CROPS IN INTERIOR ARE YIELDING WELL

PROGRESSIVES WILL HAVE FEWER CANDIDATES IN FIELD THIS ELECTION

Farmers of Interior Looking to Prince Rupert to Provide Market for Their Grain and Beef Cattle

Yield of crops in interior valleys so good as to encourage seeding larger acreage

That the farmers of the interior are threshing their crops, which are turning out well, and are planning to sow as much grain as possible next year in view of the market provided at Prince Rupert through the erection of the elevator, is the word brought by F. G. Dawson, who has just returned from a visit to interior points. Mr. Dawson went to Fort Fraser to attend a banquet to W. J. McAllan but he also visited a number of other points and drove through the country.

He says he found oats being threshed which were yielding from 85 to 115 bushels to the acre and small lots of wheat yielding from 40 to 56 bushels to the acre. The yield in these cases justifies, they think, the sowing of as large acreage as possible.

Another thing that is making the farmers of the interior optimistic is the erection of the abattoir at Prince Rupert by the P. Burns Company, it being the opinion that from this time on a market will be provided for their beef cattle.

Mr. Dawson says he drove through a lot of the country and it looked splendid.

Canadian interests must be dominant in Canada, said the speaker. On military imperialism he said: "I am not ready to admit that when Britain goes to war Canada should necessarily go to war herself."

That the robbers were malicious is proved by the fact that they were not satisfied with stealing but did all sorts of damage outside the camps to inconvenience the owners.

He said that with at least 150,000,000 bushels of grain flowing south and a great amount of power available, many milling plants would spring up along the Government railways.

He does not think this feasible just now but is opposed to any temporary cutoff.

Report on Results to Date of Prohibition in United States by Federal Council of Churches

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—A belief that prohibition in the United States is facing a supreme test, with the final outcome in doubt was expressed tonight in a report compiled after months of investigation by the Research and Education Department of the Federal Council of Churches. "No one can say with positiveness what the ultimate outcome to this test will be," said the report. "No cocksure optimism is warranted, nor is pessimism or 'defeatism' justified by the facts. Much seems to depend upon the development of public opinion in the near future."

An "unfavorable and disquieting" trend since 1920 in the social consequences of prohibition was seen by the investigators in statistics gathered from many sources, but the report declared no available statistical data could be accepted as conclusive and pointed out that the wholesome effects of prohibition are registered in inconspicuous ways which cannot be reduced to statistical tabulation. Claims Worthless. Many of the claims made by those on both sides of the controversy were discarded as virtually worthless. Publicity material circulated with a view to influencing public opinion was declared to have been based largely on questionable data. "Prohibition publicity has suffered much," said the report, "from careless and unwarranted interferences. Much of the publicity given out by the Prohibition Unit in the Treasury Department has been of this unfortunate kind. On the other hand, much unjust and misleading propaganda has been put out for the purpose of discrediting prohibition."

On the question of public sentiment, the report declared there could be little doubt as to the mood of the country when prohibition is put to a referendum. (Continued on Page Four)

Difference Between Poetry And Verse.

It is easy enough to write verse. Anyone can do it with a little practice, but poetry is something altogether different. Poetry is not necessarily verse. Often prose is so poetic in its nature that it is far superior to verse.

Many people set out to write poetry and produce pretty fair verses without the least poetic feeling in them. Examples of verse which are certainly never poetry are found in the jingles sometimes written by our jovial friend who signs himself "The Man in the Moon."

Dr. King Is Now With Prince Rupert.

There was a time when Hon. Dr. King seemed to be rather lukewarm in his attitude toward the development of Prince Rupert. Then he was shown the need of the work here and today he is stoutly defending the action of the government in building the elevator and putting this port in a position to become a national outlet for the produce of the country.

We welcome Dr. King to our side. We are glad to know he is with us and hope to hear even yet some day that Sir Henry Drayton is also with us. Of course Sir Henry has a lot to take back. He came out so strongly during the past session, seeing no good in Prince Rupert, that to turn about would certainly prove difficult. He would have to eat his own words.

Walter H. Page Gives His Impressions.

In "The Life and Letters of Walter H. Page" are some most interesting impressions of people and life in Great Britain. Here is what he says of the English of the wealthy class:

"Another conclusion that is confirmed the more you see of English life is their high art of living. When they make their money, they stop money-making and cultivate their minds and their gardens and entertain their friends and do all the high arts of living to perfection. Three days ago a retired soldier gave a garden party in my honor 25 miles out of London. There was his historic house, a part of it 500 years old; there were his ten acres of garden, his lawn, his trees; and they walk with you over it all; they sit out of doors; they serve tea; they take life rationally; they talk pleasantly (not jocularly, nor story-telling); they abhor the smart in talk or in conduct; they have gentleness, cultivation, the best manners in the world; and they are genuine. The hostess has me take a basket and go with her while she cuts it full of flowers for us to bring home; and, as we walk, she tells the story of the place. She is a tenant for life; it is entailed. Her husband was wounded in South Africa. Her heir is her nephew. The home of course will remain in the family for ever. No, they do not go to London much in recent years; why should they? But they travel a month or more. They give three big tea parties—one when the rhododendrons bloom and the others at stated times. They have friends to stay with them half the time, perhaps—sometimes parties of a dozen. England never had a finer lot of folk than these. And you see them everywhere. The art of living sanely they have developed to as high a level, I think, as you will find at any time in any land."

TOO MANY KISSES AT WEST HOLME TONIGHT

Melodramatic Comedy With Many Big Laughs and Smashing Climax

"Too Many Kisses," a new Paramount picture starring Richard Dix and featuring Frances Howard at the head of a strong cast opens here tonight. It's a romantic comedy-drama laid in New York and the little Spanish town of Potigny in the Pyrenees.

The story opens with Dix, as Robert Gaylord, being sent abroad by his father on the pretense of searching for some valuable mineral—in reality to keep him away from his one weakness—women.

It's a big laugh when Dix and his companion arrive in Potigny during siesta time. It is the custom in this country for the people to take a nap between the hours of twelve and two-thirty o'clock. When the siesta bell rings they stop work and doze off wherever they happen to be. This is the scene that greets the star's eyes when he first arrives.

A big scene is the annual masquerade held on the town's biggest holiday, with the star and William Powell rivals for the honor of dancing the "farandole" (betrotal dance) with Frances Howard. The event is an occasion for much colorful romance and rapid-fire action.

Other high spots in the picture include the scene of Dix's room where he takes all of Powell's insults because he has promised Yvonne (Miss Howard) not to fight. Then the girl releases him from his promise and a real battle follows. The episode in the bandit's cabin in the mountains where Dix is carried a prisoner is another thrilling sequence.

And there's a real smash climax when the star escapes and arrives at the scene of the masquerade just in time to encounter Powell making off with the girl.

WORST WOMAN IN HOLLYWOOD SEEN IN MID-WEEK PICTURE

Inez Laranetta is a screen "vamp" extraordinary and to boost her box-office value her press agent has publicized her as the "worst woman in Hollywood."

But there is a secret side to the life of Inez, personified by a little sister, Fay. Inez has raised Fay from babyhood, and it is her purpose that the little sister shall have the benefits of life which she was denied. That is why Inez accepts the role of Hollywood's worst woman. It affords her money for Fay, who she keeps closely guarded from the taint of the world under care of a motherly old woman in the East.

As part of his publicity campaign, Inez's press agent staged a raid on one of her Hollywood parties where a bevy of beauties are diving into a private swimming pool in a race for a diamond bracelet. Stewart Cuyler, a typical man of the world, comes to her rescue with bail.

Cuyler is fascinated by Inez but when she repulses his advances he leaves for his home in New York. His parting warning is that some day he will win her love, if only for the joke of doing so.

Chance brings Cuyler and Fay together in the East, and he is overpowered by the beauty and charm of the girl. He is not aware that she is the little sister of Inez, who assumed her screen name to shield Fay, and the girl does not know of Inez's reputation.

Contrary to the wishes of her guardian, she sees Cuyler often and the old woman finally telegraphs Inez. The latter hurries to New York to protect Fay and there confronts Cuyler.

He finally convinces her of his intentions to marry Fay but tells her that because of her reputation she must renounce all relations with her little sister. Inez agrees to the sacrifice and as Cuyler and Fay march from their wedding altar she sobs behind a screen of palms. It is then that her manager, Pat Summerfield, who has stuck to her through thick and thin, takes her in his arms and asks "the best woman in Hollywood" to become his wife.

JOLLY GOOD PICTURE SAYS PRINCE OF WALES

"Reveille" Made Them Rock With Laughter; Droll and Inspiring

The gala performance of "Reveille," which was given at the Palace Theatre, London, recently, before a distinguished audience, which included the Prince of Wales, is looked upon as one of the greatest events in the theatre history of England. It is to be shown here at the weekend.

The Prince called it "a jolly good film," an appreciation obviously sincere to the wonderful audience that was gathered together at the Palace Theatre, by the way he rocked with laughter over the memories of army days during the war. There is tragedy in the film—this is inevitable in a picture which is the first true commentary on the great tragedy of our generation—but there is also much to laugh at and wit, as well. The author has found an army character in "Whelks," played by Frankie Stanmore, who is a sheer delight in his drollery and an inspiration in his optimism.

He doesn't understand the reason for the war, he doesn't understand the tragedy of the aftermath of the war but he keeps right on smiling. Unemployment and shattered romance is all the same to him. "The answer is a lemon" is his only observation.

But most important of all is Betty Balfour, who passes through every phase of war and post-war life, lasting both its joys and sorrows, and still remaining a symbol of hope and courage. It is her romance that is shattered, but it is her spirit, typical of the spirit of British womanhood, that prevents revolution.

"Reveille" is an epic of laughter and tears, each in its place, and both will live long in the memories of those who witness this remarkable photoplay.

M. C. Jones, circulation manager of the Minneapolis Journal, and Mrs. Jones, were passengers from train to boat visiting the city last night. Mr. Jones is a brother of C. W. Jones, business manager of the same paper, who visited here last week.

In addition to the 1700 tons of Alberta coal already loaded on the vessel, 150 more tons is here to be placed aboard the Coastwise Steamship & Barge Co.'s barge Baroda and the big craft will be taken to Anyox as soon as a tugboat arrives to pick her up.

D. C. Stuart, Dr. J. P. Cade and G. A. Durie of Vancouver visited Spiller River, Porcher Island, at the end of the week on a deer hunting expedition the result of which was one buck. Another party visiting Spiller River consisted of Vic Menzies, Lee Dell and Mr. McKinnon.

Hecate Straits Towing Co.'s tug Cape Scott, Capt. Brown, arrived in port this morning after towing a Davis raft from Captain's Cove to Green Inlet and sailed again for New Westminster having in tow a scowload of lumber from the Prince Rupert Spruce Mill containing 350,000 feet.

Major General Panel, adjutant general of the permanent forces of Canada, and Mrs. Panel of Ottawa, were visitors in the city yesterday afternoon. They arrived from the east by train and sailed for Vancouver on the steamer Prince George.

PAST HISTORY SHIP DRUMROCK

Vessel Was Owned by Captain Tom Calvert Whose Grandson Lives Here
DUE THIS AFTERNOON.

An interesting touch of local color lends itself to the approaching visit to this port of the Hecate Straits Towing Co.'s steel log carrying barge Drumrock through the fact that the grandfather of a local man was one of the owners of the historic vessel when 25 or 30 years ago she proudly sailed the seven seas as a full-fledged merchant sailing ship. The grandfather was Capt. Tom Calvert, whose grandson is E. T. Calvert, forest ranger of Port Clements, who is at present in the city. Mr. Calvert remembers having seen as a boy in Liverpool the Drumrock which was then one of a fleet of sailing ships owned by a Liverpool shipping concern of which his grandfather was a principal. That was over 25 years ago and, naturally, Mr. Calvert will be most interested in seeing the vessel again when she arrives here this afternoon with a cargo of logs for the Prince Rupert Spruce Mill.

Thirty-four years ago the Drumrock sailed on her maiden voyage from England and for years was one of the finest of the windjammers on the world routes of trade. Later she went to the Germans, on sale, and during the war was interned in a Mexican port. Still later she was taken to San Francisco's boneyard, there to swing idle and weed-covered until she was bought by the Hecate Straits Towing Co. and brought to British Columbia. Her hull is sound and stiff as ever, her solid teak cabins, finished with solid mahogany and walnut, shining like a modern liner palace, the vessel is now on her way from Logan Inlet to this port on a new reincarnation of activity. The days of the windjammer have passed, on world lanes, crowded back by steam and oil, but there is a field for the good old hulls yet. Not as coal barges, not as dredging hulks, but in active trade. The Drumrock, with stubby masts, but with her handsome hull lines as sharp and true as ever, is being towed by the tug Lorne, Captain Lewis, to re-enter trade as a specially designed and equipped log carrier.

 For some years Commander B. L. Johnson, D.S.O., Lloyd's agent and owner, operator and agent respectively of coast vessels and deep-sea lines, has been planning a method of transporting logs, in all seasons, in spite of weather and tides. He has fitted the Drumrock to do this. In the ships the Hecate Straits Towing Co. Limited, of which B. L. Johnson of Walton & Co. Limited, is the managing owner, there has been evolved a method of handling logs which it is believed will be more rapid and much more safe than under the present system of rafting. A vessel of 3,000 gross tons, 322 feet long, 45.4 beam, 25.6 deep, she was originally designed for particularly great strength, the tween decks and orlop deck beams being especially strong. Fitted as a log transport she will carry over one million feet of timber, and can stow sticks of any size. The steam plant consists of a water-tube boiler fitted with oil burning furnaces.

Radio Telephone

An interesting feature of the equipment is a low-power radio telephone set which is for the purpose of maintaining connection between the big log carrier and the towboat when at sea.
 Commander Johnson, who has worked night and day for some months past, fitting and planning the equipment of the Drumrock, is accompanying her on her first voyage, to ascertain how she will meet the efficiency her hull and equipment promise.

GOOSE HUNTING AT GEORGETOWN

Honkers Got Unpleasant Surprise Yesterday Morning: Noise Was Great

The flats at Big Bay presented a curious spectacle Sunday morning about daybreak. Hunters from Prince Rupert were there ahead of the geese and when the birds began to arrive there was a great noise. The birds were honking and the guns popping in every direction and the wonder is that any birds were left. However the majority got away although they left enough to make the excursion worth while for the sportsmen.

Those present at the Big Bay flats yesterday included a party with J. A. Hinton, another with Alex. Macdonald, a third with George Bryant and others with Andy Akerberg and Alex. McRae, and all brought home geese.

The McRae party consisted of Alex. and John McRae, D. H. Hartness and W. Wilkinson and they bagged eight honkers in addition to some ducks.

Accompanying J. A. Hinton on the launch Starlight were C. V. Eviit, H. O. Crewe, and H. A. Philpott. Eight geese and a number of ducks fell to their guns.

The party on George Bryant's Racla, which bagged four geese besides ducks, consisted of Douglas Stork, Norris Pringle, Joe Greer, W. N. Chater, W. E. Wallisroft and C. G. Mills.

Alex. Macdonald's party on the Vaquero consisted of J. A. Lindsay, H. Styles and A. D. Gillis. They brought home one goose and several ducks.

The five parties visiting Big Bay got a total of 22 geese in the twenty-four hours between Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

SPORT CHAT

"Babe" Ruth after weeping bitterly and promising solemnly to mend his ways has been forgiven by Manager Huggins of the Yankees and taken back into the fold. The fine of $5,000 which was imposed upon him stupidly however, many of those on the inside of Big Ball, maintain, that the reason he has not done so well of late, is that a great deal of his wonderful record for home runs was due to the lively ball, which existed notwithstanding all the reports to the contrary on the part of baseball officials. Now it is publicly stated that since the first of August, the lively ball has been replaced by another, and that the pitching immediately proved, with a corresponding falling off in extra base hits and home runs.

The inner construction of the baseballs now used is entirely different from what it used to be. While the ball is said to be still lively, it is no longer filled with explosive like qualities. The old ball, it is said by experts, had a cork centre with a diameter of about half an inch in diameter. This was surrounded by two hemispheres of live grey rubber and joined together, this making a rubber ball with a cork centre. Fine woollen yarn was wound around that, and the whole covered with horse hide. This was the combination that created the deluge of home runs, which when the novelty wore off, began to pall on the spectators. The main change in the new ball is that the covering of the cork centre instead of being of live grey rubber, is of hard black rubber a quarter of an inch thick. Around this is a covering of live red rubber, about an eighth of an inch thick. Though the centre is the same size, the hard rubber is supposed to have lessened its activity.

The plan adopted by the Badminton Club last year and likely to be adopted again this year in regard to members paying their dues is worthy of imitation by other organizations. In the Badminton club a person is not a member until the dues are paid. The only thing that counts is the cash. That does away with a lot of work for the secretary and eliminates cause for unpleasantness later. In almost all clubs there are members who hold back from paying their dues, causing the treasurer a lot of worry, and sometimes they never pay.

Complaints continue to come in to the effect that people are Bert Moore, George Kerr, Herkilling deer on Kaien Island, Bert Taylor, J. D. McCallum and which is a game preserve. It is understood that an attempt will Zayas Island near Dundas Island be made to prosecute some of those engaged in that kind of hunting. There are a good many deer on the island now and if they are destroyed it will be difficult to get the island re-established as a preserve.

BOOTH SCHOOL WON JUNIOR SOCCER GAME

Good Match Saturday Afternoon Despite Short High School Team—Score One to Nil

The Junior Football game on Saturday afternoon between Booth School and the High School resulted in a victory for the former team by a score of 1 to nil. The High School was unfortunate in not being able to field a full team having only nine players but, in spite of this, it was a good game. The High School boys played a good defence game and also missed a couple of good scoring chances. The Booth School, apparently over-anxious, also missed scoring chances. The only score of the game was made in the first half by Jack Nelson for the Booth School.

J. Campbell was referee and the linesmen were George Cochrane and W. E. Willisroft. The next game will be Tuesday night between Borden Street School and the High School.

The Hecate Straits Towing Co.'s new steel log carrying barge Drumrock arrived in the harbor at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon in tow of the tug Lorne from Logan Inlet with a cargo of about one million feet of logs for the Prince Rupert Spruce Mills. This completes the maiden voyage of the Drumrock in this service and, in charge of the outfit is Commander B. L. Johnson, head of the Hecate Straits Towing Co. The Drumrock will proceed to the booming cove of the mill to unload her logs. The vessel left Logan Inlet at 8 o'clock last night and had a smooth passage across Hecate Straits.

RUN OF COHOS IS STILL ON

Five Canneries on Skeena River Still Packing and Three on Naas

A fair run of cohos is still reported from the Skeena and Naas Rivers although it is not up to the record of past years.

On the Naas River, Arrandale, Wales Island and Naas Harbor plants are working. The Somerville cannery at Prince Rupert is also packing.

A good run of chums is reported from the Queen Charlotte Islands with the Lockeport, Lagoon Bay and Massett canneries operating. The last mentioned plant is about to start packing clams.

PRESENTATION MADE TO RETIRING INDIAN AGENT

W. J. McAllan Banqueted Before Leaving Fort Fraser: F. G. Dawson Present

At Fort Fraser Friday evening two hundred people sat down to a banquet given in honor of W. J. McAllan, Indian agent, who is being superannuated after long and faithful service and is retiring to Vancouver Island. The banquet which was held in the fine new town hall was followed by a dance which was kept up until quite late.

The guest of the evening was presented with a club bag, the presentation being made by Geo. Ogston.

Proposing the toast to the guest of the evening, Samuel Goecker made a eulogistic speech and he was followed by F. G. Dawson of Prince Rupert; Dr. Stone of Vanderhoof; W. Manson, Indian constable; Col. Pegg, inspector of Indian agencies and others. Mr. Moore sang and Cecil Hartley gave interesting sketches.

In The Letter Box

I.W.W. AND EDUCATION.

Editor Daily News.

I noted an editorial in your paper not long ago pointing out to the public the advantage of becoming educated thoroughly in the English language, etc. This letter is for the purpose of letting you know just why many of us are still so dumb and ignorant.

There is a cannery operating down at Seal Cove. In this cannery there are children working who are between ten and eleven years old. The schools are now in session, but still we find child labor being exploited right here in Prince Rupert. Should we not be proud of the industries of this district? Of course the fact that there are many girls down here at the cannery who work more than eight hours a day is also due to lack of education. Not of the children, but of the grown-ups.

Meeting with Favor

In another editorial, during the recent strike you also put in a few bad words for the Industrial Workers of the World. You seem to have the idea that it was not meeting with favor amongst the people of Rupert. I am glad to be able to truthfully say that we have gained 300 per cent in our membership since that time. It is just such things as the exploitation of child labor down at the cannery, thus preventing the proper education of the rising generation, that the I.W.W. is trying to do away with.

Your press will turn around and tell us that everything in the world is all right; that I am all wrong; that we should do nothing else during our stay on earth but work our heads off for the boss for wages lower than is necessary to maintain a standard of living consistent with modern progress; you say we are growlers and kickers. How inconsistent you are. On the next page of your paper we can read of rebellion in Morocco; trouble in China; strikes of seamen all over the world, tying up the shipping of Australia; refusal of admittance to America of a Communist member of the House of Commons; coal miners' strike in Great Britain and just one long list of struggle and strife amongst human beings.

Outskirts of Civilization

Hail to the Editor who will break away from the bonds of the influence of the class who keep the multitudes in ignorance. We are more or less on the outskirts of "civilization" here in Prince Rupert, but anyone with any sense at all should be able to read between the lines of the daily papers and see that we are beginning on a period in history during which evolution will be hastened by revolution. Radical means to get at the root of things, in other words to work on the basis of truth in dealing with the problems of the human races. A man should be proud if he is radical.

Yours for progress,
LEONARD WAIDE.

(Inquiry at the Somerville Cannery elicited the information that the youngest girl working there was fifteen years old, while two are sixteen. All others are older than that. The girls have to work until the salmon is all packed, just as in all canneries or places where perishable goods are handled, irrespective of whether eight hours or more. Some days they work less than eight.)

EFFORT TO SUPPRESS MAKING TAX PUBLIC

Move to Repeal Law Will Meet With Opposition at Washington

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Repeal of the tax publicity provisions of the revenue law is not expected here, in spite of a great deal of talk and propaganda to the contrary. While there will be a move to repeal publicity next session and an effort to shut the lid of secrecy down on income tax payments, there is every indication this will have hard sledding in Congress.

Senator Simmons, ranking democrat on the Senate Finance Committee, an authority on revenue matters, predicted today that Congress would not repeal the publicity provision of the law. Some modification, he said, might come about but he did not look for repeal. Senator Simmons declares the great mass of voters want the tax payments published and that the opposition comes chiefly from the wealthy and from corporation influences.

Charles H. Litchfield of Butedale and his daughter, Miss Florence Litchfield, arrived in the city on the Princess Mary Saturday afternoon. Miss Litchfield will return to Butedale on the Cardena tomorrow afternoon.
