SHIPS DELAYED BY HEAVY FOGS

C.N.R. Steamer Prince Rupert Will not Arrive Until tonight—Prince John is also Delayed

Heavy fogs all along the coast from Vancouver to Skagway are delaying shipping generally. Last night and this morning Prince Rupert experienced the thickest fog it has had this year and the condition seems to be general.

C.N.R. steamer Prince Rupert, Capt. D. Donald, which was due from the south at 10:30 this morning, has been running into thick weather all the way up the coast. It was reported this morning that the vessel would not reach here until 8 o'clock tonight if then. The train for the East was not held for the boat and pulled out on time at 11:30 this morning. The steamer Prince Charles, which was to have sailed for Alaska at 4 o'clock this afternoon, will await the arrival of the Prince Rupert from the south as there is considerable freight and some passengers to transfer.

C.N.R. steamer Prince John, Capt. E. Mabbs, from Vancouver via the Queen Charlotte Islands did not get away from Vancouver on the trip north until 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. She is bringing a heavy freight cargo to Queen Charlotte Islands and will not arrive here until Friday. Fog may also cause further delay to this vessel as well.

C.P.R. steamer Princess Mary, Capt. Arthur Slater, due from Alaska at 3 o'clock this afternoon has been delayed 24 hours in the north on account of fog.

FINAL GAME IS POSTPONED

Heavy Rain at Pittsburg Prevented Conclusion of World Series Today

PITTSBURG, Oct. 14.—After waiting thirty minutes after the time scheduled for the start of the game, Judge Landis, commissioner of organized baseball, announced that, owing to the heavy rain, the seventh and deciding game of the World Series would be postponed until tomorrow.

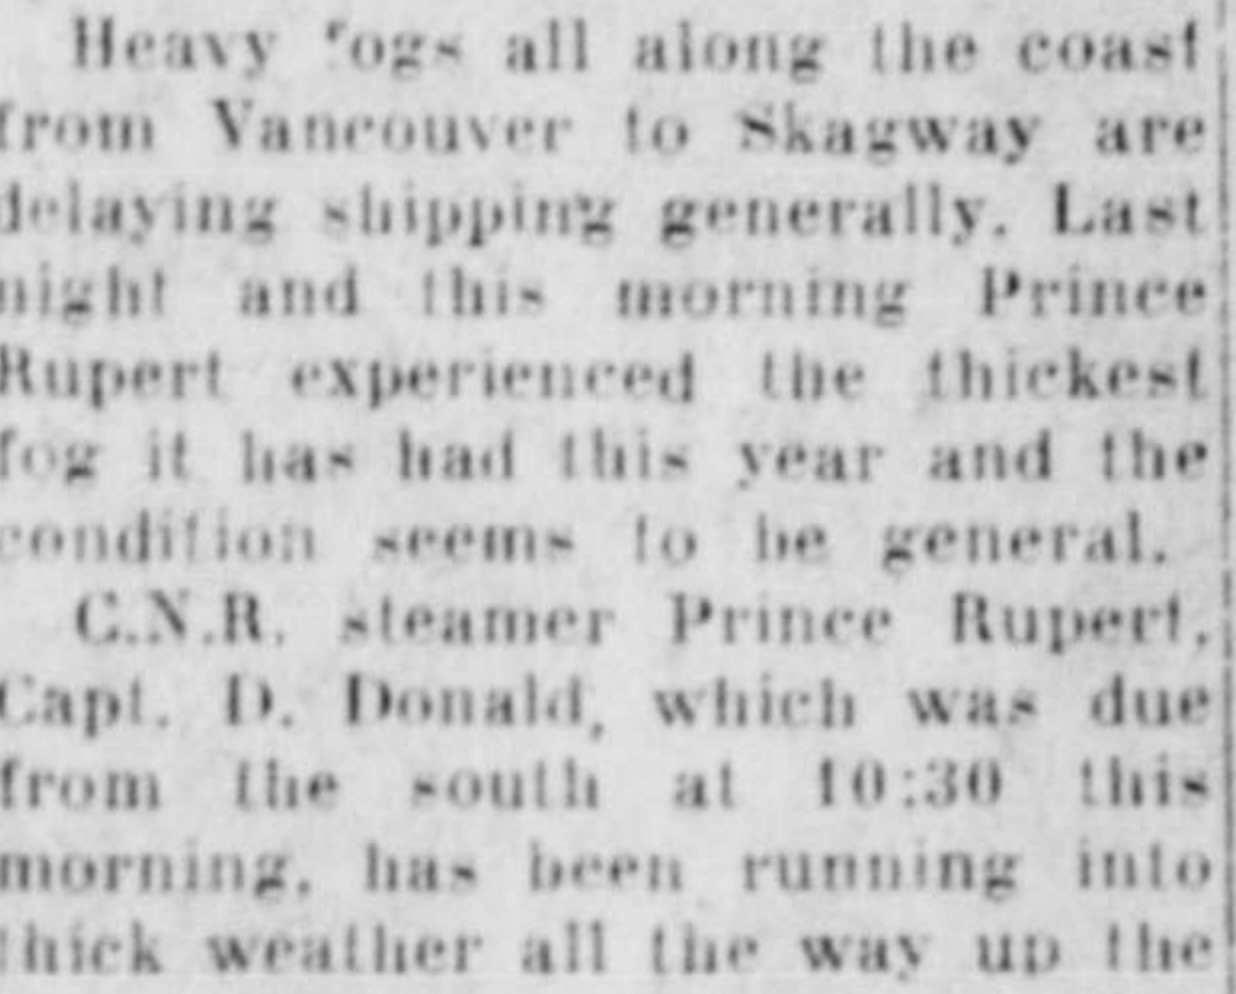

All was set for the game even to the selection of the batteries. The Washington Senators' management had chosen Walter Johnson, hero of two games already, to pitch the game and the Pirates were to have had Lee Meadows, who lost the first game, or Vic Aldridge, the hero of the second game, in the box. Muddy Ruel and Earl Smith had been selected to catch.

Education Commission Makes Radical Recommendation Regard to Taxing the Smaller Incomes

Untaxed Portion of Those Already Taxed Would Also Have to Pay $12 to $15 a Year Under Proposed Scheme

VICTORIA, Oct. 14.—The issue of taxation for the support of schools in the province may hit most of the pockets of the residents of the province, when legislation is introduced at next session making the report of the education survey commission effective. Should the government decide to accept the report in its entirety and act on it, financing will be to the fore.

The reports suggests that the burden of education be relieved to some extent by a levy of one per cent on the untaxed portion of incomes. This would mean that persons now assessed for provincial income tax would be required to pay an additional $12 or $15 per annum, according to the amount of the present exemption.

Under the scheme, persons whose incomes were less than $1,500 a year if married or $1,200 if single would pay a dollar a year for every $100 of income received.

They will proceed south from Prince George over the highway to Quiesnel and thence on the Cariboo trail to Ashcroft following the Canadian Pacific Railway into Vancouver which they expect to reach, weather permitting, in about a month's time.

DAILY EDITION Wednesday, Oct. 13, 1925.

Big Question Is King Or Meighen.

What really counts in this election is whether the people of this constituency will send to Ottawa a supporter of Premier Mackenzie King or one who will hide in the cold shades of opposition beneath the high wall of protection as a supporter of Hon. Arthur Meighen. The third candidate, according to what seems like reliable information, does not cut a very wide swath outside of Prince Rupert, and even here there does not seem much to encourage the idea that he has any shadow of chance of being elected. In saying this we are not opposing Mr. Nickerson but simply stating what seems to be a fact.

The contest is then between Stork and Bushby. The latter is about as strong a candidate as the Conservatives could get, although he has not the glamor of a Victoria Cross such as almost carried Colonel Peck to victory. Much was made during the last campaign of the fact that Peck had been a lifelong Liberal and as such was deserving of Liberal support. This time there is no such plea. Mr. Bushby is a clearcut Conservative, giving allegiance to the policy of high protective tariffs proposed by Mr. Meighen.

Fred Stork is a supporter of the Liberal policies. His leader, Mackenzie King, is the grandson of the Canadian patriot, William Lyon Mackenzie and that probably accounts to a large extent for his intense Canadianism. He studied at the feet of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. While no fanatic, he believes in low tariffs so that Canadian people may be able to purchase the necessities of life at a reasonable price. At the same time he realizes that money must be raised for the payment of the huge war and after-war debt of the country and the most feasible way of raising it is by way of moderate tariff on imported goods. That is really the important question before the people of Canada today. Shall we raise the tariff higher so that the big manufacturers may make fortunes at the expense of the common people or shall we keep it as low as possible so that the cost of living may not be too onerous?

Good Beginning For Grain Movement.

The joint committee of the city council and the board of trade last night made a good beginning with a view to bringing about the shipping of grain through this port. It was decided to appoint a committee on which the city council will be represented and the committee will employ some able man to go out after the business. That is the correct thing to do and it is satisfactory to think there was such unanimity at the meeting. All seemed anxious to see that the business was secured.

With such a spirit in the committee, success is insured. The people of Prince Rupert are asked to stand behind the movement, to withhold their criticisms and to do everything possible to make this movement a financial success. It means everything to Prince Rupert. The future progress of the city depends on the spirit of the citizens.

Parking Bylaw Is Sensible Enactment.

The new parking bylaw, having been shorn of all its teeth is now a sensible enactment. It gives the police certain powers, such as the right to keep cars from parking opposite theatres and public halls and also on corners. It deals with the necessary things and leaves out anything which might be interpreted as a petty annoyance.

There is so far plenty of space on our streets but they are getting busier all the time. Only a few years ago there were hardly any cars here but today there is practically no other traffic. As changes in the bylaw are required to meet changing conditions they can be made by succeeding councils. The police will doubtless make recommendations for such changes as seem desirable.

REMARKABLE GARDEN WHERE FLOWERS STILL SHOW OCTOBER BLOOM

Large Variety Seen at Home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Galland

As silent evidence of the remarkable open fall weather experienced this year many of the flower gardens in the city tell an eloquent story. One of the prettiest gardens to bloom continuously throughout the spring and summer, and to be blooming as fresh as ever today, is that of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Galland, 1159 Ambrose Avenue.

A profusion of flowers still bloom in this garden which include shasta daisies, cosmos, cornflowers, nasturtiums, calliopes, calendula, chrysanthemums, asters, roses, annual larkspur and dabbias of the peony flowering variety, collerette, decorative, show and single varieties.

LOCAL COMMITTEE TO GO AFTER GRAIN BUSINESS AND ENGAGE AN AGENT.

city this committee is of the opinion that something along this line has got to be done immediately.

Supplementing the report which he had written, Mr. McCaffery said C. D. Howe, the engineer in charge of construction, had arranged for the shipment through this port of one cargo of grain but he believed one hundred boatloads could be secured if they had the right man to go out for the business. If one hundred boats came here everyone would realize that we were on the map. Every person in the city, he thought, was interested in getting grain through the port.

It has been suggested that the city should do the work, but he thought it would be better if they were to appoint a committee of from five to seven businessmen who had heavy stakes in the city. The city might put up fifty per cent of the money and the businessmen the other fifty.

Mr. McCaffery said this was a real opportunity for the citizens to unite on a project of real value to the port. They were now in a position where they might be a real rival to other Pacific ports if they got down to business and got after it in the right way.

J. H. Pillsbury said it had been figured that $6,000 was spent on each ship exclusive of the money spent by the crew. A large vessel took from fifty to seventy thousand feet of lumber to line and 100 men employed 30 hours. Then there were 30 trimmers and there was the advantage to be gained from the hauling of the wheat over the railway. An 8,000 ton vessel carried about 200,000 bushels of grain or approximately 167 cars, so that a cargo would consist of several train loads. According to reports received here 1,000 cars of grain are already on the way to Vancouver but none is coming here as yet. He urged that people here get out after the business in a concerted way. They had been given all the tools to build up the port.

In Vancouver, Mr. Pillsbury said, the harbor board gets after the business but there is no harbor board here so they must have something to take its place.

Mayor Newton

Mayor Newton said that while he had not always been able to see eye to eye with many of the efforts advanced by the board, if they sought the co-operation of the city council for the welfare of the city they would get every aid in their power. That was why he and members of the council were present. He suggested that no concrete proposal had been made by the committee and he could not presume to speak for the council as a whole until such a proposal had been discussed. Personally he was willing to give his co-operation if the welfare of the city demanded it. He would like to listen to suggestions so that he might be in a better position to judge.

Mr. Newton then told of his recent trip and of the conference he had with Mayor Taylor, Harry Gale, and Mayor Blatchford, all of whom are interested in Vancouver. They had told him the best thing to do was to sit back and wait and see what the grain commissioners were going to do. He had sounded Mayor Blatchford in regard to the possibility of his interesting himself in Prince Rupert. He had been disappointed and surprised when he had heard the grain board were not going to solicit business for the elevator. However, he was willing to co-operate with the idea of getting business. It was explained by several speakers that it could not be the function of the grain board or the railway to solicit business for one port as against another. The Vancouver men had probably been pulling the mayor's leg.

A. S. Paul urged that a man be appointed to act for the city.

J. W. Nicholls brought the discussion to a head by moving a resolution which was seconded by D. G. Stewart with the result that the report was received, the committee discharged and authority given for the appointment of a new committee of seven to take its place and to act permanently with the object of raising funds and employing a man to represent the city.

CONCRETE BEACON IS ESTABLISHED AT ENTRANCE TO HARBOR

A concrete beacon supporting a white slatwork cone with lantern on top has been established on Grindstone Reef, easterly entrance to Venn Passage, Prince Rupert Harbor, showing a white occulting light.

The beacon is located on a rock marked on the chart dry-ten feet but the reef extends approximately seventy-five feet northward of the beacon where it dries one foot.

The red spar buoy will be removed on or about November 15.

CHIEF ENGINEER OF NEWINGTON WINNER OF WASHING MACHINE

Ticket No. 937, held by Tom Morrison, chief engineer of the lighthouse tender, Newington, won the $175 electric washing machine which was raffled in connection with the Gyro Club's playground carnival. The drawing took place last evening about 11.30 with Milton Gonzalez in charge and little Miss Joan Crew drawing the lucky ticket.

The attendance at the carnival last night was much better than the night preceding. This morning the committee expressed satisfaction with the result of the affair although it will be a few days yet before it will be possible to definitely announce the proceeds realized.

The big affair closed at 2 o'clock this morning.

LEOARD WAIDE IS GUILTY OF CHARGE

Prominent Labor Man Fined $300 or Six Months for Supplying Liquor to Indians

Leonard Waide, found guilty in the city police court yesterday afternoon by Stipendiary Magistrate H. F. McLeod on a charge of supplying liquor to Indians, was fined $300 with the option of six months' imprisonment. Up to this morning he was serving time, his fine money not having been forthcoming. Waide took the sentence with apparent indignance and had some rather caustic criticisms to make as to the administration of justice. Recently he has been rather prominent with certain labor movements.

Winnie Watt, Indian girl, the star witness for the crown in the case, was found guilty of drunkenness and was released on suspended sentence.

THE MAN IN THE MOON

JAKE says this election is something like shooting craps. There is a lot of nice talk but nobody knows which is going to turn up a seven.

If you talk to the dice saying words that are nice they will turn up the numbers required. But you must be endearing. No ridicule fearing. Or crap shooting 'll soon make you tired.

WHEN riding out to see your girl you take the corners with a whirl. And if your bones are slightly shaken. It's not the only jolt you've taken.

IT'S all right to hold a girl's hand but beware of getting under her thumb.

THE cost of living would not be so very high if only fur coats were cheaper.

NOW that winter is coming on, it is well to avoid getting the cold shoulder.

JAKE says he went to the Gyro carnival and won a thousand and iron men, but it was a fairy story. I went to the same place and lost something rather less than a thousand, and you can bet your last dollar it was no fairy story.

NOW that the baseball series is over we shall be able to return once more to a discussion of politics.

SOME people say they like the truth but only think what a fine old flurry there would be if everybody told all the truth just for one day.

IT gives a young sheik a great surprise. To see his girl out. With other guys.

NONE of the electioneering people who have been here so far have mentioned that this is a crisis in the history of Canada.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

October 14, 1915.
St. Andrew's Hall was comfortably filled last night when Art Noble, Prince Rupert's first returned soldier, delivered an interesting address on the work of the Red Cross at the Front. Major J. H. McMullin presided.

Fears are entertained for the safety of A. C. Garde, local mining engineer, who went into the Gardner Canal district with two Indian guides a few weeks ago. Anxiety is felt as the party had only food supplies enough for two weeks.

W. A. Matheson and Don Yelf, local soldiers, are in hospital in England recovering from war injuries. E. H. Stockley, who is engaged in airplane construction in the Old Country, tells in a letter received here of having met them.

PARSON IN FAVOR OF MILITARY TRAINING

Major the Rev. H. I. Horsey Believes in Training Cadets and Objected Economy in this Line

OTTAWA, Oct. 14. — On the occasion of a parade of members of the Ottawa Highlanders to the Catholic Church Major the Rev. H. I. Horsey took occasion to make a reply to the utterances of Miss Agnes Mephill and others against military training in Canada. He reviewed the disturbed situation in Europe, and said that when the members of the 38th and other units had left Canada to fight in the world war they had done so with the thought that they were fighting to end war.

The situation today, he said, did not hold out the definite assurance that there would not be another war, and for this reason, if for none other he advised that all men of military age should devote at least a portion of their time to military training.

There were, Major Horsey declared, two factions in Canada who were either seeking or wanted to see the Canadian militia kept at low strength. One was what is known as the red element and the other the pacifists. Major Horsey said he believed the pacifists were sincere in their views, but that they did not fully understand the situation in international affairs. The red element, he said, would naturally work to keep Canada's militia as weak as possible.

Cadet training, Major Horsey maintained, was a very great asset in keeping Canada's youth fit. He also expressed the fear that following the forthcoming federal elections a fit of economy might seize the government which might result in the appropriation for militia purposes being still further reduced. He also compared the small amount that Canada spent on its militia with that spent by the United States.

HILL SIXTY SHOWER FOR MISS MAY REID

The members of Hill Sixty Chapter, I.O.D.E., at the conclusion of the meeting last night held a miscellaneous shower for Miss May Reid, who is to be married to Jack Erew tomorrow. There were about 25 present.

Directly after the chapter meeting which was held in the Presbyterian Manse and which was closed as usual with the singing of the National Anthem, the regent, Mrs. John Manson, stepped out and brought in a decorated box containing the gifts of the individual members. These were opened much to the delight of the bride-to-be, whose popularity has been shown by the number of events of this kind and the beautiful gifts presented.

At the close Mrs. Grant served refreshments.

VANDERHOOF

The first political meeting of the present campaign was held here last Wednesday evening when John A. Fraser, Conservative candidate for Cariboo, gave an address in the Community Hall endorsing Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen's protection policy. Robert Reid presided. T. G. McBride, Progressive candidate, will speak here on Friday of this week.

A local amateur dramatic society has been formed to produce entertainments during the coming winter. Officers were elected as follows: President, L. E.

WELLS; SECRETARY, THOMAS RICHARDSON; TREASURER, MRS. R. M. TAYLOR.

Gilbert Blackstock, brother of W. M. Blackstock, formerly manager of the Bank of Commerce here, is Conservative candidate for Medicine Hat in the federal election.

Joseph Corbett has a contract to remove the Vanderhoof Hotel to the McCorkell Square on Church Street.

Miss Richards is making an excellent recovery from her recent illness and it is expected she will be able to resume her school teaching duties early in November.

Miss Laura Elaine Maigret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. Maigret, was married last week to Herbert Bradshaw, father of Plamondon officiating. The couple are honeymooning in Alberta.

BURNS LAKE

There is considerable building going on in Burns Lake but still there is not enough accommodation for business demands.

Ed. Sullivan has disposed of nearly all his property here. His residence has been purchased by Thomas Radley and the Lakeview Hotel has been acquired by S. Hepner.

J. A. Boivin, Winnipeg tie contractor, visited the district last week and purchased 75,000 ties north of Decker Lake where a camp will be installed this winter.

The school teachers in the district between Smithers and Tintagel will hold a convention in Burns Lake on November 8.

ALICE ARM

The Keystone Mining Co. will resume development work on the Sunset property in the near future. H. J. Bowyer, who with C. C. Casey, will be in charge of operations, was a visitor here last week.

Asbestos has been discovered at the head of Evidens Creek by John Strombeck but not in sufficient quantity to warrant its being mined profitably.

A beer parlor has been opened by Art Beaudin in the Welcome Hotel.

C. Warner of the Royal Bank staff is spending a three weeks' vacation at his home in Chilliwack. J. R. Stevens has arrived from Prince Rupert to relieve during his absence.

JASPER PARK PRO. BROKE RECORD ON WINNIPEG COURSE

Made Eighteen Holes in 66 at Windsor Park Yesterday

WINNIPEG, Oct. 14. — Breaking another course record on his way through Winnipeg, James Rimmer, golf pro, during the summer at the Jasper Park Lodge course in Jasper National Park established a new mark for players on the difficult Windsor Park municipal course to shoot at when he made the round in 66. Rimmer made a 32 going out and finished with a 34.

Recently at Edmonton Rimmer lowered the Country Club course record from 71 to 70. Today's game was played in a foursome with Matt Thompson, J. McDairmid and D. Vincent, well known Winnipeg amateurs. The Windsor Park course is probably the most tricky in the Winnipeg area as the Seine River crosses the Fairways in several places, while natural hazards are plentiful. The previous record for the course was 71.

SPORT CHAT

During the races at Woodbine recently Specs Crawford, one of the jockeys was ordered by the court to refrain from riding in the race the following day. In spite of the order he rode Byer's Thoroald to victory, winning his employer the sum of $13,000. The odd thing about the event was that the judge who made the order was present to see the jockey win and since the race the parties that secured the injunction have refused to proceed against the jockey for contempt, hence the matter will drop.

The great sport writers said last winter that Walter Johnson, 38-year old hurler for the Washington Senators, was through, that the end was in sight, but who will say today that he is not the hero of the 1925 World Series like he was in 1924? The big, blonde hurler, who would have been running a Pacific Coast team now if he could have bought one last winter, won the first and fourth games of the world's series for the Senators and was called in again today to pull the "fat out of the fire" after his team had dropped a three to one lead in the series. Youth they say must have its fling but for results age has done a great deal this year for the Washington Senators. Roger Peckinpaugh, 35, who covered himself with glory in the 1924 world series, fell down badly this year and his unexpected and untimely errors just about lost the day for the Senators. It will be the "Rajah's" turn now to have the sport writers tell him that he is done.

Youth, however, served the Pirates well in the World Series this year. Eddie Moore, 24, native Kentuckian, second base, hit the home run that won for Pittsburgh yesterday. Moore came to the Pirates in 1923 from Atlanta and was used at short-stop in six games and the following year he was a utility player, ranging from second to third and the outfield. His hitting makes him a worthy member of any club. In 1924 he batted .359 and so far this season has attained an average of .320. Eddie had been playing second but when Rawlings made a remarkable showing in the New York series which really decided the pennant for the Pirates, he went to right field, returning to second for the world series on account of Rawlings having been injured.

Ray Kremer, one of the mainstays of the Pirate staff in the drive for the pennant and pitching hero of yesterday's game, although he has been in professional baseball since 1914, is only in his second year of major league work. He was obtained from Oakland of the Pacific Coast League after the 1923 season. In 1915, however, he was with the Giants for a time but had no opportunity to show and the next season appeared with Vancouver. From 1916 to 1923 he was with Oakland, his home city. In his first year Kremer demonstrated his value by winning 18 and losing 10 and this year his average is better than .600. He is 29 years old, stands 6 feet, 4 inch, and weighs 190. When the baseball days end he drills oil in California.

SOVIET SNARE IS DISCUSSED

Writer in London Times Criticizes British Trade Unionists for Attitude

LIBERTY DESTROYED

Despised by Socialists and Laughed to Scorn by Working Men of America

The following interesting letter recently published in the London Times gives the viewpoint of the critic of the Soviet regime in Russia. Under the heading of "The Soviet Snare," he says:

Opinions may differ as to the propriety of the speech made by M. Tomsy, the Bolshevik delegate, to the Trades Union Congress at Scarborough, but few will deny its frankness. "They were not ashamed," he said of their ideas.

It was in the name of those ideas that in October, 1917, they gave up criticizing the capitalist class by resolutions and began criticizing them by arms. In 1917 they set free the bankers from the burdens of the banks, they set free the employers from the burden of conducting the factories, they set free the landowners from the burden of the ownership of the land, they had set up a working class state, and now, after nearly eight years of power, they saw no reason why they should give up the ideas for which they had had to fight.

Destruction

All this is quite true. The Bolsheviks did begin "criticizing by arms" and in the pursuit of this amiable purpose they destroyed, directly by murder and indirectly by starvation, millions of Russians, among whom the vast majority were working men and peasants. They did "set free the bankers from the burden of the banks," and the result has been that ever since the dawn of that freedom wandering delegations of Bolsheviks have been touring the world whining for alms and credits. They did "set free the employers from the burden of conducting the factories," and they have had to summon them back—and "the wages in private industry are 25 per cent higher than in nationalized industry," while the general average of wages "seems now to be approaching three-quarters of pre-war rates" (Trades Union Delegates' Report).

Famine Chronic

They did "set free the landowners from the burden of the ownership of the land," and Rykoff, the titular head of the Soviet, has put it on record that "the landowners' land gave a yield of 10, 15, and even 20 pounds more per desiatime than the land of the peasants." Perhaps this failure of the peasants party accounts for the fact that since Lenin decreed the "New Economic Policy" he admitted the ruin, complete and irremediable, of all his theories and endeavored to disguise his final failure under the cover of a phase. The "new" economic policy was just as new as the first squirrel which laid by a store of nuts in the first autumn for its winter sustenance.

Barbarities in Georgia

Exposed and despised by the Socialists of Europe, laughed to scorn by the educated working men of America, the Bolsheviks have found their sole allies for the furtherance of their discredited ideas, among the British trade unionists. Are there no sane Labor leaders in this country who can see the palpable truth and who have courage to expose to their fellows the greatest imposture ever foisted upon a gullible world? When will British working men ask themselves how the Bolshevik tyrants, after crushing with fire and sword and all their own inimitable barbarities the attempt of Georgia to secure self-determination, have the impudence to talk of "British Imperialism" and to secure the passage of a resolution condemning it at the Trades Union Congress? And how long will it be before British Labor begins to wonder why Moscow reserves its most malignant hatred for the British Empire, and why all its sinister energies are directed, from Sydney to Shanghai, to the destruction of British trade and therefore of the livelihood of British workers?

Bolshevik Myth

Some days possibly, alienists may explain how British Labor succumbed to the obsession of the Bolshevik myth. Probably the cause will be found in the ceaseless reiteration by the Soviet propagandists and their hirelings in this country of the phrase "workers' and peasants' government." The inherent honesty of the British working man predisposes him to take words at their face value without proper criticism. The Russian peasant or worker may have less influence upon the government of the country than has an inmate of the Bethlehem Hospital upon the civic administration of London—neither has any influence whatever; but because the parrot phrase is repeated British Labor accepts it as a truth. And apparently — if formal resolutions mean anything—the British trade union machine is ready, at the bidding of the Red International, to plunge this country into civil war, bloodshed, and terror, in order that, like Russia, after passing through the abomination of desolation, it—or as many of the population as survive—may return with infinite pain and misery to the present ordered state of society. When Lenin decreed the "New Economic Policy" he admitted the ruin, complete and irremediable, of all his theories and endeavored to disguise his final failure under the cover of a phase. The "new" economic policy was just as new as the first squirrel which laid by a store of nuts in the first autumn for its winter sustenance.

Barbarities in Georgia

Exposed and despised by the Socialists of Europe, laughed to scorn by the educated working men of America, the Bolsheviks have found their sole allies for the furtherance of their discredited ideas, among the British trade unionists. Are there no sane Labor leaders in this country who can see the palpable truth and who have courage to expose to their fellows the greatest imposture ever foisted upon a gullible world? And how long will it be before British Labor begins to wonder why Moscow reserves its most malignant hatred for the British Empire, and why all its sinister energies are directed, from Sydney to Shanghai, to the destruction of British trade and therefore of the livelihood of British workers?

Diverse Interests

And Bourassa condemns such a campaign! "That the deputies (members) from our Province guard particularly the interests of our Province; that they be concerned particularly to make known to their colleagues of the other Provinces the interests and the sentiments of Quebec—that," says Mr. Bourassa through his journal "is natural and just; but all the same we cannot build upon a quarrel between the Provinces a sound political program." Canada being what she is, continues Le Devoir, a half-continent peopled by fellow-citizens with diverse and diverse interests, economic and political, it is the duty of those who desire to perpetuate Confederation by the development of a strong and united nation "to harmonize as far as possible the interests of the different Provinces and to reduce to the minimum the inevitable collisions. . . . A quarrel between Provinces might perhaps serve the purpose of some groups; it would be disastrous to the national unity."

Bourassa's Position

The Globe has not often seen eye to eye with Mr. Bourassa. Mr. Bourassa's past has not permitted it. In common with the vast majority of Canadians this newspaper has deplored repeatedly what it believed to be the dangerous and disloyal sectionalism of the eloquent protagonist of so-called Nationalism. But none ever doubted his ability, his sincerity — perhaps fanaticism would be the better word—or his crusading power among his compatriots. Time works wonders. It may be that the race and creed zealot of yesterday has mellowed and broadened. Perhaps when he visited Ontario recently on an entente mission and mingled with his English-speaking Protestant fellow-citizens he learned that they were not the bigoted, evil ogres he had once imagined. Instead he may have found them a rather decent lot, quite eager to know better, to understand more clearly and to appreciate more cordially their French-Canadian Catholic fellows in the sister Province, for whom they have much admiration and regard. Be that as it may, Mr. Bourassa's warning to Lord Atholstan and his scheming associates that they "cannot build upon a quarrel between the Provinces a sound political platform" has the right ring, and his counsel to other citizens to do their part "to harmonize as far as possible the interests of the different Provinces and to reduce to the minimum the inevitable collisions" is most encouraging.

INTERESTING VIEW OF AN ENGLISHMAN

Letter to London Times Tells of People of Victoria From Old Country Viewpoint

A letter in the London Times from an Englishman recuperating at Oak Bay, Victoria, in part follows:

"I have fallen deeply in love with Victoria. It possesses wonderful natural beauty with all its inlets and the grand view of snow-capped mountains opposite on the American shore. It is luxuriantly wooded, and the lichen-covered rocks are a picturesque foreground and the flowers too lovely. Every one here works terribly hard and almost all the women do their own cooking and housework. It has been an astonishing and sometimes pathetic revelation to us to discover what surprising work gentlefolk can do. The tradespeople are more than half of their public school boys, and one ceases to be surprised when one's chauffeur, or milkman, or the man on the ferry addresses one in the most charming and cultivated of voices. Many of them are ex-army men, captains chiefly, and all have been wounded. It would be immeasurably pathetic were it not for the kindly air of friendly tolerance and good fellowship about the place. No one minds in the least what his neighbor does, and all respect each other's foibles. It is rather a wonderful atmosphere on the whole."

AMERICAN SMELTING AND REFINING CO. IS FINANCIALLY HEALTHY

Big Guggenheim Project Paying Dividends and Selling at Good Price

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—No stock in the metal group has shown the price advance during the past year of American Smelting and Refining. In 1924 this stock was selling around $57½. At that time dividends were 5 per cent per annum, and the income return just under 9 per cent. Today paying $6 per share per annum, this stock is selling between $108 and $109¾, the recent high. When the stock got up to around $90 quite a few of the insiders believed it high enough and closed out a large share of their holdings. After the stock got up around $101 or $102 rumor had it that these same insiders accumulated new lines and changed their ideas as to the stock's value.

Due to the substantial property additions being made during the past few years, together with a much improved operating efficiency throughout the organization, as well as higher prices for silver, lead and zinc, to say nothing of copper, earnings are increasing very rapidly. For the first half of this year the company was earning at the annual rate of $15 a share for the common stock, after taxes, bond interest, preferred dividends, depreciation and all charges. This compared with $12.60 a share earned in 1924. It is now estimated that American Smelting & Refining Company will earn more than $10 a share in the last half of this year, and for the full year between $18 and $20 a share, which will be 16 per cent to 18 per cent on the present selling price, and more than three times current dividend requirements.

Extra Dividend

It is also intimated in quarters close to the officials that an extra dividend on the common, of perhaps $1 a share, may be expected in the last quarter of this year.

Provided such an extra is paid, which would make $7 a share paid this year, dividends still will be very moderate in comparison with either current earnings or possibilities for the years directly ahead. This is because American Smelting, by the end of this year, will have new sources of income from completed expansion and the sum total of plant operations on a rising metal market makes for an entirely new earning situation for the company. In a word, the American & Refining system of 1926 cannot be compared with that of say three years ago.

The Rosita project, the new San Luis Potosi copper smelter, developed Peruvian properties, new refinery at Baltimore and the general improvements to all plants and properties inaugurated and completed within the past few years, are among the factors which, even without higher metal prices, would spell large earnings for the big refinery company.

Advance in Copper

An advance in copper will help American Smelting & Refining from the amount of copper and copper ore produced and sent to its smelters and refineries for treatment. On the other hand, higher prices for lead, silver and zinc are especially important because of the production of these metals by subsidiary properties, as well as amounts handled in the plants as custom business. The United States and Mexican plants are operating now at close to capacity, while there is spare capacity still left at the Tacoma smelter, Garfield and El Paso smelters, also at the Murray lead smelter in Utah and the Baltimore copper refinery.
