesterday in Assize court before Chief Justice J. C. McCruer and pleaded innocent on charges of murder in the slaying of Detective Edmund Tong. Tong was shot down on a busy street March 6 while walking from a police cruiser to check on two men in a car. He died March 23.

City Museum Threatened With Immediate Closure

'We're Bankrupt, New Building Only Answer,' Says Director

The Prince Rupert museum is in dire financial straits and unless some "drastic action" is seen immediately, "there will be no other alternative but to close it."

The plight of one of the city's major focal points for tourists was described last night by F. E. Anfield, museum director, before a meeting of the Prince Rupert Junior Chamber of Commerce.

"The only answer to the problem is a new building. Any plan to make the museum survive in its present location will not be fruitful, the museum board feels," he said.

The present building housing the museum, while of "fairly good construction," has been condemned as an unsafe building from a point of insurance, said Mr. Anfield.

"This precludes us from joining any museum exchange because insurance companies will not consider giving insurance on borrowed exhibits. And by belonging to an exchange, which would give us exhibits from all corners of the earth appears to us to be the only way the museum can survive."

Mr. Anfield said that because of criticism which had been levelled at the museum board, all charges to visitors this year had been dropped, as well as paid memberships.

"We were hoping to operate on donations. But what has happened? There has been a terrific recession in finances and a big increase in visitors. We are completely bankrupt."

Mr. Anfield said he was sure there was a place for a museum in Prince Rupert.

"We have exhibits here of Indian lore which cannot be found elsewhere in the world. We have had repeated requests from museums in Britain, Holland, Buenos Aires to mention a few, to exchange exhibits.

Canuck Troops Return From Korea Accompanied by Mascot

VANCOUVER (CP)—A caravan of buses arrived here last night with 156 Canadian veterans of the Korean war and their mascot. The men, members of the First Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, arrived at Seattle earlier in the day aboard the U.S. Navy troopship Gen. H. L. Howze. Their regimental mascot, a dog named "Fritz," was chaperoned by Lieut. W. R. Burton-Foster of Vancouver.

Second Murder Case Falls, Lack of Crown Evidence

Indian Freed of Wife-Killing

For the second day in a row a man accused of murdering his wife, Julie, in their Pendleton Bay cabin, 28 miles east of Burns Lake, last July 22, was freed because of lack of evidence.

Duncan James Lolly, 25-year-old Fort Babine Indian, was released from custody this morning after Crown and defence counsel agreed that all evidence "pointed away, rather than toward the accused."

Mr. Justice Norman W. Whitaker agreed with counsel and directed the 12-man Assize Court jury to return a verdict of not guilty.

Lolly had been charged with murdering his wife, Julie, in their Pendleton Bay cabin, 28 miles east of Burns Lake, last July 22.

Decision to ask for an acquittal came at 11 a.m. after two members of the RCMP told of going to the cabin, finding the woman dead on the floor and accused bleeding from "what appeared to be a bullet wound in the head."

Yesterday, Mr. Justice Whitaker also directed another jury to acquit Vernon Elgin McMaster of a charge of murdering Laurence Greco at New Hazelton last July 7 because of lack of evidence.

Thomas W. Brown, Q.C., defence counsel, this morning asked Mr. Justice Whitaker to excuse the jury after which he sought a "not guilty" verdict. Prosecutor Gilbert Hogg agreed with Mr. Brown's request.

In addressing the jury, the Justice said that in the case of murder "as in all other cases, the burden rests upon the Crown."

"In this case I am inclined to agree with counsel that there is no evidence that accused did kill his wife.

"From evidence here it seems more likely that the deceased came to her death by taking her own life..."

"Under the circumstances you could not possibly bring in a verdict of guilty."

Trial of Lolly opened late yesterday and during the afternoon session, Mr. Brown attempted to prove that Julie Duncan took her own life by shooting herself through the forehead with a .22

Frank Calder in Victoria For Talks With Premier

By ERIC SANDERSON
First Indian ever elected to a legislature in Canada, Frank Calder, may be offered a Cabinet post in the British Columbia government.

Political circles here are alive with speculation following a statement by the 36-year-old CCF member for Atlin that he was going to Victoria on business.

Mr. Calder, a cannery worker, was first elected to the provincial legislature in the 1949 general election after the Coalition Government of Premier Byron I. Johnson granted the franchise to natives.

Mr. Calder left here two days ago for Victoria and is expected to meet Premier W. A. C. Bennett either today or tomorrow.

While official confirmation of such a move is lacking, it was learned that CCF members are not too happy about Mr. Calder's political leanings.

It is recalled that when the Social Credit party drew up its campaign for the June 12 election, Mr. Bennett, at that time leading spokesman for the party, said no Social Credit candidate would run against Mr. Calder.

He said he felt the Indians should have representation in the government and in his opinion Frank Calder wasn't a true CCFer.

18 Red Party Leaders Under Arrest in U.S.

WASHINGTON (CP)—The Justice Department announced the arrest of 18 midwest and west coast Communist Party leaders on charges of conspiring to advocate the overthrow of the government by force and violence.

Those arrested include leaders of the party in Missouri, Washington state, and Michigan. Karl Larson, a leader in the International Woodworkers of America (CIO), was arrested in Portland, Ore.

Giants, Tribe Win Games in Pennant Race

NEW YORK (CP) — Pursuing New York Giants and Cleveland Indians, refusing to be counted out of pennant races clung to their slim flag hopes Wednesday but time was getting shorter and shorter.

Giants sliced a game off Brooklyn's first place lead in the National League, shutting out Chicago Cubs 2-0 while talling Pittsburgh Pirates upset the Dodgers 4-1. That left the Brooks with a three-game lead with nine left to play.

Cleveland whipped Washington Senators 6-1 but remained 2½ lengths behind the American League pace-setting New York Yankees, who walloped Detroit Tigers 12-3.

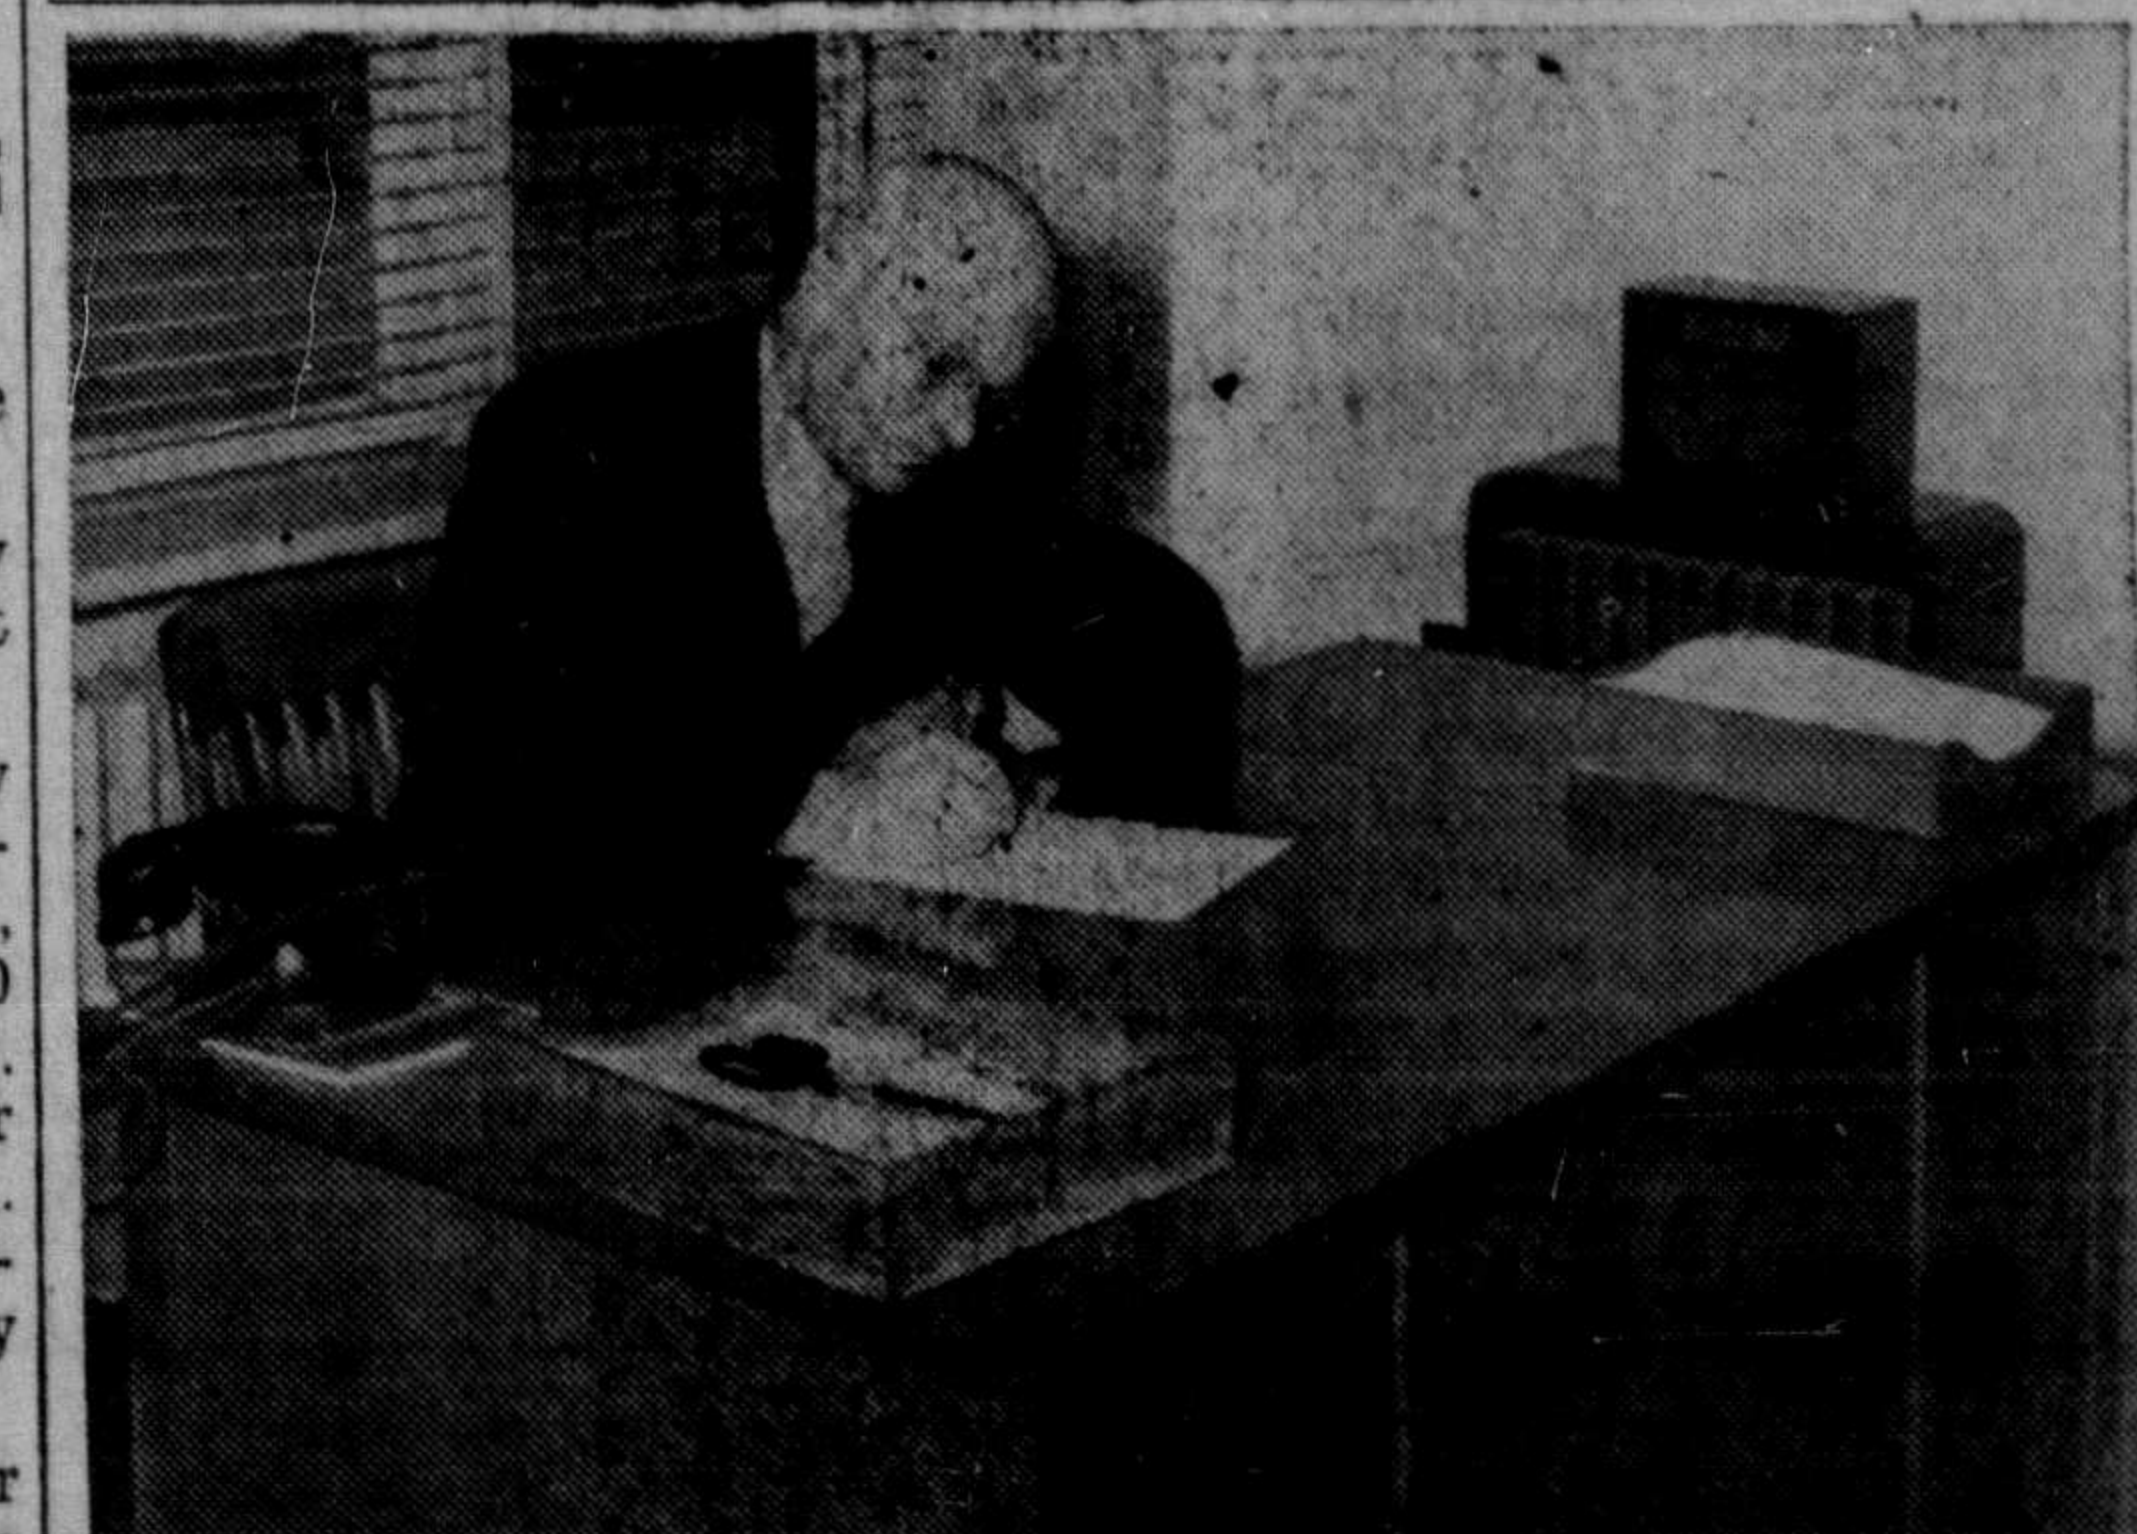

Bob Lemon became the third Indian pitcher to reach the 20 victory total as he doled out seven Washington safeties while his mates were clubbing starter Walter Masterson and Randy Gumpert for nine that included a homer by Bobby Avila. Early Wynn and Mike Garcia are Cleveland's other 20-game winners.

Alex Hunter Good Citizenship Trophy Under Study by Prince Rupert Jaycees

An annual good citizenship award which will also be a memorial to one of Prince Rupert's leading citizens, the late Alex Hunter, managing editor of the Daily News, is being planned by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The award would be given each year to the most outstanding resident of the city, chosen as such by popular ballot.

The plan was discussed last night at the Jaycees' first meeting of the new term. "A lot of work for the betterment of the community is done and has been done in our city by citizens who are just plain interested in what happens to Prince Rupert," said Neely Moore, Jaycee president, as he proposed a good citizenship award.

ALEX HUNTER Memorial Trophy is planned by Prince Rupert Junior Chamber of Commerce in honor of the late managing editor of The Daily News. The trophy is mooted as a good citizenship award for the best citizen each year in the city. This picture was taken shortly before Mr. Hunter's untimely death May 10 in an accident in Kemano Bay.

Mr. Hunter, with the Daily News for 30 years, first as reporter, then as managing-editor, was killed in an accident May 10 at Kemano Bay in which Mr. Magor and Jack McRae, former MLA here, were seriously injured. His great effort to aid the community in every way is widely recognized. Several letters to the editor appeared in the News following Mr. Hunter's death suggesting a memorial trophy as a good citizenship award be established. G. P. Lyons, a local merchant, also forwarded the suggestion at a Chamber of Commerce meeting last June.

A Tough Job for the Dean

ONE OF the most enlightened and respected members of the clergy in Canada today is the Very Reverend Dean Cecil Swanson, of Vancouver. He is an understanding man of brilliance and humor whose services at Christ Church Cathedral draw a large and devoted congregation.

It is therefore with misgiving that we note the provincial government has appointed him to the commission which will look into the sale and distribution of beer, wine and liquor with a view to making recommendations for a new liquor law.

If this appears to be a contradiction, we must explain that our uneasiness is not caused by any doubt that the Dean will handle with competence the duties now asked of him. On the contrary, his easy and intelligent approach to all problems will undoubtedly prove a great asset to the board.

What does bother us is that he is being propelled to a thorny public matter in which he, as a clergyman, can hardly move one way or another without courting criticism.

Under the terms of the order creating the commission the members are not being asked to decide whether or not liquor should be dispensed by the glass in licenced premises, as the public has already made this decision by its affirmative vote in the June plebiscite.

Instead, the commission's function is to advise on the most suitable means of putting liquor sale and distribution by the glass into effect. But even in this limited duty there is considerable latitude, and it is here that the problem involving the Dean arises.

Should the board recommend a restrictive plan of sale, it may be argued that this was due to the influence of Dean Swanson and his position in the Church. Such reaction is certain to be coupled with comment about the expressed wish of the people being compromised, if not ignored.

Should the board favor a liberal plan, the Dean would be caught in the equally uncomfortable position of seeming to favor increased consumption. A middle-of-the-road course would hardly be any better as inevitably there would be large public groups claiming the board should have gone more this way or that and criticising its reasons for not doing so.

While we confess uneasiness about the Dean's position in all this, we admit our worries may be baseless in consideration of his remarkable personality and his gift for resolving all problems into simple terms.

Nevertheless, we think the government has made an unfair demand on his sense of duty.

Venezuela Spells Sales For Waiting Canadian Exports

By The Canadian Press

Looking for markets? Try Venezuela. Rich in oil and with plenty of dollars to spend, Venezuela, eighth largest of the Latin American republics, "spells sales opportunities," says the trade department.

Scouring foreign horizons for greater Canadian trade opportunities, the department devoted the entire issue of one of its publications, "foreign trade," to assessing the value of the Venezuela market—world's second-largest producer and leading exporter of petroleum products.

It found: "Venezuela is one of a half-dozen countries to escape the crippling economic malady, the dollar shortage."

"It has the money to buy what it desires in the markets of the world. It erects no import barriers, imposes no currency restrictions."

"Soon growing iron ore production will boost its dollar income further."

LIKE A DREAM

To most exporters, faced with rigid import restrictions and dollar scarcities in many traditional markets, this appraisal of the Venezuela market would be like a dream come true.

And yet Venezuela, with a population of just 5,000,000, is selling Canada a lot more than she is buying from this country. The big item, of course, is oil. Much of Canada's oil comes from this Latin country.

For example, last year Canada sold that country only $27,000,000 worth of goods, but purchased an unprecedented $136,000,000 worth, mostly crude petroleum. That gave Venezuela a trade surplus with Canada of $109,000,000.

In that same year, points out the department, United States firms supplied Venezuela with $435,000,000 worth of goods, covering more than 2,700 different commodities.

Venezuela is Canada's third-largest export market in Latin America. It is the United States' second-largest. Both countries get most-favored-nation tariff preference.

PAPER EXPORT
To focus the exporter's attention, the department made a detailed analysis of Canada's exports. It found that Venezuela takes Canadian newspaper and paper products and the outlook for increased sales of these "appears most promising."

It also buys Canadian dried salt codfish, canned meats, animal feeds, trucks and automotive parts, textiles and construction materials. In most cases, the U.S. is the big competitor, but J. A. Stiles, Canadian trade commissioner at Caracas, Venezuela's capital, notes that the country is "gradually recognizing Canada as a dependable source of supply."

As I See It

BY

Elmore Philpott

● COL. Mc. RIDES AGAIN

I CAME back home from the U.S.A. a bit bewildered by the mood of our good and mighty neighbor in this year of 1952.

The great mass of the American people are still frank and friendly. They are, I think, as generous and kindly as any people on earth. But they are suffering from some strange uneasiness, right now.

"Why are we so nervous?" asks Joseph Henry Jackson in the San Francisco Chronicle for Sept. 12. "Nobody needs to be told that the Americans are getting more and more tense, that all of us are nervous in a sense we never used to be. Is it the atom bomb? Russia? Or is it not these altogether, what then?"

My own guess is that this nervousness is mainly due to the fact that the United States finds itself in a position of unique world leadership — but also faced by a challenge which it is mentally totally unprepared to meet. It really only feels at home with problems which concern the Americans and the seas which protected "God's country" when Britain ruled the waves.

DURING the weeks my wife and I were south of the border the only solid news about Canada in the U.S. papers concerned the accident to the Canadian Pacific coastal ship and that U.S. silver coins were being discounted in Canada as high as seven per cent.

But meanwhile millions of Americans were reading such masterpieces as this which appeared in the Chicago Tribune of September 4:

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 2—(Special)—American travellers in Canada since its separation from the British empire are finding a new state emerging. The dominion government, or, as they call it, the Canadian government, is becoming a state government which grants no liberties to its people but effectively administers its internal affairs.

For national defense Canada depends entirely on the United States, letting its own armed forces degenerate into a militia status. It considers that it is directing its foreign policy through Secretary of State Acheson.

Many of its newspapers, such as the Montreal Star and the Toronto Globe and Mail, editorially are neither empire nor Canadian papers, but members of the eastern American string, such as the Washington Post and the New York Herald Tribune. They concern themselves with American politics much more than they do with Canadian politics. They have no interest in English affairs and their news is as recklessly distorted as that of Don Iddon in the London Daily Mail.

WHEAT sobers me about this whole business is this: No nation's international attitudes and policies can be better, or more solid and sound than the information on which they are based.

If the United States either has no information about Canada or worse still, gross misinformation like the above what about her information on faraway countries? Yet the U.S.A. has a virtual monopoly on the power which makes for war or peace for all nations in the west.

Yet they cost no more than an ordinary zipper. So insist on Lightning Slide Fasteners in the familiar red and black package.

DETROIT (AP)—Said the judge to the defendant: "I'll give you a break if you can tell me—within 25—the number of times you've been arrested for being drunk." "Eighty-five," guessed the defendant, William Sweeney, 62. "Wrong," said Judge Joseph A. Gillis. "It's 198. Ninety

TONKIN DELTA—French tank troops wait for infantry to flush out a pocket of Communist-led Vietminh infantry in the Tonkin Delta in Indo-China. Neutral observers say the civil war has reached a stalemate. The Red-organized Vietminh army is estimated to exceed 300,000 men. Against them are 600,000 French and anti-Communist Viet Namese. U.S. Senator Outlines Plan For Korean Peace

OTTAWA (CP)—A Republican Senator from Vermont outlined to the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association a plan he said would settle the Korean War.

Senator Ralph E. Flanders urged establishment of a neutral zone in northwestern Korea; union of North and South Korea; reconstruction of industries, transportation and housing, and a free election after the reconstruction period.

"To destroy them endlessly without giving them acceptable peace terms is to plumb the depths of human iniquity," said Senator Flanders.

He outlined his plan at a closed session of the association's biennial conference, which ended Saturday.

Members of the association simply exchange views. No resolutions are adopted and no recommendations are made to governments.

Senator Flanders said that establishment of a neutral zone in northwestern Korea, inspectable only by Asians, would meet Communist China's demands for protection against invasion of Manchuria by or through Korea.

North and South Korea had to be rejoined because neither section could survive independently without foreign aid.

After a period of reconstruction, the Koreans should be allowed to choose their own form of government.

Representatives of the United States Congress and of the Republic of Ireland, associate members of the association joined in the discussions yesterday for the first time. Ireland's representatives called for support of their requests for an end to partition of Ireland.

Canada's defence minister Claxton said the failure of Russia to work with other nations and its record of aggression had made it clear that the only course by which free nations could achieve peace was to build up their strength together.

Each year's appropriations were the premium paid to ensure peace. There was no sign of change on the part of Russia and there must be no slackening of effort.

Senator Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island, head of the American delegation, said there is no credible evidence that the threat of Soviet aggression has diminished. Soviet military power still exceeded that of the free world.

Two speakers called for recognition of the Communist government of China. Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, Air Minister in Britain's former Labor government, said there could be no lasting political settlement in the Far East until the Communist government of China is recognized and allowed to sit in the United Nations.

S. C. Chattopadhyaya, opposition leader in the Constituent Assembly of Pakistan, hoped for recognition of the Chinese government by the United States to wean it away from Russia.

Hon. Nazir Ahmed Mallal of Singapore suggested that recognition of China was no solution since no trust could be placed in agreements made with the Communists.

Fishermen Seek Support For Federal Aid

VICTORIA (CP)—A delegation from the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union Tuesday asked the cabinet for support of a three-point program aimed at easing price and employment problems caused by the province's huge unsold salmon pack. Latest estimate of the unsold stock is 650,000 cases.

The fishermen asked: 1. That the Federal government take emergency action to provide practical assistance to the industry in financing and storage of canned salmon carry-over, and in marketing of the pack to meet government-subsidized competition of other food products.

2. That the Federal government submit proposals to the coming Commonwealth conference in London which will remove all currency restrictions in trade between Canada and the sterling countries of the Commonwealth.

3. That the Federal government open for revision at the coming session the Fisheries' Price Support Act of 1945, in order to provide for fishermen of B.C. a practical means of assistance to maintain living standards and to prevent distress.

CARELESS PARENTS

MONTREAL (CP)—The city spends thousands of dollars each year in medical inspection of school children, but still, there are many parents who pay no attention to the notices they receive regarding their children's health, said Health Director Dr. Adalard Groulx.

return, under cross-examination by Mr. Brown said:

"I'd say Matthias James was intoxicated, some were feeling good but I couldn't say any were drunk."

He admitted that he sold two bottles of whisky to Matthias James en route from the cabin to Burns Lake and later sold a bottle to Duncan James on the return journey.

Evidence disclosed that when they returned from Burns Lake the group went to the Lolly cabin where they proceeded to drink whisky.

Bader said they arrived at Pendleton Bay about 1 a.m.

All said everyone was happy and "there was no trouble" during the party.

Matthias James and David George left the party first, followed by Mrs. Charlie, it was disclosed by witnesses.

FRIED SUICIDE

Matthias James testified that Mrs. Lolly was "upset" over the death of one of her babies last spring when, Mr. Brown said, the mother mistakenly gave the child "mosquito dope instead of castor oil."

Matthias James said Mrs. Lolly tried to kill herself one night while living at Topley, B.C., after she and her husband had returned from a trip to Houston where they drank beer.

"We tried to stop her," said Matthias James. "We told her not to do it. She was worried about her dead baby."

He identified a rifle entered as an exhibit as belonging to Julie and said she was a crack shot.

Duncan James sat motionless in the witness box throughout the trial.

Vernon Miller is foreman of the jury. Other members chosen out of 44 jurors called are: J. J. Payne, L. J. Rennie, D. V. A. McDougal, R. W. Hutchison, W. H. Dell, C. Roberts, Eugene F. Jacobson, John M. Eby, George S. Kearley, E. Parent and Gerald G. Lord.

SPORTS ROUND-UP
 By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick will not know until he reads this that he nearly got himself thrown out of the Polo Grounds by an alert National League umpire one recent afternoon.

It seems the czar was watching a game from a window in president Horace Stoneham's office and was employing a pair of field glasses to bring the action closer. The vigilant umpire caught the glint of the sun on the lenses and sensed a major sign-stealing plot.
 "Throw that guy out of there in a hurry," he yelled to manager Leo Durocher, adding an ominous "or else."
 Leo obligingly took down the dugout phone and held a short conversation, after which he turned innocently to the arbiter.
 "Told 'em what you said," he announced. "That's the commissioner."
 It was one time that Leo had the last word with an umpire.

Observing the great success of Hoyt Wilhelm as a reliever for the Giants this year, Carl Hubbell predicts the woods will be full of young knuckleball flingers for the next few seasons.
 "It's always that way," he commented. "When they see some fellow winning big with a certain pitch, they all try to copy him. I never used the knuckler, myself. It's too hard on the catcher, and it's a dangerous thing to throw in a close game with men on base—too likely to get away."
 "Mel Ott had the greatest knuckler I ever saw. Maybe he would have made quite a pitcher if he could have controlled it. I've seen him warming up with the other players in front of the dugout and hit them all over their arms and shoulders. A real jumper around."

ATTENTION 10-PIN BOWLERS

There will be a meeting and social for the Men's League at the Commodore Cabaret on Thursday, Sept. 18 at 8 p.m. All those who participated in last two seasons, and those desiring to enter the coming season invited. Duck Flights Heavy For Hunting Season
 By The Canadian Press

The Duck season is under way in most parts of Canada. Almost everywhere the outlook is for a good supply of ducks and plenty of hunters.
 A Canadian Press survey today shows flights of ducks heavy, mostly pintails and mallards in the west and black ducks and mallards in the east. Ammunition is plentiful and, in Alberta and Manitoba at least, cheaper than last year by from 20 to 30 cents a box.

In parts of southern Alberta, ducks are so numerous that they have become an expensive nuisance to farmers. The birds appear as if by magic as soon as a farmer has swathed a grain field and clean it out. The farmers claim their losses will run to many thousands of dollars.

SCARECROWS USELESS
 The busy Albertans haven't time to chase the ducks off themselves and scarecrows have proved useless. However, farmers have been issued permits allowing them to recruit up to seven other persons to kill marauding fowl.

Northern British Columbia and Manitoba got the jump on the rest of the country by opening their duck season Sept. 1. The latest shooting allowed in Canada is in the southern sections of Nova Scotia where the season closes Jan. 10.

Bag limit in most provinces is seven a day with 14 the possession limit, but Alberta allows eight and 16 and Saskatchewan 10 and 20. Nova Scotia has a limit of 100 for the season.

Some observers think United States sportsmen, prevented by regulations this year from taking venison home, may do both their deer and duck hunting in the U.S. The ban on taking meat across the border arises from the foot-and-mouth disease scare.

EXPECT BIG SEASON
 Quebec expects more hunters than ever before to take the field, perhaps 90,000. British Columbia counts on 55,000. Ontario, where duck hunting areas are none too plentiful, looks for about 30,000 this fall. Wood ducks are fairly plentiful in Ontario this year but only one a day may be taken.

Highest cost of a resident licence is $4—in British Columbia where a non-resident licence costs the same. Ontario and Quebec charge residents the least, $1 and $1.10 respectively.

Non-resident permits are more expensive with Alberta's $50 the stiffest fee and British Columbia's $4 the lightest. Ontario gets $21 from non-residents, up from $15.50 last year, and Quebec $5.25. Manitoba charges non-residents of British birth $10 instead of the normal $25.

Graziano Meets Defeat—10-Rounder Lost to Davey

CHICAGO (CP)—Undefeated Chuck Davey Wednesday night backpedaled to a unanimous and tremendously popular 10-round decision over Rocky Graziano, former world's middle-weight champion, in Chicago Stadium.
 Davey, topflight contender for the welterweight championship, although outweighed by possibly 10 to 12 pounds, outclassed the ferocious, wild swinging Graziano and won virtually every round. Graziano, fighting with determination but swinging wildly, was merely a shell of his former self.

IWA Seeks to Release Poje

VANCOUVER (CP) — International Woodworkers of America will seek release from jail of Tony Poje, union official, pending appeal of his three month sentence and $3,000 fine.
Poje, business agent for the IWA local 1-80 at Duncan, was sentenced Tuesday by Chief Justice W. B. Farris, on a contempt of court charge. Fourteen other IWA members were fined $300 each.
Chief Justice Farris said the men "willfully disobeyed" a court injunction against picket action at Nanaimo during the summer lumber strike.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge
By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Can It Be Better To Win Eight Tricks Than Nine?

Mr. Champion will never learn that it doesn't pay to give bridge lessons during a game. Especially when the pupil is Mr. Muzzy. On several hands preceding today's, he had lectured Mr. Muzzy on the subject of holdup plays. He paid for that in today's hand. And, of course, he will pay again.

Mrs. Keen led the six of spades and the five went on from dummy. Now, on the bidding, it was clear to Mr. Champion that his partner had practically nothing — certainly no quick entry of any kind.

Therefore, if Mrs. Keen was going to run her spade suit, entry to her hand could be gained only in the spade suit itself. So Mr. Champion made the very fine play of the queen of spades. If Mr. Muzzy had the guarded king (as seemed likely) he could hardly duck since, as far as he knew, the ace of spades was on his left.

If Mr. Champion played the ace of spades at trick one, Mr. Muzzy could duck the second lead of the suit, win the third and then the connection between the defenders' hands would be broken.

Beautifully thought out. But wait. Mr. Muzzy serenely played the deuce of spades on the first trick. Startled by this development, Mr. Champion now decided Mrs. Keen had the king of spades.

He laid down the ace and another third round, lost a trick to the king of diamonds, but romped home with nine tricks.

Mr. Champion let out a roar of rage. "Why didn't you win the first trick with the king of spades?" he demanded. "How many tricks would I have won then?" asked Mr. Muzzy, innocently.

Mr. Champion swallowed hard. "Eight," he snarled, "but don't you see, you couldn't AFFORD to duck."

"I don't get it," Mr. Muzzy replied. "How can it be better to win eight tricks than nine? Isn't this what you were telling me about—the holdup when I have only one stopper in your suit?"

"But how did you know you had ANY stoppers when you let my queen of spades hold?" Mr. Champion screamed.

"All I know," needed Mr. Muzzy, "is that I used the hold-up play and I made my contract."

Key to Peace in Communist Pockets

Want of Freedom Extends Civil War

(Six years of civil war has smashed the economy of Indo-China, and the war continues. Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer with the Canadian forces in Korea, has spent a month studying the causes of conflict in Southeast Asia. In this story, one of a series, he tells why arms alone cannot end the Indo-China conflict.—Editor)

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer
SAIGON, Indo-China — The key to victory in Indo-China's civil war is political, not military. And neutral observers think the key hasn't been fashioned yet or else it's in the Communist pocket.

Military leaders of the French, and anti-Communist Viet Namese, say they can hold their ground but admit openly they cannot hope to defeat the Communist-led Vietnam until the political factor is resolved.

In a nutshell, that factor is the independence of Viet Nam, largest and most populous of the three associated states of Indo-China.

The French and the French-sponsored government say Viet Nam is already free.

The Vietnam, headed by Ho-Chi-Minh—"Uncle Ho" of the Indo-Chinese Communist movement—say it isn't. The small educated group who could rally the people agree with Ho, and refuse to co-operate in the anti-Communist campaign.

NATIONALIST SENTIMENT
The Nationalist feeling is so strong that two-thirds of Ho's 300,000-man army is made up of non-Communists who are fighting to free their country of the French even though they happen to be helping Ho to form a Red "People's Democracy."

Before the occupying Japanese were beaten in the Second World War, France announced a plan to organize Indo-China in a new federal union of independent states. Then the Japanese retired and let Uncle Ho seize power with Nationalist help. French negotiations with him on the independence question failed. Civil war broke out, Ho-Chi-Minh leading the rebel side.

Today the French fairly well control Laos, with 1,000,000 population, and Cambodia, with 7,000,000. The vietminh under Uncle Ho control most of Viet Nam, the third state of Indo-China comprising Tonkin, Annam and Cochinchina along the 1,000-mile coastline that curves into the South China Sea.

But these are facts: Every key Viet Namese executive has a French adviser working with him.

France has retained first right to provide any technical experts Viet Nam needs.

Viet Nam has no constitution, no national assembly, no political parties as known in the west. The state is ruled by decree.

The prime minister, Nguyen Van Tam, and seven of his cabinet are French citizens.

France retains responsibility for state security and branches of finance such as issuance of currency.

Division of customs revenues and operation of utilities are controlled by representatives of the three states and France, each government having one vote. Laos and Cambodia, with less than one-third of Indo-China's population, are French-dominated and usually support France in the balloting.

It is as if Canada's revenues were divided on a basis decided one vote each by the west, the Maritimes, Ontario-Quebec and the United Kingdom.

Here and in Tonkin to the north I was told repeatedly by Viet Namese:

"What we want is a relationship with France similar to Canada's relationship with Britain. We want an independent Viet Nam, running its own affairs."

The change of government last June, when Nguyen Van Tam replaced Tran Van Hu as prime minister, apparently dimmed the attentists' hopes. Hu during the previous two years had taken a stronger policy against the French and Bao-Dai. He had launched a commission to study the election of a national assembly by universal suffrage in areas liberated from the Vietnam. Bao-Dai did not permit the report to be discussed.

"If Bao-Dai had backed me in June," Hu told me, "we should have won the critical turn and the people would have seen we were on the path to independence. As it is, time has been turned back 10 years."

Saskatoon Celebrates

Then came religious services and the week of fiesta went into full swing, with a civic banquet scheduled for today when Premier T. C. Douglas will be the main speaker. Chief guests will be grade 12 students in the city—a sign that Saskatoon is looking to the future just as much as to its past.

A giant cake with 70 candles will be set up in the middle of the main street and each day ceremonies will centre around this symbol of the city's history.

Last week the Saskatoon Star-Phoenix printed a 104-page paper outlining in detail much of the city's early history and at the same time the paper celebrated its 50th anniversary.

SOUTHERN STATE
Brazil, largest country in South America, has an Atlantic coastline of 4,880 miles.

organization Society took up and Saskatoon began its development. From that small beginning the place developed until in 1906 it became a city, supposedly with a population of 5,000 persons. But oldtimers today recall that a few dogs may have been included in the count.

A highlight in the city's development was the arrival in 1903 of the Barr Colonists who were headed for Lloydminster on the Alberta-Saskatchewan border. Many of them remained in Saskatoon and businessmen here enjoyed a flourishing trade equipping the newcomers.

Today the city has a population of 55,000. These phases of the city's history will be recalled in a pageant which will be presented several times during this week at the Saskatoon arena. There will be concerts, military events, sports, dancing, a barbecue, fireworks and a general round of activities.

Appropriately enough in view of the city's foundation, the ceremonies commenced Sunday afternoon with the unveiling of a cairn to the pioneers on almost exactly the same spot from which John Lake named an empty tract of land Saskatoon.
