PREMIER MACKENZIE KING DEALS WITH LABOR TOPICS CAMPAIGN SPEECH

EDITORIAL

DON'T KNOCK PORT FOR ELECTION PURPOSES

One of the visitors to the city yesterday when told that some people here were for political purposes suggesting the elevator would not be used, said that was the history of every place. He remarked that there were always some who refused to believe anything good about their own city. In Edmonton that was true. When the elevator was being built they sat back and said it would never be used.

What was the fact? The elevator in Edmonton was finished late in the autumn and before Christmas it was filled to the roof with grain. It was useless, he said to take any notice of knockers and pessimists, because there were always plenty around. Go ahead and work and do the best possible and the results would justify us, was his advice.

The election fight is on and most people are taking sides. They are doing their best to bring before their neighbors the advantages of the cause they espouse. That is a splendid thing. If they do not believe in a cause enough to urge others to adopt it, they are not very enthusiastic. Yet with all the political conflict, let us remember that Prince Rupert comes first and anyone who does anything, even so much as a suggestion, that will injure the city is not worthy of support. Let us be a unit on this. We cannot possibly agree on the matter of candidates. We are all friends together and we agree to disagree in politics but let there be no shadow of doubt how we stand in our loyalty to Prince Rupert and the district of which this city is the centre.

There was a fine esprit de corps among the teachers and pupils.

Mr. Sullivan inspected the High School about the end of September.

HEAVY SCALING TO BE RECORDED

Month of September Largest so Far This Year, Total Being About 24,000,000 Feet

The report of timber scaling for Prince Rupert district during the month of September to be issued in a few days by P. S. Bonney, district forester, will record the heaviest scaling for any month since the first of the year. The total will be about 24,000,000 feet bringing the total for the year up to 85,000,000 feet. This is not as large as last year when the total scaling to the end of September was over 100,000,000 feet. Scaling for 1925 will not be as heavy as 1924, the main reason for this being the closing down of the Buckley Bay and Swanson Bay mills.

Meighen Scores Liberals for Withdrawing in Favor of the Progressives in Cariboo Riding

KAMLOOPS, Oct. 9.—Speaking here last night, Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, referring to the absence of the Liberal candidate in the Cariboo riding, urged the need for a straight party majority in the House of Commons to do away with compromise government. He said it was not consistent with the traditions of Blake and Laurier that the Liberal leader today was willing to instruct his supporters in many ridings throughout the Dominion to support "so called independents with all sorts of adjectives prefixing the label" simply to retain power.

OBJECTION TAKEN MALICIOUS REPORT

Editor, Daily News.

Some of the Conservative supporters are circulating the report that I have been appointed Dominion hull inspector for this port at a large salary. The report is absolutely without foundation or truth and is a typical example of the petty whispering campaign being carried on by these gentlemen.

Forgot To Take His Gloves Off.

In his address in the Empress Theatre the other evening G. W. Nickerson, Progressive candidate, forgot to take his gloves off as advertised. Many people went out expecting to see something smash or hear it rip, but they were disappointed. Nothing happened. The candidate was mostly on the defensive, though why he should have to defend himself that early in the game seemed odd. How much defense would he need if he were at Ottawa for four or five years? The meeting made it clear to any impartial observer, that he would not be there.

Must Practice Economy But Not At Prince Rupert.

Mr. Nickerson strongly urged that the utmost economy should be practiced in order to reduce taxation and, almost in the same breath, urged greater expenditures here and berated the member for not securing larger appropriations. Everyone knows that we cannot have our money and spend it. If there is to be economy in the country it will have to be here as elsewhere. Of course we want things and we shall do our utmost to get them, but it is useless to be unreasonable. Prince Rupert has just got a million and a quarter dollar expenditure here and it would hardly be reasonable to expect anything else under the present financial condition of the country.

All Are Wanting Things Done Here.

No one has fought more persistently than the Daily News for things required here and this paper has been outspoken in regard to the action of the railway and government on many matters. We have to speak up plainly sometimes. Still, though we are often disappointed at the results and we should like to see greater progress along many lines, we have to face facts as we find them. Today we have three courses open to us. We can send Mr. Bushby to Ottawa to support Sir Henry Drayton and the others who fought tooth and nail against Prince Rupert. We can send Mr. Nickerson to Ottawa to be a voice crying in the wilderness lagged on to the tail of Robert Forke and his few followers. The other alternative is to again return Fred Stork to Ottawa to carry on the good work that he has commenced. If he has been able to secure an elevator when the government he supported had not even a majority in parliament, what may he not do when he goes back this time to join a government with a good majority over all.

If it was a matter of voting for the man, choosing would be much more difficult than it is. All three men are able in their several ways. All have plenty of courage and are able to express themselves. All are men who do credit to the constituency. But that is not the question. What we need to consider is the effect at Ottawa that the election will have.

Vote For Ourselves In This Election.

In this election let us vote for ourselves. We, the people, are the ones who have the say. We can support whom we will. We might even have nominated a dummy and elected him if enough of us thought well of it. However, it is too late to consider more nominations. We have three men before us and what we, as more or less sensible people, have to consider is, which will be of most use to the community? We have no hesitation in saying we think that to elect Stork will serve our purpose best. We can use him to advantage. He has the ear of the government and can fight our battles where they are most likely to be won. As citizens of Prince Rupert or residents in the other parts of the Skeena riding we cannot well afford to indulge in the pleasures of sending an opposition member to parliament on this occasion.

POLICE REPORT A HEAVY MONTH

Copy of Record to be Sent Attorney General to Show Effect of Beer Parlors

MANY NATIVE CASES.

September was the heaviest month in years as far as police records in Prince Rupert were concerned it was announced by Chief Vickers at the regular monthly meeting of the police commission yesterday afternoon. There were 74 cases dealt with in court resulting in 67 convictions, four dismissals, two withdrawn and one pending. Revenue for the month totalled $1,698.50 including $1,663.50 collected as fines and $35 for keep of provincial prisoners in the city jail. The heavy number of cases, the chief suggested, was due to the large number of Indians in town during Fair Week. There were 51 cases of drunkenness, 19 of them Indians. Five suppliers were arraigned and convicted. The report for the month stated that weights of coal and bread had been tested and found correct.

Commissioner Montgomery regretted that the list was so large and suggested that the report be forwarded to the attorney general to show the effect of the beer parlors in Prince Rupert and also to show that the commission was attempting to enforce the law and control the situation. It was decided to do so.

Commissioner Montgomery also inquired if there had been any reply to a letter recently sent to the attorney general's department regarding the recent activities of "stool pigeons" here. City Solicitor Jones stated that no reply had been received. It was decided, at the suggestion of Mayor Newton, that the department should be again communicated with on the matter. In not replying to the letter, His Worship felt that the attorney general was treating the police commission with contempt.

The payroll for September totalled $1,187 and accounts were passed.

Parking Bylaw

Mayor Newton said it had been drawn to his attention that it was difficult for cars to round the silent policeman at the corner of Third Avenue and Second Street when cars were parked end on to premises on the north side of the Third Avenue at that location. It was pointed out by City Solicitor Jones that the Parking Bylaw now awaiting attention at the hands of the council would prevent the parking of cars end to the sidewalk. The commission felt that drivers should observe care to avoid accidents at such points as these which are well known. The chief offered to take the matter up with business people having premises at the point complained of.

The roof of the women's jail which is leaking was referred to, the chief stating that steps were being taken to have repairs made.

Attending the meeting were Chief Vickers, Commissioner Montgomery and City Solicitor Jones.

Com. Coombs is still in Vancouver where he is a patient at the Shaughnessy Military Hospital receiving treatment for severe wounds received while overseas.

C. W. Hamley who, during the war, was sent by the U.S. government to Europe to teach American soldiers to cultivate accurate and faultless memory, will give a free entertainment on Monday evening in the Empress Theatre. The entertainment promises to be highly educational and interesting.

Mr. Hamley has Indian ancestry and has adapted some of their methods, to our Anglo-Saxon mental processes with amazing results. Mr. Hamley has such a fund of original stories that he was much sought after during the war as a Red Cross entertainer in addition to his other work.

He has appeared before many educational gatherings, Rotary Clubs, Elks, etc. Those who have heard him pronounce him one of

Waltham Watchwords

He Missed the Train

IF Robinson could have caught the 8:45 he would have landed a four-thousand-dollar order. But he trusted to an untrustworthy time-piece, thus missing the train and losing the business. A Waltham would have cost him a little more money than the obscure make of watch he carried, but in the long run he would be money ahead. That's why we say that the Waltham is an inexpensive watch. Spread its cost over years of good service and its price comes mighty reasonable. You can't develop the habit of being "on time" unless your watch is reliable. Carry a Waltham and you'll always have the real truth about the time.

Waltham Watches in a great variety of styles for ladies and gentlemen always in stock. Prices from $25.00 upward.

VISITORS AT ROTARY LUNCH

Members of Grain Commission, Deputy Minister and Elevator Manager Attend

The deputy minister of trade and commerce, the grain commissioners, the general manager of government elevators and the elevator architect who were visiting the city yesterday were the guests of the Rotary Club at their luncheon yesterday afternoon. They made some short remarks about the elevator and told some stories with the result that the event proved most enjoyable.

Deputy Minister O'Hara expressed the hope that grain would be pouring through the elevator soon but suggested that if it should not come as fast as was expected Prince Rupert people should not feel disappointed.

Leslie Royd, chairman of the commission, said he had been a member of the Rotary Club two years at Fort William. He had found that his duties as a commissioner made it impossible to attend meetings so had dropped out. He appreciated the fact that at this luncheon he was enabled to meet a number of the businessmen of the city. It was the first time the deputy minister had visited the whole chain of elevators with the commission. It would give him a picture of the situation and the result should be that when Prince Rupert came to ask for an extension of the elevator facilities they would be granted.

As good Canadians they all wanted to see the development of Canadian seaports. At present they all knew that 65 per cent of the Canadian grain went out of the country at Buffalo and an effort was being made to divert it to Canadian ports. He had come to feel confident that Prince Rupert would be one of the big Canadian exporting ports. It had equal facilities with Vancouver now and he felt sure that if the city of Prince Rupert did its part they would bring the grain this way. They now had something to sell in the way of facilities. It had been suggested, that the Canadian National Railways should extend aid in shipping this way. He illustrated the neutral position of the railway by means of a story.

Commissioner Robinson said the members of the grain commission did very little talking but a whole lot of work. This was their first visit to Prince Rupert. He hoped to see the day, and he believed it would not be far distant when they would be forced to visit the city often because of the large volume of grain going through the elevator. General Manager Heatherington said he appreciated the hospitality of the Prince Rupert people and hoped to visit the port frequently.

SCHOOL REPORTS ARE SUBMITTED

Principals Lay Their Needs Before Board and Tell of Activities

Pupils enrolled at the various public schools of the city total 893 according to reports of principals submitted to the school board last night. This is in addition to those attending the Catholic school.

The attendance for the various schools is as follows:

	Boys	Girls	Total
Borden St.	158	116	304
Seal Cove	29	31	60
Booth	205	183	388
High School	59	82	141

Totals 451 442 893

Reporting for Booth School, Principal Hartness announced that $224 had been collected during September for the school savings account, Miss Donaldson's class leading with $36.95. J. S. Wilson was taking charge of the children's sports and girls' and boys' basketball teams were being organized. The teachers' badminton club using the Booth School auditorium had 20 members. Teachers' rooms had been furnished by the teachers. Supplementary books costing $60 had been purchased payment being made from the concert fund. Requests that 40 Highroads of History be purchased, that hot plates in the domestic science be repaired and that windows on the ground floor of the school be screened were met. The matter of further improving the school grounds was left to the school committee. Fuel consumption for the month at the school was reported at 5,300 pounds of coal and four cords of wood.

Principal Brady asked for more chemicals at the High School and it was decided to order them as well as hurry up a previous order not yet arrived. The matter of keeping the typewriters in the commercial department in repair was laid over for further consideration.

It was reported that what seemed to be ringworm was epidemic in the schools. Dr. Tremayne was asked to make an investigation.

MANY ATTEND LOCAL WEDDING

Miss Violet Mortimer Married to Paul Yelton Last Evening in St. Andrews Church

One of the prettiest weddings Prince Rupert has seen took place last night in St. Andrews' Anglican Church, Rev. Archdeacon Rix, administrator of the diocese of Caledonia, officiating, when Miss Violet Mortimer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mortimer of this city, became the bride of Paul H. Yelton, formerly of Kentucky but now of Riverside, California. The church was filled to the doors by the many friends of the bride and of the family, with all of whom she is deservedly popular.

The bride, who looked extremely pretty gowned in white satin with double lace tulle veil draped to form a train, held with a wreath of orange blossoms and white heather and carrying a bouquet of pale pink roses, entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Ellett.

Mrs. Charles Evitt, matron of honor, was a striking figure in pale mauve with picture hat and feather to match.

Two tiny tots followed, little Geraldine Cade, in mauve, a sweet little flower girl, and Gordon Wright, equally admired in the garb of a white sailor, as page.

The bride's mother wore dark blue georgette with lace hat to match.

The groom was supported by Richmond Mortimer, brother of the bride and the ushers were Alex. Rix and W. Walton, members of the younger set to which the bride belonged.

The church was beautifully decorated with flowers and greenery and the service was fully choral, most of the members of the choir being personal friends of the bride.

Reception Held

Following the service, which was a most impressive one, a reception was held in the new I.O.D.E. Hall on Fifth Avenue, which had been specially prepared for the occasion. This room was tastily decorated, the work having been done under the direction of W. Watt and A. Rix. The wedding cake was cut by Mrs. Evitt and refreshments were served to the guests by Mrs. Wright, assisted by friends of the bride.

In proposing the toast to the bride, Archdeacon Rix referred to the charming qualities which had made her so popular in the community. He had known her for many years and he knew nothing but good of her. As a close friend of the family and a member of his congregation, he felt any man was lucky to get such a helpmeet.

The toast was drunk with enthusiasm and with musical honors and responded to appropriately by the groom. American Consul Wakefield then spoke a few words in welcoming the bride to the United States and Mr. Mortimer replied to a toast to the parents.

The young couple was escorted to the boat by a bevy of the brides former companions and an informal reception was held on the upper deck of the steamer Prince Rupert where the bride was showered with confetti and with good wishes for her future happiness. Her going away dress was of dark blue crepe de chine and coat trimmed with fur with hat to match.

After the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Yelton, who will make their home in Riverside, California, the guests again repaired to the reception hall, where dancing was continued until the early hours to the strains of the Serenaders orchestra.

REPAIRS TO BOOTH SCHOOL PROCEEDING

Cost of Work Now Under Way Will Not be Less Than $1,500, Chairman C. H. Orme Reports

C. H. Orme, chairman, reported to the school board last night that repairs to the copings and fire walls of Booth Memorial School were nearing completion. It was difficult to estimate what the final cost would be but it was expected it would not be less than $1,500.

Mr. Orme gave some particulars as to the conditions that had been found on taking down the fire walls. Moisture and frost had done a good deal of damage and it had been possible to salvage very few of the bricks. The work now being done it was thought would remedy the damage to a large extent without impairing the appearance of the building.

LEAGUE BASKETBALL NOT IN ELKS' HOME

Brother Bills and Royal Purple Members Made Plans For Season at Social Meeting Last Night

Plans for winter activities of the lodges were formulated at a joint social meeting of the Elks and Ladies of the Royal Purple which was held last night in the Elks' Home, Exalted Ruler L. Murray Fuller presiding.

It was decided that league basketball games would not be played in the hall this season but that courts would be prepared for the playing of badminton both by ladies and men. Arrangements were made for the organization of teams in the whist and cribbage leagues.

Considerable enthusiasm was developed in a membership campaign that is about to be launched and plans were started for the annual Christmas Cheer campaign.

There was a good attendance of members at the meeting. Refreshments were served and music was furnished by Arthur's Orchestra.

SPORT CHAT

Another real lively Junior football game will probably take place tomorrow afternoon when Booth School and Borden Street meet in a regular league fixture. Booth school is now leading in the standing but will have to win everything from now on to maintain that lead. Borden St., it is understood, will inject some new blood into its team for the occasion. Booth School will line up as follows: Pierce; Donald and Kami; Collison, Kelsey and Morrison; Smith, Dickens, Nelson, Murray and Crake; reserve: Dingwall.

Christy Mathewson, idol of United States baseball fandom over a span of more than two decades, and one of the greatest pitchers the game has ever known, was a symbol of the highest type of American sportsmanship. Running the full gamut of baseball fame, first as a playing star, later as a coach and manager, Mathewson left the game to answer a greater call during the world war; subsequently fought and won a battle for his life, threatened by after effects of his service, and then capped the climax of his diamond career by returning as part owner and president of a major league club. But after all the remarkable achievements of Mathewson's career are recounted, the greatest tribute of all will be paid to his wonderful pitching skill. For on the mound he was a master craftsman, the most consummate and brilliant artist of all time, in the opinion of many of the games closest students.

"Big Six"—a sobriquet contracted from "Big Six Footer"—started his major league career with the New York Giants in 1900, and it was during his 17 seasons with that club that he carved a lasting niche for himself in the twirling hall of fame. Later he became manager for two and a half years of the Cincinnati Reds; served as a captain in the chemical warfare arm of the American Expeditionary Force during the world war; returned from the service to rejoin his old team-mates, the Giants, as a coach; and retired from the game temporarily in 1920, when his health was dangerously impaired. He came back, hale and hearty, in February, 1923, to accept the presidency and part ownership of the Boston Nationals. Feats of pitching brilliance too numerous to catalogue filled Matty's record during the dozen years in which he ranked consistently among the most effective twirlers in the major leagues.

rose to executive power in the game, a list which included Charles Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox; Clark Griffith, of Washington; Branch Rickey, of the St. Louis Cardinals; John McGraw, of the New York Giants; Jimmy McAber, A. G. Spalding and John M. Ward. Mathewson, baseball experts agreed, possessed all the attributes of a brilliant moundsman as well as those of a great athlete—natural skill, keen knowledge of the sport, generalship and coolness under fire. One of the most popular figures in the history of the game, among players and fans alike, "Big Six" also was a hero and idol to the army of youthful followers of the national pastime. "Matty was without a peer, either before or since the days he was at the height of his greatness," declared McGraw at one time in paying tribute to the pitcher. "He had a greater variety of stuff than any pitcher I ever knew or handled," he continued. "His fast ball was the equal of Walter Johnson's or Amos Ruskie's; his curve rivalled Nap Rucker's; he had the 'fade-away' down to perfection; and he utilized his knowledge of batters with greater effect than any twirler in the game. He possessed wonderful control, remarkable fielding ability and was one of the finest sportsman the game has ever known."

Argument Against Protection Given in Letter to the Editor in Answer to Hon. H. H. Stevens

At his meeting in the Westholme Theatre the other night Hon. H. H. Stevens spent much time in expounding his high tariff theory. He strongly urged that the Conservatives be returned to power in order that the tariff be raised.

In answer to him a reader of this paper has sent in a letter which is to the point and not unduly long in which he says:

The prosperity of the United States results from the sale of billions of dollars worth of oil yearly and not from any tariffs just as free trade Great Britain prospered through the sale yearly of millions of pounds worth of coal. In former days any nation which had good coal at tide water flourished, and today Canada would flourish exceedingly if there were a billion dollars distributed yearly throughout the country for oil. These conditions no government can alter, but the following evil results of high tariffs may be avoided by the placing in power of a Liberal government:

1—Under high tariffs the manufacturing interests fight each other to the death for control, and on monopoly being effected the price of goods bear absolutely no relation to their value. It is estimated that in the seasons when the owners of the United States—the farmers, mine operators, cotton growers, lumbermen and so on have a prosperous year, the manufacturing interests counterfeit American dollars to the extent of millions upon millions—as witness their income returns—and pass them on to the people in the shape of over-priced goods. Thus seasons of apparent prosperity are found very onerous by the great body of the public.

2—In order to make the nation tolerate this, the manufacturing interests create and foment a clap atmosphere—that is prejudices are created instead of true patriotism.

3—Owing to the largesse of advertising the great newspapers and periodicals, become subsidised by the great manufacturing interests.

4—Owing to the limitation created by tariffs a monopoly becomes very valuable and the more powerful companies spend billions to make the lesser ones go to the wall, the consequences being a condition where all the wealth goes into the hands of a few. One evil effect of this is that after monopoly is effected advertising is reduced, and the press—the small newspapers suffer.

5—High tariffs reduce the value of farm lands, mines, fisheries and so on, because of increased cost of clothes, shoes and machinery. All these adjacent farms and mines could be operated if their owners and employees could split between them, the fifty cents in every dollar the manufacturer receives over and above the value of his goods.

pire, is largely to blame for this, and it will be the duty of whoever is elected to represent this constituency to use his influence to see that some consideration is given to the problem of where Canada is drifting from a national standpoint.

Besides a Canadian National Railway, we want a Canadian national flag, we want an official Canadian national anthem, we want the word "Canadian" accepted in all matters of naturalization and registration and we want more Canadian history taught in our public schools.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your space.

FARMERS AND ELEVATOR.

Editor, Daily News.

There seems to be a lot of inconsistency creeping into the Conservative ranks already in this election campaign.

On the one hand Mr. Bushby says he is in favor of the local elevator and that now it is here it has got to be made to pay, while on the other hand he said on Wednesday night that all the farmers he had spoken to in the interior country had stated that they would not be shipping grain for at least three years.

It does not sound reasonable to suppose that farmers would import chicken feed, also intimidated by Mr. Bushby, when the by-product from the elevator after it gets into operation, will be available for this express purpose.

Undoubtedly the farmers approached by the Conservative candidate had stated they would not be growing grain but it would have seemed more to the point for a budding representative of the district to have urged upon them the advisability of so doing, and thus in a measure insuring the successful operation of the new grain plant.

Appreciating the courtesy of your printing this letter.

ADVERTISE PRINCE RUPERT.

Editor, Daily News.

How about a little publicity for Prince Rupert, she is on the up grade, keep her going. There are many opportunities here, which should interest capital.

We must look upon our city as a big business, and a business to succeed now-a-days must advertise. The following ventures should succeed in Prince Rupert, for instance: A modern flour mill, laminated wood veneer plant, great quantities of cotton-wool along the Skeena river and adjacent lands about the city are going to waste for lack of a market, this is an industry that would furnish employment to many men.

A smelter located there would be in an ideal position to handle the ore from the north and east, and be a great incentive to mineral production, many could develop their claims, if they could dispose of their ore.

Power development is another big proposition which should appeal to large capital. The water power which could be harnessed is almost unlimited.

There are openings for other industries, especially in connection with the fish business, some good use should be made of the meat on halibut heads, which at present is used only to make fish meal, could be preserved for human food.

Now one way to get publicity, would be to secure permanent space in a few of the leading papers of the U.S. and Canada, including Prince Rupert papers, which the subscribers could send to their friends, who are scattered all over the world. Enclose a newspaper wrapper with each paper, an adv. on the inside of each will pay for them.

Yours resp., BRUCE BROWN.

When I mentioned fish, I was thinking of a company here in Vancouver, who are manufacturing fish balls and canning them, they use salmon, I thought perhaps the same could be done with halibut.

BORDEN STREET PLAY SHED TO BE BUILT

School Board Interviewing Architect Cox Today with View to Getting Work Started at Once.

The school board decided at the regular monthly meeting last night to take steps at once leading to the erection of the long-planned playshed at Borden Street School. With that end in view, Architect A. A. Cox of Vancouver, who is now in the city, is to be met by the board today.

The board was in receipt of a communication from Mr. Cox in which he urged the advisability of building a strong sturdy structure on account of the exposed situation. He suggested that it be built on the day labor plan since estimates had been higher than had been expected. John McKechnie bid $3,600 for the job and Mitchell & Currie submitted an estimate of $4,000 not including the foundation.

Trustees Orme and Fulton and Miss Mills, principal of Borden Street School, urged the necessity of having the playshed ready for use as soon as possible because of the crowded condition of the school and the limited recreation space. Accordingly it was decided to take steps in this direction.

GOLDBLOOM MAKES BIG CONTRACT FOR MINK FUR

Says he Can Pay Fifteen Per Cent More for Skins Than at Other Points

W. Goldbloom, the old dependable fur man, returned to the city this morning aboard the Catala after spending the past four weeks in the United States on fur business.

While in the States Mr. Goldbloom made very satisfactory arrangements with the big manufacturers for the disposition of raw furs, an arrangement which will enable him to pay trappers some 15 per cent more for their furs than can be obtained at any other point either in Canada or the United States. He also made a big contract with the manufacturers for the obtaining of 10,000 mink skins.

In addition to doing good business Mr. Goldbloom brought back with him a number of beautiful ladies' fur coats. These are in exquisite designs and the fact that such a number were purchased for spot cash will enable these fur coats to be sold locally at a saving of at least 25 per cent to the purchaser. Advt.

NEARLY ANNIHILATED ESKIMOS OF ALASKA

Yukon Indians May Have Built Village Recently Discovered in Interior

NOME, Oct. 7. — Commenting on the discovery by the survey party of a deserted village in the Colville River valley, George S. Maynard, editor of the Nome Nugget, said:

"It is quite possible the village was occupied by Yukon Indians during a pilgrimage from the Yukon section to the coast. It is remembered that the Indians made war on Eskimos at coastal points many years ago for breach of tribal relationship and nearly annihilated the Alaska Eskimo. It has always been considered probable that the Indians travelled up the Koyukuk river and crossed the divide, coming down into the Colville river valley. If such was the case it would only be natural that they would build a camp or village for a sub-station during their march across the divide. Very little has ever been learned about this battle, as the survivors were wiped out by plague and sickness."

Maynard recalled a visit to one battlefield 24 years ago at the head of a salt lake 50 miles in the interior from Teller. At that time it was found that identically the same kind of conditions existed.

A photo-drama of primitive and civilized woman, of puritanical conscience and lawless desire. The stirring story of a New England girl alone on an Arizona ranch and three drunken marauders. Women bargained for and bought; driven like the cattle to the marriage market. The cave man, the hunter, the killer, the lover; first she hated him then she adored him for she forgave the supreme brutality when she found the brute himself tormented with love. Soul-stirring drama, breath-taking thrills, a stupendous production. A photo-play of scenic beauty filmed in the Painted Desert of Arizona. Noted cast.
